Bay of Quinte One-day Pollution Survey Is Now Underway

By HARRY HULHALL
Staff Reporter

A day-long survey of Bay of Quinte pollution problems was launched here today — and hit slightly choppy water at the outset.

The inquiry, personally conducted by John H. Root, Ontario Water Resources Commission vice-chairman, was verbally sniped by one municipal representative as early-morning sessions opened at city hall.

City utilities commissioner Lyle Langabeer challenged the OWRC probe as a waste of time.

Mr. Root, who arrived in Belleville with an OWRC engineering expert, was scheduled to visit the Trent-Frankford area of the Trent River after a survey of the Belleville district.

Mr. Langabeer's ire apparently was sparked by statements that the OWRC was visiting local industries as part of its waste-disposal control program.

The utilities commissioner said there were industrial units in Belleville that never had been visited by the OWRC.

He dubbed two visits to the OWRC Toronto offices to discuss Lake Ontario water supplies as "a waste of time."

Mr. Langabeer insisted the OWRC officials could not sufficiently take in the problem in a day's visit.

"You're just wasting your time," he claimed.

Postal Talks Collapse As 3-year Pact Rejected

'Don't Pay Bills' Plea to Public

By The Canadian Press

Canada's 24,000 postal workers, now in the 15th day of a nationwide strike, received a declaration of support Thursday from the 115,000-member Public Service Alliance of Canada, the biggest union of the federal public service.

A statement by Claude Edwards, alliance president, said the Council of Postal Unions is "engaged in a legal strike and the present disruption of postal service should not lead to a change in legislation which would deny civil servants the right to withdraw their labor in contract disputes with the government."

Although alliance members not legally on strike must continue to work, Mr. Edwards said, members have been instructed "not to act as strike-breakers and to refuse to do work normally done by postal workers."

In Vancouver, a postal union spokesman said one company has stopped delivering mail during the strike after postal workers threatened to picket the company.

"We're asking trade unionists and the general public not to pay bills which normally come by regular mail," said the spokesman.

In Regina, Ed Whelan, New Democratic member of the Saskatchewan legislature, said that the delivery of mail by private agencies in Regina of Saskatoon during the postal strike appeared to be illegal.

He said that delivery of such bills through means other than regular domestic service appeared to be contrary to the laws and regulations of the Canada Postal Guide.

Mr. Whelan said that there are few exceptions to the regulations and these do not include utility bills.

Canadians along the United States border have been crossing over to post their foreign mail, but American customs offices have begun to turn back first-class mail unless it carries Canadian postage as well.

A spokesman for Great Northern Airways Ltd., which had been carrying the mail, said the customs office told him that lack of Canadian postage was a violation of an international agreement that one country should not deprive another of its postal revenue.

A similar situation has cropped up in Blaine, Wash., 30 miles south of Vancouver. A custom official there said the regulation applies only to first-class mail.

"Prague on the line, Mr. Kosygin . . . collect!"

Government Offers 19 Per Cent Boost

OTTAWA (CP) — The postal strike began its third week today with settlement more remote than ever after the collapse of mediation talks Wednesday.

A revised government wage offer was rejected and a deadlock in negotiations was reported by Judge Rene Lippe, the federal moderator, who warned:

"We are faced with a serious situation."

Just a few hours earlier Prime Minister Trudeau had told a news conference that Parliament would be called to deal with the situation only if the postal workers' right to strike was used with "irresponsibility" and the hardship on the public became too great.

There was no immediate reaction from Mr. Trudeau after the announcement that mediation efforts had reached an impasse. One informant said the prime minister probably would take a couple of days to assess the prospects for new talks.

Both sides issued statements revealing they remain poles apart on wages and working conditions. But they also expressed hope that new talks can be arranged.

Mediation broke down after the Council of Postal Unions rejected a revised wage offer of a 19-per-cent increase applied in three stages over 38 months.

The unions refused to budge from their original 28-per-cent demand over 14 months, retroactive to Aug. 1 of last year.

Average postal pay is $2.37 an hour. Top rates are $2.75 for postal clerks and $2.63 for letter carriers.

The original government offer, made two days before the strike began July 18, was for six per cent over 14 months, equal to 15 cents an hour. The union demand works out to 75 cents an hour.

Wednesday's wage offer by the government was for an increase of 7½ per cent retroactive to Aug. 1 of last year, another 6½ per cent on Oct. 1 this year and a final five per cent Oct. 1 next year.

It was similar to an offer made successfully last month in

Johnson Is Discouraged, Raids May Be Expanded

WASHINGTON (CP-AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday the U.S. can expect a massive attack by the Communist in South Vietnam and possible "dire economic consequences" at home over a steel price increase."

The president told a news conference that he is discouraged over the infiltration and troop buildup by North Vietnam in the South and lack of response, so far, to the limiting of U.S. bombing in the North to below the 20th parallel.

The North Vietnamese claim that although the bombing area in the North has been reduced the number of U.S. missions has increased.

Ralph Harris, Reuters correspondent in Washington, reported that informed sources said they could not rule out some expansion of the bombing of North Vietnam—which the president restricted to targets below the 20th parallel March 31—to hit troops and war supplies pouring into the South.

The sources, however, squashed speculative reports that the president had hinted he might order an invasion of North Vietnam.

The speculation arose over a passage in which the president appealed to North Vietnam to match U.S. restraint in the war.

"There is always the chance that we will have to act promptly on additional military measures if the enemy puts our men in danger," he said.

"We are not invading North Vietnam. We have exercised great restraint by removing from the limits of attack 90 per cent of their population and almost 80 per cent of their area."

The president, it was said, was merely pointing out that the United States had not invaded North Vietnam despite the massive infiltration of troops and supplies from the North.

The president quoted from intelligence reports, prisoners and captured documents in saying a new Communist attack appeared imminent.

He said about 30,000 North Vietnamese soldiers crossed into the South in July, and estimates were that even more would come in August.

North Vietnamese Hit Rusk's Stand

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnamese diplomats participating in the Paris peace talks are dropping hints that the talks may fall unless President Johnson ends the bombing of North Vietnam.

U.S. officials regard the veiled threats as a part of the drive North Vietnam has made since the talks began 3½ months ago to build up massive public opinion against the U.S. position that North Vietnam must give something in return.

The drive was intensified Wednesday after the North Vietnamese apparently decided that statements by U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk made speculation about an early change in U.S. bombing policy untenable. Rusk said Tuesday that the U.S. government would have to be told what North Vietnam would do before it could end the bombing.

Some observers came away from the North Vietnamese press briefing Wednesday with the impression that Rusk's news conference had hit the Hanoi delegation with considerable force.

Watkins Describes Security Clearance

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP) — Prof. Melville Watkins says he was questioned for two hours by RCMP in an Ottawa hotel room before he received security clearance to do a study of foreign ownership of Canadian industry.

The two RCMP investigators, Prof. Watkins said in an interview, were "extremely polite."

"They exude sympathy and tact and helpfulness. They wonder if you can recall ever having done anything that might prove embarrassing if it became generally known, so much so that you might be privy to a blackmailer. Tell us, they say, and we will help you."

Prof. Watkins, whose report on foreign ownership of industry was released earlier this year, is attending the Couchiching conference in this resort community north of Orillia, Ont.

He said all 24 members of his

Thailand Raids Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters) — Thai Interior Minister Gen. Praphas Charusathien revealed today that Thai troops infiltrated North Vietnam in an abortive attempt to destroy a guerrilla warfare training school near Hanoi.

The Thai troops failed to destroy the school because it was under the ground, The trainees literally lived underground, the minister said.

Praphas, who also is army commander-in-chief, did not say when or how the Thai forces infiltrated North Vietnam nor did he identify them.

However, army sources here said the forces involved were special forces recently trained by U.S. anti-guerrilla fighters, the Green Berets.

Praphas told reporters the school is located at Hon Binh, which is about 30 miles southwest of Hanoi toward the Laotian border.

Republicans Want U.S. Role in War Cut

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The Republican platform will call for a smaller U.S. role in the Vietnam war, but will say American forces should not be pulled out without a satisfactory settlement.

It will bear down hard on crime in the streets and organized underworld activity, insisting on more leeway for enforcement methods.

It will call for new approaches to the problem of poverty and deteriorating city life, with heavy emphasis on promoting ownership of homes and businesses, giving private industry incentives to train and employ ghetto dwellers and streamlining government programs.

It will deplore unbalanced budgets and inflation, holding out hope of future tax cuts.

These were among the clear indications of the mood of the Republican platform committee, which winds up its hearings today and begins writing the document the Republican presidential candidate will take to the voters in the Nov. 5 general election.

Richard Nixon sent a special message to the Republican Platform Committee hearings declaring that the party has a duty to "re-establish domestic peace—to restore freedom from fear to the American people."

Governor Ronald Reagan of California called for a halt to Communist expansion abroad and to crime and violence at home.

"We must reject the idea that every time a law is broken, society is guilty rather than the lawbreaker. It is time to restore the American precept that each individual is accountable for his actions.

Mayor Lindsay of New York accused the Johnson Administration of failing to recognize and deal with "the inflammatory division in our society" and showing "little sympathy for the condition of the ghettos where violence and hatred are bred."

Construction Work Goes Ahead At Zwick's Island

Man Made Hill Grows and Grows

That man-made hill which eventually will carry highway traffic across the north end of Zwick's Island Park and over the Canadian Pacific Railway is taking shape fast.

After only a little more than a week the "hill" is already about half grown and the new road alignment is beginning to take shape as it swings south to join up with Bay Bridge Road.

Lightfoot Construction Ltd. who have the contract for the new railway overpass and approaches expect to move in 47,000 cubic yards of fill within the 20-day period set a week ago at the start of the project.

This week a mechanical shovel is at work excavating down through park topsoil and 10 feet of garbage in search of a firm base for the overpass foundations.

The garbage was placed on the Zwick's Island marsh area several years ago in a sanitary landfill operation which accomplished the dual purpose of getting rid of the garbage and creating new park area.

Now, with the railway overpass approach cutting across the north end of the park, the 10 feet of rotting garbage buried beneath the topsoil had to be taken into consideration by project planning engineers.

The weight of the 47,000 cubic yards of fill will be used to compact the garbage so it will support the roadway.

Engineers figure that a period of seven to eight weeks will be necessary for the fill to settle to its ultimate level.

In the meantime a fleet of about 20 heavy trucks are being used to move in an average of 2,000 yards of fill each day.

Pollution

Mr. Root requested Mr. Langabeer put his complaints in a letter to him personally.

Local businessman Fred Deacon, representing the city's industrial commission, said industry was working to clear up any problems.

"I wouldn't like the feeling left that industry is a whipping boy for the pollution in the Bay of Quinte," he said.

Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott said industrial waste problems were minor.

"There is no way it can't be enforced with the minimum of cost to all concerned," he added.

Today's events were prompted on the floor of the Legislature July 15 when Dr. Potter called for a provincial government crackdown on pollution.

The same day, Hastings and Prince Edward health officials closed five favorite swimming areas and Dr. Potter used the actions to emphasize the seriousness of the problem in his riding.

Energy and Resources Minister J. R. Simonett responded by putting the issue before the OWRC.

Since today's survey by OWRC experts became known there has been one notable local reaction.

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce has called on the government to publicly name all individuals who may be contributing to pollution of the Bay. Such a move, Chamber directors feel, might diminish the problem since it would publicly shame anyone named for abuse of the area's prime resource.

Hercules Carries Food

TRENTON — At one o'clock tomorrow afternoon a plane will depart from Uplands airport in Ottawa with 32,000 pounds of food and medical supplies for the starving millions in Biafra.

Capt. Dennis Hogan, public relations officer for the base, said the plane to be used is a Hercules from 436 Squadron at Uplands.

The plane will reach Lagos, Nigeria which is its final destination, on Monday, Aug. 5.

"The flight schedule is tentative, pending the go-ahead from the department of External Affairs," said Capt. Hogan.

"We're all set to go at this end," he concluded.

At 2:00 a.m. Caribou will leave CFB Trenton and will go to Toronto to pick up the medical supplies. It will then travel to Ottawa to transfer the supplies to the Hercules.

A Hard Day's Night For Village Stompers

PICTON (Staff) — She could have danced all night and all afternoon and all evening ... and if she could, and can, and will, she might win $20 this Saturday in Picton.

The recreation department here is seeking couples to compete in a marathon dance this weekend. To date only five couples have signed up.

It is hoped that by Saturday some 20 couples will be ready to participate.

It will be tough going but there are prizes of $20, $10 and $5. Judges will be on hand to enforce regulations. Only during waltzes will couples be able to seek mutual support with body contact. During all other dances they must dance separately. One waltz will be played per four fast-paced records.

Records, featuring the fast-paced music of today, will be played from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. Weary couples then collapse for a ten-minute break, but pick up again to the sound of records for another two hours.

At 8 p.m. a band, TC and the Gang, takes over and drives the dancers ever onwards. The band merits three breaks, but not the couples. Records fill in for the intermissions.

Judges shuffling among the crowd will ensure that feet are in constant motion and in time to the music.

During the latter part of the dance, beginning at eight o'clock, moral support might be forthcoming from the crowds that arrive. A regular dance will be held on the floor. Marathoners will continue in a roped off area.

It is hoped that Mayor W. J. McFarland will open the event.

'Cutie' Contest In Picton Tonight

Beauty contestants compete not only for looks but for talent as well. They will be asked skill - testing questions such as:: "how do you stop a hiccup?" The program will be at Benson Park.

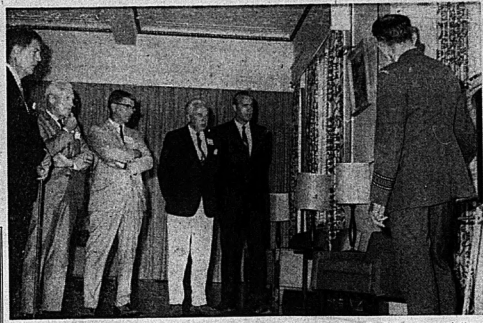
Military Band Cutback Won't Affect Trenton

TRENTON — The recent cutback in service bands will not affect those at CFB Trenton and will allow the Pipes and Drums along with the Highland Dancers to appear in full force at the upcoming Pike's Peak Rodeo in Colorado Springs.



The rodeo takes place from August 4 to 9.

Although reductions are taking place in full time service bands the Pipes and Drums have escaped the cutback.

The unit is a volunteer group. Restrictions are effective only on full time service bands.

The cutback will reduce full time musicians in the unified forces from 792 to 555. As a result of this bands are being relocated to give all military areas throughout the country equal representation.

TEN MAYORS visiting the Air Cadet Camp at Canadian Forces Base Trenton, yesterday were briefed by Major N. D. Cairns. During the afternoon the mayors learned what goes on at the camp which has been in operation all summer.

Ten Mayors Visit Air Cadet Camp

TRENTON — Mayor J. Russell Wallace and Doug Whitley representing ..... were among 10 city fathers from across Ontario who attended an open house at CFB Trenton yesterday.

Invitations were pryviously sent out to all cities who have air cadets present at the summer camp. The idea behind the "Mayors Day" was to show how money was being spent on cadet training.

After lunch at the officers mess, the dignitaries were briefed by Commanding Officer of the summer camp, Major N. D. Cairns. And then they were off on a tour of the cadet activities in the camp.

Included in the tour was a view of the cadet sailing program which is, according to Major Cairns, "first a safety program and secondly a recreational activity."

The supply depot was also on the agenda and it was here that the mayors learned that it is possible for cadet waist sizes to vary from 26 to 44 inches.

Mountain View, where the cadet glider program was in full swing, received a visit from the mayors. Major Cairns had hoped to be able to give some of the visitors a flight but high winds ruled out this part of the program.

It was back to the officers mess for a wuestion and answer period and the day war over.

New Trenton Library Open for Business

TRENTON — It was a full crowd that packed Trenton's new east side branch library Wednesday to hear the building officially named after the town's library chairman at the new addition was opened to the public.

From now on the new addition to Trenton's library system will be known as the James F. Cox Library. The announcement was made by acting mayor Paul Tripp during the official opening ceremonies Wednesday afternoon.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Clerk-Comptroller O. W. Larry who said the opening of the new branch "showed that Trenton's Library Board was aware of its duty to the public."

Mr. Larry went on to say the new library "was an expression of the age in which we lived" and as such was keeping pace with the ever increasing thirst for knowledge.

"No part of town business has been handled more economically than that of the library," said Miss Hayes.

And then Paul Tripp spoke to the gathering and announced the branch library would be named after James Cox.

Mr. Tripp noted that Mr. Cox has been associated with the Trenton libraries since 1921. As chairman of the Trenton Memorial Library Board the acting mayor said Mr. Cox has enabled the town to obtain more economical operation from the library board than any other such organization in the town.

Dr. R. T. Potter, MLA for Quinte, labelled the new branch "a monument to what can be accomplished by a community without outside aid."

Of the total library staff of 13, there will be four at the new branch which will begin operations at 2 p.m.

Staff Vacations Close 22 Beds At City Hospital

The beds, closed off earlier this month, will be re-opened in September.

The same number of beds were closed for a similar period last year, assistant administrator John Kunetsky said.

He expected the beds would be re-opened as usual in September.

Summer-month replacements for vacationing nurses place a premium on a profession already suffering an acute shortage.

As yet, it is too early to say if the hospital administration will have problems staffing its new 208-bed wing, due to be opened in November, said Mr. Kunetsky.

However, some applications affeady have been received, he added.

Shortage of nurses has severely hit one Ontario hospital.

In London, Victoria Hospital has being forced to close down two 27-bed wards.

$241,000 School Addition Under Way in Trenton

TRENTON — After eight months of red tape work will begin on the construction of a $241,000 addition to St. Mary's School.

Plans were announced for the addition by the Trenton Separate School Board in mid-December. It was then thought that construction would begin in the spring.

But work started Tuesday, Neil Robertson, chairman of the board attributes the holdup to provincial government red tape.

According to Mr. Robertson it took "nine weeks for one piece of paper" to go through the proper channels.

It was hoped that the building would be ready for classes in September but delays have put off the opening until October at the earliest, according to Mr. Robertson.

He said today that "it could be as late as January".

To accommodate the children until the addition is completed, the gymnasium will be used as a three-classroom unit.

The addition will take the form of four hexagonal sections under one roof on the south side of the building.

It will contain six classrooms and a principal's office along with a library, supply room, reading clinic and a nurse's office.

Classrooms will have movable walls making them adaptable to various class sizes.

Accident Causes $500 Damage

A single car accident at 12.55 p.m. last night resulted in $500 damage to a car driven by Cecil J. Bonnetta of Bridge St. East.

As Mr. Bonnetta was proceeding north on Bleecker Chief Douglas Crosbie said the car went out of control and struck a tree in front of 219 Bleecker Ave.

There were no injuries in the mishap which is still under investigation.

Local barber Michael J. Naphan favors a customer with some off-key barbershop music as he saws off a tune on jail-made violin at the Front Street O'Neil barbershop. Grimacing customer is Don Heath of Stirling.

Antique Jail Made Fiddle Now $300 Collectors' Item

A jail-made violin, put together more than 60 years ago by a Negro country fiddler serving time for drunkenness, is now a $300 collector's item owned by the local Alcoholic Anonymous group.

The old violin was made in the Hastings county jail at Belleville by Charles Clarke, who died the day after he was released from jail — from a fall down stairs.

But for several days after he completed the violin, he entertained fellow inmates with some of the liveliest music ever heard inside jail walls.

Then, the sheriff intervened and took away Charlie's fiddle claiming that a jail "was a place of punishment and not for entertainment."

Mr. Naphan himself cannot play a note but quotes local fiddlers such as Fred Stone, Ed. Slaver and Jerry Clement as saying it has surprisingly good tone.

He says he has refused gtractive offers for his collectors' item fiddle.

Until about 15 years ago the old prison-made violin was in the hands of J. Arthur Marsh, Hillcrest Ave., whose father was turnkey at the Belleville jail at the time the Negro fiddler was incarcerated.

The elder Marsh had provided the wood and the strings and other spare parts for Mr. Clarke to make his violin.

Turnkey Marsh purchased the violin from its new owner and it remained in the family until his son turned it over to Mr. Naphan.

An accompanying letter from Mr. Marsh said the violin and its case was being placed in the hands of a member of Alcoholic Anonymous to use as he sees fit.

The letter said "it is sincerely-hoped that this old fiddle, and this story, may be of some use in keeping others from using the accursed drink which killed poor Charlie Clarke."

Moira River Needs

Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott offered some useful ideas for improvement of the Moira River scene at last week's meeting of the Conservation Authority.

Dr. Scott wants an engineering study of the river within the city limits to determine the true channel limits and suggest improvements. He claims that fill being dumped in the river is narrowing the channel and increasing the threat of spring flooding.

Riverside park development is another sphere of interest that merits public response. There is much to be done in this regard. The Moira offers much in the way of natural beauty. Unfortunately this is spoiled by the spectacle of weeds, litter and crumbling retaining walls along its banks.

One thinks also of the dismal spectacle along the roadway flanking the rail tracks coming into the city from the Bay bridge. Nearby is the attractive little park along the river bank, but the area between the bridge and the park, by the tracks, is a tangled mess of weeds and uncut grass.

There are many such areas that could be cleaned up, and it is encouraging to note that attention is being paid in the first instance to the river area.

In the Hot Seat

Life is different when you are in the "hot seat." A politician may have all the answers when he is in opposition, but when he finds himself in the position of responsibility and decision-making things are different.

Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson admitted as much in a recent interview. A former Social Crediter, Mr. Olson crossed the floor of the Commons to join the Liberals last September.

Some of the "answers" Mr. Olson had in opposition he thinks may still be valid . . . "but in this office I have a chance to look at the other side of the coin."

The minister may be a new boy in the cabinet, but at 42 he has a wealth of experience of the agricultural industry and the problems he must tackle. He is an Alberta rancher and businessman and during his six years in the Commons he made himself an expert on agricultural policy.

Mr. Olson is aware of the increasing technical nature of agriculture. He sees too the dilemma of the farmer caught more acutely than most in the spiral of inflation. He views the amount of net income accruing to farmers as the major problem facing the latter. Moving the country's grain surplus of course is another.

Certainly there is no more important role in Canada than the overseeing of agricultural policy. In Mr. Olson the farming community has a man with first-hand knowledge of its problems. As much as any industry agriculture is changing. Many are leaving the country and moving to the cities. In maintaining a healthy farm economy Mr. Olson will have his hands full.

Quality of Life

U.S. Columnist Sydney J. Harris had some pertinent comments the other day on the quality of life in the western world.

"We have failed to raise the quality of life nearly as much as we have increased the mere quantity of goods and opportunities." Even the communists, for all their criticism of western democracy had failed to realize this salient point.

Mr. Harris said America in revolutionary days envisaged a society ruled by reason and compassion. It had not turned out this way.

He spoke of the inciviity of modern society, its bad manners, coarseness of values and crudeness of sensibility, and added: "Just walk along a crowded downtown street in any American city and you will see what I mean. Or visit a bar on a hot day. Or drive along a congested expressway at rush hour. The spirit is sour and cheap, the very quality of life is disputatious, uncivil, mean and petty.

"The massive educational system has not educated. The imposing religious establishment has not Christianized the tribalism of the people. Affluence has merely convinced Americans that possession, rather than decency or merit, should be their prime and ultimate goal."

It is an analysis of unusual insight, this view of latter-day America. In some ways it reflects our own society, still less affluent and fortunately less brutish than that of our neighbor's but nevertheless one in which we must exercise vigilance to ensure it retains the relative tranquility and mannerliness we now enjoy.

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Trudeau is hot for what the new, swinging generation of Parliamentarians, the self-proclaimed "activists," like to call "reform" of the House of Commons.

To the "new boys" it is another of their "new" ideas.

They are going to make Parliament "work".

So what's "new" about that? Federal administrations — this newest of governments, the last one, all since of them back through the last personally eyewitnessed 28 Parliament H111 years — have wanted "reform."

In fact, 28 parliaments ago — only months after Sir John A. Macdonald first set up federal shop here — there was wistful talk of it.

There has been "reform," but it came slowly with each succeeding parliament, with better men of better education and understanding doing a better job.

But that never has been any government's secret conception of "reform."

For while governments, for the simple sake of public relations, call it "reform," what they really always — and still have — in mind, but do not like to come right out and say, is "speed - up."

They want to change the old rules. In the Government's favor. Not Parliament's.

Each administration invariably considers itself the best-of-all-possible-governments.

It comes into office with a built-in "know-knows-best" attitude. So it begins its years of power already fresh out of patience with what it can only come to regard as the endlessly niggling criticism of the official Opposition.

But this new government is a long step ahead of all its predecessors.

It has sworn to "reform" Parliament even before Parliament meets.

And it has assigned one of its "do-ers," a member of the Cabinet's young "in crowd," Privy Council President David MacDonald to get cracking.

He has a parliamentary background of six years — which is four more than the Prime Minister and his two intimates, Regional Affairs Minister Jean Marchand and State Secretary Gerard Pelletier, who have skyrocketed from the political darkness of New Democracy in Quebec only since 1965 to their most powerful-of-all-places in the Federal sun.

It could be a measure of their "new team" know-how that they have given the job to the very member of the cabinet least likely to win any parliamentary popularity prizes.

"Reform" to this Government as to the others before it, means simply "speed-up."

What they all years for is a rubber-stamp Parliament — get the business done, put it through and ask questions afterwards. If questions are to be asked at all.

Who is to stop us?

The last Prime Minister — remember Lester B. Pearson? — who spoke of "reform" of Parliament, talked publicly of it as a means of making the House of Commons do business more after the style of the United States Congress.

He wanted "drastic" changes — all, of course, for the better.

He wanted, and probably still does, Parliament to be as "streamlined" as to function effortlessly as a "swift, sophisticated computer."

But it was left to that former minister of all trades: Finance, Privy Council and finally without portfolio — Walter Gordon, confidante of the Prime Minister, to really tell it the way it was.

He wanted the Parliamentary world made safe, even from accidents, for the Government by a partial gagging of the "splinter" Opposition groups, further trimming of non-confidence challenges, and making it unnecessary for an administration to resign should it lose a vote on any of its legislation.

Even in its weak minority position, the Pearson Government managed some "reform" — changing the rules when it lost the vote on Supply to Bill, cutting down the Daily Question Period, limiting examination of Federal grants.

In its strong majority position, who knows what wonders of "reform" the Trudeau Government will work?

Slavery was abolished in all British possessions 134 years ago today—in 1834—but it was not until 1865, after the victory of the Union in the American Civil War, that it was abolished in the United States. In the 18th and 19th centuries, public conscience was aroused by the lucrative slave trade chased by the opening up of the New World.

Second World War

American forces continued to attack German defences at the Mount Etna line; an American heavy bomber force of 175 planes made a 2,400-mile round trip to bomb the Ploesti oil fields of Romania; Russian troops captured more than 100 communities in the Orel sector and repelled a German offensive 165 miles south of Orel.

Britain's Public Schools

Ottawa Journal

Three years ago the British Labor government appointed the Newsom Commission with an eye to integrating public schools — the confusing English name for Eton, Harrow and similar private institutions — into the state educational system.

But it won't be "Goodbye Mr. Chips" just now. The commission, finding complete integration too expensive, recommended that "public" schools give half their places to students sent there by the state at public expense.

There are 273 "public" schools in England and Wales with an enrolment of only 92,000 of the 2,800,000 secondary school pupils in the country. From this three per cent attending private schools comes 16 per cent of British university students.

The Communist Crisis—IV

Czechs Confident Changes for Better Are in Offing

By PETER BUCKLEY

BRATISLAVA CP - The current of reform now washing across Czechoslovakia means different things to different people, but to the Slovaks the reforms must bring significant self-rule for Slovakia or they are meaningless.

After centuries of alien rule and domination, the more than 4,000,000 Slovaks in Czechoslovakia scent an opportunity for dramatic change.

"Their" man, the Slovak Alexander Dubcek, is the new Communist party secretary in Prague and is surrounded by men more sympathetic to Slovakian aspirations than any previous government.

"If we cannot achieve what we want now, we will have to wait for a long time before we have a better opportunity," a Slovak professional man told me one evening recently, strolling with the summer crowds along the promenade that follows the Danube River through Bratislava.

"But we have no reason to doubt that there will be great changes in our favor."

The parallels between Slovakia and Quebec are apparent after only a few minutes of conversation in this industrial city which serves as Slovakia's ancient capital.

The Slovaks comprise about one - third of Czechoslovakia's 14,000,000 population.

Largely a backward farming region for centuries, with a fervent attachment to the Roman Catholic Church and a nationalist clergy, Slovakia has been feeling the pressures of industrialization.

Despite a growing self-assurance and widespread education, Slovakia has remained under the thumb of the more historically urban people, from Bohemia and Moravia, the other states of Czechoslovakia.

Probably the main difference between the situations in Canada and in Czechoslovakia is that a new constitution is just around the corner here, giving the dissident Slovaks the role they have sought. And there is no real separatist movement to speak of.

Since 1918, when the country was carved out of the old Austro - Hungarian empire, the leaders of Czechoslovakia have been promising autonomy for the Slovaks.

But the only time they got any real autonomy was, ironically enough, under Hitler. After the Munich agreement of 1938 and Germany's invasion the following March, Bohemia and Moravia were absorbed into the Reich as "protectorates." Slovakia was given its independence.

While the other two states remained largely passive until the final days of the war and were relatively undamaged, Slovakia was the scene of a major anti-Nazi uprising until the Soviet Army completed its liberation. Dubcek was wounded and his brother killed in partisan activity. Thousands of other Czechs served abroad with the Allies.

Although the Communist party had substantially less post-war support in Slovakia than in Bohemia and Moravia, it took power here anyway at the time of the Communist coup in Prague in 1948.

Communist government provided even less reliable on questions of self-rule than its "bourgeois" predecessors, the Slovaks now say.

Slovakia was given massive injections of financial support and progressed industrially at a faster rate than the rest of the country.

"And yet all the important decisions have been taken in Prague," a senior Bratislava student said, "and we have remained almost a subject people."

Since the Slovaks had nearly 1,000 years of subjections by the Hungarians before 1918, their desire for autonomy is understandable.

Under a new constitution now being worked out, Czechoslovakia is to be transformed into a purely federal state. Apart from such areas as foreign affairs, currency and defence, the Slovaks are to become, in the Quebec phrase, "maitres chez nous."

The constitution won't solve all of Czechoslovakia's problems. There is still, for instance, a nagging antagonism between Czechs and Slovaks.

It's difficult for a stranger here to appreciate the reasons for the antagonism. The language they speak are readily understood by each other without translation, there are no striking differences in appearance and only minor differences of temperament.

Yet, at their bluntest, the Czechs tend to carry about an image of the Slovaks as hard-drinking, lazy and uneducated people while the Slovaks seem to view the Czechs as domineering, cold and hypercritical.

It is a miniature of the whole problem of Central Europe and it means the problem of prejudice is added to by the difficulties of stand-pat ideas when the reformers press their case for federalism.

"The battle for federalism must be fought hardest in Bohemia among the Czechs and within the ranks of the Communist party," a Slovakian Communist remarked.

Oddly enough, although Dubcek will be travelling through the Bratislava and Slovakia divisions of the party, his strongest support does not believed to have penetrated as deeply in his former territory as they have in Bohemia and Moravia.

Part of the reason is believed to be that anti-Communist feeling is more ingrained in Slovakia than elsewhere. Part is due to the Slovaks' obsession with autonomy.

One Western observer familiar with the Slovakian situation reported a strong feeling among the Slovaks that they should worry firstly about autonomy and only secondly about individual freedoms and the "other political" changes which Dubcek's Prague's thinking.

Ondrej Karol, a Slovak and a senior advisee to the government on constitutional reform said he personally favors a renewed democracy in Slovakia, before anything.

"However, the fact is that the constitution can be changed almost immediately to settle the Slovak question. But the fight for democracy does not start and does not end with one plenary meeting of the party.

"I'm not trying to be skeptical. Democracy must be part of life and not just a popular slogan."

Any non-Slovak resistance to federalism has only been increased by the knowledge that it will be costly, since separate levels of administration will have to be set up for the states and the country.

There is even talk of changing the country's official name. The Czechoslovak Socialist Republic of today may become the Czechoslovak Federal Republic of tomorrow.

Obviously there's a long time for the change.

Watkins

foreign ownership study group were screened by police, "and I had to fight very hard to get two of them cleared."

He would not name the two.

Prof. Watkins, associate professor of political economy at the University of Toronto, said the RCMP were particularly interested in a visit he made to the Soviet Union in May, 1965.

He told the police he had been invited by the Soviet education ministry, which had written to the University of Toronto president, Claude Bissell.

The police asked who in the ministry had invited him and how they knew of him. He replied that a Soviet official had visited the University of Toronto and he could only presume that was how they knew of him.

"The thing gets crazier," said Prof. Watkins, "because when I arrived in Moscow, the Russians couldn't find any record of who had invited me either, and the mystery was cleared up only when I showed them a copy of the letter that had been sent to Bissell."

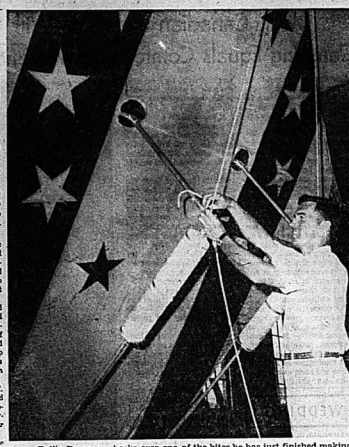
Some time later, Prof. Watkins said, the RCMP phoned him about Abe Rotbestein, economics professor at the University of Toronto and a member of his study team.

"They asked me if I knew he had visited Red China in 1960, and I said that I did, and they asked me how come I knew, and I said because I sent him.

"Rotbestein went to Peking to try to get somebody from Communist China to attend the U of T teach-in on China that we had scheduled for later that year."

Prof. Watkins said he was mostly amused at the whole thing at the time."

"But I have been thinking about it and what effect this kind of thing might have on the national interest. Now I am no longer amused."



He said he wanted to make the security incident public because if it were repeated the country's university educationists may refuse government invitations to take part in the examination of public and national issues.

Prof. Watkins said his visit with the RCMP came several weeks after he had filled out security clearance forms. He received a call from an officer who said he wanted to talk to him.

"I said 'fine' and asked him if he wanted to come to my office, but he said he would rather not and suggested we meet in the Chateau Laurier.

"The first thing I thought of was the bar in the Chateau, and I thought that was a funny place to discuss security, but then he gave me a room number and told me to come there and I left for the meeting with the feeling that everything I had ever seen about national security on the late show was suddenly coming true.

"I felt a little foolish when I knocked on the door, but then it opened and these two Mounties in plain clothes held up their badges for me to see and I went in and we began to talk."

Rollie Bonneau checks over one of the kites he has just finished making. The kite will carry an enthusiast high in the air while it is towed by a power boat some 70 feet on the water below.

He Flies Through the Air With the Greatest of Ease

TRENTON — If you told your wife you were going to fly 70 feet above the ground by attaching a giant kite to a powerboat she would immediately dash for the yellow pages and flip to "headshrinkers."

However there are some men who do this as a sport and a few of these come from this area.

There were 45 competitors at the July 27 event and the local group were Canada's only entries.

They came back from the competition with six trophies — among them four firsts. Members of the team were: Don Ilo, Terry Harris, and Bruce Babbs of Cobourg along with Mike Church of Napanee and Mike Robertson of Halifax.

Rollie Bonneau was captain of the group.

"The success of our Canadian entry was fantastic considering the small amount of interest given to the sport here," said Mr. Bonneau.

He believes that kiteflying given enough publicity, could become a well established sport.

There is no doubt that it is one of the most thrilling sports in existence.

It is quite a sight to see a man holding on to the bar of a giant kite as it is pulled by a boat which is flying over waves on the water below.

While up there the flyer will do tricks on the bar which might pose difficulty if done on land but in the air they seem unreal.

But Mr. Bonneau is quick to point out that there were no crashes by the Canadians at New Orleans".

Kites for the group were made by Mr. Bonneau who adds this business as a sideline to his marina.

"It takes about three days to make a kite," he added, "and they cost about $200."

But there is no profit to be made in selling kites and Mr. Bonneau makes most of his for the select six that went to New Orleans.

Although the rest of the team is on its way home, Mr. Bonneau emits enough pride for all six entrants when he says "I can't wait for the next competition."

New Proposal Expected In Proctor-Silex Strike

PICTON (Staff) — No definite plans are yet showing for settlement of the Proctor-Silex strike now in its 14th day.

George LeBlanc, president of the local 585 of the IUE said a package proposal was expected from the company by tomorrow.

He said he hoped for a meeting early next week, but added, he had been informed of rumors saying that the company would not meet until later on in the week.

Government's Offer Rejected

the St. Lawrence Seaway strike. The seaway workers went back to work for 19 per cent over 36 months.

In rejecting the government proposal the unions termed it "unrealistic" but made no counter-offer.

Union statement said it was "a weak attempt by the government to saddle the postal workers with a three-year contract despite legislation which requires any agreement signed at this time to terminate Sept. 30, 1968."

"Although the unions did not reject the idea of an agreement extending beyond Sept. 30, "any such agreement must reflect improved working conditions, more acceptable contract language and decent wages."

On working conditions, the unions said they had yet to see anything in the government proposals during mediation that would improve conditions of the 24,000 workers. They still were faced with a situation condemned by a royal commission three years ago as deplorable and, in some cases, scandalous.

The government statement, by Treasury Board President C. M. Drury, said the union demands are excessive "by almost any standard of judgment." The government's new and comprehensive offer was "eminently fair and reasonable."

Mr. Drury said treasury board negotiators had indicated a willingness to go beyond the recommendations of a conciliation board on a "significant number" of work issues.

But Mr. Drury warned that the government was not prepared to make any settlement that would impose an unreasonable financial burden on the public or have a damaging effect on the economy.

The union council said its negotiating team would be kept available for fresh talks if the judge calls for them.

Judge Lippe, obviously weary after nearly two weeks of tough bargaining, announced the collapse of mediation at a news conference in these words:

"I have to announce that, in spite of some progress toward a settlement, the parties have reached an impasse, and I have therefore concluded that the present position should be made known to the public.

"We are faced with a serious situation. Because of this, I have recommended to the parties, and both have agreed, there should be no press conference."

Judge Lippe returned to his home in Montreal Wednesday night to await further developments there.

Mr. Trudeau told a news conference earlier that he hoped the postal dispute could be settled in negotiation.

"Obviously, if the discussions were to go on endlessly and the parties were to appear to be worlds apart, then we would have to look at further measures—I mean if there were evidence of irresponsibility," he said.

We've gone dry.

Cathy, now an honors student at the University of Toronto is off to Marseilles and Madrid to further modern-language studies.

The system at her university permits Cathy to continue her third-year studies abroad, providing her marks are high enough.

The venture costs money, and — like most young Canadian university students — she needs work to further her plans.

Unlike many of them in a summer that's suddenly short on job opportunities, Cathy found work — housekeeping at the Sun Valley Motel.

Her wages go toward offsetting the costs of her trip — which launched her into the air Sept. 7.

Courses at the university in Marseilles don't start until November, but she wants to arrive ahead of the student influx to find lodgings.

The first semester at Marseilles ends in January. Then she takes off for Madrid — and the second half of the course, which runs until June. Returned to Canada, she must then write her regular university examinations.

Biggest problem has been caused by the mail strike. Her passport is ready in Ottawa, but there's no way of mailing it. Until she receives it, there is no way she can obtain necessary visas.

As for the future, she's still uncertain what career she will choose.

Her present partiality for housework is a matter of necessity. Right now, she does not necessarily prefer being a fulltime housewife in future.

"I want to do something with my education," says Cathy. "I just wouldn't do housework with an honors BA."

But it's 12 miles the other way from where it was pinpointed yesterday.

The large resort camp owned by William Hawthorne is located about two miles outside of Mazo de Manitou Lake, on Lake Stoco as was published yesterday.

Most Canadian Families Will Agree— Camping Equals Comfort, Convenience and Style

FALL FASHIONS FROM LONDON—Although autumn may be several weeks away, it will soon be time to at least plan that fall wardrobe. Here are three coats from London designed for the coming season. On the left, a wool-and cashmere dingle-breasted model with back vent and cuffed sleeves, just right for an afternoon stroll or other casual wear. The single-breasted raincoat in proofed wool gabardine, centre, features an inset shoulder, flapped pockets, and half-inch belt at the back. An all wool coating was used for the coat on the right, which has magyar sleeves and a curved yoke, and buttons snugly to the neck.

"See Canada" is the rallying cry for a host of vacationers this year. More and more families will hit the road to explore our big beautiful country.

Favorite spots are wilderness areas, national parks where families can enjoy camping out, fishing, swimming and boating. Many of these areas are little changed since the pioneers first travelled through them marvelling at clear lakes, deep forests and awesome mountains.

Canadian families can see these wonders today in comfort and camp out in style. To add to the pleasures of outdoor living, new cotton canvas tents are designed with comfort and convenience in mind. Canvas cots and chairs are lightweight and compact.

One comparative newcomer to the scene — growing in popularity almost as rapidly as camping itself — is the canvas-topped, two-wheel trailer. It makes living outdoors nearly as comfortable as at home.

More and more camping families are abandoning conventional styles for these modern tents on wheels, according to the Canadian Cotton Council.

At the campsite a tent-trailer blossoms out with a protective canvas roof and walls that allow plenty of living space and headroom. But on the road it's low, compact, and easy to pull.

Women campers favor the trailer since it is bug-free and has comfortable off-the-ground beds, which are permanently made up to eliminate tedious packing and unpacking of sheets, pillows and blankets. In some models, the fabric roof extends well beyond the trailer itself to provide an extra room in which double-deck bunks can be erected.

Screen doors are a feature of many trailers and most have big, airy windows that zip shut for privacy and protection.

For all its popularity, however, the trailer is scorned by many campers who insist you are not really camping unless you pitch your tent directly on the ground.

To make living more comfortable and convenient for these diehards, tent makers have created new styles that are easier to pitch, provide more weather protection, and offer more eye appeal than the old khaki type. Improvement has been made in both design and fabric.

Regardless of whether you buy a tent-trailer or a conventional tent, chances are it'll be made of cotton canvas. A rugged, long - wearing fabric able to take rough campground treatment, it's used in 98 per cent of all tents made today.

Besides its durability, canvas is the only outdoor fabric able to withstand a heavy rain and at the same time permit air to pass freely through the fabric. This ability to "breathe" prevents cotton tents from sweating inside.

A good tent, given proper treatment and attention, can last 20 years. Never store a tent when it's wet, check it after every trip for rents and tears, and make certain it's clean before being put away.

If you take good care of your tent, it will take good care of you. Then all you'll have to do is relax, have fun, and enjoy the beauties that only nature can provide.

At right is a wheat-colored wool skating suit, with a window pane check of navy and brown, designed by Kasper for Joan Leslie.

No "Dull Moments" Asserts Female Police Clerk

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I could not help but smile at 15-year-old letter writer, D.B.M., who wants to become a policewoman.

"I have worked in a city police station for the past 18 years. My status: clerk-stenographer, in theory, that is! Never a dull moment and not two days are alike. Letters of inquiry arrive, on subjects as widely varied as a lost wayward teen-ager or a misplaced sweater. Sometimes a pet animal has to be found and cared for, then shipped across the country to the tearful owner, who lost it on a holiday trip.

In a small police office, you may be called upon to comfort a child found wandering on a busy street; to escort a confused elderly lady to an airplane or search a drunken woman, booked on a charge, awaiting arrival of the proper matron.

Quite a few large forces in Canada do employ female constables. Most forces teach judo to both male and female officers, plus revolver shooting, although the revolver is very seldom used.

The more education you have, the better chance you have to land this type of job. Needless to say you should be in top physical condition. Swimming and first aid certificates are also quite an asset. Go easy on the cosmetics, although you do not have to look "mannish" to be acceptable. — All for Law and Order.

Dear All: Not only do you love your job; you are willing to give a little guidance to an interested young person. I will forward a copy of your entire, detailed letter to D.B.M. if she will send me a complete name and address. (Or to anyone else who might like it.)

* * *

Dear Doris: I met this lady through my business. She is a hairdresser, won a prize at it. She is not working. We go for drives and she always looks forward to a snack after.

I don't mind if I have the money, but I am starting up in my own store and my income is very small. If I told her I couldn't afford these snacks, would she stop going with me?

Would it be correct to ask her to get a job? She is strong and healthy. — Ends Won't Meet

Dear Ends: Not exactly. But if you have serious intentions I'd suggest levelling with her about your income and the snack situation. Then if she turns tables and invites you in for coffee and a snack, that's different.

Any girl is likely to think that a car-driving B.F. has a good supply of greenbacks.

* * *

Dear Doris: Recently I met this guy. He's 21 and very nice and well-mannered. My problem is, I've met his 15-year-old sister and she is rotten and so are the friends she has. Members.

Should I tell him I'll only go out with him if I don't have to associate with his sister or her friends? — Undecided

Dear Undecided: Better look around a little more. It just isn't bright to think you can take a man seriously and never have to be where his sister is.

Has it occurred to you there might be similarities between family members, which would not show up at first?

Don't just muddle along. Doris knows human behavior and can help. Write her and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

Widows Continuously Brag About Sons

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have two friends — both widows. I like these women very much — until they get on the subject of their families. I am sick to death listening to them brag about their sons — how smart and successful they are, what great fathers they are to their children. Then they start in on their daughters-in-law. They are dumbbells — no family background, lazy, incompetent, can't do anything right. From there they go on to rave about their grandchildren. They are the most talented, considerate, most popular kids in town. Everyone remarks on their beautiful manners.

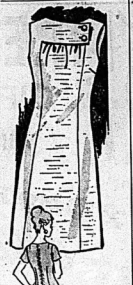
Yesterday I stood it as long as I could. Finally I said, "Please tell me how come the children turned out so well when they had such lazy, dumb mothers!" They lit into me and insisted that the children had been trained by their fathers.

I have six wonderful grandchildren, Ann, and although my son is a fine person, I know his wife deserves 85 per cent of the credit. Please print my letter and comment. — FAIR IS FAIR.

DEAR FAIR: When you see thoughtful, considerate, well-mannered children, it's a pretty safe assumption that both parents worked together to bring up those kids properly.

The influence of the mother is usually the greatest, since she is the one who spent most of her time directing and disciplining the children in their formative years. I say your thinking is more nearly correct than your friends.

* * *



DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I respond to "Old Starchy" — the, R.N. who complained about the way patients treat people who staff hospitals? She said, "Illness does not give a patient the right to be abusive or downright nasty to those whose job it is to take care of them."

Fortunately, Old Starchy's viewpoint that "genuinely nice people remain nice in spite of pain and misery" is not shared by the majority of hospital people. Hospital administrative and medical staffs have long recognized that illness can alter one's personality remarkably. May I offer a paragraph from our Personnel Handbook?

"In working with the sick and injured, remember that you are dealing with persons in exceptional circumstances. Such a person is often upset by actions and events which he would not notice under normal circumstances. You will discover that many patients have fears and resentments which may manifest themselves in irritability, uncooperativeness and superabusiveness. Remember what is routine for you may be a grave emergency in the minds of a patient or his family. Courtesy, kindness and, above all, patient understanding are the best weapons you have for overcoming these problems."

Old Starchy seems to have forgotten the creed of the health team. We are neither paragons of detached professionalism or impersonal tools of technology. We are simply people caring for people. — MRS. N. L. HADLEY, MEMORIAL HOSPITAL: HAYS, KANSAS.

DEAR MRS. N.L.: We need more people like you. Thanks for writing.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Spicy Drop Cookies to Satisfy Hungry Campers

By MARY MOORE

The dough for nine dozen 2" drop cookies was made in one big beater bowl and baked while Marianne and I cleaned out the refrigerator.

We are getting ready to go on a three-day "up-stand" camping trip and attempting to prepare enough food for seven campers. Four of these are children whose hunger is insatiable.

I love it for there are always eager consumers for my baking and cooking.

To add to my joy of cooking my son-in-law has brought home two gorgeous salmon steelf have been visiting them in Victoria and hopes to catch more on our camping trip this weekend. Marianne is a salmon cook par excellence.

SPICY PRUNE DROPS
(Nine dozen 2")

1 cup soft shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
One 4¼-oz. jar prune puree (baby food)
1 tsp. rum extract or vanilla
3¼ cups sifted all - purpose flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. allspice
½ tsp. nutmeg

In large beater bowl cream together the shortening and sugar, then beat in eggs. Beat in prune puree and rum extract or vanilla. Sift together all remaining dry ingredients and stir into first mixture.

Butter cookie sheets and drop by heaped silver teaspoonful two inches apart. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 10 to 11 min. Marianne and I switched pans and kept each other reminded to watch them. Children were streaming in and out of the kitchen telling them and nearly burning their tongues. (I do mean "steaming" for they would have to come up from the swimming pool to get something to eat to get strength enough for their next plunge.)

NOTE: This is a big batch of cookies and would be an excellent filler for Sunday's open house receptions. These with smaller batches of fussier, prettier cookies would go a long way to making your cookie arrangements look bountiful.

COW BRAND BAKING SODA

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Grandmother: "We never fed tiny babies solid food until they were at least 9 months old. You will ruin his little stomach."

Mother: "We do things differently these days. You must not interfere with the way I raise the baby."

New grandmothers often interfere with the best of intentions — because they're loving and anxious. A young mother can reassure grandmother, while she reserves the right to make her own decisions.

Mother: "I know this method of feeding a baby doesn't seem quite right to you, so I'm going to talk it over with Dr. Hill and see if I've understood his directions. We both have a lot of confidence in his judgment."

IS THE SKY FALLING IN?

Definitely not. So we don't need noisy little chickens running around screaming, that it is. At Schneiders we've taken Chickens Little (also Chickens Medium and Chickens Large), cooked them, seasoned them, and bagged them for your freezer. Just heat in your oven for 30 minutes and you've got barbecue-style chicken so tasty you'll wonder why you ever bothered with the old way. If you didn't taste one today, buy one tomorrow. No one should miss a treat like this two days in a row.

Single Grant Urged to Replace Complex Aid to Mining Towns

TIMMINS (CP) — Spokesmen for Northern Ontario's mining communities welcomed a suggestion Wednesday that a complicated system of provincial aid to mining municipalities be replaced by a single grants formula based on local tax rates and mined production.

The suggestion came from Donald Deacon (L—York Centre).

He was speaking after the Ontario legislature's select committee on the Smith tax report heard a delegation from the mining municipalities describe an aid formula proposed in the report as "illogical" and "ridiculous."

A delegation from the Association of Mining Municipalities of Northern Ontario told the committee the Smith formula would more than halve provincial grants to mining communities.

Over a five-year period grants would fall to about $3,000,000 from nearly $7,000,000 last year.

A brief presented by the association said implementation of the report would result inevitably in bankruptcy for many of the communities.

E. W. Timmon, an official of Clarkson, Gordon and Co., who helped compute effects of the Smith formula for the association, told the hearing the report's recommendations make an already difficult problem "impossible".

The association's brief agreed that the present formula was inequitable in some instances.

But it asked that it be revised "at least on an interim basis until there can be devised a more satisfactory formula which will compensate all mining municipalities fully and equitably for the loss of industrial assessment which is denied to them by statute".

The provincial Assessment Act prevents municipalities from taxing mine buildings and properties directly associated with mining. However, since 1952 the province has paid grants to mining municipalities as a means of compensating them for the lost assessment.

The Smith report, the product of a five-man commission appointed by Premier Roberts Nov. 21, 1962 and headed by Toronto accountant L. J. Smith, has proposed drastic changes in the provincial and municipal tax structure.

The report condemned the present grants formula as "complicated and capricious", arguing that some municipalities get too much money and others far too little.

It proposed a formula almost as complex as the present one and said the long-term effect would be to reduce total payments to about $2,500,000.

Timmins Mayor Evans said that if anything, taxes in mining municipalities should be lower than those elsewhere in the province.

The association brief said property tax rates in mining communities are about 10 per cent higher than in other municipalities.

Cheese Inquiry Hears 12 Briefs

ALEXANDRIA, Ont. (CP) — More than 12 briefs were presented here Tuesday to a federal government committee studying the cheese industry in Ontario.

The briefs were presented by cheese manufacturers and representatives of suppliers in the industry. The committee was set up by former agriculture minister Greene to determine the status of the industry and its major problems.

One of the major causes of complaints in this eastern Ontario area appeared to be the federal government's winter price restrictions on cheese.

The government floor price is 47 cents a pound May 1 to Nov. 1 and 42 cents at other times. The policy is aimed at discouraging cheese production in winter.

One of the committee's objectives now is to find an alternative to cutoff for milk during the winter months when there is little market in the cheese industry.

The hearings continue today in Kemptville and move to Belleville Thursday.

Man Jailed For Cruelty To Animals

BRANTFORD (CP) — Walter Clare, 57, was sentenced Wednesday to three months in jail for cruelty to animals he kept on a farm near Burford, about 19 miles west of here.

Magistrate W. A. MacDonald said the evidence presented was of "a shocking nature."

Magistrate MacDonald noted that when the animals were seized April 19 by humane society investigators, they were suffering from malnutrition, had internal and external parasites and numerous body sores.

Magistrate MacDonald told Clare that fines and one jail term for seven previous convictions of cruelty to animals dating back to 1953 failed to deter him from neglecting the animals. The fines had varied from $50 to $500 and the jail term was for seven days.

Kingston Bomb Tip Is Hoax

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Nearly 1,800 students and teachers were evacuated from two of Kingston's three high schools Wednesday as city police searched for a time bomb alleged to have been planted in one of the schools. The tip turned out to be a hoax.

An anonymous male caller told police by phone that "a bomb's going to go off" at Kingston Collegiate and Vocational Institute. Police said the man did not say where the bomb was planted or what time it was to be exploded.

Police were sent to Queen Elizabeth College, KCVI and to Loyola.

There were no students at KCVI, but at Queen Elizabeth there were 550 students and at Loyola 1,200 attending summer school and manpower retraining courses.

Harvest Begins

BRANTFORD (CP) — Some tobacco harvesting began Wednesday with prospects for good crop. Full-scale harvesting will start Monday.

The Ontario Flue-cured Tobacco Growers' marketing board anticipates a 205,000,000-pound crop this year, of which 73,000,000 pounds will be for export.

The board forecasts that the price average should be at least 67 cents a pound.

They might be playing the "William Tell Overture" this Sunday afternoon at Zwick's Island, but it'll be Carol Armstrong doing the archery honors.

Belleville's two-time winner of the national Women's Archery crown will demonstrate her bow prowess at an exhibition in the bayside park, following an hour-long concert by the local Federation of Musicians Concert Band.

The band will "warm up" the archery audience from 2 to 3 p.m. Sunday, then "take 20" while Carol and Canadian men's champion — Don Jackson of Lindsay — display their target skills.

Carol's husband Floyd will act as commentator for the exhibition, to take place in the immediate band shell area.

Both archers will be on the six-member Canadian team competing against U.S. counterparts over the Labor Day holiday in the third annual Ambassador Cup shoot.

Rampant Running

Als Cool Heels After Eskimo Visit

MONTREAL (CP) — It's on to Toronto today and a Friday night contest against the Argonauts for coach Neill Armstrong and his powerful Edmonton Eskimos but it's back to the screening room for Kay Dalton of Montreal Alouettes.

Armstrong unfolded a powerful running and passing game as his Western Conference club knocked off Dalton's Easterners 27-10 in the first Canadian Football League's interlocking game of the season Wednesday night.

Dalton, on the other hand, watched what was once Montreal's biggest asset—the defence—crumble as the Eskimos ran roughshod over their opponents.

Edmonton's potent offence, made up of running backs Art Perkins, Jim Thomas and Don Lisbon found gaping holes as they combined for 230 yards rushing.

And, when the trio wasn't tearing up yards along the ground, they found themselves in the clear for passes from veteran quarterback Frank Cosentino, where the three backs gained another 137 yards.

"Frank called a real good game and he mixed his plays real well," the jubilant Armstrong said after the game.

"I'm really happy with that running game. I would have to say that our running attack is probably more potent than last year."

A short distance down the corridor, Dalton blamed his defensive unit most of all for the loss.

"I'm really disappointed in the defence and I can't really say what the problem is," the Montreal coach said. "I'll have to take a look at the films first."

Guide to Trotters A Valuable Aid

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

That's how the Quinte Riding and Driving Club's official weekly program is seen by the handful of avid enthusiasts making harness racing the most popular spectator sport in these parts.

But even with this year's average attendance at the Saturday night Fairground trots running around the 800 mark — or 150 a night more than the 1967 season — and with betting up 15 per cent, many harness fans may not be taking full advantage of the 35-cent Riding Club offer.

The local harness association's president, Jack Jeffrey, feels too few spectators send-or bettors have topped the cost of trot knowledge between the covers of the weekly form.

"I'm sure about 50 per cent of our crowds don't have the hang of reading a form," he says, "and it's all for their benefit."

At first glance, a novice track addict might be tempted to throw up his arms in dismay, and prefer to root, or bet for his favorite by the "eeny-meeny-miny" method.

But a little perseverance and he could have in his hands a guide to more enjoyable — and informed — evenings at the trots, even if he hasn't the urge to make a pass at the Pari-Mutuel windows.

Opening his form, the spectator finds the seven or eight entries for each heat listed vertically beneath one another and each occupying a lateral strip across the page filled with dozens of small numbers and abbreviated letters.

They're tiny, but in those figures can be found a particular horse's complete performance record for the past two years.

For a betting man, it's something like going into a poker game having at your disposal a dossier on the strengths, weaknesses, and winnings of each of your opponents!

A glance over to the top right of the available space finds the horse's 1968 and 1967 records in starts, wins, seconds, and shows, and money won.

Then comes the confusing part — the past performance lines. But once a form-follower gets the hang of one, they're all the same.

Starting at the left, one finds the date and site of a particular race his horse entered. The next series of numbers shows the leading times of that race at the quarter, half, three-quarters and finish: for example — 33 (seconds) 1:08 (one minute, eight seconds) 142 216.

Then comes our horse's post position for the race, and his position in the field at the quarter, half, three-quarters, stretch and finish: A winning trotter that started seventh from the rail could have his line read: 762111.

Next comes our horse's actual time for that particular race, followed by his driver's name, and the names of the heat winner, second, and third-place finishers.

Don't put your program away too soon — you haven't got your 35 cents worth yet!

Also to be found are the records of this season's top local drivers, some Canadian trotting regulations, some odds calculations on a $2 ticket, notes on phot-finishes, daily doubles and gait-breaking, and even the etiquette in purchasing a Mutuel ticket.

So this Saturday night if you come across a "Gr M" that was "6 5 4 3 2 1 20?" in the "July 20 BELLE", don't panic . . . head for the betting booth!

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Harry Edwards, leader of the Negro Olympic protest movement, indicated Wednesday that sprinter Lee Evans' statement that there would be no boycott might be part of a plan to create chaos in the Olympic movement. Evans said Tuesday in Soo-kane, Wash., that black athletes had voted to go to the games in Mexico City in October and hold some form of protest there rather than boycott the games entirely. "If Lee said that, then that's what he said," Edwards said.

NEW YORK (AP) — A Time Magazine sports writer filed suit for $310,000 damages Wednesday, charging that Joe Namath, quarterback of the New York Jets, and two other men assaulted him in a Manhattan bar last Aug. 4. The writer, Charles Parmiter, asked $40,000 from the Open End Bar and its owner, Murray Schaff, alleging that selling Namath drinks while he was drunk contributed to the assault. In court proceedings over the last few months, Namath has denied that he attacked Parmiter.

Cementmen Struggle To Gain Playoff Berth

Brant's can't make one of the four playoff spots in the Commercial Softball League, but the cellar - dwelling team has earned the distinction of at least one season record on the circuit.

Their loss to Point Anne 17-1 Wednesday night was their six straight — the longest steady losing streak in the league this year.

Point Anne and Brants have four games left in the regular season. At 4-11, the latter are definitely out of playoff range.

Point Anne stands a slim-if a better-chance. At 8-13 for 16 points, if they win all of their four remaining games and collect a total of 34 points, they could tie with the fourth-place playoff team, which right now is the Black Diamond entry.

Even if they don't make the Commercial League playoffs, Point Anne will still have a chance for some post - season ball as they enter Junior "B" Division OASA playdowns. With all their players under 21, Point Anne will be the only local softball team to enter the OASA playoffs.

Senior and intermediate entries were ruled out when the senior Woods Construction team failed to file an application for OASA competition.

In Wednesday night's tilt, winning pitcher Tom Watts allowed Brants only one run on three hits and one Point Anne error. Watts struck out seven and walked none.

The Cementmen hurler pitched hitless ball until the fifth when Brants catcher Wayne Bunnett copped a single and right-fielder Gene Daniels followed it up with another safety.

Point Anne collected 17 runs on 12 hits and nine Brants errors from Brants Mark Sherman, with Gary Matier relieving in the seventh.

Sheridan walked nine and struck out four.

Leading hitters for the Cementmen were Ray Summers, Wayne Brown and Rick Rosebush with homers. Summers collected two singles. Leftfielder Larry Fraser hit a single as did catcher Dave Akey. Eric Maher had three safeties, and centrefielder Tom MacDonald had a single and a double.

Statistics are the proverbial pain.

Or they can be totally misleading.

Perhaps the best of the latter variety is the most fundamental statistic — the score.

The truth in that old saw about the score "not being indicative of the play" just goes without saying.

A Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher this week "treasured" the National League-leading Cardinals to a 7-1 tune, but a look at the line score reveals he gave up a whopping 12 hits in the process.

A batting average can be another trickster, particularly when treated as the most important factor in a player's overall performance.

Ted Williams once told a cocky Boston Red Sox rookie, whose early-season average was about as impressive as his hat size, that a .300 hitter was no good in a team if he was also a .300 fielder.

One sport statistic that should come under more scrutiny is that dealing with performance of hockey goalies.

Not only is a goals-against average misleading — a superb Montreal Canadiens defence won Jacques Plante six Vezina Trophies — it is awarded, technically, to a set-minder who plays 36, say, of 70 games for the team having the fewest goals scored against it.

Isn't the fellow who played the other 34 just as deserving of recognition?

There is a way to avoid the difficulties in performance assessment created by the "platoon"-goalie system.

And one of the most vociferous advocates of it was the aforementioned Mr. Plante. The method — being employed by increasing statistician — hinges on the percentage of the number of saves a goaltender makes of the total number of shots on net.

It's argued that even "soft" shots help a goalie's performance rating this way, but they all count if they go in the net. Besides it credits the goalie for something HE did, while the goals-against average often reflects an entire team's defensive prowess.

Yes, the digits can fib. About the only statistics that carry say weight these days are the numerical endowments of beauty pageant entries.

And even they can be unreliable.

Who Hit Whom ?

Toe's Day in Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The question of who got hit first was argued Wednesday as the assault trial of former National Hockey League coach Toe Blake and winger Claude Provost of Montreal Canadiens opened in Superior Court.

Deputy District-Attorney Bart Goldman alleged to the jury in his opening statement that Blake hit, Bernie Weisman, a fan, with a hockey stick.

The defence claimed that Weisman, 39, jumped into the players' box and hit Blake on the head with his fist.

The prosecution claims that Weisman was knocked down and beaten by several Canadiens, including Provost.

Goldman said Weisman was heckling the visitors from a third-row seat and Blake finally invited Weisman to "come on down, fat mouth, and see what you get."

Weisman and Mrs. Ottens have filed a $655,000 civil damage suit against the two defendants.

Defence lawyer Elmer Docken told the jury of eight men and four women that Weisman had engaged in "loud, obnoxious heckling" throughout the game.

After 13 years as coach, Blake retired last May and now is an executive with the Canadiens.

Here Comes The Judge!

Former Montreal Canadiens' coach "Toe" Blake and Canadien player Claude Provost are seen with attorney waiting start of their Los Angeles trial on charges they assaulted a fan in a Nov. 19 game. A Los Angeles fan and his wife claim the Montreal duo struck them during a Montreal-Los Angeles Kings game.

Must Be The Air

Moe Fares Well on Calgary Fairways

The veteran professional from Gifford, Ont., first tasted big-time golf victory when he won the Canadian Amateur title at the Calgary Country Club in 1955.

He returned in 1965 and won the Alberta Open before claiming the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association crown the same year at Willow Park.

Norman, the leading money winner of the Canadian golf tour this year, returned Tuesday and has since been busily shooting practice rounds be the par-71 course in preparation for the $20,000 Willow Park classic which starts Friday and which he last won in 1966.

A record number of 77 golfers has entered the 54-hole affair this year, among them Wright, Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg, winner of the Millar tournament in Georgetown, Ont., and Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver, Alberta Open winner.

The tournament which fishes Sunday will pay $3,000 to the winner. Last year, the championship was worth $2,000 but prize money has been increased to attract more top talent.

For some of the golfers, victory in the tournament which is the seventh stop on the Canadian golf tour championships is scheduled for Woodbridge, Ont., Sept. 13-15.

Norman, Homenuik and Vollmer have already qualified because of previous golf tour victories. Norman won the Saskatchewan Open.

Alvie Thompson of Toronto, the fourth golfer who has qualified, has pulled out of the Willow Park due to other commitments.

Only 12 players will get a chance to compete in the tour championships.

Bill Walcham of Victoria leads the race for a championship berth with 62.75 points among the non-winning professionals. He is followed by Bob Cox Jr. of Vancouver with 51.25 points and Len Harvey of Regina with 40 points.

A pro-amateur affair which has been entered by 36 teams of three players which will be held in conjunction with the tournament.

Five-Inning Win

Planes Win 1st Playoff Tilt

In the first game of the "B" division playoffs in the South Hastings Baseball League Wednesday night, Plaines, who finished in second place in league play, downed Latta 4-2.

The game was official even though rained out in the sixth inning.

Bob Chappelle pitched for the winners, allowing two runs on five hits and two walks with one Latta error. He fanned five.

Latta pitcher Bob Smith gave up four runs to Plaines in the second inning before he was relieved by Lorne Cronkright in the third. The two pitchers combined to allow four runs on seven hits, three walks, and one Plaines error. Smith and Cronkright struck out four.

Top hitters for the winners were Court Brailey and John Tweedy with two singles apiece. Pat O'Connor hit a double, and Bob Moon and Warren Hay had singles.

Firemen Tighten Standings

One-Hitter Downs CNR Combines 5-2

The Fire Department evened up their Departmental League record at 7-7 with a 5-2 win over the second - place CNR Combines Wednesday night.

The win also makes it a matter of just two games between fifth and second place in the in the league with the Firemen at 14 points in fifth, the CNR Turbos at 16 in fourth, the Post Office at 17 in third, and the CNR Combines at 18 in second.

The first - place Intell crew have clinched the league pennant with 26 points.

Bob Davenport did the Firemen's hurling in the Wednesday contest, pitching a no - hitter for five innings, then being relieved by Larry Reid in the sixth.

Davenport moved to first, but, when Reid loaded the bases with the game's only hit and two walks in the top of the seventh, the big pitcher returned to the mound to relieve the Combines, but only after they had collected two unearned runs.

Bob Lloyd led the Firemen at the plate with a homer and a double while Brian Smith collected another four - bagger for the winners. Davenport and Charlie Peters hit two singles each.

Fred Bellis pitched for the Combines; allowing seven hits, including the two homers. The losing pitcher also collected the game's only Combine hit with a single in the seventh.

All teams are requested to have a representative present at tonight's League meeting at the Dundas St. Fire Hall.

Cards Boasting 14½—Game Bulge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis Cardinals began July with a 5-1 victory over Los Angeles Dodgers and a 6½-game lead over second-place Atlanta Braves.

They ended it Wednesday night with a 5-2 triumph over Philadelphia Phillies and an almost insurmountable 14½-game bulge over runner-up Cincinnati Reds in the National League race.

The Cardinals ripped off 24 victories in 30 games and they didn't care how they did it.

Take Wednesday night's game.

Lou Brock singled and stole second in the seventh inning. Julian Javier bunted and pitcher Woody Fryman threw him out, with Brock going to third. But Brock didn't stop there, he kept right on running and beat first baseman Bill White's throw home for what proved to be the winning run.

Atlanta edged New York Mets 3-2, Cincinnati trounced Pittsburgh 8-2 and then was walloped 10-1 by the Pirates, Chicago Cubs topped Houston Astros 6-1 and Los Angeles tripped San Francisco Giants 6-3 in other games.

Mike Shannon doubled in the first St. Louis run and Brock singled home the other. Clay Dalrymple sacrifice fly and Richie Allen's single produced the runs for the Phillies, who have lost four straight and 15 of the last 18.

It was all Hank Aaron in Atlanta's victory as the Braves slugger doubled home his club's first two runs and then snapped a 2-2 tie with an RBI single.

Cincinnati scored four runs in the first inning on singles by Pete Rose, Vada Pinson and Tony Perez, Johnny Bench's double and an error to win the first game.

Pittsburgh came back to take the nightcap with a 16-hit attack and the second triple play in the major leagues in two days.

After Lee May and Perez walked in the fourth inning, Tommy Helms lined to shortstop Gene Alley. Alley threw to second baseman Bill Mazeroski, doubling up May, and Mazeroski threw to first to get Perez. Ron Hansen of Washington Senators made an unassisted triple play Tuesday night against Cleveland Indians in the American League.

Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer and first baseman Donn Clendenon a solo shot and a triple to pace Pittsburgh's attack.

The Cubs continued their heavy hitting by clouting four homers. Ernie Banks hit two and now has 460 in his career. Billy Williams and Jim Hickman smacked the others.

Trailing 3-1 in the eighth, the Dodgers rallied for five runs on two hits and a series of Giant misplays.

Two runs scored when Joe Gibbon uncorked a bases-loaded wild pitch and catcher Dick Dietz made a wild throw back to the plate, and Frank Linzy forced home the go-ahead run with a bases-loaded walk to Bob Bailey.

Tigers Show Heels To Trailing 9 Slackers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denny McLain and the Detroit Tigers are showing nothing but their heels to nine American League laggards. But there's still plenty of catch-up left in the also-rans—when they tangle with each other.

While the front-running Tigers loped past Washington Senators 4-0 Wednesday night for McLain's 21st victory of the season, Oakland Athletics, Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees were winning games on ninth-inning comebacks.

Oakland completed a double-header sweep by overtaking California Angels 4-3 on Ted Kubiak's two-run triple in the ninth after winning the opener 4-1 on a three-run homer by Mike Hershberger in the eighth.

The White Sox spotted Minnesota an 8-1 lead, then fought back behind an 18-hit attack and finally floored the Twins 12-8 with six runs in the ninth. The Yankees pushed over five unearned runs with two out in the ninth for a 7-3 triumph over Boston Red Sox.

Baltimore trimmed Cleveland Indians 4-2 on Elrod Hendricks' two-run homer in another game.

McLain, 21-3, scattered four hits and struck out nine as Detroit maintained its seven-game spread over second-place Baltimore.

Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline set the offensive pace for the Tigers. McAuliffe crashed a single, two doubles and his 14th homer and scored all the runs. Kaline contributed two doubles, a single and two RBI.

In the nightcap at Oakland the Athletics fell behind 2-1 in the seventh when California's Tom Satriano and Jim Gregori clapped run-scoring singles. John Donaldson's infield hit scored Rick Monday in the bottom of the seventh, but Oakland still was one run down with one out in the ninth.

Then Jim Gosger walked and Bert Campaneris singled, chasing reliever Marty Pattin, and Kubiak greeted Angels' ace Jim McGlothlin with a drive off the centre-field fence, scoring the tying and winning runs.

Minnesota left the White Sox on the ropes with a six-run volley in the fourth inning, but they bounced back with four in the sixth and went into the ninth trailing 8-6.

Help, Girls!

Canadian Men Falter Overseas

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The Canadian track and field team hopes it won't have to depend on its women again when it competes in the big London meet starting Friday.

The Canadian men's team lost to Sweden 119-93 in a two-day meet that ended here Wednesday. At Oslo, the first stop on their European tour, they were beaten 113-98 by the Norwegians in a meet that ended July 24.

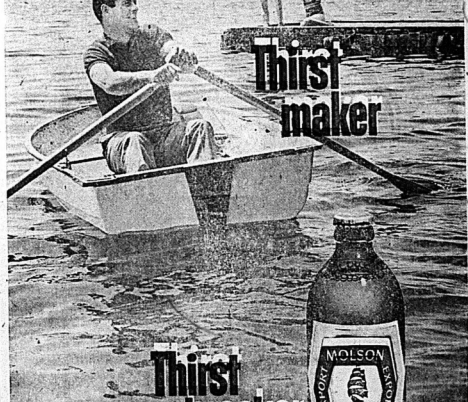
Sparking the effort was Jay Dahlgren, a 19-year-old from North Vancouver who set a Canadian national women's record in the Canada-Sweden meet by throwing the javelin 54.62 metres. This was 3.72 metres better than the record she set last year.

The Swedes won five of nine men's events. Canadians placed one-two in the 200 metres and 10,000 metres. Ross McKenzie of Winnipeg beat team-mate Tony Powell of Toronto in the long sprint in 21.4 seconds while Dave Ellis and Peter Buniak, both of Toronto, came home one-two in the 10,000-metre run. Ellis won it in 29:25.4.

George Puce of Toronto nailed an expected victory in the discus with a heave of 58.68 metres while the Canadian 1,600 metre men's relay team won unchallenged in 3:08.1.



Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Denny McLain, Tigers, blanked the Senators on four hits and struck out nine for his 21st victory against only three losses.

Keeping Pickets Happy Is Really Hard Work

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Hunt stood at a wooden counter that somebody had painted a bad pink. With his stubbly beard and tired eyes, he looked every bit a man who had been working 12 hours a day for the last two weeks.

He was standing in a long, narrow room with lots of bright light that seemed as if picket pool for Local No. 1 of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers.

About 100 of them wander in this mint-green-painted room above a downtown restaurant. They are striking postal workers.

Jim Hunt said Wednesday he beats into pounds of coffee a day in a dull silver urn borrowed from a food store. The coffee is free to the men and women on picket duty, who also go through nine free quarts of milk, 15 pounds of sugar and 18 dozen doughnuts a day.

You walk through a green-striped wall-papered door and up the stairs with their cracking linoleum. But at the top it looks friendly, and it smells like coffee and cocoa.

Strikers come off their three-hour picket stints and sit around and talk. They gripe a lot.

They gripe about the press, which they feel makes them seem too greedy. They gripe about the government and Prime Minister Trudeau and the government's offer of a six-per-cent pay increase.

But they keep the chatter low. Dick Lunge tacks up papers signs on the walls saying: "They also serve who only sit and wait."

He needs volunteers for picket duty at post offices in the area where someone is home with a sore throat or has to take his wife to the doctor.

About 20 or 30 wait in the room for calls.

Some gather around a small portable television set. Others read the newspapers and play cards. But most just talk and gripe.

Ed Hanson, a mail sorter, has worked for the post office since 1946. He has a son and a daughter and four grandchildren.

"You can't live on $80 a week," he said. "Not in this city."

Hunt, a mail clerk, overheard him and said:

"If they take away our right to strike they'll have a riot. There's no need to do that. They're making $9,000,000 a year profit on first-class mail. They're losing it on the second, third and fourth class.

"They ought to give us a raise and raise the postal rates for second, third and fourth class, that's what they should do."

Every time every day, the men keep coming up for their coffee and doughnuts.

They look bored. Some went over to Maple Leaf Gardens Tuesday and gave a pint of blood to the Red Cross. They got a free lacrosse ticket for that.

Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major rebuff to President Johnson, the Senate approved Wednesday a record low foreign aid bill—more than $1,000,000,000 under what he had requested.

The Senate passed an authorization measure of $1,940,000,000 for the current fiscal year and called for a broad reappraisal of the entire aid program. The vote was 46 to 28.

The bill now goes to a conference to resolve differences with the House of Representatives, which set a $1,950,000,000 figure.

Johnson had asked for $2,460,000,000 in foreign aid and called that budget an austere one.

The deep cuts, coupled with the plan for reappraisal, has led to speculation that the aid program launched 21 years ago may be nearing an end in its present form.

There have been frequent proposals in Congress to concentrate more on working through world organizations in helping underdeveloped countries and on bringing private industry more actively into helping those countries improve their economies.

The aid bill as passed by the Senate proposes $1,300,000,000 for economic and $360,000,000 for military assistance.

Four in One Bed, Baby Suffocates

TORONTO (CP) — The death of a six-week-old boy, who suffocated in a bed he shared with his father, mother and one-year-old brother during a visit to relatives, was caused by his parents' carelessness, a coroner's jury ruled Wednesday.

Dwayne Fry, son of George and Sandra Fry of Toronto, weighed seven pounds, 10 ounces when he suffocated at his grandmother's house June 30. The infant was premature at birth.

Mrs. Fry, 26, testified that the infant slept between her and her husband in a double bed at her mother's house the night the child died.

She said she never realized the danger of having an infant in bed with adults.

Coroner Dr. Kenneth Baxter said that it "seems incredible that a small, premature infant like this should be placed in bed between two adults."

The jury recommended that a pamphlet be distributed outlining the various prevalent causes of accidental death involving babies and children.

BC College Has New Leader

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Kenneth Strand, 37, took over as acting president of strife-torn Simon Fraser University in suburban Burnaby today.

The young economist's appointment was ratified by the board of governors Wednesday night after it was recommended earlier in the day by a 157 to 3 vote of the faculty.

A student committee that was to present its choice for a new acting president also endorsed Dr. Strand's nomination but only after successfully demanding that he agree to conditions aimed at giving students a greater voice in the SFU government.

Dr. Strand outlined student demands at a new conference. They included:

—His immediate resignation if a properly-called meeting of all faculty votes no-confidence in him.

—A six-man student-faculty committee be set up to advise him.

—That his maximum term be 12 months and that a permanent president be named at any time to replace him.

The student selection committee, which had powers to veto a faculty selection, announced at a noon-hour rally Wednesday that it favored sociologist Dr. John Seeley, director of the centre for the study of democratic institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif., over Dr. Strand.

The committee said that since Dr. Seeley could not accept the position for six months, it would back Dr. Strand if he accepted the conditions.

Dr. Strand said he will meet Dr. Kenji Okuda, president of the SFU Faculty Association, "first thing this morning" to discuss methods to remove the censure of the institution by the Canadian Association of University Teachers.

RCA VICTOR APPLIANCES

The refrigerator of many faces is a good name for this new RCA VICTOR Refrigerator-Freezer. You can match its doors to cabinets, countertops, walls, draperies or wallpaper . . . the special metal frame that trims the doors is designed to accept thin panels of vinylclad aluminum or steel, Formica-type laminates, brushed aluminum or stainless sheets. Standard - ¼" panels of plywood, masonite or other hardboard will also fit, so you can even match the wood of your cabinet, if you wish. Or choose one of RCA Victor's gorgeous decorator colors: edged avocado, edged copper or white. Whichever color you choose, the tough acrylic enamel finish will keep its beauty for years.

Ice maker supplies ice crescents automatically.

Inside . . . you design your own shelf arrangement. Four half-width shelves in the refrigerator section can be adjusted to any position, to give you plenty of room to store large foods or small, make the most economical use of space. The twin crispers and the Jet-Cold meat pan are also adjustable, can be located any place in the refrigerator, just like the shelves!

Finishing Touches

Al Seidl puts some finishing touches to his 44-foot ketch Illahee under the watchful eyes of his wife and two children. Mr. and Mrs. Seidl and five others plan to sail from Vancouver to Hawaii by way of Easter Island later this year to test his theory that British Columbia Indians landed on the Polynesian Islands long before the first white man. Western Series for Fall Teams Black and White

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don Barry, a wrestler turned character actor, slumped in the hot mid-day sun behind a plaster of paris boulder on the Screen Gems backlot, rehearsing the scene in which he, a villain, gets his comeuppance. Shots were fired by a member of the technical crew.

On the sidelines in the shade, Don Murray, one of the two stars of the show, The Outcasts, leaned back in his folding chair and talked about the new ABC series—his first regular television assignment.

"Well, yes, this one is based on personal relationships," he said, "since I play a former slave owner and Otis (Young) plays a former slave. But it's still a violent, action Western."

A couple of months ago, Murray said, "they started to cut down on the number of people killed, and cut some of the details of blood and gore."

"But we still have lots of fights and I play the kind of guy who gets drunk and is interested in women. I've lost a lot of horses in the 11 episodes we've finished—they've been shot, broken a leg, died from thirst and, in one episode, got bitten by a rattlesnake."

All this, presumably, makes The Outcasts one of those so-called "adult westerns," but with a contemporary television switch that has a white man and a black man in prickly partnership as bounty hunters.

Murray, a stage and film star with credits such as A Hatful of Rain and The Hoodlum Priest—which he wrote, produced and in which he starred—said he had never wanted to be involved with a television series before because he thought it would be determined to his film career.

"I've changed my mind," he said. "Now I think it will be helpful. If you do good work and if the audience likes you and identifies with you, it will make the audience want to see more of you."

The teaming of black and white man in the Old West permits the series to inject new twists into time-honored plots.

In one episode, Young, whose character Jemal David has been made acting sheriff of a small town, walks into a restaurant full of empty tables and one lone diner. He asks for food and the proprietor explains that he just hasn't the room to serve him.

"I react," said Young, a TV newcomer. "I play a guy with a short fuse. As a matter of fact, I react in this series. I've waited 14 years in show business for this chance, and I don't want anything to hurt it."

Eating Sugar Doesn't Cause Diabetes

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Someone wanted to know if eating sugar caused diabetes and I believe you said no, this was not the cause, but that things you ate (not sugar or sweets) turned to sugar inside you for some reason or other.

My mother has sugar diabetes and insists it is caused from eating sugar and sweets. I say it is not caused from this even though after people get diabetes they cannot eat sugar. — M. A. B.

You are correct. Eating sugar does not cause diabetes. Diabetes is a condition in which the body does not use its sugar supply properly. This is, insulin is necessary for efficient utilization of sugar. Insufficient insulin, or some disturbance in the insulin supply of its action, this interferes with using up sugar.

Excess sugar therefore accumulates in the system. Some is excreted in the urine (which is why urinalysis is a valuable test for diabetes). But sugar also piles up in the blood. Hence the sugar tolerance test (one type of blood test) is essential for diagnosis.

Now let's talk about food for a moment. Some foods are "building" foods, protein being an essential one. Minute by minute, day by day, cells grow old and are discarded by the body, and new cells form. The "building" foods provide the materials for this.

Other foods don't build the body; instead, they are "fuel" and provide heat and energy. Such foods are, in large measures, carbohydrates — sugars and starches.

Many foods, of course, contain both "building" and "fuel" materials — bread, milk, and a host of others.

How are the "fuels" transported? Why, by the blood, in the form of blood sugar. The commonest sugar is glucose. Thus when a patient is for some reason unable to eat, he can be fed by transfusing glucose into the blood stream.

We get most of our blood sugar from starchy foods, sugar, fruit and vegetables.

But we must keep in mind that these protein foods also are a source of sugar. It is chemical conversion process in the body turning about 58 per cent of protein into glucose.

Thus if a person ate no sugar at all, he would still have a supply of blood sugar, or glucose. He also could get diabetes.

Some people eat a lot of sugar and don't get diabetes; some eat little sugar and do. I hope this will clear up the confusion for your mother.

I must add, however, that we know from experience that an overweight person is much more likely to develop diabetes, regardless of whether the overweight comes from too much sugar or too much of other foods.

Sugar doesn't "cause diabetes." It is an inability to use sugar efficiently — an inherited disorder.

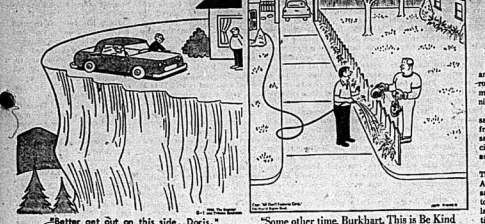
Dear Dr. Molner: I had a baby four months ago and in the hospital was given a shot to dry up my milk, but my breasts are still filled with milk. What can I do about it? — E. H.

I'd need a little more information to give an answer. For one thing, have you been breast feeding the baby at all?

The use of female hormone or its equivalent will dry up the breast, but so long as even occasional nursing continues, milk production will continue, too. Otherwise the milk will cease, although there will be congestion and discomfort for a while.

• • •



To Mr. and Mrs. E. B.: Itching is one of the symptoms of diabetes. So yes, a sugar tolerance test would be in order.

Metro Chairman Highest Paid Municipal Official in Canada

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A $7,000 pay boost to $35,000 annually for William Allen, Metropolitan Toronto chairman, makes him the highest-paid municipal official in Canada.

The $35,000 is a straight basic salary with none of the many fringe benefits attached to the salaries of other high-ranking city administrators across Canada.

In Montreal, for example, Mayor Jean Drapeau receives $22,500 plus $6,000 for expenses and $650 as a member of the Montreal Metropolitan Commission.

The chairman of Montreal's executive committee gets $18,- annually, but as a city councillor, he is paid an additional salary of $3,500 and $650 expenses.

Toronto Mayor William Dennison also fits into the high-salary category, earning $25,000, but there are no extras.

The Quebec City mayor also makes $25,000, but $7,000 of this is for expenses, leaving his basic salary at $18,000.

—Hamilton Mayor Vic Copps receives $18,000 a year plus $2,- 500 for his membership on the police commission. But a third of his total salary is for expenses and is exempt from taxes. His membership on the hydro-electric power commission provides him with an additional—taxable—$2,000.

Ottawa Mayor Don Reid gets $18,700 annually, but it includes $4,000 in the mayor's salary, $2,000 mayor's expenses, $1,834 for his city council membership and another $1,666 for council member's expenses, $700 as a member of the police commission, $3,000 as a hydro-electric commission member, and $1,500 as a member of the transit commission.

In Windsor, Ont., the mayor gets an annual renumeration of $15,300 plus a travel allowance of $1,500. He receives $10,700 as salary; $2,180 as a member of the city utilities commission and $2,500 as a member of the police commission.

In London, Ont., Mayor Herb McClure will earn $16,500 this year, but only $5,000 more than a third of his earnings represents his basic salary.

The Vancouver mayor makes $20,000 plus $16,000 and the mayor of Victoria receives $10,000 of which $2,500 is allotted for non-accountable expenses.

Stephen Juba, mayor of Winnipeg, receives $11,800 a year, which includes $3,800 in tax-free expenses.

Regina's population is 131,127, and the mayor gets a $14,400 salary—including expenses of $2,400—he is well above the salary of Winnipeg's mayor, who oversees a population of 237,000.

In the Maritimes, salaries are generally lower. The mayor of Halifax is most highly paid with $15,000 in straight salary.

The mayor of Dartmouth makes half that, and the mayor of St. John, N.B., makes $5,000 plus $2,500 for incidentals.

In Newfoundland, the St. John's mayor receives a $7,000 salary.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate

"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Is a house a good investment? Every realtor instinctively would answer, "yes," to this question. Actually, the answer can be either "yes" or "no," depending upon what one means by the term, "investment."

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I'm a real estate salesman, and have been at it now for two years. I am making a lot of money and love the business. However, a growing gnawing doubt is eating at me. It is so fundamental that I am afraid to ask my boss for fear of the answer.

When I sell, the main thrust of my sales talk is that real estate is a good investment. Yet, as I look around, not one house in our whole area is owned by an investor. Nobody that I know has bought any one of my houses, or anyone else's offerings, for the purpose of renting them out and collecting a return on their investment.

Something must be wrong with my investment talk and that of other salesmen, but I don't know what. I need enlightenment. — Mr. S.

ANSWER: A frank answer to this question will enlighten readers, but may antagonize some of my colleagues.

If by "investment," one means getting a good annual return on the capital committed, then a house is a poor investment. On the other hand, if one has in mind possible capital growth, protection against inflation, and family amenities, then it is an excellent investment.

The reason why one does not usually see houses bought by investors and then rented out is because a cash flow analysis shows that the "bottom line" after making provision for vacancy, operating expenses and depreciation gives a too small investment return.

The above statement is generally true for houses except the very lowest priced ones typically located in declining or slum areas. This is why there is a high percentage of rented houses in these neighborhoods. In contrast, in lower-middle and upper-middle class neighborhoods the rented house is rare and is the exception.

A house becomes a good investment, on the other hand, when it is used from another angle. During the past three decades on the average, one could buy a house, live in it for many years, and still anticipate selling it for a higher price. Also, the price rise for houses has been steeper than the price index. In layman's terms it means, it has outrun inflation. Therefore, from these two standpoints a house is a good investment.

In reality the main yield of a house is the satisfactions and amenities it offers in non-monetary terms. They are: neighborhood, schools, churches, transportation, recreation and all the other many factors that make a place livable and enjoyable.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Which shall I follow — my honest or my cheating neighbor? I have a big decision to make.

When my honest neighbor improved his basement as a recreation area, he applied for a building permit. His taxes were raised. My rogish neighbor did the same thing, but he did not apply for a building permit. His taxes haven't changed.

Now, I am about to improve my basement. I'm tempted to follow the tax-free route. Do you think I can get away with it? — Mr. W. P.

ANSWER: Frankly, I must confess that when it comes to interior improvements many a property owner, "gets away with it." As a rule, the only way the municipal authorities can discover illegal improvements were made and no permit was issued is if someone reports the violation.

However, I have found that honesty is the best policy — no matter what one's principles be — because it saves a lot of headaches. An unprincipled person, to be successful has to have an extremely good memory, be brilliant and very persuasive. Any person having all these attributes, however, can do much better being honest. The others get caught, sooner or later.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I've just found out that an old friend is a cheat. Before I part company with him I want you to verify his lack of reliability.

The outside of my house needed painting. I called in three contractors for estimates. The price of all three was about the same, but what a difference in guarantees!

The first, who is an old Arab chum of mine, would only guarantee his work for one year. The other two are willing to give me a 10-year guarantee each and in writing. I'm glad I didn't accept my fair-weather friend before I paid him any money. — Mr. C. T.

ANSWER: An old Arab proverb states, "Truth is always in the majority even though it be one." Any painting contractor who offers a 10-year guarantee, in my opinion, is not to be trusted. No paint job can be guaranteed for this unreasonable amount of time.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My old faithful ladder looked dirty and worn so I was about to give it a coat of paint. My father-in-law, an old-time carpenter, but also of excitable Latin temperament, saw me and flew into an agitated rage. I finally calmed him down by promising not to paint the ladder. I would really like to know what caused the rampage, but I'm afraid to ask for fear he might fly into a tizzy once more. — Mr. H.

ANSWER: Mechanics who continually use ladders will tell you never to paint a ladder and never to use one that has been painted. The reason is that paint can hide faulty rungs or side pieces. Your carpenter father-in-law was probably trying to tell you that he had learned of this fact by talking many falls and was puncturing his argument with a good measure of Latin temperament.

• • •

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

Rockefeller Camp Thinks Early Decision Blocked

MIAMI BEACH (CP-AP) — Backers of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, buoyed by a favorable national poll, claimed progress today in their battle to hold fast the line against any early ballot decision on the Republican party's presidential nomination at next week's national convention.

A Louis Harris poll taken a few days ago shows that if the U.S. general election was held now Rockefeller would defeat the leading Democratic contenders while Richard Nixon could not.

The poll gave the Rockefeller camp new ammunition in its effort to prevent Nixon from walking away with a first-ballot victory in his bid to win the White House in the Nov. 5 general election.

In this connection, one of Rockefeller's strategists reported that Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio had made a commitment to hold his 58-vote state delegation intact behind his favorite-son candidacy through the first two ballots.

Supporters of Nixon, the former vice-president, scoffed at this claim. They noted that Rhodes has said his course will be determined by a state caucus before the convention opens Monday. They said they have what they called reliable indications that Rhodes prefers Nixon.

The Rockefeller stalwarts got cheering news in the Harris survey to bolster their efforts to mitigate effects of a Gallup poll which indicated Nixon could defeat the leading Democratic contenders in November while Rockefeller would run only about even with them.

Harris said in a copyright story in the Washington Post that his count, which he said was concluded Monday, gives Rockefeller a six-point advantage over the Democratic contenders while Nixon lags five points behind Vice-President Humphrey and eight behind Senator McCarthy.

The Post said Harris and George Gallup agreed the difference between their findings resulted from the time lapse between the July 20-23 test by Gallup and the July 25-29 nose count by Harris.

In the Harris poll, former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama continued to hold 15 to 20 per cent of the vote nationally. Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press director, was quick to question the accuracy of the Harris poll.

At this point favorite sons from Alaska, California, Hawaii, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey and Ohio are presumed to control 288 of the 667 votes needed for the nomination. To prevent Nixon from winning the prize on the first roll call, or on the second, Rockefeller's camp must prevent the bulk of these from jumping on any Nixon bandwagon.

There has been no cohesion among the favorite sons and Gov. Ronald Reagan, heading California's power-packed 86-vote delegation, scorned any coalition. He said he would not participate in a "stop" movement against Nixon or any other candidate.

Both the Nixon and Rockefeller forces recognize Reagan as a full-fledged, if unannounced, contender for the top nomination. Neither is counting on Reagan's support.

Court Says Gasoline Explosive

TORONTO (CP) —Alexander Petrovich, 23, was committed Wednesday for trial on a charge of possessing explosives following a demonstration near the Yugoslav consulate here Nov. 29.

Police testified at an earlier hearing that Petrovich was stopped in his car a short distance from the consulate. A paper bag on the front seat contained a bottle filled with gasoline with a stick attached to the neck.

Defence counsel Anthony Bazos, who said his client had fled from Yugoslavia, argued for a dismissal. He said he had been unable to find any law dealing with "molotov cocktails"—gasoline bombs.

He said that if the bottle had been thrown against a wall it would have caused a fire, not an explosion. Under the Criminal Code, he said, explosives mean only dynamite, percussion caps and ammunition.

Magistrate Joseph Addison ruled that gasoline is an explosive and is combustible.

Spoiling Never Sign of Love

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts At Large:

What is called "spoiling" a child is never a symptom of love, always a substitute for love; its object is to make the child love back the spoiling parent — and this is precisely the one consequence it praises.

Giving to your own group is not philanthropy; it is merely a form of collective egotism; only giving to some other group outside the one you identify with really deserves to be called charity in the best sense.

If we could put what our friends say about us, and what our enemies say about us, into a blender, the concoction we poured out would be closer to the truth about us than anything else.

Steel-makers Stick by Price Boost

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's three U.S. steel-makers have posted their most sweeping price increases in six years and say they will stand despite sharp criticism from President Johnson.

Other producers, strongly hinted they would follow.

U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Republic Steel Corp., the No. 1, 2 and 3 steel-makers respectively, raised prices Wednesday, the day after the United Steelworkers Union won its richest contract.

Johnson called Bethlehem's nearly five-per-cent across-the-board increase "unreasonable" and said at a Washington news conference that it "just should not be permitted to stand."

Edmund Martin, Bethlehem's chairman and chief executive officer, replied: "Our announcement . . . speaks for itself. In our opinion, our price increase is absolutely necessary and we do not intend to withdraw it."

It was the first confrontation between the federal government and the steel industry since 1962 when President John F. Kennedy forced a rollback of a general price increase.

Johnson, asked if he planned "any instruments" to compel a rollback, said: "We urge them and reason with them and counsel with them and plead with them not to" increase prices.

Republic Steel followed Bethlehem and said it would raise its principal steel mill products 4.5 per cent and said the new labor contract was the reason. The Bethlehem and Republic increases are effective Aug. 8.

U.S. Steel, acting in a manner that has become common in the industry in the last six years, announced a selective price increase for its tin mill products, material used in making cans. The U.S. Steel increases, effective Oct. 1, were on products which accounted for seven per cent of last year's industrywide shipments. U.S. Steel would not say how much the increases were.

Johnson expressed hope "other steel companies will not join this parade," saying such action would lead to a price increase of $500,000,000 for American consumers.

Czechs Fear Sellout, Rally Demands Truth

Summit Parley Alarms Nation

PRAGUE (Reuters) — Fears of a sellout to the Russians gripped Czechoslovakia today on the eve of further meetings between its liberal leaders and the hard-liners of Russia and her allies.

"Tell us the truth!" roared vast crowds of jeering youths Thursday night as National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky tried to ease their fears.

More than 10,000 persons took part in a spontaneous rally in Prague's Old Town Square shortly after a brief official announcement on four days of crucial Soviet-Czechoslovak talks in the tiny Slovak border town of Cierna Nad Tisou.

The announcement merely said the talks would be resumed at Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, Saturday with Russia and her four closest allies joining in. The Soviet supporters are East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary.

The youths obviously are worried that party secretary Alexander Dubcek might be steamrollered at Bratislava into turning the clock back by abandoning some of the new freedoms he has introduced in Czechoslovakia.

Smrkovsky, who took part in the four-day Cierna meeting which ended Thursday, echoed assurances given by President Ludvik Svoboda in a television speech earlier Thursday night that Czechoslovakia will not retreat from its liberalization policy.

The president indicated in his speech that Dubcek won Soviet backing for his reforms—which include press freedom.

But some observers detected a hint of possible concessions in Svoboda's broadcast remark that there was agreement at the talks on a need for strengthening Communist unity and economic co-operation and further co-ordinating of the Warsaw pact defence system.

Communist affairs experts in the U.S. said the Czechoslovaks apparently were forced into accepting the Bratislava meeting. They noted the Prague government previously insisted such a gathering should be preceded by bilateral talks.

But the experts felt Dubcek won a major concession in getting the Russians to agree to hold the meeting in Czechoslovakia.

They felt the Cierna meeting reached a fragile compromise, which took the best out of the East European crisis for the time being.

They said the communique indicated both sides had given way, although the Russians could be expected to continue pressure against the Prague reformist government.

Supermarket Lights Are Hard on Cheese

Bright fluorescent lighting in modern day grocery supermarkets have a detrimental effect on cheese quality, members of the Ontario Cheese Study committee were told here yesterday.

The effect of fluorescent lights on cheese was mentioned during a discussion on marketing problems, but apparently there is little that can be done about it.

"The supermarkets tell us, we don't tell them," said William Cook, of Black Diamond Cheese.

The inference was that the supermarkets display cheese to the best advantage, with the view to large sales, and frown on anything which detracts from appearance.

Harold Elliott, owner of the Foxboro cheese factory, said this was one of the reasons why consumers cannot get the same top quality cheese in supermarkets that they do at the factory.

The study committee hearing was told that one nationally known privately owned cheese company was getting around the detrimental effect of fluorescent lighting through development of a special wrapper which protected the package.

Members were told there was a growing demand for small pre-packaged slths of cheese, while blocks of from two to five pounds sold well at cheese factories.

During the discussion pointed questions were asked of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board members as to why they did not promote the sale of Ontario cheese.

The reply was that the OMMB represented the industry on a national basis and did not work solely for Ontario producers.

Also, they pointed out, there was no distinctive Ontario cheese — only Canadian.

'Rocky' Obstacle Stalls Tricky Dick Steamroller

MIAMI BEACH (CP-AP) — The top convention boss for the Rockefeller forces asserted today that Nelson Rockefeller has reached an informal agreement with key delegations that will prevent the quick presidential nomination of Richard Nixon at the Republican convention next Wednesday.

Leonard Hall, the New York governor's convention manager, said he had been assured that Gov. George Romney of Michigan and James Rhodes of Ohio would hold their powerful delegations in line for first two ballots. Romney and Rhodes are favorite sons with their delegations pledged to support them in the voting.

Countering this, Herbert Klein, Nixon's press director, said that Nixon can win on an early ballot without the help of the favorite sons, if they decide to hold out. He struck to his claim that the former vice-president has about 700 votes elsewhere, more than the 667 needed for nomination.

Even with the help of a favorable national poll, Rockefeller's forces are battling up hill to hold the line against a Nixon surge on the first ballot. Nixon himself has yet to decide whether to go all out on that initial test or wait for a second round.

Hall conceded that he has no firm commitments from either Romney or Rhodes, whose delegations will poll a total of 106 critical votes among the 1,333 to be cast when the nominating convention gets around to its main business next Wednesday night.

Rockefeller hopes that he can get enough favorite sons to remain uncommitted in the early voting in the hopes that they will swing to him by the fourth ballot.

F. Clifton White, who helped Barry Goldwater get the nomination in 1964, told a news conference Wednesday he had been authorized by the Reagan California delegation to organize a drive for Reagan.

The governor has said he won't become a candidate until his name is formally placed in nomination before the convention.

White said Reagan plans also to meet with Mississippi, Alabama, Montana, South Carolina and Oklahoma delegations.

Johnson Orders Boycott of Firms Raising Price of Steel

WASHINGTON (CP-AP) — In a major confrontation with the U.S. steel industry, President Johnson has authorized an effort to try to force a rollback of increased steel prices by having the federal government boycott firms who boost their costs.

President Johnson Thursday told the defence department to avoid buying steel products from firms who put in major price increases. He said such general boosts could have "dire consequences" for the economy because of possible inflationary results.

The defence department, with an annual military budget of more than $70,000,000,000 because of the Vietnam war, purchases an estimated 3,700,000 tons of steel a year—or 3.75 per cent of the country's total production.

Defence Secretary Clark Clifford followed the president's statement by directing his agency "wherever possible to shift orders for future deliveries of items of steel on which prices have been raised to companies which have not increased prices, if by doing so you can obtain the required product, on time, at a lower cost to the government."

The Pentagon took similar actions in April, 1962, and January, 1966, in efforts to force steel producers to relent on announced price increases. This pressure contributed to the success of the efforts.

The current boost in the price of steel started Wednesday when Bethlehem Steel Corp., the industry's second-leading producer, said it was raising the cost of its products five per cent across the board.

Republic Steel Corp., the No. 3 steel producer, followed later Wednesday with an announcement that its prices on principal products were going up.

The country's largest steel firm, U.S. Steel, then said Thursday it was raising prices $7 a ton on selected major items. That boost was announced after Clifford's order to avoid buying from firms who set general increases.

Several smaller firms also followed the lead of Big Steel and there are indications that the pattern will spread through the industry.

Clifford said the price increases would have a "serious impact" on defence costs, but he didn't say precisely how much.

"This impact is particularly aggravated under our increased requirements for steel in support of Vietnam, and the fact that over half of our steel requirements today are for ammunition production."

The Pentagon spends more than $350,000,000 a year on steel. It buys an estimated $25,000,000,000 in hard military goods a year, many of the items requiring steel.

Two-time Loser, Steel Goes to Mat With White House for Third Time

NEW YORK (AP) — For at least the third time in the 1960s the U.S. steel industry finds itself confronting the power and ire of a president. Twice it lost. This time, judging by the statements, it intends to win.

"It just shouldn't be permitted to stand," said President Johnson. But Bethlehem Chairman Edmund F. Martin responded: "In our opinion our price increase is absolutely necessary, and we don't intend to withdraw it."

The result could be a compromise—an increase, but not of the "slightly less than five per cent" announced by Bethlehem. Meanwhile, the test of strength is on.

In the most recent previous confrontation, on New Year's Day 1966, Martin was a quick loser to the administration. His increase on structural steel was called inflationary and unwarranted. He quickly withdrew it.

In the most famous confrontation, beginning April 10, 1962, U.S. Steel, the No. 1 producer, was forced to back down under a relentless barrage of criticism from the administration of President John F. Kennedy.

There are several similarities

Among the surprising aspects of the present announcement, at least so far as the public is concerned, is that it came almost simultaneously with a report of surging profits and sales.

Last month's business conditions do not, of course, mean that next month's will be the same. Bethlehem felt it must prepare for tougher times by boosting its income. But a lot of people may forget that.

Among other interesting considerations are these:

—The same executives who have claimed all year that low priced foreign steel was undercutting the domestic market are the same ones now who want to raise prices. Wouldn't price increases aggravate foreign competition?

—The announced price increase is planned to coincide with what almost every steelman believes is an expected sharp decline in sales. If sales drop, aren't prices expected to drop also?

Eight Cheese Briefs

Milk Board Says National Policy the Answer

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board would like to see winter milk diversion, as a means of reducing production of "fodder" cheese, carried out on a national basis, rather than provincial.

Yesterday at the Belleville hearing of the Ontario cheese industry study committee, a brief from the OMMB said that last winter's milk diversion program had been sound under prevailing circumstances but it should be considered only a temporary expediency.

To be successful in the context of the Canadian scene, a milk diversion program must be placed on a national basis and become part of the national dairy authority's program.

In the longer run the OMMB brief said, the development of strategically located multi-purpose processing plants may be the answer to the marketing problems associated with winter cheese production.

Eight separate briefs, including the one from the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, were presented during the hearing which lasted until after 10 p.m.

The cheese study committee is headed by Jack Bain, former director of Dairying for Ontario. Other members are, R. H. Jardine, his successor with the Ontario department of agriculture and food; Arnold Johnston, representing the cheese division of the milk marketing board; Lindsay Barton and Robert Bodendistrict.

Other briefs heard by the study committee were from the Amherst Island Factory Co-Operative; Black Diamond Cheese Company, Belleville; Grant Anderson, Campbellford factory operator; Hastings County cheese factory operators and milk producers and the Hastings county farm union.

Under the OMMB milk diversion program, winter milk, milk which normally would go into cheese was diverted to milk powder and other such plants. The program was initiated to reduce the amount of winter made cheese which is claimed does not sell as well as "grass" cheese.

The establishment of strategically located multi-purpose processing plants it was felt, might be the long term answer to the cheese marketing problem associated with surplus winter cheese production.

However, it was suggested that in the short term and especially for this coming winter, special emergency measures might be necessary.

The milk marketing board chairman, in presenting the brief, said there was little use in Ontario carrying out a winter milk diversion program if Quebec producers immediately stepped up production of cheese.

Noting the increasing preference for block or square cheese over the traditional "round" cheese, Mr. McLaughlin said that some factories would require financial assistance to convert to block cheese production.

The board would also like to see the cheese study committee examine the whole question of the future of the United Kingdom market for Ontario cheese.

The milk board also proposed that the study committee analyse whether the Canadian market for top quality cheddar cheese, particularly in Western Canada, is being fully exploited by the trade, and also asked that an acceptable action be sought for the problem of underpricing second grade cheese.

It would also like some light thrown on the prospects for increased consumption and production of foreign or specialty cheeses in Canada and what proportion of existing imports of specialty cheese could be produced in Canada.

The board also proposed that the committee consider and recommend a better system under which cheddar cheese exports can move into the United States under that country's quota policy.

Jim Nielson, spokesman for the island said, they were in a unique position in that because of their isolated position off the mainland, they were unable to divert their winter milk production as were other factories.

This being the case they felt they were entitled to additional financial aid for winter cheese.

The marketing board proposed to drop the price of winter cheese to 42 cents per pound drew loud complaints from most of the groups presenting briefs.

Possibly most outspoken in this respect was the Hastings county farm union group, which asked if the milk board members knew that their salaries accordingly for the winter months.

"A dairy producer with his capital outlay, whether for the fluid trade or cheese production, must have a monthly income," stated the Union group spokesman Mrs. Jean Williams of Springbrook.

"There is no tap to turn off responsibilities for interest payments, labor, feed and hydro costs."

Mrs. Williams said there was no way milk producers to save from the summer months.

"We are intelligent enough to do this if it were possible, but there is never enough money from sales to pay debts and live."

The farm union brief also contended the system used in the election of milk board members was charged in the past had no definite plan to adequately market cheese, either in regard to price or consumer demand.

They said the OMMB was now handling 6% cents per cwt. from their milk but was doing nothing to promote the sale of Ontario cheese.

The same criticism came from Hastings county factory and dairy producers.

Their brief said the OMMB took over the Ontario Cheese Producers Marketing Board and Co-Operative together with all assets in order to have complete control of the industry.

Now, the brief said, it appeared that the OMMB was desirous of retaining the cheese producers' assets while divesting themselves of the marketing problems.

The producers' brief said that changes proposed by the Cheese Producers Marketing Board were impeded by the take-over of the OMMB and that the producers' organization which in the past had brought order out of chaos in the cheese industry, may be completely destroyed.

The result, it was claimed, could be a return to chaos and the necessity of government regimentation and the loss of free enterprise.

A main problem area in the cheese industry was said to be the special conditions which allow one province's industry to be under-price the Ontario product when at the same time the provincial board is attempting to limit production by milk diversion.

The brief said that so-called "fodder" cheese should be reassed winter cheese and that whey butter should be reassed cheese butter.

Marketing and promotion needed to be reviewed.

As an alternative to the whey disposal programs of individual factories, the brief suggested a feasibility study be carried out on the construction of a whey powder plant to serve the entire county.

And as an alternative to a whey plant the study should include the feasibility of a complete multi-purpose plant including cheese, butter, whey powder and the bottling of all fluid milk.

This latter suggestion was questioned by the milk marketing board members. The cost would be in excess of a million dollars, and with respect to bottling of fluid milk no savings could be expected.

William Cook, presenting the Black Diamond Cheese Company brief, questioned the OMMB thinking that all industrial milk producers must receive the same price for milk; no matter how it is utilized, or where and when it is produced.

He suggested if allocation of milk based on bid prices had been part of the changes, the system would have gone on smoothly as before and with the price of the final product being the major determinant as to where the milk was used.

Mr. Cook disagreed that there was any major difference between so-called grass and fodder cheese.

He said the industry was overlooking the fact that the biggest sales on the domestic market was not cheddar, but process cheese. Yet no subsidy is given on process products.

Asked how much the consumer could stand in increased price of cheese to provide greater return for the producer, Mr. Cook said the consumer was more interested in continuous good quality.

The sale of second grade cheese in the supermarket resulted only in causing the housewife to decide she did not like cheese.

The minimum price should be 47 cents, it claimed. If factories cease operations for the winter months it was quite likely they would never open their doors again.

The Prince Edward brief maintained that with modern day facilities for handling milk winter cheese was "just as good as summer cheese."

This brought a reply from study committee chairman Jack Bain, that both producers might like winter cheese, but the cheese eaters in the United Kingdom are still to be convinced.

He said that cheese sold by him at 62 cents at the factory costs from 79 to 90 cents on the grocery store shelves.

He said the present price of 47 cents for cheese did not give the manufacturer enough profit and felt the retail markup should be narrowed.

Belleville Tops Says Murray

By BARRY GRILLS, Staff Reporter

Hugh Murray likes Belleville and he's not afraid to say so.

"Of the many communities I have lived in there's no community that could be more justifiably proud of its citizens," says this year's president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Murray, at present president of Hugh Murray Ltd. general contractors and its two divisions, Murray Steel Structures and Murray Equipment Company, has lived in many centres throughout Canada.

Born in Welland, he was educated in Orillia and Toronto. He joined the department of highways in 1934 and left as a resident engineer in 1942.

He then entered the army and remained there for six years. During his "hitch" he was area engineer officer, RCE, for Quebec.

During that stage of his life he was involved with the rebuilding of the Citadel, home of the Royal 22nd Regiment, and Valcartier Military Camp.

It was 1948 when Mr. Murray came to Belleville and started Hugh Murray Ltd. The contracting business has provided him with the proud accomplishment of a Province of Ontario award of merit which he earned for the construction of the Belleville YMCA building.

Mr. Murray is a member of the Quinte Construction Association of which he was president in 1966 and 1967.

He is also a member of the Board of Governors of Albert College.

Mr. Murray was once on the board of directors for the YMCA and served as vice-chairman on the Belleville Parks Board for two years.

Involved in church life, he was at one time Sunday School superintendent at St. Thomas' Anglican Church. He has also contributed to the Boy Scout and Cub movement.

To remain in shape Mr. Murray finds membership in the Quinte Curling Club and the Bay of Quinte Country Club the right idea.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce have seen Hugh Murray in attendance for 15 years. He has been on the executive for four of those years. He is president for 1968.

"The chamber is a very vital segment of the community," he says. "The work of the chamber through its 10 committees serves the interests of all walks of life in the city of Belleville and surrounding area.

"The public probably is becoming more aware of the chamber's involvement in such important matters as water pollution, harbor and docking facilities and downtown redevelopment."

Mr. Murray is married, with a wife, Allaneen, a son Robert, 22, and a daughter Natalie, 20.

Jack Bain, Ontario Cheese Industry Study Committee chairman, George McLaughlin, chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board and committee member Allan Ketcheson of Madoc, discuss cheese problems at yesterday's Belleville hearing.

Salesmanship Said Needed

A suggestion that members of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board might benefit from a course in salesmanship, was made here yesterday at the hearing of the Ontario Cheese Industry Study Committee.

Making the suggestion was Prince Edward county farmer Seymour Hamilton who felt that a course in salesmanship might assist the milk marketing board to sell surplus Ontario cheese.

Citing a personal experience Mr. Hamilton said he had attended a winter course on agriculture offered by the federal - provincial adult retraining program and as a direct result of the school he was able to increase his farm income by $2,000 per year.

He said he had increased his farm production by one third with costs being increased only by one third.

Mr. Hamilton felt that a similar course in salesmanship might help the milk marketing board members in disposing of Ontario cheese.

A majority of the eight briefs heard by the cheese study committee were critical of the milk marketing board for what was felt to be lack of initiative in sales promotion.

However, George McLaughlin, chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, said that promotion of domestic cheese sales was not considered to be the board's responsibility.

Trap Closes: Gord Green Splashes Minnows Toward Net

Catching Bait As Tough As Landing Fish

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Fancied as a fisherman — with a fine reputation founded by minnows?

Next time you get your minnow-baited hooks in your favorite fishing spot cast a thought for the men whose unfanciful work makes it all possible.

Of all the live bait, minnows make the most work.

Ask anyone in the business of hefting up a batch of minnows for bait sales.

The minnows are harvested from a multitude of creeks in the region for sale in Bellville sports centres and distribution to wholesale purchasers.

The streams are way off the beaten track, typically on the back lots of local farms and inaccessible for the comfortloving.

Gathering the bait can mean nets and cans through swamps — invariably it means wading for hours, possibly a prey for snakes, snapping turtles, leeches and mosquito swarms.

"Yet the funny thing is that minnows are one item that hasn't changed in price very much in the past 50 years," says one of the district's leading sports salesmen.

Bob Blaind is licenced to gather bait and sells it as far away as Ottawa and Toronto.

"It's a big business and there are a lot of people in it," he adds.

Bob's bait is netted from about 50 locations reaching into the eastern townships of Hastings County.

For the trio getting there is only half of the problem. Arrived at the minnow grounds, they must clamber sometimes shoulder - high into water where they will remain for hours.

Two men gingerly tread downstream holding a 700-foot seine net which Bob made himself. They slowly drive the minnows downstream where the third fisherman waits silently. Just feet away from the net he suddenly begins splashing, driving the oncoming minnows back toward the seine. Trapped, the bait is scooped up and transferred to water-filled cans.

Once the cans are filled they must be hauled back across country to a waiting truck and dumped in an oxygen-serviced tank.

Then it's back to the creek again.

Typical catches can range anywhere from 800 to 3,000 minnows in a day's work, claims Bob Blaind.

However, he says, there have been times when the treks and cold-water trials have netted nothing.

Back in town the bait is run through a grader. The smallest are sorted out and later returned to the creeks to mature.

Exports Cotton

The Bank of Brazil reports that Brazil exported more than 128,000 tons of cotton fibre valued at $85,000,000 in 1967.

Chamber Asks Lee Grills To Press for More Docks

That means not only 50 or 60 boats but 150 to 180 people turned away and between $1250 and $1500 of tourist dollars refused the community.

But its a long hard road to get more docking facilities and now another community organization has thrown its fists into the fight.

Concern over the "inadequacy of the docking facilities in Belleville" has been expressed by the board of directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Not for deep water commercial fishing but for pleasure boats.

As a result a letter was mailed by the Chamber to Lee Grills, who is MP for Hastings riding.

"Our greatest problem," the Chamber told Mr. Grills, "is that we do not have sufficient dockage for the increasing number of Canadian and American pleasure boats."

The letter continued, stating that Belleville is "losing many potential visitors due to lack of facilities" and requested that Mr. Grills support Belleville's bid to have the Federal government initiate a dockage improvement program.

A reply from Mr. Grills was asked for by the Chamber inquiring into his proposed plans on the problem and asking what the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, could do to ensure that a suitable program would be initiated immediately.

FIND 51ST BODY

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — The body of a last passenger missing from the Interisland ferry Wahine, which sank inside Wellington harbor 10 days ago, was found today on a harbor beach—51st victim of the disaster.

Quinte House Hunters Look for 1855 Homes

A band of Hastings County home-hunters has given a new twist to the housing problem.

They're seeking homes — but with this difference:

Each residence must predate 1855.

Reason for the house-hunt was unfolded by Roger Greig to fellow-members of the Hastings County Historical Society last night.

Hence, the reason for local volunteers. Society members will be paid mileage — project costs are being subsidized by the Ontario government — and expenses for two color slides of any home.

Why 1855 as a terminal date?

Simple. That was the year, explains Mr. Greig, the railroad began crossing the Canadian countryside hauling the industrial revolution through the settlements.

With it came a change in product usage — including building supplies.

To that time each building reflected its location, since the pioneers were forced to use materials indigenous to the settlement area.

Mr. Greig expects most discoveries will be made in the southern nine townships of Hastings. To eliminate needless hunting along country sideroads, he suggests the search be charted by maps drawn before 1855.

Last night he showed society members slide of what to look for in the hunt.

Time brings changes and many an intriguing piece of pioneer architecture today may lie hidden by insul brick, even building alterations. However, the line of the building will remain the same.

The survey may lead to an increased awareness of the need to preserve Canadiana.

"It's the groundwork of a national survey of early buildings", says Mr. Worth, "If we know what we have we can put teeth into preserving that part of our heritage.

Local Initiative

Launched by a number of local businessmen headed by former mayor Jack Ellis, the firm aims at providing factory space for lease to interested firms. One such building has already been leased out as a warehouse.

That the new enterprise plans to work closely with the industrial commission is all to the good. Together, the two bodies should be instrumental in giving the city the additional industrial facilities it seeks.

This private initiative brings to mind the successful industrial promotion program carried out in such areas of the British Isles as Northern Ireland. The construction under government auspices of "advance factories" has gone far to diversify the industrial scene there, with capital from the United States as well as Britain and the European countries.

U. S. Cautious

In the current confrontation between the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia — once one of the most right adherents of the communist party line and now under the influence of liberalizing trends — the United States has been bending over backwards to avoid any appearance of interfering in the dispute.

Certain it is that Washington and the West at large will be happy if the Czechs manage to win a greater measure of freedom, not only within the framework of their own government but also from their Soviet overlords. However, in the light of existing east-west relations which are neither strained nor particularly cordial (mainly because of U.S. involvement in Vietnam) the U.S. is right to avoid taking advantage of the difficulties of the communist bloc.

Not so the British, whose foreign secretary, Michael Stewart, recently warned the Soviet Union that Britain opposed any Russian intervention in Czechoslovakia. It was the first such approach by any western government. Soviet reaction was not revealed, although it is not difficult to sense it was likely unfriendly.

In 1939 Britain went to war because the Nazis had invaded Poland. By no stretch of the imagination, however, could Britain, let alone the United States, be envisaged taking up arms against the Soviets in the event of a renewed occupation of Czechoslovakia. That is a measure of the extent to which times have changed in the past quarter of a century.

Crops Hit

We can sympathize with Prince Edward crop growers and canners hampered by adverse weather conditions this season.

First there were the chilly conditions of the spring and early summer. And latterly, the rain that would have given the crops the nurturing they required was conspicuous by its absence.

Wednesday night's heavy rainstorm came in time or was sufficiently widespread to reverse this damaging trend remains to be seen. The outlook is not promising, though, to judge from the words of one canning company official. She reported that the raspberry crop had been "practically ruined." Growth of tomato and other crops had also been affected adversely — and this before the mid-season.

It is a further indication of the country-man's dependence on the whims of the weather. Out west, incidentally, in Alberta, wheat farmers have been experiencing the recurring phenomenon of summer hail storms.

Man and His World

Life is a constant battle of renewal. Dwelling on the past is something for idle moments. At best it can induce a feeling of longing or nostalgia, at worst pain and anxiety. What matters most is the present, the here and now, and the future. But nothing, we may be assured, is ever the same again.

This principle may be applied to the Man and his World exhibition in Montreal. Successor to Expo 67, attendance at this year's events on the St. Lawrence island complex is minimal compared with last year. Still the exhibition does fulfill the need for something new, something different.

It would be a pity, however if attendance were so small by the time the exhibition closes that its future would be jeopardized. For all the success of Expo 67 it produced a huge deficit. Montreal, and indeed Canada, has yet to break even on its investment in Expo, will not take kindly to further losses on this year's event.

Army Chief in Bid for Leadership

Spectre of Che Guevara Haunts Bolivian President

AP News Analysis
By THOMAS BRADY

LA PAZ (AP) — The outcome of Bolivia's current crisis seems to depend on whether Gen. Alfredo Ovando, the chief of the armed forces, wants to take the presidency now or get elected to it in 1970.

It is generally agreed that Ovando and the 14,000-man army could easily overthrow President Rene Barrientos. Or Ovando may let the president finish out his term.

"It all depends when Ovando wants to be president, tomorrow or in two years," said one qualified observer.

"There is no question that he wants to be president. As it happens, Barrientos has given him a chance now thanks to the Guevara diary."

Barrientos's problems began early this month with Cuba's publication of the diary Bolivian troops took from the late Ernesto (Che) Guevara after they crushed the revolt he was leading. The president's troubles mounted crisis proportions when his former interior minister, Antonio Arguedas, fled to Chile and announced he had smuggled the diary to Fidel Castro.

Arguedas also called himself a Marxist admirer of Guevara and Castro and said he wanted to return to Bolivia to lead a revolution against "the North American imperialists."

Barrientos's political supporters also are angry with him for jailing opposition legislators and hedging on reconvening Congress Aug. 6.

His mostly civilian cabinet quit last week. The president replaced it with soldier friends Saturday in a move that many feared indicated a return to military rule.

Barrientos said the military cabinet was a "temporary and emergency measure" because of renewed "Castroist" subversion and political factionalism. But most observers consider the new cabinet a holding device against the political and military forces that oppose Barrientos.

Ovando has not indicated his position toward the new cabinet.

"Because Barrientos has turned to some of his friends in the army for help does not mean he has lost Ovando's support," said one government source. "The new cabinet members are not particularly close to Ovando."

Ovando backed Barrientos when he came to power in a 1964 coup and has been the power behind Barrientos's political life until now.

The Quinte Scene

Deserted homesteads, landmarks of early settlement, are a familiar feature of the Quinte area's northern landscape. Abandoned clearings — like this one between Denbigh and Bancroft — are mute testimony to the common man's vast, anonymous contribution to modern Canada. Settlers came, pushed back a bit of wilderness, then disappeared, leaving the future to capitalize on their hardships. Their presence, transient as it was, created demand for better communications, made local resources known.

Catholics Divided on Birth Control Issue

Vancouver Province: It is already demonstrated that leadership in the Catholic church is widely divided on the moral, religious and practical issues of birth control and that millions of Catholics have already decided for themselves that if birth control is sinful then sinners they must be. The Pope . . . has not been aided by Vatican spokesmen explaining his position. One said the papal encyclical voiced the fear that birth control may lead to infidelity, immorality and loss of respect for womanhood. There may be legitimate fears in this direction but surely no church can sustain its views on birth control on the flimsy assumption that feminine virtue is based mainly on a fear of pregnancy.

Gardens Make the Scene

Montreal Star

One of the glories of summer, tidy gardens are now coming into their own in country hamlets and on farms where space is still a convenience of man in place of an economic concern. These are the places where people who prize a partnership with nature find satisfaction physically as well as aesthetically.

These gardeners by mid-summer have experienced the sensation of earthy, new potatoes and slim, crunchy carrots. Crisp lettuce, dew-freshened, provides salad beds for nippy radishes, onions with a hot breath and the first tomatoes that seem the essence of sun and summer.

The true gardener has in addition to the delights of taste, an eye for color and beauty. Pansies with airy faces, golden-orange nasturtiums and roses like carved masterpieces contrast with the abundance of geraniums, zinnias and petunias. The cosmos and asters stand in elegant tracery.

The artist of the true garden is a showing of hollyhocks. Masking a building, serving as a divider or a casual backdrop, the hollyhocks bring their own charm. With their colorful, wrinkled petals and slender but tough stems they are hardy veterans of drought and pest. In a way they represent the gardeners who persist against all obstacles to provide color and necessities in their summer plots.

Landscape Despoiled

Bruce West in
The Globe and Mail

I am with those who oppose the sale of disposable bottles. Heaven knows we have enough junk being scattered on highways and in parks and camping grounds. The bits of rubbish lie there as objects which are among the most melancholy symbols of our time. You can hardly go anywhere accessible to man in this country without finding some of his rubbish lying there to defile the beauty generous nature has provided for us. The sparkling brook and the rusty bean can don't go well together.

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Aug. 2, 1968 . . .

First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill announced the British fleet had been mobilized in preparation for the First World War 54 years ago today—in 1914. Two days later the war was declared when Germany failed to answer a British ultimatum and launched the invasion of Belgium.

Ottawa to Toronto Viewed As One Big Urban Area as Cities Move to the Country

Ottawa Journal

Holiday travellers in Ontario observe how cities and towns, even villages, are sending out residences along the highways to nestle among the trees or in farm glens ten miles or more from stores and schools. This movement is due to a combination of factors — the high costs of serviced land in communities, the school bus system which looks after the children, getting to classes, the industriousness of young couple who will finish a house they have had placed where they want it and the universality of cars and good roads which allow people to live in the country and work in the town.

The sturdy new houses with figwers and well-mowed lawns are a pleasing contrast to the scruffy homes of poverty that formerly ringed most communities. The city is moving to the country today and taking with it pride in home ownership. Canada is filling up and the day may come when a motorist will go from Ottawa to Toronto and never be far from the sight of someone's front lawn.

If there is care and planning, if parks and farms are given their proper places, Canada with 100,000,000 people instead of 20,000,000 will be a land of very long streets flanked on either side by open spaces convenient to areas where the men who worked in the town all day can stroll at ease in the evening.

DBS Notes Production Boost

London Free Press

New muscle in the Canadian economy is reflected in separate Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports that the nation's manufacturing industry is spurting upwards and that total revenue at all levels of government has increased substantially from last year.

The report on manufacturing is particularly encouraging in that it shows a healthy 7.3 per cent increase in May from April orders "193 from May last year) and a healthy upward swing in every province.

Yet one of the first revenue-producing industries in Canada continues to be the tax business.

The Bureau shows the tax take at the three government levels is up 11 per cent. for the three months of this year over the same period a year ago. At this rate the total income for 1968 would be up nearly eight per cent. The gross national product, indicator of the state of economic growth, is running at an annual rate of $64,828,000,000, and this in turn helps to swell the tax revenue.

He will be interested in learning the combined revenues are more than 25 per cent. of all goods and services produced in his country . . . and that on a per capita basis he is paying a total of $1,113.77, in government revenues, or $62.24 more than a last year.

Ottawa Will Reconsider Rideau Canal Improvements

Kingston Whig-Standard

Lovers of the Rideau Canal system will be glad to learn that the Department of Transport in Ottawa has finally decided to rethink its program of "modernizing" the locks. According to the Assistant Deputy-Minister of the department, Gordon Stead, no electrification projects are being undertaken this year on the system.

The public has made it clear that it doesn't favor anything that will spoil the historic influence of the locks on the Rideau. The argument that there is a need to speed up the passing of boats through the locks may appeal to some boaters, but they are certainly in a minority. Anybody who is in a hurry should not be going up or down the Rideau by boat.

What fascinates those who are about such matters is the brilliant way in which a small force of Royal Engineers in the nineteenth century brought the smoothly functioning Rideau canal system out of a howling wilderness of bogs, lakes and forest land. The locks themselves are testimonial to their functional suitability for the job they were intended to do. Their smooth walls are made of hand - cut limestone quarried in the area as the work progressed, and today they stand as true and as sturdy as they were when they were first laid.

What doesn't want on the Rideau is better facilities for the comfort and safety. They want, for example, clean modern rest rooms with running water. They also want a great deal more docking space where they can moor their boats overnight if they have a mind to. They would also like to have electrical outlets along these docks and are not impressed by the argument against such relief which runs to the effect that this would be doing private marinas out of business.

Human Rights Issue in Small Manitoba Community

Victoria Times: One of the problems Canadians are expert in encountering in increasing frequency in future has been revealed in the small Manitoba community of MacGregor. The townspeople there are under suspicion of violating a principle of human rights. . . . The townspeople admit they objected to the prospective tenants and used pressure to discourage the sale of the property. But, they say, their position was not determined by the fact that the prospective tenants were Indians. It was determined by their conviction that the newcomers would not assimilate the approved household standards of MacGregor, like other communities in the days ahead, is faced with the question: What would it have done had the people to whom they objected been non-Indian? Another question suggests itself: How can the so-called shift, less improve themselves if they are denied an environment conducive to the development of better standards of living and behavior?

Chats With Constituents

Conservative MP George Hees spent the past two days in Picton, acquainting himself with his constituents. He is just recovering from an eye operation. Shown here he speaks with Mrs. Edna Harding and Michelle Connell.

Hees Calls for MP To Recall Parliament

George Hees, MP for Prince Edward-Hastings, this morning called on Prime Minister Trudeau to "call Parliament without further delay" and end the postal strike.

"It has become apparent," Mr. Hees said, "that the only way this costly strike can be brought to a speedy conclusion is for Parliament to be called, an arbitrator satisfactory to both sides appointed, and the postal service resumed.

"The collective bargaining process has failed," was the reason the MP gave for his decision, "and the business and commerce of the country have suffered severe losses."

"It is clear that these losses will multiply greatly if the strike is allowed to continue, and that many small businessmen will either be put out of business or suffer losses from which it will take years to recover."

Mr. Hees said that there was no indication that the two-week-old strike would be settled in the near future.

"During the past two weeks the Canadian people have been willing to allow the collective bargaining process to work out a solution and have had great sympathy with the postal workers".

Reason for this, Mr. Hees said, was that "it is now obvious that the government has ignored for many months the report it has received recommending that the working conditions of the postal employees should be greatly improved.

"I feel sure that in view of the stalemate which has come about, both sides to the dispute will recognize this as the only practical course to be followed.

I call on the Prime Minister to recognize his duties in this regard and call Parliament without further delay so that it may deal with this important matter".

Medical Miracle Saves Baby's Life

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Rosanne Smith, 21, of Ottawa, gave one night's live by doctors after suffering massive injuries in a car accident last March, has given birth to a healthy baby boy, hospital authorities reported Thursday.

Mrs. Smith and her husband Bruce, 22, were returning to Ottawa March 24 from the weekend in Toronto when their car skidded on an ice patch on Highway 15, about 45 miles southwest of the capital, and rolled over before striking a tree.

Doctors at Hotel Dieu told relatives that Mrs. Smith, 18 weeks pregnant, probably could not survive the night.

She was unconscious and paralyzed with serious brain damage and extensive head and chest injuries, including a broken collar bone, broken jaw and broken ribs.

Dr. J. A. Carmichael, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at Hotel Dieu, said in an interview Thursday:

"We thought we'd lose the mother but hoped we'd keep the baby alive. She was 18 weeks pregnant then and we knew that the pregnancy could carry on if the mother could be kept alive. We had every reason to believe the baby wasn't all right.

"The remarkable thing is that she has made such a dramatic recovery. She is very much alive and is laughing and talking an enjoying ing and talking and enjoying being a mother."

For five weeks Mrs. Smith was unconscious. After two months of intensive care, Mrs. Smith, whose husband received hospital treatment for only a week for minor injuries, was transferred to the rehabilitation centre at Kingston General Hospital.

She was there until last week when she returned to Hotel Dieu to give birth. Next week, she and her son, who weighed eight pounds, four ounces at birth, will go back to the general hospital to continue treatment.

She will look after him herself, even though she is still walking with the aid of elbow crutches.

Doctors hope both the mother and son will be able to return home by September.

Giant Mining Firms Shielded Against Municipal Taxation

SUDBURY (CP) — Elmer Sopha, Liberal member of the legislature from Sudbury, told a select committee of the legislature Thursday that two giant mining companies in the Sudbury area have "a double-tiered Maginot line of defence" against municipal taxation.

Mr. Sopha said International Nickel Co. and Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. have not been satisfied with a provision in the provincial Assessment Act which declares mining property exempt from municipal taxation.

They had also "insulated themselves "om direct demands for payment of a local levy by the shield of the company town," he told the Ontario legislature's select committee on the Smith report on taxation.

The Liberal MPP, who is not a member of the committee, estimated that if Sudbury-area municipalities had the same freedom to tax local industries as Hamilton and Sault Ste. Marie they would get an additional $7,500,000 a year from the mining companies.

Mr. Sopha deplored the present system of mining revenue payments to municipalities, declaring that it forces mining municipalities to go "cap in hand" to the premier for increases in such aid.

He said the payments would not be needed in the Sudbury area if smelters and other ore-processing plants became taxable.

In his submission, Mr. Sopha also called for development of regional assessment in the nickel basin and predicted it would be a first step to regional government in the area.

He said several townships north and west of Sudbury already are moving towards amalgamation in recognition of the need for larger areas of administration.

Mr. Sopha suggested that a recent offer by International Nickel to pay property taxes from all its processing facilities, including smelters and concentrators, might stem from the fact that the firm already pays taxes on smelters in Copper Cliff and Coniston, two Sudbury suburbs.

He told the committee the Assessment Act does not specifically exclude smelters from being assessed and suggested attempt by municipalities to tax smelters would not be challenged in the courts.

In response to questions from committee members, Mr. Sopha said the tax payments envisaged by Inco would fall "substantially" short of meeting the needs of area municipalities.

Earlier, a delegation from the city of Sudbury told the committee exemptions of the mining industry from ordinary municipal taxation is "the central and critical fact of Sudbury's financial life."

"In every other city in Ontario, taxation of industry is a vital source of municipal revenue," the city said in a brief.

That source is denied the city of Sudbury, notwithstanding the enormous industrial complex in our midst."

Fire Damages Madoc House

The house recently had been sold and its out-of-town purchaser was still living in a nearby trailer, say firemen, called to the scene shortly after midnight.

Cause of the blaze was blamed on faulty wiring.

Forty Operations

Boy, Aged 8, Is Going Home After Five Years in Hospital

TORONTO (CP) — Eight-year-old Keith White, who has spent five years in hospital here undergoing more than 40 operations to correct a clogged windpipe, is going home.

The staff and patients of the Hospital for Sick Children where Keith has been a patient since June 10, 1963—a total of 1,874 days—are holding a big party for him today to bid him farewell.

He flies home to St. John's, Nfld., Saturday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas White. Keith was officially released from hospital Thursday but stayed for the party.

"We invited the whole hospital because he has been in nearly every department and everybody knows him," said Florence Farrell, his nurse for the last 2½ years.

Keith was born with a windpipe too small to allow him to breathe properly, a condition known as a congenital laryngeal stricture.

He now has a tube in his throat to help him breathe. He speaks in whispers.

At a press conference Thursday, he admitted that he has had his bag packed for two weeks for his flight home.

For the rest of his life he will breathe through the tube, which must be changed regularly.

Keith must return to Toronto for an examination in six months.

He attended kindergarten in the hospital, and finished grades 1 and 2 at a school with medical personnel on staff.

Government Will Await Master Plan for Park

TORONTO (CP) — The Algonquin Wilderness League says it has learned the Ontario government will not make changes in Algonquin Park until a master plan of development proposed for publication this fall has been completed.

Representatives of the league, a non-profit organization recently formed to press for preservation of large wilderness segments in the park, met privately Thursday with Lands and Forests Minister Brunelle.

Spokesmen later told a news conference they received "a negative reply" when they proposed a park plan that includes the eventual elimination of all logging operations and retention of 50 per cent of the park as primitive area.

The delegation, headed by league president C. Abbott Conway, proposed specifically the immediate closing of a new logging road between Big Trout Lake and the Otterslide Lake crossing.

The road, which runs close to one of the park's major canoe routes, is "an invitation" to travellers who think they are in the middle of the wilderness, he said.

Permits for logging operations in the park have been defended on grounds that cutting of mature timber is necessary to maintain the nature of the park and to protect area watersheds, one of the original purposes for establishing the provincial park early in the century.

A league spokesman said there are 1,400 miles of logging roads in Algonquin Park, but this figure has been denied by Parks superintendent. William Hunter, who says many old logging roads have returned to their natural state.

Complaining Consumer Can Get Conclusive Results—At Last

OTTAWA (CP) — Manufacturers are getting a jab in the ribs from the consumer via the consumer affairs department.

And the manufacturers have been "more than co-operative with us," says director Eleanor Orchway of the department's division of consumer service and information.

At the end of May in barely the first two months of its operation, the division's mailing address, "The Consumer, Box 99, Ottawa, Canada," received 1,000 complaints, mostly about trade practices.

Where possible, the division wrote asking the firm involved to comment on the complaint, Miss Orchway says, and the reasonable but persistent approach often paid off.

In its new "consumer communique," a bulletin supplied free on request, the division outlined several of its success stories.

The bulletin, designed to provide communication between the division and the consumer, will be issued periodically, dealing with a wide range of subjects such as consumer legislation and shopping methods.

"In Quebec a consumer complained about an excessively salty meat product," the bulletin said in one example. "The company ignored the complaint until the consumer service and information division approached the processor. The problem was promptly resolved to the consumer's satisfaction."

Another time, the bulletin said, an Ontario firm ignored a prepaid mail-order for a watch. The consumer wrote the company repeatedly, finally sending a registered letter.

"Results were nil until the division contacted the mail-order house. The watch was delivered within six days."

All problems cannot be handled with such dispatch however, the division warns.

Many fall within the jurisdiction of provincial governments and these are referred to the proper authorities. Some involve contractual agreements entered into by the consumer without him fully understanding his obligation or that of the contracting partner.

Of the complaints received by the division, 64 per cent concerned such trade practices as misleading advertising and labelling, referral selling, "bait-and-switch" tactics, guarantees and warranties, credit, repair and servicing.

Conference Promises Real Changes

LONDON (AP) — Despite defeat for Canada and New Zealand on the question of admitting divorced mothers to the Anglican Mothers' Union, a leading delegate to last week's worldwide conference says the "winds of change are very real" within the 90-year-old society.

In an interview with The Church Times, the Anglican weekly newspaper, the New Zealand president, Joan Holland, said the New Zealand plan to give autonomy to union branches in different countries was defeated by "the conservative English element, the West Indies and the African vote."

But the voting on this motion, which would have enabled the various branches to make their own membership qualifications, was much closer than that on an almost identical motion put forward the previous day.

The vote of 182 to 129, "coupled with the fact that each English diocese had three voting delegates while each overseas delegate had only one, "made us realize that the winds of change were very real," said Mrs. Holland.

Mrs. Holland said she did not want her country to be the devisive element in the movement, so she had suggested the next three years be an experimental period and else no some method of association between the parent body and the dissidents, such as New Zealand and Canada.

A special commission headed by a London bishop will be charged with this task.

"Canada and New Zealand . . . are now free to make what experiments they will in the matter of rules of membership or anything else to provide a dynamic society for the service of our church," said Mrs. Holland.

"No one can now say that we have been divisive, for we have kept the United contact open.

. . . I am sure that by wining support for our resolution on three years' experimentation, we shall give encouragement to Mothers' Union members all over the world."

In the same issues, The Church Times in its editorial criticizes the closed-door policy of the Mothers' Union conference in a matter which must have evoked a good deal of "agonized emotion."

Youths Determined to Provide Activities for Retarded Children

TORONTO (CP)—A group of Toronto high school and university students say there is no reason retarded children should not enjoy the same activities as other children.

With that in mind, 13 of them formed the youth committee of the Metropolitan Toronto Association for Retarded Children.

Its major project now is an educational program on retardation for Toronto high schools starting this fall.

"The situation is getting better but too many people still think it is evil to be retarded," says chairman John Ross, 19.

"I find unless people have someone close to them who is retarded very few know just what is being done in this field. I think it will be a good thing to inform young people while they're in school."

John became actively concerned as a volunteer in Saturday afternoon recreational programs and later as a counsellor at Shadow Lake, a recreational camp near Stouffville, Ont., for mentally retarded youngsters.

About 105 to 120 young campers attend each three-week session. There are 36 counsellors, aged 16 to 19—most are high school seniors and university students—and a fully trained program staff.

The Saturday afternoon programs in the city last about 1½ hours and involve about 10 volunteers each.

"We play games, swim and teach simple crafts," says volunteer Leonard Weller, 17.

Another committee member Is 16-year-old Karen Saunders, a Grade 12 student from Thornhill. She became interested in mental retardation when a leader of her local church group told her about the Shadow Lake camp.

"Of course there are sometimes problems. Some children are difficult. I haven't yet had any experience with severely retarded youngsters. It's too difficult to deal with them in groups."

But most sufferers have a milder form of retardation and with help can live a fairly normal life.

John Ross says, "We've got to make people see that the mentally retarded are people like anyone else."

Skirts Are Outmoded for Today's Jet Pace

The influential designer considers skirts outmoded for today's jet pace, and even the bride can go to the altar in wide-legged gold and white brocade pants worn under the long tunic which is the theme of the entire collection.

The big question for St. Laurent fans is whether the smart restaurants and hotels will admit women dressed in pants suits.

If not, the ladies can always resort to stripping off the trousers on arrival, as the long slack tunics come down to cover the thighs and no one is likely to refuse entrance to a woman in a mini-dress.

Tunics, or coat and pants ensembles evolved in every type of costume, from the strict wool jersey outfits for morning to the formal brocades, and panne and crushed velvets, or wide-legged one-piece pyjama suits made of geometric printed silk.

The long jackets that St. Laurent showed with skirts last January reappear teamed with stove-pipe pants that flare out gradually from the knee down.

He showed them with mid-calf-length belted redingotes, over long tunics out with long sleeves and high stand-up necklines.

Many tunics were closed asymetrically, buttoned down the side like a dentist's smock from the trim standup collar to the midthigh hemline.

St. Laurent occasionally showed the tunics over short pleated skirts or printed silk or wool challis shirtwaist dresses, but 85 per cent of the entire collection was based on pants.

Marriage Based on Pity Always A Poor Risk

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: My cousin, who is like a sister to me, had a baby out of wedlock. Two months ago she and Bill (an old boy friend of mine) announced their engagement. She wants me to be maid of honor.

The sad story of it is that Bill doesn't love her; he still loves me. How do I know? He told me, among other things, including his reasons for marrying her. After the baby was born she went completely wild drinking and such. Bill started going out with her and she felt in love with him. He felt sorry for her and her fatherless child so asked her to marry him.

I know Bill will make a wonderful father and husband and will eventually love her, but not in the same way as me. But he will make her happy!

The point is, should I allow this marriage with a one-sided love? I love them both dearly, but my father will never approve of Bill for me. — Terrible Turmoil.

Dear Turmoil: Oh, no. Not if you have any say. A marriage based on pity is a poor risk. All dear noble Bill will do is make three people unhappy: himself, your cousin and you. No human can live a lie forever and sooner or later you will all three discover the sorry state of affairs. Too late. And next time the drinking may win its victim for keeps.

Even if you never marry Bill, your cousin's happiness — as well as Bill's — lies in some other combination. Tell him this.

Take a little longer to explore your own feelings and your Dad's reasons for disapproval.

Dear Doris: I have been asked to chair a study committee on Aging. I have worked with various community groups over the years but I have never undertaken such a challenging position.

Would you have information on setting up committees, conducting the meetings, etc., that would be useful as a guide? — A Bit Shaky.

Dear Shaky: A chairman has to make sure that everybody understands a proposal, gets a chance to comment and be heard, and to vote. This without letting a talkative person hold the floor or the silent ones remain mute.

A leader learns how to delegate, to make decisions, to take action which brings everyone along with him.

Ann Landers

Woman Resents Paying Young Doctor

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several days ago I awakened at about 2:00 a.m. with a headache. I went in the bathroom to get an aspirin and fell. I was sure I had broken my shoulder. My husband telephoned his young cousin who has just started to practice medicine. He came right over and said he didn't think it was a fracture but advised me to get X-rays the next morning. He gave me a sleeping pill.

ANN LANDERS

I had the X-rays taken and there was no fracture. This morning I received a bill for the X-rays ($25) and a bill from my husband's cousin for $15. I don't mind the bill for the X-rays but I do feel this young doctor has a nerve charging me $15 for a sleeping pill. Had we known he was going to charge we would have called our regular family doctor. We just wanted to give the lad a break and help him get some practical experience. Were we wrong? — TENNESSEE.

DEAR TENN: Just what kind of a break is it for a doctor (young or old) to make a house call at 2:00 a.m. for six? Doctors get plenty of practical experience taking care of fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, nieces, nephews, and grandparents for free — not to mention charity cases and clinic patients. Internship also offers a world of free experience, particularly the odd-hour variety.

Pay the bill and do your cousin a favor by not giving him any more breaks in the middle of the night.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a widow who has been keeping company with a fine man. His children are grown and married and they seem to be intelligent, fine people. The man is also looking and a neat dresser. He would be a lot better looking, however, if he did something about his teeth that are missing.

Ann, I can't understand how a person can ignore three large holes right in the front of his mouth. It seems to me that one of his children would suggest something to him. Since they seem not to notice, should I mention it? Or should I concentrate on his good qualities and not risk offending him? — A.D.

DEAR A.D.: Speak up. There's more involved here than looks. This man needs dental attention and if you can prod him toward it, you will be doing him an enormous favor. The reason most toothless folks do not seem to notice what they look like, is because they are afraid to go to a dentist. They need someone to help them get there. Be the one.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past eight months I have been going with a fellow who is just too good and too nice and too everything. If I asked him to jump off the Brooklyn Bridge for high noon tomorrow he'd jump and not ask a single question. Unfortunately I can't get my blood pressure up over this guy because, well — he's like a brother.

Ruth has spent so much money on me I haven't got the heart to tell him. I know he thinks we will be married one day and I am equally sure I could never marry him. Every time he comes over with another lovely gift I feel like a bigger heel.

Please tell me what to do. My conscience is bothering me. — I HEAR NO BELLS.

DEAR NO BELLS: To string along a guy who is serious — when you are not is duplicity of the worst kind. The longer you keep it up the guiltier you'll feel and the more severe will be his disappointment. Tell Ruby you must stop seeing him — and why. There's an outside chance that seeing him less often will open a new door for you, and if he Rudy will look better to you in a year or two, and if he does you might consider — if he's still available, that is.

Here are three most practical fashion expendables. First, (left), the budget stretcher, a dual purpose button front organdy dress, designed by Kay Cantonwine, that can be worn loose for informal occasions or double as a coat for a party dress! You can slip from a beache belle to a rodeo rooter in this style schemer, centre), as illustrated by actress Victoria Medlin, seen in Universal TV's "The Virginian" — it's all so simple and fashion fun, too. Finally, a wardrobe must. Minus its bows, the stand-up collar down and the belt used as a bandeau — you can make your own fashion happening come true: a make-over shirtwaist.

Versatile Fashions for Your Wardrobe

By Reba and Bonnie Churchill

Meet the fashion e-x-p-a-n-d-a-b-l-e-s! These fresh, imaginative styles play their roles well, whether it's stretching a wardrobe or a budget. For instance; a button-front, organzy dress, designed by Kay Cantonwine, can be worn loose and smock-fashion for easy-fit informality. Only the rush of ruffles that slash the front and band the long sleeves hint of adaptability. Later, the sleeves can be pushed up, the waist belted, and the collar opened for a shirtmaker look. And, finally, the skimmer can be converted into a frilly coat for a party dress.

Another stylish schemer is a butter yellow sun dress. At least, it looks like one with its pattern of large, crocheted blocks. Take a second glance, however, at the sleeveless, collarless slip-on, and you'll discover it boasts mapopening sides. Open these leg vents, add a pair of colorful "baby pants" and you can go from beach belle to rodeo rooter. There's even an organdy Stetson to stress the later image. Wear it on the back of the head for sun facing, as actress Victoria Medlin, seen in Universal-TV's "The Virginian," prefers, or dip it over the brow for sun-dodging.

More change-about magic focuses on a snow-colored Empire dress. Although it projects a frosty, fresh appearance, it has a couple of hot tricks up its frothy long sleeves. Detach the wispy bows that dot the front and insert stud buttons. Flip its stand-up collar down, and use its bow-trimmed belt as a bandeau, and you've achieved your own fashion happening — a make-over shirtwaist. And just to increase your fashion wizardry, try wearing pastel slips under the filmy organza.

Friends Honor Bride-elect

FRANKFORD — A miscellaneous shower was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Ivan, Frankford, in honor of her podchild and bride-to-be Miss Sandra Boyarchuk, Frankford.

The many guests in attendance included members of the CWL and neighbors of the bride-elect. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Mary Baker and Miss Susan Gaudet. The bride's chair was decorated with pink and white streamers and pink wedding bells. The table holding the many lovely gifts was also gaily decorated. Several games were played which were enjoyed by all.

The gifts were handed to the bride-to-be by Miss Susan Gaudet, who also made a colorful ribbon hat. Sandra graciously thanked her friends for the lovely gifts. One of the gifts, a booklet of a collection of inspirational verses for the bride and groom was autographed by those present.

In addition to the bride's cake of pink and white, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Joe Ivan and assistants.

Great Prize—Winning Layer Cake

By MARY MOORE

TELEGRAM: Please mail immediately your recipe for winning cake with cream filling and boiled icing which appeared a few years ago. Thank you. Miss J. W.

ANSWER: I have mailed you the recipe you requested and since you thought it was important enough to telegraph for it, I thought our other readers would like to have again —

PRIZE - WINNING LAYER CAKE (repeated from January 62)

1 cup butter (or ½ cup butter and ½ cup shortening)
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk

You may use your electric beater at medium speed for creaming the butter, sugar and eggs. If you are using a wooden spoon beat until light as whipped cream. Measure butter into beater bowl and beat until very light and fluffy then gradually add sugar while beating. When mixture is very light beat eggs in one at a time until all are beaten in thoroughly. Sift the flour and measure it. Sift it again with the baking powder and salt. Measure the milk and add vanilla to it. Now add the flour mixture one-third at a time, alternating with the milk, one-third at a time, but use folding motion now — not the beater. Turn into three 8" layer cake tins which have been buttered on the sides and lined on bottoms with buttered wax paper or use two 9" cake tins and 7 muffin tins for the excess batter. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. The three 8" layers require 22 minutes; 9" layers would require a little longer — 25 to 28 minutes. Allow to stand 3 to 5 minutes before turning out on cake racks to cool. When thoroughly cool put together with

CUSTARD CREAM FILLING

½ cup sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, shake of salt, 1½ cups milk, 2 egg yolks slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla. (Save egg whites for frosting.) Combine in top of double boiler the sugar, flour and salt and when mixed add milk and yolks, stirring well. Stir over boiling water until thick — cook a silver spoon — cooking about 10 min. in all. Cool. Add vanilla. Spread when cool between layers.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

SEVEN MINUTE FROSTING: In top of double boiler combine 2 unbeaten egg whites, 1½ cups sugar, 5 tablespoons water (level), and 1½ teaspoons corn syrup. Place over boiling water and beat with rotary beater 7 minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from heat, add 1 teaspoon vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Sprinkle top and sides with either freshly grated, very fine coconut, which has been removed from the shell and, all brown skin peeled off, or sprinkle all over with canned coconut or finely chopped hickory or black or English walnuts or pecans. A lovely picture and a baker's delight!

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: (as she slaps child's hands) "No, no. You must not play with the ashtray. I'll have to spank your hands again if you touch it."

Mother: "Hold the ashtray carefully and you can see how pretty it is. When you're through looking at it, we'll put it back so it won't get broken."

Let the toddler hold and examine things that are not too fragile. He learns by feeling and touching, as well as by looking. Put breakable objects out of reach during those first few months when he is exploring his world.

Quinte Golf Festival Draws Weekend Crowd

About the only fixtures absent from the Bay of Quinte Golf Club's annual Festival this weekend will be the "pros".

But other than the usual Civic Holiday golf—practically—competition — held this year over the July 1 weekend — this year's version of the Quinte Golf Festival promises to be better than par for the course.

Better?

That means "even more hectic than usual" in the domain of behind-the-fairway organizers responsible for staging the festival — the fifth of the lush bayside links.

The men largely responsible for setting up the mixed play section of the Festival — for the last four years — Stan Armstrong — this year finds himself with his own, some task of supervising the on s weekend's program.

He got the unenviable job when club games captain Steve Bowerman — who had laid the ground work for this weekend's event — was recently hospitalized.

Besides the corps of untiring committee members, those prominent in this weekend's festival scenes will include club pro George Balint, who sees tomorrow's men's invitational field shaping up as the best yet.

"We've got a very evenly-spread field this year; usually we won't get too many scratch-handicap players, but Saturday's flights are split fairly evenly", said George who estimated that the field of 220 will include about 90

Tabernacle Tykes Have Good Thing Going

A pitcher probably wouldn't be around the major leagues too long if he allowed 86 runs in a 19-game stretch.

But it's pretty fair pitching in tyke diamond play, and that record was good enough for Tabernacle AOTS's hurler John Jianopoulos to help make it an undefeated East Hill minor softball loop season.

Coach John Doorbohos and his 17 charges begin their first round of playoffs Monday, but the softball minors are still glowing about their 10-0, record in their six-team East Hill tyke grouping.

And the investigations of proud team-members' parents have failed to turn up a precedent for the feat in recent years of city minor softball play.

But they're not resting on their laurels.

Bay of Quinte's Problems Encompass:

Pollution: • 32 Municipalities • Farm, City, Industry • 21,000,000 Gallons of Raw Sewage Daily

Mopping up the problem that has plagued the waterway for decades, involves more municipalities than is first apparent; Ontario Water Resources Commission statistics showed yesterday.

The area is the watershed of the Bay, the rendezvous point for river tributaries and natural land runoff.

Pollution of the Bay is tied to what happens throughout the entire zone.

Just what is happening as far as the OWRC is concerned was outlined yesterday by John Root, commission vice-chairman as he toured the Belleville-Trenton area surveying pollution problems.

Mr. Root named 32 municipalities where the OWRC in various forms, have stimulated response to pollution control.

He also quoted a statistic that helps emphasize the Bay of Quinte situation.

When the OWRC is completely satisfied that all municipalities in the area have needed sewage treatment facilities, disposal units in the watershed will be treating 21,000,000 gallons of raw sewage daily.

Latest poser for pollution control comes with the change of farm methods.

With more and more farmers establishing feed lots, there's a danger of contamination bleeding into ditches and creeks.

"The farmers have been made aware that runoffs must be prevented from reaching streams," said Mr. Root.

Thirdly, industrial waste pollution is still marked high on the OWRC's combat list.

Mr. Root came armed with a list of 13 major industries in the Belleville-Trenton-Picton area. The list outlined what progress manufacturers were making — or planned to make — on waste disposal measures.

Ironically, later in the day, the OWRC officer boated up the Trent River to view one of the plants listed — Domtar Newsprint — and witnessed what he termed had "the appearance of a deliberate discharge of pollution."

Mr. Root came aboard with the OWRC engineering team in the Belleville-Trenton area.

It was the second boat ride of the day. Earlier, with Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, — the man who initiated the survey — and Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott, Mr. Root took a look at the Belleville waterfront.

Between times he emphasized the task facing the OWRC around the province.

In the past decade some $1-600,000,000 has been approved for expenditure on various local waste-control projects, he told Trenton councillors.

But, the OWRC was only started in 1957.

"We've been trying to pick up the backlog of what should have been done over 100 years ago," he told a similar meeting in Belleville city hall. "Now we have to keep pace with industrial expansion while farm runoffs aggravate the problem."

Official attitudes also may be stiffening in the cleanup campaign, if Mr. Root's words are any indication.

"We find that in the main, industry as well as the municipalities co-operate," noted Mr. Root.

However, the OWRC had "certain" powers "we have not hesitated to use — and we will use them again.

"We're reasonable people, and we want co-operation," he said. "And if we can't get co-operation we'll get tough a little."

. . . But Not A Drop Worth Drinking!

Four men in a boat yesterday were surrounded by water — but not a drop of it fit to drink. This excursion was surveying pollution problems in the Bay of Quinte off Belleville. Dr. R. T. Potter, (right), talks troubles with Ontario Water Resources Commission engineer Robert Baker while taking in scene at stern is Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott, (left), and OWRC vice-chairman John Root.

Pipe Spouts Discharge

Trenton Industry Pinpointed As One Firm Polluting River

A major Trenton industry will be cited for a pollution probe — with the highest government authority an unseen witness. He is John H. Root, vice-chairman of the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Mr. Root, boating up the Trent River yesterday as part of a pollution survey of the Bay of Quinte, sat staring as a pipe dumped a dirty - brown liquid from the riverside property of Domtar Newsprint.

"I'd say it would have all the appearance of a deliberate discharge of pollution," he said tersely. "We'll be reporting it."

The incident peaked a day-long swing along the Belleville — Trenton stretch of the Bay as Mr. Root and OWRC engineers made on-the-spot contact with water-contamination problems.

The survey, instigated by Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte who is demanding an end to years old Bay pollution, took the experts into conferences with municipal spokesmen in Belleville, Trenton and Frankford.

But it was the mid-afternoon Trent River boat ride that brought the program pattern to a climax.

Mr. Root boarded a pontoon boat with an escort that included Trenton councillors Paul Tripp and Gerald Weaver and Chamber of Commerce manager Jack Wilson.

The craft sailed upriver as the local government representatives pointed out discoloration of water north of the town bridge.

It came close to shore to allow the OWRC authority a closer look at the Domtar Chemicals plant and the adjacent newsprint operation.

There was a scurry among the party as the craft neared the paper mill and several hands pointed out the flowing pipe.

Mr. Root sat and stared as the brownish liquid poured in a steady stream into the river. OWRC engineer Robert Baker hurriedly took notes.

Mr. Root said he was "particularly disturbed" by what he had seen, including discoloration of the banks around the Domtar operation.

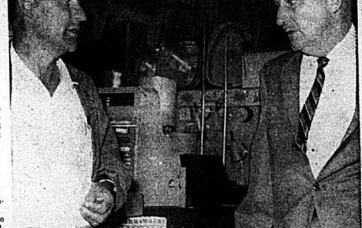
He said he would hand the matter over to the OWRC industrial wastes disposal branch.

"Most of these companies are moving (on waste control)," he added. "But they don't move any faster than they have to."

Mr. Root estimated industry in Ontario has spent about $135,000,000 on pollution control.

"But they're going to have to spend a lot more," he warned.

On the trip, Mr. Root brought with him a list of Bay of Quinte area industries involved in pollution control.



It credited Domtar Newsprint with "collection ponds for black liquor which is used by townships for dust control; filtering of white water. Plan further screening and possible discharge to municipal sewer."

Domtar Chemicals was listed as planning to "rehabilitate and improve existing oil separator and incinerator."

The mouth of the Trent River at Trenton also is the entrance to the Trent Canal, now servicing its summer peak volume of pleasure craft.

"There," drily comment... the OWRC official, "is an optimist."

Shop Talk!

Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, chats over pollution situation with Frankford reeve William Rose in the council head's hardware store yesterday. Visit was part of tour by OWRC officials to survey area water problems.

Boaters Come in for Criticism

FRANKFORD — The reeve of this village figures local sewage pollution problems are on the way to being controlled.

Still it won't put the sheen back in the historic Trent River, which makes Frankford an Ontario beauty spot.

Daily, villagers watch the pleasure craft ply up and down the famed Trent waterway system.

Suddenly, such craft also are being watched by the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Reeve William Rose believes present OWRC proposals will solve his community's sewage disposal problems. But there are other concerns.

"We'd be content if the river were more sparkling around here," he told OWRC vice-chairman John Root and Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, as they ended a day-long survey of Bay of Quinte pollution.

Nonetheless, if Mr. Root's taken seriously, Ontario boat owners may be in for a stormy passage if they don't listen.

From what Mr. Root says, they've been doing as much talking as listening since the OWRC began firming up its intentions to crack down on indiscriminate dumping of sewage by pleasure-boat operators.

"You'd be surprised at the type of opposition we've had from the boating people," he told a meeting of municipal spokesman in Belleville.

Legislation calls for installation of holding tanks on all pleasure craft by 1971 while pump-out stations must be installed by all marinas next year.

Pleasure craft are actually holiday residences and boat owners must be governed by the same responsibilities as householders, he indicated.

"We have people actually living on floating cottages discharging raw sewage into the waterways," he said.

It was a theme the OWRC vice-chairman stressed again to Trenton community leaders later in the day.

Even the chemical device installed on many craft now and known as a macerator-chlorinator is not sufficient. By 1971 it must be replaced.

If not, the OWRC will be exacting penalties, he warned.

"We mean business," emphasized Mr. Root.

But why wait until 1971 to have the problem fully controlled?

It's an obvious question and it was popped the official in Belleville by Alderman Elson David.

"This is the trouble," criticized the councillor. "Why should they have until 1971 to dump this guck into the water?"

Mr. Root's answer was that present legislation so stipulates.

"This is the legislation," confirmed Dr. Potter. "But if everybody brings enough pressure there's no reason why it can't be changed to make it (the installation deadline) a lot earlier."

Man on Own Spot

Quinte MPP Says Purifying Bay His Prime Goal

The Bay of Quinte, once a scenic dazzler, now a dismal disappointment that failed to match its future, has drawn many a cleanup crusader.

So far, the Bay has absorbed all efforts to effectively stem its pollution, sludging along despite the campaigners.

Now, however, the times may be right for latest recruit to the cleanup cause.

The man — Dr. R. T. Potter — may also be the right recruit in the right place.

DR. R. T. POTTER

As the recently-elected MPP for Quinte, Dr. Potter has pulled out the political stops in the latest attempt to turn the tide against pollution.

Yesterday, he scored an initial success as he induced Ontario Water Resources Commission officials to view the problem under pressure.

The physician-politician led OWRC vice-chairman John Root into assemblies of vocal — if no. vociferous — community spokesmen in Belleville and Trenton.

He pressed them into taking boat rides — along the Bay and up its main tributary, the Trent River.

The whirlwind program was a sequal to his blunt demand two weeks ago in the legislature that the Ontario government "get cracking" on pollution.

After all that, the MPP is in the limelight as a man with a commitment.

Dr. Potter indicates he's willing to stake his political reputation in pursuing the crusade.

"If only we could get that thing cleaned up I'd feel all my time in there (Queen's Park) would be worthwhile," he said yesterday as the OWRC contingent headed home.

Suddenly, it's not inconceivable that during his political incumbency, it could come to pass that the Bay of Quinte may be presentable again.

More than ever, there is community awareness of environment. The public is admitting its guilt in pollution problems and governments at last seems moving in decisively.

There is a fantastic backlog of causes to be offset — and, coupled with runaway community expansion, the chore is immense.

"This thing took 100, 200 years to bring about. You're not going to cure it overnight," says Dr. Potter.

While he believes pollution may not be entirely eradicated in a lifetime, it may be reduced sufficiently "so you can live with it."

People have been living with a polluted Bay of Quinte a long time — but now there is a glimmer of change, the MPP thinks.

The time is right to set the change in motion and what is needed now is public pressure — and lots of it, he says.

Yesterday's willing on-the-spot survey by OWRC officials almost invariably a target for local criticism, was a start.

"Now we've got to keep the ball rolling," he emphasized more than once yesterday.

"This pollution problem one level of government can't crack it," he reminded Trenton town councillors. "We all have to get in there."

Senior Hockey Hopes Up

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

As far as OHA convener Ron Buddell is concerned, Belleville will have an entry in the 1968-69 Senior "A" circuit.

Buddell said from Kitchener today that the entry deadline has been extended from yesterday to Friday, Aug. 9, largely due to complications brought about by the current mail strike.

"As far as I know," the OHA convener added, "the only one of last year's 10 senior clubs not in this year's league is the Guelph entry."

"The mail problems have also made me decide against drawing up a tentative schedule right now," Buddell said. "We don't know what arena times most of the prospective entries have booked."

"But I was assured earlier by Mr. Temple that there would be a senior Belleville club this season."

Buddell added he had received no actual confirmation of this to date.

The OHA convener also squelched a local rumor that there would be no Senior "A" hockey for Kingston fans this winter.

"I received a confirmation by wire from Kingston yesterday."

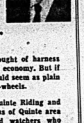
A spokesman for the 15-or-so sponsors of the Mo-Hawk entry said hockey backers had been worrying about travelling expenses in the event Kingston did not enter the senior grouping.

"That would mean our closest opponents would be in Toronto, 110 miles away," he reasoned. "Travelling is a major expense, and we'd have to thrash out whether it would be worth the investment."

"Our team hasn't had the best record in the last couple of years, you know."

The spokesman said his group hadn't given the OHA confirmation of their plans because they wanted to see what other senior clubs were doing, and waiting for general manager Temple's thought on the matter.



"But we still have our $500, bond posted with the league to show our good intentions", he added.

The Intelligencer Sports

You probably never thought of harness racing as a boon to the local economy. But if you were Jack Jeffrey, it would seem as plain as the spokes on your sulky-wheels.

The president of the Quinte Riding and Driving Club feels the dozens of Quinte area horse owners, drivers, and watchers who come into town for the Saturday night trot sessions represent a genuine bonus for the community.

"This is our best year ever — we're drawing them in from Cobourg to Kingston, and up to Highway 7," says Jack, obviously enthused over the record gates the Fairground harness cards are attracting.

And that's good enough to warrant the Driving Club's calling their weekly program the best-attended sports event in the city.

Everything seems to be coming up roses for Mr. Jeffrey and his fellow-boosters of the sulky-sport.

Larger crowds have been rewarded with fuller cards. Where horses would have to run double-heat races to provide spectators with a full night's racing in previous years, this season's average 50-60 horse fields brought the initiation of single-heat racing.

And the 83½ per cent return to bettors of the Pari-Mutuel take is yielding payoffs of $15,000 and more each Saturday.

Attracting bigger crowds also pays off for the drivers and owners.

"We're now paying 80 per cent of our share (9 per cent) of the mutuel handle for purses," says Jack Jeffrey, "and that's more than on a lot of other circuits."

Average purse-size for a race is $170, with prize money at the Fairgrounds split five ways per heat — the winner getting 45 per cent (averaging $30) and the fifth-place horse winning 5 per cent.

If you have any doubts, ask the Quinte area harness-fanciers who are giving their sport the lion's share of spectator support.

Cheesemen Win

Leaders Toppled By Clutch-Hitting

Having the right batters there at the right time drove in three runs for Black Diamond Cheesemen Thursday night as they slipped by first-place Belvedere Hotel to slip solidly into third place in the Commercial Softball League.

City Hotel had been tied with the Cheesemen, but Black Diamond's win and the Hotelmen's loss dropped City to fourth.

The league teams now have four games each before the playoffs between the first four finishers.

In Thursday's Black Diamond victory, winning pitcher Sonny Holoway held the first-place Belvedere crew to three hits while his opposition, Wayne McConnell, allowed the Cheesemen six safeties.

The winners collected their last four of those six in the final 2 innings and made them count for the winning runs. Gene Francis' fifth-inning triple brought left fielder Rick Denard home for the first tally. Third-baseman Wayne McTaggart hit a sixth-inning triple to bring home Jack Francis for the second and tying run, and a double by Gene Francis and a single by pitcher Holoway combined in the seventh to score Denard with the winning tally.

McConnell struck out eight and issued three free passes.

Gene Francis was the leading Black Diamond hitter with a single, double, and triple. Don Wood had a single, McTaggart had his triple, and Holoway had his single for the six Cheesemen safeties.

Line score:

Belvedere	000 200 0—2 3 1
Black Diamond	000 011 1—3 6 1

CITY 1

In Scotty Reid's one-hitter, "Pug" Kellar of City Hotel was definitely the hero or the villain, depending upon one's point of view.

After five innings of no-hit batting, Reid's perfect game went out the window when Kellar connected for a single to drive in the only Hotelmen tally as pitcher Gerry Genereaux crossed the plate.

Stinson's 13-run victory looked like a field day for the Builders as they collected 14 hits and watched two City errors while collecting their tallies.

In pitching his one-hitter, Reid fanned 10 and walked four. Genereaux fanned two and walked two in taking the loss.

Bob Tomchak had a single and a triple, Paul Stinson collected two doubles, Bob Boyle added a single and a double. Scotty Reid poked a triple for the winners.

Line score:

Stinson	333 012 1—13 14 0
City Hotel	000 001 0— 1 1 2

On Fairgrounds Card

"Big-time" Winner Comes Home

A local horse who made good on foreign ovals will be the main attraction in this Saturday night's nine-heat session of harness racing at the Fairgrounds.

Leo Law, owned and trained by Belleville's Cliff Hoyle and George Thomes of Cannifton makes his 1968 debut on the local circuit with a fifth-race appearance.

In 59 starts on the Toronto Raceway circuit Leo has rewarded his proud local owners with more than $5,000 purse money, justifying their decision to send him to the 'big-time' last summer.

Jay Heath—Leo Law's former local driver before his successful track ventures abroad —was expected to be in the sulky tomorrow night, but this was to be confirmed.

Those at the Fairgrounds tomorrow night might look for Leo to threaten this season's track record of 2.10:2, held by Rascedale Cal.

There are 57 other entries for trot fans to watch in tomorrow's nine-heat card, the 10th of 18 planned for the 1968 season by the Quinte Riding and Driving Club.

Quinte Layout Groomed

Two men who have plenty to do in their respective jobs these days are Bay of Quinte Golf Club pro George Balazs, and course superintendent Henry Guertin. Both play vital roles in the planning of events like this weekend's fifth annual Golf Festival, a two-day affair during which more than 400 competitors will tread the lush Bay of Quinte fairways. Tomorrow, some 230 entries are in for men's invitational play, while 100 couples have entered Sunday's 18-hole "mixed" event. (See Page 8 for draws.)

Joyces Cautious As Playoffs Approach

The Belleville Joyces Senior EOBA club are healthily worried on the eve of the first round of EOBA playdowns with the Kingston Centennials.

Why they should be isn't immediately obvious. They've bested the Centennials in six of seven meetings this season.

But Joyces' outfielder Larry Soule tells it like it is: "At least two of those seven games went into extra innings and a couple were won by just one run.

"And one other thing', he notes: "Kingston never lets up on Belleville. They're the provincial champs and they don't like being beaten, especially by Belleville. They're going to put us to the wall in every game. You can count on it".

The Joyces meet Kingston at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Limestone City to open the best-of-seven series. On Sunday, the Centennials will travel to Belleville. Wednesday the Joyces will be hosted to Kingston and will present a new image to local supporters.

As part of a new promotion program to increase game attendance, the Joyces will offer free popcorn for kids accompanied by adults and a drawing for a basket of groceries at Sunday's fairgrounds tilt.

The program will continue into the Wednesday night contest with $5 prizes donated by local merchants to be offered in drawings.

Bill Latchford, EOBA leading pitcher at 6-0 for the season, will share weekend mound duty with rookie Joe Hastings. Lanky "Latch" will pitch Sunday if he can get a ride back to his summer teacher's quarters in Ottawa that night after the game. If he can't, Hastings will do the honors in the home game and Latchford will pitch Saturday.

The top Joyce pitcher will only be able to pitch one of the first five of the seven-game playdown series because of his courses in Ottawa.

Added to that handicap is the team's injury list. John McKibbon, the Joyce mainstay on first, has a bruised heel which has him hobbling, but won't sideline him. Regular Joyce hotspot man Moe Hunter still hasn't recovered from tearing his hand on the third base buckle in a season game, but will be in the lineup. Hunter's hand, which has sig stitches in it, impairs his throwing and batting.

Joyce backstop Larry Mavety has a pinched nerve in his back, but is expected to don the mask anyway.

In Saturday's game, second baseman Pat Asselstine will be absent at work and Soule is heading for a wedding, so that leaves two regulars out. Wayne Woods will go in for Asselstine and the outfield will probably be Craig Rump, Doug Dafoe and Ralph Plane.

The Joyces will go into the series carrying a pitching staff of Latchford, Hastings, Rodger Hunter and Randy Castellerin. Their bench will consist of an extra outfielder and infielder.

"If we really run into trouble," smiled team captain shortstop Gary Goyer, "we can use our secret weapon — Ralph Plane on the mound."

Hansen Plays Different Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ron Hansen is at his best with men on base—no matter whose men.

Only three days ago, the lanky shortstop was in the field with two runners on base, and turned a line drive into only the eighth unassisted triple play in major league history.

Then, with three of his teammates on base Thursday night, he came to bat and proved the point, belting a grand slam home run that sparked Washington Senators in a 9-3 rout over Detroit Tigers.

"The home run was a real thrill," he said, "but the triple play was by far a bigger thrill."

The Tigers were not around for the triple play, and the homer certainly didn't excite them as they had a game sliced off their American League lead as Baltimore Orioles pulled within six games by beating third-place Cleveland Indians 5-1 as Dave McNally outdueled Luis Tiant.

Stan Bahnsen hurled a three-hitter and New York Yankees edged Boston Red Sox 1-0 in the other night game, and Minnesota Twins defeated Chicago White Sox 4-1 in an afternoon contest.

Hansen, a 20-year-old veteran in his ninth major league season, has always been a good hitter with men on base for a guy who has never hit more than .263 in the majors.

He has driven in between 51 and 86 runs in each of the five seasons he has played regularly.

His homer in the fourth inning against the Tigers was his eighth of the season and 97th of his career, but his first slam. It put the Senators safely ahead 5-1 after Mike Epstein belted his eighth with a man on in the first inning off Pat Dobson, 3-3. Bernie Allen later clouted a two-run shot, his fourth.

The show of power made it easy for Joe Coleman, who scattered eight hits, including a homer by Norm Cash, to raise his record to 7-12 and end Detroit's winning streak at three.

Baltimore took advantage by scoring four runs in the ninth inning, the first two on Elrod Hendricks' single, off Tiant, 17-7, who entered the ninth with a four-hitter, one of them Curt Blefary's ninth homer.

McNally, 14-8, finished with a six-hitter and blanked the Indians after the first inning for the Orioles' third victory in a row that kept Cleveland eight games behind Detroit.

. . . But for Marichal It's Same Old Story

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Juan Marichal, who became the National League's first 20-game winner with a three-hitter as San Francisco Giants blanked Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 Thursday night, believes in finishing what he starts.

The Dominican Dandy bested Dodger ace Don Drysdale for his 10th consecutive complete game and fifth straight victory.

Marichal has gone the distance in 96 of his last 97 victories.

In other league action, Atlanta Braves topped New York Mets 4-2, Chicago Cubs tripped Houston Astros 4-1, St. Louis Cardinals nipped Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in a game ended by rain after seven innings, and Pittsburgh Pirates rapped Cincinnati Reds 6-1.

It was the Giant ace's seventh straight victory in head-to-head showdowns with Drysdale.

Marichal, 20-4, is six days ahead of the pace set by Dizzy Dean who won 30 games in 1934 —the last pitcher to do it. Dean didn't notch No. 20 until Aug. 7. Detroit's Denny McLain, 21-3, is the only other 20-game winner in the majors at the moment.

Jim Davenport singled San Francisco's first run across in the fourth and hot-hitting Dick Dietz cracked a homer in the sixth. It was Dietz' sixth hit in eight at bats.

It was the fourth straight complete game victory for the St. Louis pitching staff. Roger Craig allowed a single and double and had a hand in both Cardinals runs.

Johnny Callison homered for the Phillies.

AMES, Iowa (AP) — The Iowa State University Athletic Council refused Thursday to comply with a Negro student demand that a black coach be added immediately to the football staff. But the council pledged to "encourage consideration of qualified black coaches for appointment to the intercollegiate athletic staff at Iowa State University in the future."

ST. THOMAS (CP) — The 30-member Canadian national sport parachuting team completed training Thursday, but it still lacks enough money to compete in the nine world championships in Graz, Austria, August 9-26. Team captain Larry Costello of London, Ont., said in an interview the team still needs more than $2,500 for the trip, which includes an appearance at the French national sport parachuting championships Sept. 1-10.

TORONTO (CP) — Quarterback Wally Gabler of Toronto Argonauts said Thursday he may play out his option with the Eastern Football Conference team this season. Gabler and two other unsigned players, halfback Jim Dillard and tight end Mel Profit, will play tonight when the Argonauts meet Edmonton Eskimos in an interlocking Canadian Football League game.

Ti-Cats Really "Roughed" Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders scored seven touchdowns Thursday night to smash the 1967 Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats 53-13 in the first game of the Eastern Football Conference season for both teams.

Flanker Whit Tucker caught three Rider touchdown passes and said later it's the first time he remembers catching three such passes in the same game.

Vic Washington, an Ottawa rookie from the University of Wyoming, got two touchdowns and crossed the goal line after a thrilling 104-yard runback of a Hamilton kickoff.

Defensive halfback Joe Poirier romped 45 yards for a Rider touchdown after intercepting a pass by Joe Zuger. Bo Scott got Ottawa's other goal on a three-yard run.

Bot Treat touchdowns in the game before 23,739 fans were scored by Dave Fleming. He got his first on a 37-yard pass-and-run play with Zuger and the second on a four-yard run. Tommy Joe Coffey got one of two convert attempts.

Don Sutherin managed to convert five of Ottawa's seven touchdowns and added 43- and 38-yard field goals to complete Ottawa's scoring.

The Eskimos strutted their talent in impressive fashion Wednesday night in Montreal when they romped over the Alouettes 27-10 without apparently working up a good sweat.

Scots was helped off the field in the third quarter and Ottawa trainer Fred Peterson said the fullback suffered "stretched ligaments in the right leg, but it does not appear to be serious."

Ottawa coach Frank Clair said he was impressed with the way Washington followed his blockers in his field-length runback.

Clair, beginning his 13th year as Riders' head coach, said he was pleased with the team's offensive line.

He smiled on being congratulated for the win but warned that Hamilton "is not ready yet."

Treat coach Joe Restic said of the game: "I've been here six years and we've never started off this way."

He said Ottawa was in mid-season form "but 'don't count us out, we've lost four games in a row before and rebounded."

Rider quarterback Russ Jackson said the Ottawa team's "gang-tackling defence crunched" the Ticats and set the stage for the overwhelming victory. The club had worked "extra hard" to get ready for the game.

Bowlers Convene

Hectic Holiday on Yeomans St.

By GERALD HYDE

For most it's a Civic Holiday but for hardworking committees of the Belleville Lawn Bowling club, the next three days will be "Ontario Lawn Bowling's Greatest Weekend."

Five openers, upwards of 64 mixed pairs are expected to compete in the Watkin Memorial Gold Trophy Tournament on Saturday, 3rd 16th entries coming from all parts of province. This event is sponsored by the Watkin family in memory of the late George Watkin, who was one of the founders of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club in its present location; and in memory of his younger son, Gordon Watkin, who was a member of the best players ever to compete in this game in this country and who was twice a participant and winner of the Canadian Championships.

Play will get underway at approximately 9:30 a.m. on Saturday morning and will continue throughout the day, with the prize distribution scheduled at the conclusion of the games at approximately 10 p.m.

The host Club, in co-operation with the Calvert Distillers Limited, will convene a reception for all visiting bowlers participating, in the weekend program of events to be held that evening at the Sun Valley Motor Inn.

But even while this social event is taking place, committee members will be busy receiving the prize display area from the bareness left by the disposition of the Watkin Memorial prizes, setting up those prizes offered for Sunday's Corbin Gold Trophy Men's Fours Tournament.

This will be the 20th renewal of the Corbin event and will commence at 9:30 Sunday morning. Thus far it has attracted an entry of 44 teams seeking the trophies and accompanying $1,500 in prizes.

It is expected that Ald. Robin Jeffrey, substituting for His Worship Mayor Dr. J. R. Scott, will be present to officially welcome the guests to the city and to deliver "the first bowl", after which the traditional "spider" will be held with a suitable award to the winner.

The Corbin Gold Trophy is the principal prize being competed for, with the Lord Calvert Gold Trophy, the Belle Cleaners' Gold Trophy and the Gordon Watkin Memorial Gold Trophy being the second, third and fourth awards, respectively.

For the green-weary, the newly-renovated Club House will be opened throughout the day for light lunches and meals served by the Ladies' Committee.

The host Belleville Club will have nine entries in the tournament this year and these will be "skipped" by Bill Wright, Percy Graham, Orlo Smith, Ab Wonnacott, Haley Elliott, Bruce Miller, Frank Morrell, Bill Fuller and Gerry Hyde.

This tournament follows, by one day, the annual Ontario Championships in lawn bowling scheduled for tomorrow at the greens of Oshawa Lawn Bowling Club. Local interest will centre on the results of these championships with respect to the bid being made by Bruce Miller and Gerry Hyde to win the Men's Pairs and to have the right to represent Ontario in the Canadian Championships at the Leaside Lawn Bowling Club August 26, 27, and 28th.

This pair has been successful in winning the Zone 4 (Eastern Ontario) championship and will compete in a "round robin" tournament for winners from the other three zones which include the Metropolitan Toronto area, the Hamilton-Niagara area, and Western Ontario area.

The championship competitions in Men's Fours, Men's Singles, and the Colt triples will also take place on Saturday in Oshawa and several of the teams which have worked their way to the finals in these championships will journey on to Belleville to participate in the Sunday Corbin Tournament.

A Pairs Tournament for ladies and a Pairs Tournament for men has been scheduled, with a single draw for Monday of the Civic Holiday commencing at 10 a.m. These tournaments will provide the visiting bowlers with a further opportunity to enjoy their favorite pastime before proceeding home.

Toronto to Get 54-Storey Tower

TORONTO (CP) — City and planning department officials Thursday gave enthusiastic approval to plans for a $100,000,000 Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce world downtown development project.

Donald Kirkup, Toronto Real Estate Board research director, said:

"We're making Montreal look like it's going backward when it comes to downtown re-development."

The bank's new development announced Thursday will—include three office buildings of 54 storeys, one of 14 storeys and one of five storeys, all connected by underground concourse to the old Bank of Commerce building on King Street.

Construction of the first phase —the 54-storey tower, open court yard covering more than an acre, and all underground space—will begin next summer. Neil J. McKinnon, chairman of the bank said in an interview.

The new bank tower will return to the Bank of Commerce the distinction of tallest building in the Commonwealth. The old 34-storey, 476-foot tower built on King Street in 1931 was tallest until 1961 when the bank's new 600-foot tower was completed in Montreal.

The Toronto-Dominion centre's 56-storey tower last year brought the title back to Toronto. The new Commerce tower, although only 54 storeys, will stand on pillars making it 26 feet taller than the 740-foot Toronto-Dominion centre.

Sunday School Lesson

God's Rule: Fact or Fantasy?

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

When Malthie D. Babcock, author of the hymn, "This Is My Father's World," looked at the beauties of nature, he reached the conclusion that "though the wrong seems oft so strong, God is the Ruler yet."

But is God the Ruler yet? When a military chaplain spoke to some troops about clean living, and referred to the judgments of God, several of them laughed out loud. Are people today laughing at God, and is he powerless to do anything about it?

In answer to the question, "Is God the Ruler yet?" many people today are saying, "no." Some have even gone so far as to say that God is dead, that if He ever lived, He is dead now, and men are on their own.

Others associate God with that which is pleasant and sweet. Dorothy Frances Gurney, for example, in a beautiful poem, says that we are "nearer to God's heart in a garden than anywhere else on earth."

Of course, a person's faith in God is strengthened in a garden. There one sees the incredible beauty of flowers. There, too, people are faced with the amazing mystery of life. How is it that every seed carries its own "blueprint," so that it knows what kind of a plant to become?

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 4: "Ruler of Men and Nations," Isaiah 45.

Jesus Himself spoke about the "lilies of the field," and spoke of how God clothes them with beauty. (Matthew 6:28-29) But He did not stop in this peaceful countryside. He set His face to go to Jerusalem. (Matthew 16:21) There the overworked phrase, that's where the action was, that's where the power structure was. That's where the moneychangers were. That's where He fell He had to come to grips with those who were preventing the people from seeing the true reign of God in the hearts of men.

After all, the Christian message claims that God shows Himself more through a cross than through "lilies of the field." He shows Himself more through saints and martyrs than through birds and sunsets. He shows Himself through events in which men see the wrath of God as well as the mercy of God revealed.

The prophets were quick to detect the judgments of God in history. God could use pagan men — even evil men — to accomplish His goals. Even Cyrus, king of Persia, could be anointed by God to restore exiled Israelites to their homeland. (Isaiah 45:1) Paul was later to point out that even Pharoah was God's unwitting agent at the time of the liberation of the Jews from Egypt. (Romans 9:17)

When Hitler was throwing his weight around in Germany, he clamped down on the churches. They could have no youth groups, missionary societies, or the like. All that Christians could do was to meet for Bible study and worship. In his abysmal ignorance of spiritual matters, he treated lightly the two things churches most experience or die — Bible study and prayer.

Stymied at other points, Christian leaders met for intensive Bible study. Out of these meetings grew a series of lay academies, or retreat centres that continue to this day to challenge Christians to examine their lives and occupations, in the light of the teachings of scripture. Thus, against his will, Hitler actually encouraged intensified Bible study in his country.

In a similar way, the exile in Babylon did not stamp out their faith. Instead, it brought faith in the one true God to the attention of people who had never heard of Him before. (Isaiah 45:6) It enabled Jeremiah to press home to the exiles new insights concerning their faith. (Jeremiah 29) It enabled Isaiah to interpret God's commission to Cyrus as evidence that God is the true God. Besides Him there is no other. (Isaiah 45:5, 18, 21, 22)

This became a unifying cry for the Jews. (Isaiah 45:20) It gave them hope (Isaiah 45:13) it gave them a new basis for trust. The clay does not dictate to the potter. He knows best the kind of vessel he needs to make. (Isaiah 45:9)

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For Aug. 3

Your birthday today: The year ahead is likely to be profitable in material values. The straightforward trends tend to work out. Romantic interests do not range far afield. Today's natives are mostly pleasant, middle-of-the-road types who proceed by instinct.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Get an early start. Do little with money today. Entertain intimate friends. News from distant places is incomplete; wait for the rest of the story.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Satisfaction should be the experience of your day. Enjoy the sociable side of life. Take a break in the afternoon for meditation and a slight change of direction.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): The air is full of rumors. Your energy can be devoted to sport today. If you are young and in love, go dining and dancing — this is the mood of the day.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): The promises made today are subject to revision or neglect. Lending is not the thing to do now. Tend your hobby this evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Wishful thinking could lead to extravagance today, with little gained. Spend much of the day outdoors. Find light entertainment this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): The temptation is toward sentimental idealism. Take for-granted that anything you do will soon come to public notice.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): The urge is to overdo creature comforts or to take on too much. Use time to meditate, early and late. Gather old friends in the early evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Money today will not buy you any better image, so save it. Catch up with the news in sports and hobbies. Make long-range plans in the morning.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Today you are inclined to try too many things at once. Do one thing at a time. Then enjoy yourself this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): It will not do to talk about your plans today. Be discreet and very selective. Pursue romantic interest this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Practical jokes or pretenses tend to fall flat, particularly with people for whom you have affection. Make it a quiet evening.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): The entire day will suit your social taste. Avoid formality or invite the nicest people you know. Be festive. Taper off early in the evening, gracefully.

Provincial Premiers Ask Medicare Conference

WASKESIU, Sask. (CP) — The annual premiers' conference winds up today after a telegrammed appeal to Prime Minister Trudeau for a conference on medical care, and following expressed uneasiness over widening gaps between provincial expenses and revenue potentials.

The unified approach to these key conference issues, format in the case of medical care and individually voiced concern over finances, brought pressure on an unwritten conference rule not to gang up on Ottawa.

Leaders of the nine provincial delegations also came close Thursday to agreeing on a renewed approach to Ottawa on division of tax revenues between the federal and provincial governments.

They indicated at a news conference following Thursday's closed sessions their tax resources have been too limited to assume their responsibilities and that in the next few years there will be a rapidly-widening gap between tax revenues and expenditures.

Behind their concern was a common desire to obtain adequate tax resources to fulfill responsibilities in health, education and other areas where provincial governments have constitutional jurisdiction.

They felt Ottawa's cost-sharing arrangements, designed to help the provinces' fiscal difficulties, were not adequate and the federal government's insistence on setting out criteria for the programs was often not in accord with many provinces' own priorities.

The telegram to Mr. Trudeau said there was "deep and broad concern" expressed at the conference about the financial implications of health care, in view of increasing costs of existing plans.

Only Saskatchewan and British Columbia now participate in the federal medical care program and are the only provinces receiving federal cost-sharing to pay about 50 per cent of the programs.

To join the federal scheme, a province must meet Ottawa's requirements. These call for provincial schemes to be operated by public, non-profit bodies, to cover 50 per cent of its population, insure a comprehensive range of physicians' services and be portable among provinces.

Premiers at the conference are Campbell of Prince Edward Island, Smith of Nova Scotia, Roberts of Ontario, Weir of Manitoba, Manning of Alberta and Thatcher of Saskatchewan. Cabinet ministers represent British Columbia, Quebec and New Brunswick. Newfoundland does not attend the conferences.

At a news conference Thursday, Mr. Thatcher said the provinces' possible unified approach to Ottawa on general fiscal questions included study of financing on all provincial programs, including medical insurance.

He said the provinces might ask Ottawa to reallocate tax fields, or for more lump-sum grants without attached strings. "I think the provinces unanimously felt that something must be done within the next three or four years," Mr. Thatcher said.

He noted that projections worked out by the federal-provincial tax structure committee over the last several years have shown that provincial expenditures will rise steeply in the next decade, while federal expenditures will increase much less rapidly.

At the same time, the gap between provincial revenues and expenditures will grow rapidly.

"Some of us want to see a major redistribution of resources," Mr. Thatcher said.

Civil Service Shakeup Staged

OTTAWA (CP) — A complicated shakeup of civil servants, necessitated by the recently-announced government reorganization, is under way, the government said in a statement Thursday.

The news release by the public service commission and treasury board sets out an eight-point program for reassignment and elimination of personnel.

The program follows Prime Minister Trudeau's July 12 announcement of a realignment of several departments, creation of five departments and integration of a number of major government operations.

The program:

—Employees whose jobs are eliminated will be reassigned, most of them to jobs in new departments or to vacancies in other departments.

—Treasury board will declare "redundancy situations" in specific occupational groups and levels as soon as data is made available by the departments.

—The commission will restrict hiring and promotions across the service for those occupational groups and levels while the board's redundancy situations ruling is in effect.

—The commission will handle inter-departmental placement of employees.

—The board will allow increases in the strengths of individual departments above the levels at which their strengths were frozen by the government in March, 1968. The strength of other departments will be correspondingly reduced so that the total civil service strength will not be increased.

—Retraining and removal expenses will be paid those employees whose reassignment would be made possible by retraining or relocation.

—Departments will restructure jobs, retrain and transfer employees to other areas of work.

—The commission will facilitate the reorganization by making selections as quickly as possible for new jobs required.

The effects of the program will be reviewed at the end of the year. There will be "no large-scale layoffs of civil servants" as a result of the program.

Punishment Is No Cure

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Suppose you were trying to teach your child not to steal, and as a lesson you stole a dollar out of his piggy-bank and refused to return it. Do you imagine that this would teach the child not to steal, or merely to steal more cleverly?

Obviously, stealing from a child is no way to correct or reform his stealing habit. Then why do we imagine that punishing a child for his aggression is a proper way to cure his aggression?

What punishment does is — at best — make the child stop some particular form of aggression. But then it breaks out elsewhere at some other time.

There is an even worse consequence. When parents employ physical punishment, as psychologist Robert Sears points out, "they are providing a living example of the use of aggression at the very moment they are trying to teach the child not to be aggressive."

And, as Sears goes on to say, "The child, who copies his parents in many ways, is likely to learn as much from this example of successful aggression on his parents' part as he does from the pain of punishment."

Punishment at home re-inforces aggression elsewhere — this is why so many children who are docile and "obedient" at home are likely to be a problem at school, while children who eat up more freely at home are surprisingly tractable in school.

The Gluecks's classic study of 1,000 delinquent and non-delinquent youngsters showed that, contrary to general opinion of the uninformed public, it is too much strictness rather than too much leniency at home that provokes the adolescent into delinquent behavior. What seems to be "leniency" in some cases is merely indifference or neglect.

Punishment of criminals is society's implicit confession of failure; it is neither retributive nor reformative, for it merely makes the subject worse without making a anything else better. And, likewise, punishment of children is a confession that the parents' moral authority and intellectual power are not adequate to cope with the satisfactory shaping of a small human.

We have yet to learn how to rear people in an atmosphere that can channel their aggressive instincts into creative and productive paths. As long as we have to exhibit parental aggression to curb childish aggression, the only lesson they will learn is that aggression works, — if you are strong enough, big enough, and fierce enough to get away with it.

Czechs Retain Their Reforms

From AP-Reuters

BRATISLAVA (CP) — Czechoslovakia's liberal leaders and their orthodox Communist critics agreed today on a declaration of principles that will permit the Czechoslovak liberalization to continue, unofficial sources reported.

Leaders of the Communist parties of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia agreed on the declaration in a meeting lasting a little more than two hours in this capital of Slovakia.

The sources said the declaration deals with international questions in a general way and makes no specific mention of this country's liberal course.

The party leaders were scheduled to sign it at the city hall this afternoon.

There were no security precautions during the ceremony and the party leaders, including Leonid Brezhnev of Russia, mingled freely with the crowds.

There were shouts of "Long live friendship with the Soviet Union" and "Long live Dubcek." The latter was a reference to Alexander Dubcek, the reformist chief of the Czechoslovak party.

As the meeting took place, the Czechoslovak defence ministry announced that the last Soviet troops that took part in the Joys Warsaw pact maneuvres pulled out of Czechoslovakia today.

The Czech nation hoped details of the deal worked out this week with the Russians will be made public and that it would end fears of the Czechoslovak liberal program ending, and Russia stationing troops permanently on Czech soil.

The deal was hammered out in four days of almost a round-the-clock bargaining between Prague's reformist leaders and the Russians at Cierna Nad Tisou near the Slovakian-Russian border.

It seems clear the Czechoslovaks succeeded in dissuading the Russians from putting troops into Czechoslovakia to ensure Warsaw pact security.

But informed sources in Prague believed Dubcek had to make economic concessions in return—keeping the economy closely linked to Russia and abandoning calls for greater diversification.

Republicans See Two-man Contest

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The battle for the Republican presidential nomination is about to shift from arguments over polls and estimates to delegate strength to the personal impact of the two top contenders.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and former vice-president Richard Nixon are ready to present their individual credentials to the politicians and the impact they make could have more to do with the result than everything controversial that has gone before.

There is almost no serious thought among outlanders in this sweltering convention city that Gov. Ronald Reagan of California could wind up with the nomination.

The delegates will nominate their presidential candidate Wednesday night.

Part-time Workers Refused Insurance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

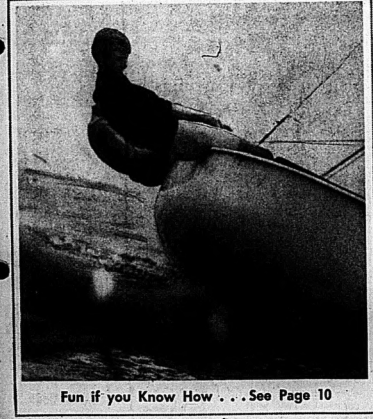
A dilemma apparently faces part-time postal workers hit by the national mail strike.

About 700 women working part-time for the post office in Toronto claim they have been refused unemployment benefits because they are not members of the postal union.

The postal strike, now in its 17th day, has affected about 2,000 part-time workers in the Toronto area alone.

In Montreal, more than 1,500 striking postal workers and their wives clustered Friday night when reminded of Sunday's resumption of talks to resolve the strike. The strikers were attending a union rally in an east-end arena.

Prime Minister Trudeau has scheduled a cabinet meeting for Tuesday, a day earlier than usual, causing speculation that a government move may be around the corner.



Jets May Face Radiation Hazard

MONTREAL (CP) — Radiation may be a hazard for supersonic airliners of the future, an aviation expert said Friday.

W. H. Scott, chairman of a newly-created international panel on supersonic transport operations, said airliners will fly at altitudes of more than 50,000 feet.

He told a news conference the Anglo-French Concorde is expected to cruise at 50,000 feet and other supersonic aircraft may fly at higher altitudes.

"On-board radiation detection devices may be necessary," said Mr. Scott, an Australian member of the panel, adding that airliners simply would have to fly at lower altitudes while travelling through hazardous areas.

U.S. Cruiser's Debris Is Found

By ELMER BONTER

TRENTON — Hope for the survival of a Trenton couple, who left Brighton Wednesday morning for a trip across Lake Ontario with American friends, waned here yesterday with the recovery of a woman's body, 10 miles north of Oswego, N.Y.

The woman, not immediately identified, was believed to have been one of the four persons aboard the 36-foot American-owned cabin cruiser La Dolce Vita, which had been overdue at Rochester.

The boat which left Fearnall's Rescue from Trenton joined in Marina on Brighton Bay, was the hunt. The search by Canadreported to have been carrying its owner, Arthur Patterson of Garrison, N.Y., his wife, and two Canadian friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Flindall of Edward Street, Trenton.

The United States Coast Guard said the woman's body was found in Lake Ontario eight miles north of Fairhaven, N.Y., and west of where debris was found earlier that has been identified as belonging to the cabin cruiser.

The debris, which included several lifebelts, was spotted about 10 miles northwest of Oswego in deep water.

The search for the missing boat got underway when one of Mr. Flindall's brothers in the Brighton area became alarmed when the boat was overdue at Rochester.

Hercules On Way To Biafra

The aircraft was loaded with more than 23,000 pounds of Nova Scotia dried cod fish, purchased by the federal government from plants throughout the province under an agreement to take 227 tons of fish.

Before its arrival at Shearwater, the plane had loaded more than 4,000 pounds of medical supplies in Ottawa. The aircraft is scheduled to arrive in Lagos, Nigeria, Monday afternoon.

The shipment is part of $500,000 worth of food, drugs and medical supplies the Canadian government is sending as emergency relief to Biafra.

Talks On Strike 'Businesslike'

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Joint meetings are being conducted in a "businesslike mood" between officials of striking grain handlers and terminal elevators but final stages of the talks are not expected before the end of next week.

D. S. Tyrae, federal mediator in the dispute who was instrumental in bringing the two parties back to the negotiating table following a collapse in talks July 19, made the evaluation late Friday.

Airports Planned

OTTAWA — The federal Government will invest $200-million to $300-million over the next 15 to 25 years in Toronto — and a similar amount in Montreal — on a massive expansion of airport facilities for the two cities, Transport Minister Paul Hellyer announced yesterday.

Expansion at Toronto International Airport will begin with construction of a second terminal the size of the present one. Additional terminals and runways will likely be built later.

In Montreal a second terminal will be built at Dorval, but after that expansion will take the form of about three new civilian airports to serve the city.

Sirhan May Plead Partial Insanity

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's lawyer may rely on a little used and controversial defence tactic to try to reduce the penalty his client would face if convicted of killing Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

The 24-year-old Sirhan pleaded innocent to the murder charge Friday but lawyer Russell Parsons reserved the right to make new motions within 35 days.

Under California law, one option available is the defence of "diminished capacity," or partial insanity.

Szoboszloi Sues Trudeau

TORONTO (CP) — Now it's Szoboszloi vs. Trudeau.

Szoboszloi says he was assaulted and imprisoned falsely and illegally by guards at the Parliament buildings in Ottawa during the constitutional conference last February.

Szoboszloi said he went there to try to enlist support for his campaign to repeal the oath of allegiance to the Queen required from applicants for Canadian citizenship.

He did not file a claim for damages but specifically asks that the prime minister be named defendant in the suit.

The 52-year-old Hungarian immigrant drew attention in 1958 when he managed to get in Windsor law repealed that required men to wear shirts while sunbathing. And he has represented, by his own count, several hundred persons accused of traffic violations in Toronto.

Social Workers, Not Hippies, Irksome

MONTREAL (CP) — City Police Director Jean Gilbert said Friday, Montreal hippies are not a problem in themselves, but are being stirred up and pushed into things by the "so-called social agencies who work with them."

"Hippies are being organized," Mr. Gilbert said in an interview.

"They are pressured and pushed into doing things that put them in jeopardy. Instead of being helped by these people they are being used like guinea pigs."

Referring to recent accusations from various sources that the police force is trying to run the hippies out of town, he said: "I met with these people, these so-called social agency workers and professional adults in an attempt to put a stop to this problem, but it is very hard to deal with them.

"These organizations, including the civil liberties action committee, are completely antiauthority. They are extremely hostile to presently accepted norms of society.

"This police department is willing to go to any lengths to peacefully settle this misunderstanding with the hippies but up until now our initiative and good faith has been twisted around by these professional radicals."

Jaundice in Yorkville

TORONTO (CP) — Six volunteer doctors from two city hospitals moved into the midtown Yorkville coffee house district Friday night in an attempt to halt the spread of jaundice.

The doctors have set up a blood sample station in front of a Yorkville Avenue store.

In the last four weeks more than 50 cases of the disease, called hippie hepatitis by the city health department, have been reported. Yorkville is a gathering place for hippies.

No Holiday Here For City Police

Holiday weekend? Maybe! But not for the police if last night's reports are any indication.

"We got a little bit of everything," said Chief Douglas Crosbie this morning.

Sgt. H. K. Wright was assaulted by a man whom he had stopped for speeding at the intersection of Pinnacle and Station streets.

"He was hit in the chest and his tie was yanked off," said Chief Crosbie. Earl A. Thompson of Plainfield has been charged.

Also arrested and charged last night were three youths for wilful damage to municipal property. They were charged by city police after they damaged parking meters on Coleman Street.

He accepted a ride last night from an unknown person while on South Front St.

According to Chief Crosbie there were apparently two people in the car and after picking up Mr. Bell they robbed him of $45 and gave him a severe beating.

Mr. Bell was treated in Belleville General Hospital for cuts and abrasions and police are still investigating the matter.

On the less serious side, there were three minor accidents in the city last night, none of them causing an injury or extensive damage.

Workers Raise Big Top As Circus Plays Belleville

Circus Lives Up to Notice The Show Must Go On

It made an almost instant recovery and twice today its clowns, acrobats and trained animals will romp under the big top as if a problem never really existed.

The initial setback was caused by the site chosen for Kings presentation here by the city's Jaycees—a vacant land parcel at Sidney Street and Wilson Avenue.

Early this morning the circus wagons duly trundled onto the site and work crews scrambled to drive support stakes for the big top.

In earlier days, the area was known as the Catholic picnic grounds and was a regular destination for circuses.

However, these apparently located on a patch of shale long ago discovered by industry and now covered with warehouses and workshops.

But tradition says the show must go on and Bill Sheets, chief advance trouble-shooter for the circus, decided to stick with tradition.

He sent out for jack hammers.

With the decision, the site blossomed with activity. Canvas for the big top unfurled and placed in position, ready for anchoring to the stakes once the jack hammers had bored into the rock. The menagerie of circus animals was allowed into the open, and apparatus for erection of soft drink and side show booths was broken out.

After a brief delay, the circus was in business as usual.

Death of Cattle Probed

The Ontario Humane Society is investigating the death of eight young Holstein cattle discovered in an abandoned barn near Lakeport south of Colborne.

Twelve animals, owned by Ross Sheppard of Codrington, three heifers and nine steers, were found trapped in a stable alleyway without access to food or water. Eight of the cattle were dead and the others in a starved condition.

The cattle were discovered by two young Colborne area boys who went into the old barn to search for homing pigeons. They happened to look through cracks in the barn flooring and saw the animals below.

Provincial police were notified and later turned the investigation over to the Ontario Humane Society official William Hughes of Cobourg.

Dr. Cacman Davey, Port Hope veterinarian said the cattle had been confined in the barn about 10 days.

Mr. Sheppard used the 100-acre farm in the Lakeport area as summer pasture for his young cattle, and only periodically checked the animals during the summer.

Questioned yesterday, Mr. Sheppard said he had no idea that the cattle could obtain access to the barn.

One theory is that the cattle may have crowded into the stable alleyway and in some manner closed the door thus preventing their escape.

The bolt on the stable door was found in a closed position.

City Playground Activities

Special events held July 29 - Aug. 2:

Bayview Heights - a 'freshie' sale was held.

Fireball — a "Hippie Day" was held.

Harry J. Clarke — a "mock tabloid meet."

Queen Elizabeth — a "Play Day was held.

East Hill — "Big Toe Contest" in which children painted and decorated their own toes. A pet show was also held on this playground.

South George and West Hill— held separate Pet Shows.

CNR — Bicycle Decorating Contest; stuffed animal show which included a six foot cobra, a duck, a frog, a fish and many other animals.

King George — a cake raffle in which $14 was raised to be used for that playground. — a "Bike Day" which included races, decorating a "trike contest" and a candy scramble.

Throughout the week Black Diamond Cheese tours are scheduled for several of the playgrounds.

On Aug. 6 the final part of the Picton-Trenton-Belleville track meet will be held at OSD at 6:30 p.m. As of now Belleville is in the lead and although those competing are already chosen, support by the public for this tri-meet would be appreciated.

Aug. 9 a track and field meet will be held with the 21 city playgrounds competing — again at OSD. This is an all-day affair. In case of rain it will be held Aug. 12.

The annual arts and crafts display for playgrounds will be on Aug. 9 and 10 Friday night and Saturday. It will feature the work of children throughout the city. In previous years this event has been at the Recreation Centre. However, due to lack of public response in past years and through the generosity of D. Guerrera of "Adorn Hairstyling" it will be displayed in one of the Front St. stores. The public is welcome.

KING GEORGE

The children of King George Playground held their cake raffle today. A special prize was given to the person selling the most tickets. The winning person was Murray Mannan and the winner of the cake raffle was James Cavers.

They raised approximately $14.00. The money will be used to buy supplies needed for their Belleville Fair project, and also for tomorrow's Bike Day. Races, treasure scramples and a trike contest are a couple of the events listed for tomorrow. A prize will also be given for the best dressed bike.

AVONDALE

Tuesday afternoon we visited Black Diamond Cheese Company. Aboed 30 children received hats and cheese samples. A field day was held on Wednesday afternoon. Almost 40 children took part in the potato races, relays, obstacle course, freshie eats and bubble gum blowing contest. We attended a Penny Carnival at OISD the next afternoon and tried our skill at the different booths.

PARKDALE

This week was Indian Week. There was an Indian Arm-Wrestling Contest won by Bob Andrews. Teepees were made and there were Indian races. Indian Games were conducted in fromt and. The Parkdale Playground Fair Project, an authentic Indian Village was also made.

Postal Strikers Taking Holiday

It will even be a holiday weekend for the striking postal workers.

They're taking Monday off. And since they never picket on Sunday the strikers are getting two days in a row.

Although in major cities across Canada the postal workers are picketing 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, in Belleville the schedule is a little more relaxed.

They have three four hour shifts with 12 men on each shift. Six men at a time walk around the building while the other six take a break inside.

"We're only out for a half hour at a time," said one of the picketers this morning, "so it is not too bad."

Trenton, Kingston and other communities in the area will also be off on Monday.

What's Going On?

Contestants in a Picton talent night cutie contest were prepared for the show as carefully as any beauty queen. Not too sure that he likes all of the attention is young Scott Cooper. Parks worker Kathy Foster gives him a hand while Julie Ablards looks on.

Youngsters Are Tops At Parks

The two five-year-olds' competed yesterday with contestants from the six Picton and Camp Picton parks.

A cutie contest was held in conjunction with a recreation sponsored talent night, put on as part of parks week in Picton.

The event was a highlight of summer for the youngsters, but N is doubtful if they enjoyed the show as much as the 800 adults who packed themselves into Benson park.

Songs, dances, recitals and skits were put on for the admiring audience.

Parents showed their enthusiasm coming up after the show, to donate to a previously gathered silver collection.

Busy Prince Edward Flying Club Graduates 200 Pilots in 24 Months

PICTON (Staff) — While futures in aviation were once the brightest in the country, the outlook has become bleak.

Murray Clapp, chief instructor at the Prince Edward Flying Club, explained that the tremendous drain of aircraft and equipment to Vietnam has seriously affected flying, even in Canada.

With the settlement of the war, prospects will look up once again, but in the meantime it is difficult to find a position flying commercially, without experience.

However several students from the club have landed positions with Air Canada, others have gone on to even further flying education.

Courses offered here however are extensive. Both private and commercial licences can be obtained, as well as night and instructor ratings.

The private pilots licence demands some 35 hours of flying time, which must include at least 12 hours of dual, and 12 hours solo flying. While 20 hours of ground school are recommended by the government, usually 32 are taught at the club.

Rates are not as expensive as would be expected.

Private licence rates vary from $437. to $702.

Of that amount, $100. is immediately deductible through government subsidy. The remainder is 10 per cent deductible from the personal income tax.

The club offers three types of airplanes for instruction purposes. In addition to two Cherokee 140s', an Aerouca and a Cessena 172 are available.

The airfield itself has a varied background, going back long before the flying club set up quarters there.

Originally built in 1940 as air force training base, it was turned over in 1941 to the 'conversion squadron'.

American and French civilian flyers joining the RCAF to get into the war, were trained there.

The Royal Air Force, took up occupancy next, when the 31st Bombing and Gunnery School moved in.

After the war the field was used primarily for vehicle storage until in 1953 the flying club leased the grounds.

His background in flying closed the decision as to who should become chief instructor.

He served during the war years, from 1942 to 45, with the RCAF, joining the navy, in the fleet air arm, immediately after the war.

Although flying remained a prime interest, he returned to his original home, Picton, and farmed for eight years, until the club was formed.

In addition to Mr. Clapp, two other instructors and an engineer keep the club on course.

They are Vicki Radzmicki, the pretty young pilot that will put in appearances at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, Sandy Fraser, and engineer David McEwen.

Grounded - - for School!

Lessons on the ground are vital to what happens in the air. Here, Doug Townsend of Halloway and John Detlor, Picton, attend ground school as part of pilot's training.

Solo Flight Completed

Bottles and Paper

Clean Up Costly

Litter Expensive Luxury

By DONALD MACKENZIE
Staff Reporter

Hurrah for filth!

After all, what else can force the Ontario government to spend $700,000 to clean up the thousands of tons of garbage that tourists will leave behind as path markers on their summer journeys.

It also is a direct cause of many $50 fines under the Highway Traffic Act.

Paperpower has some good results — for instance, there are thousands of litter barrels placed on streets and roads across the country.

But if Canada spends $5,000,000 yearly to clean up the 2.5 billion bottles and jars that Canadians dispose of in a year "paper power" is still using its force to the wrong end.

Just Watch the refuse trail left down Canada's byways after the vacation trek reaches its peak this civic holiday.

According to the department of highways, thousands of tons of litter will be left strewn along holiday routes.

And in an attempt to keep the cost down the Ontario government has launched an anti-litter campaign.

But as proven year after year litter is a powerful enemy to combat and its going to take more than newspaper features and radio references to clean it out.

It is going to take people that care about how their tax dollar is spent.

It is going to take people that care about Canada.

Obstacle Course Gone But It Will Be Back

The West Bridge Street obstacle course, which for the past many weeks has slowed motorists to a crawl, was cleared yesterday but potholes and bumps will still prevent a traffic speed-up.

Snow fence barricades protecting excavations for storm sewers have been taken down and presumably will be full width again until street reconstruction commences.

The Tatham Company was the general contractor for the storm sewer installation.

Tenders for the reconstruction and paving of the West Bridge Street artery have been called for Aug. 7.

Prices on both asphalt and concrete paving are being asked and Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott has indicated the bids received will determine the type of pavement to be put down.

At the last council meeting the mayor noted that the Ontario department of highways would pay subsidy only on the lowest price.

Can You Top This? School Needs Roof!

School Additions at Trenton

TRENTON — Even in the summer Trenton schools are holding their own in the spotlight.

Extensive work is being done at two schools here.

For St. Mary's school it will be a $241,000 addition. Work will begin on Tuesday.

The Trenton Christian School is receiving a four - room addition which is currently in the construction stage.

Jack Stam, a board member said it will be a close race to have the addition finished by September.

Economy is the keynote in the construction. A surplus may be left over from the $60,000 budget. Much of this is attributed to free labor on the interior.

Currently two classrooms in the basement have been used to house pupils but these will be vacated when the addition is ready for occupancy.

The building at present is the awaiting of the roof for the unit. It was supposed to arrive on Tuesday of this week but has not appeared yet.

Its arrival is expected soon.

Mr. Stam said work should move more quickly when the roof is installed.

The Far North

Prime Minister Trudeau's Arctic tour will have opened the eyes of Canadians not only to the industrial potential of the far north, but also to its scenic beauty.

A Canadian Press report of his tour provided a fascinating insight into a vast region that would reward anyone on a visit. The text spoke of a "captivated Pierre Trudeau" enjoying the Arctic's dazzling ice fields, shimmering blue fiords and strolls, not to mention ferrain ablaze with wild flowers.

Outdoorsman that he is, Mr. Trudeau is reported eager to return to the north, perhaps in winter to have a spin on the ice by dog team for instance, and by renew contacts with northern administrators as well as with the native Eskimo population who evidently have a modern generation growing up who "swing" like their counterparts "outside."

The prime minister has a point when he says more Canadians should go north instead of south to the United States or overseas. They need not expect southern comforts and they might as well avoid places like Inuvik and Prohibitive Bay which the CP writer described as "the grimmest" (not to mention, significantly, the largest) communities on the tour.

Rather, they might see those carpets of wild flowers and majestic fiords and come away refreshed and renewed as never before. They might see too a vision of the north as the Canada of the future.

Focus on Bancroft

It is good to see that Bancroft's "Gemborle" is still flourishing. Next week, to be exact, the mineral-rich northern Hastings area will be the mecca for rockhounds from near and far.

The Laurentian Shield country has long been the focus of gem collectors. The raw stone is there in abundance. Cutting and polishing creates the finished product.

Next week's event recalls the events of a few years ago when our customs laws came into collision with what otherwise was a cordial international event. Stones being exhibited and exchanged by United States visitors came under police scrutiny. The result: hard feelings among the visiting Americans and embarrassment for the organizers.

Presumably the regulations in this regard are now understood by all. Any repetition of such incidents would be as unwelcome as they are unnecessary.

Niagara Feat

Like the people of Quebec and Hawaii, Latin Canadians can boast some rare racial strains. The British Isles and virtually all the countries of Europe are wrapped up in the population of the southern half of this continent, from Mexico to Argentina.

The founder of the Argentine navy for instance was a Scot called Brown, and a former Mexican ambassador to Britain rejoiced in the name of O'Farrell. Now, from Hamilton, comes a report of a remarkable young man called Niels Thomsen. He is a Mexican national but his father is a Dane.

Aged 19, Thomsen was being held by police on suspicion of having entered Canada illegally from the United States. Immigration officials and police were incredulous at first, but they later admitted Thomsen's claim that he had swum the turbulent Niagara river under the Rainbow Bridge was likely true.

The 19-year-old youth said he "had spent about five hours battling his way through the rapids and rocks and that he had emerged trembling from the ordeal. He also said he had entered the United States in October by swimming the Rio Grande between Mexico and Texas.

Thomsen, arrested by a policeman who stopped to question him on a road 20 miles from Niagara Falls, finished third in the Mexican Olympic trials for the 400-metre crawl two years ago. It all adds up. When you are young and adventurous and can swim like that, anything is possible.

Dental Facility

The award of a $10,025 grant to Belleville General Hospital focuses attention on an interesting new facet of the hospital's service to patients.

We refer to the proposed dental suite which under the supervision of a combined medical-dental team will provide treatment for patients who for various reasons could not obtain dental care in the ordinary way.

The grant is from the Atkinson Charitable Foundation and it will enable the hospital to purchase special equipment for the dental service. This additional facility is part of the modern hospital concept of total medical care. This and other facilities of the fine new hospital building will put Belleville in the forefront of medical care in Canada.

Mail Strike Fails to Spark Leader of the Opposition

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Could be the contrast seems to make it worse — or better — then it really is.

That seems to be the impression on your personnel opinion as to now the leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition should look and sound.

This very responsibility has been the big Conservative pitch ever since the day party president Dalton Camp and the self-styled intellectuals among the Tory parliamentarians decided to dump Diefenbaker.

But while "Responsible Robert" may look the part of a prime minister of sweet reason, it's not all that easy to know how he sounds.

For he is so silent.

And when, over so quickly, he breaks — the word "bombs" is the more accurate for it — the silence, it still isn't any less difficult to tell what the sort sound of the man actually is.

Because he just doesn't say.

He takes no position, makes no stand.

Not even on such a clear-cut situation as paralysis of the postal services.

He achieved the impossible the other day at a press conference, his first full-dress question and answer session with newspapermen, radio and TV representatives since the election.

He discussed, for nearly 30 minutes, the mail strike, and managed to say nothing.

Parliament would have to act "before long", but whether he judged that span of time to be a day, week, or month, he wouldn't say.

The closest he came was to equate the postal workers' "right to strike" with the public's "right to mail service."

And when the postal strike's "damage to the economy and the inconvenience and hardship to the public" were alluded to, he called the critical point of being "intolerable and unjustifiable" — then he hastily added, indefinite "before long" might have elapsed and Government action, even Parliamentary legislation be required.

It sounded like settlement by exhaustion.

He seemed to be balancing the rights of 24,000 Civil Servants with the rights of 20,000,000 taxpayers.

What sort of scales he might be employing he wouldn't say.

How different the Stanfield approach, careful, paper - cautious, non-committal, to the headlong, headstrong, head-on Diefenbaker decisive-ness.

Only yesterday it was Opposition by damnation and denunciation. Now by reason and reason.

Only yesterday it was Opposition by damnation and denunciation. Now by reason and reason.

To those who like the Stanfield style, this is responsibility.

But can it go too far?

Or as for one way as it went the other?

So far the responsibility becomes irresponsibility.

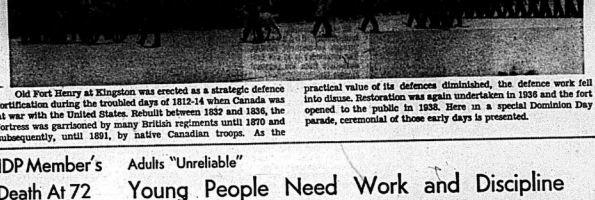
For so dedicated a pleader of the parliamentary peace as former Prime Minister Pearson, the diplomats' diplomat, has said the Opposition's over-riding responsibility is opposition.

Up to now, opposition leader Stanfield has opposed nothing Prime Minister Trudeau has proposed.

He hasn't opposed, he has explained, because in an situation where he might have questioned the Prime Minister's wisdom and the Government's decisions, he has he had "all the facts."

In the one instance where he managed to take a stance that could be said to even hint of opposition, he actually didn't have the facts.

Until he's been straight, that is.



He allowed, more in sorrow than in anger, that the Government may have been a little too "casual" in handling the mail strike. But two weeks after had been made until two days after it began.

The fact is — and he should have known it — the wage offer was made two days before the strike started.

Which raises the question as to who left Robert Stanfield before a press conference, and who advised him to hold casual or not to hold it at all. That is nothing to say.

The Opposition Leader is in sore need of a press secretary, or an executive assistant clued in on communication.

And that, on the heels of the way he has looked and sounded to an incredulous number of concerned Conservatives, could be the least of his dire needs.

Old Fort Henry at Kingston was erected as a strategic defence fortification during the troubled days of 1812-14 when Canada was at war with the United States. Rebuilt between 1832 and 1836, the fortress was garrisoned by many British regiments until 1870 and subsequently, until 1891, by native Canadian troops. As the practical value of its defences diminished, the defence work fell into disuse. Restoration was again undertaken in 1936 and the fort opened to the public in 1938. Here in a special Dominion Day parade, ceremonial of those early days is presented.

Irish nationalist Sir Roger Casement was hanged in London, England after being convicted of treason 32 years ago today—in 1964.

Casement, knighted in 1911, had been a British consular agent. He moved to Ireland before the war and published anti-British pamphlets, tried to form a rebel brigade, and solicited American and German support. He was landed in Ireland by a German submarine to take part in the Easter uprising in 1916 but was captured.

1830—The July revolution in France ended.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—Allies drove the Germans across the Vesle River as they advanced on a 30-mile front, forcing the surrender of Hamel and Dernancourt; the Ambulance ship Warilda was torpedoed and sunk near a British port with 123 drowned.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—Allies drove German defenders out of the Mount Etna line onto the Catania plain; American forces reached the east coast of Japanese base at Munda while Allied planes bombed the New Guinea-New Britain area; in the South Pacific; about 20,000 aircraft workers in Montreal's three largest war plants went on strike for a retroactive cost-of-living bonus.

On the fourth anniversary of the war, American forces took Plateau and crossed the Vesle River, helping clear German troops out of the Reims-Soissons sector; it was reported that about 40,000 prisoners had been taken in the long action along the Marne front.

Second World War

Canadian, American and British troops pushed towards coastal Sicily while American bombers attacked Naples on the mainland; Russian forces smashed into Orel as German radio announced the abandonment of the city; United States forces encircled the Japanese garrison defending the air base at Munda in the South Pacific; the Canadian government closed strikebuilt Montreal aircraft plants.

NDP Member's Death At 72

Montreal Star

Colin Cameron's death at 72 deprives not only the New Democrats but parliament of a fine, humane member whose quality carried him above party. He was not widely known nationally but he served his country with distinction both in the British Columbia legislature and in the house of commons from 1953 onward. He was more CCF than NDP and he stood in the tradition of Woodsworth and Coldwell: his outlook marked by an abiding and genuine concern for the individual.

Adults "Unreliable"

Young People Need Work and Discipline

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The youth of the day appear spoiled from the cradle, and those persons responsible are not the only ones paying for it. Those with their instinctive drive trained or still intact, work and play, and, in consequence, progress and enjoy. The rest, with lazy quitters and social climbers as parents and thus with no guidance, enjoy only the attention of misguided do-gooders who are after publicity or self-satisfaction.

A restaurant on Front Street! Result? A few young people of the type who were previously employed and never would normally be found unemployed are taken from their other pursuits to be taught the beauties of silver-spoon charity. When the projects fail the adults make sure of their publicity and lose the youth who merely learn that adults are not reliable partners.

The obvious point being that the youth who want work will find it, and those whose parents have not taught them the habit nor the need, will continue to loaf. Any ambitious youth can make work in a dozen fields.

As to entertainment; a dance never was required as a weekly event. If it be necessary then the same necessity had best produce the ambition to pay for it. The current concerts on the Island do provide activity for abandoned, and unimaginative children. Much of the quality is poor. It is apparent that this could be aided by some guidance in the use of amplifiers. This equipment could be used to feature musicians in the group alternately. The past two weeks have given us afternoon concerts showing a surprising lack of talent over-shadowed by "draw" games of, see-who-has-the-strongest-amplifier. The exception was The Sands of Time — a group showing some talent and considerable showmanship.

The crime of the day is the parental tendency to shun all responsibility toward the offspring. Parents are too self-centred, complacent and lazy to teach the necessity for obedience. They delay the lessons until the time when extra police to teach it. Many children never feel real restraint until they are out of their teens. The time to teach obedience begins when the child is born. By the age of 18 months a normal baby has learned how far he can go in running his parents. If order is not enforced then, it becomes increasingly difficult. By 6 years it is probably too late. People fear the loss of love and the fostering of inhibitions. Parental strength is respected and loved by children and most of the inhibitions come from bad parental examples. The mature person knows that his freedom results from discipline.

Democratic Party's Dilemma

Presidential Running Mate Vital in Quest for Votes

By KEN PRITCHARD

NEW YORK (CP)—Months before the Nov. 5 United States general election, and even before the major political parties have picked their candidates for president, speculation is heavy about vice-presidential choices.

The reason is clear. The vice-presidential candidate has become a vital part of the balanced party ticket designed to appeal to the widest possible range of voters.

When a Republican or Democratic convention has picked its candidate for president, it then leaves to his nominee wants as his vice-presidential running mate. Approval is virtually automatic.

The late John F. Kennedy gave new importance to the vice-presidential role in 1960 when he picked Lyndon B. Johnson, a major Democratic party figure, and squeaked through to victory over Republican Richard Nixon.

Johnson's task was to retain the South for the Democrats, against Nixon's distinguished running mate that year—Henry Cabot Lodge. But Lodge, who made his name as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, lacked the political base to enable him to match Johnson in vote-gathering.

John was a became president after President. Kennedy was assassinated in 1963. In the 1964 election, Johnson picked Robert H. Humphrey to run with him. They pinned an overwhelming defeat on Republicans Barry Goldwater and little-known William Miller of Lockport, N.Y.

Now Johnson has announced he won't run again and Humphrey is favored to get the Democratic presidential nomination late next month in Chicago.

But even before he is nominated, Humphrey's election prospects have been dealt a blow by Senator Edward Kennedy's announcement last week that for personal reasons he would not be part of any presidential ticket in November.

The Democratic Massachusetts senator had good cause for staying out. He is the sole survivor of the Kennedy brothers since Senator Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated in Los Angeles early in June. Robert Kennedy, of New York, had been a major rival of Humphrey for the party nomination, with his campaign based on opposition to the Vietnam and other policies of the Johnson-Humphrey administration.

Edward Kennedy's decision appears to project Senator Eugene McCarthy, now Humphrey's main challenge for consideration as Humphrey's running mate if the latter gets the party's nod. But could McCarthy, also super-critical of Johnson-Humphrey policies, link arms with Humphrey in violation of his own advocacy of idealism in politics?

In addition, both Humphrey and McCarthy are from Minnesota. Democratic strategists they would hardly have the U.S.-wide vote-pulling power so earnestly desired.

The Democrats, in fact, will be hard pressed to find for either Humphrey or McCarthy a running mate who has big-city or big-state appeal. Most of the major-state governors and big-city mayors with chances are Republicans.

The main contenders for the Republican presidential nomination are Nixon, who is favored, and New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller. If either is picked he will have an abundance of talent from which to choose a vice-presidential mate, ranging across the political spectrum from right to left. They include Governor Ronald Reagan of California, Governor George Romney of Michigan, former governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania and Mayor John Lindsay of New York, although the mayor has said he is not interested.

Senator Charles Percy of Illinois appeared to be an excellent possibility to fill Nixon's quest for a man who could carry key states. But last week he endorsed Rockefeller.

London Bridge Is Coming Down

Anglican bishops from around the world have assembled for the Lambeth conference. One of the unusual sights they can see in London Town is the dismantling of famous London Bridge. It is coming down stone by stone while a new bridge is being erected at the same time. The outer granite blocks of the old bridge, built in 1831, are going to Lake Havasu City in Arizona, where they will be reassembled to a design identical in appearance, if not in size, to the original bridge. Archbishop Urges His Fellows To Forego A Meal for Hungry

LONDON (CP) — Amid the glitter of a lord mayor's reception in London's gothic Guildhall, the Archbishop of Canterbury urged his fellow Anglican bishops Thursday night to give up one meal next week and donate the money to feed the world's hungry.

Most Rev. Michael Ramsey told the lord mayor, Sir Gilbert Inglefield, that the day chosen for the fast was Friday, Aug. 8.

The 460 bishops attending the worldwide Anglican communion's Lambeth conference were asked to sacrifice their mid-day meal that day and give whatever they would have spent on it to the lord mayor's "War on Want" appeal.

The bishops have been under fire from some critics for lush living in their spare time. Largely to blame was a tight-hearted guide to London life put out by the Anglican church information office here, in which overseas bishops were recommended to eat at such expensive and exclusive eating spots as Claridge's Causerie—"the place to take la-dies."

Also tipped for episcopal eating were l'Etoile, which the guide admitted was one of London's most expensive restaurants; Cher Solange near Leicester Square, with its "ludicrously large helpings," and a small Knightsbridge bistro where the bishops were advised to have wood-pigeon in wine.

Author George Target, attacking what he called the "James Bond bishops" on a radio interview, said this was "belching in the face of hunger." The Archbishop of York, Dr. Donald Coggan, agreed the guide was a "major public relations clanger" and the Archbishop of Canterbury was reported angry about it.

In fact, many bishops take the self-service lunch provided by the conference, said Bt. Rev. Ralph Dean, bishop of the British Columbia diocese of Cariboo. He is conference organizer.

But he added with a grin that if any lunched at the Savoy, that would mean more money donated on the fast day.

Presbyterians and Congregationalists To Form United Church in Britain

LONDON (AP)—Two of Britain's Protestant churches moved closer together when the Presbyterian Church and the Congregationalist Church voted, at their assemblies in May for union by 1970.

The new United Church, as it will be called, is expected to have nearly 300,000 members with 1,500 ministers serving in 600 churches throughout England and Wales.

However, in approving unanimously, the assemblies decided that the new church will not be established until after the decisions about the form of church government as it affects a single pattern of eldership and the diaconate should be left until later.

Other churches of the two denominations before final acceptance, which is expected in 1970 with ratification following a year later.

The grouping together of Congregationalists and Presbyterians in the new United Church will mark the first occasion on which union is achieved between historically separated churches in this country. But the Church of England and the Methodists are discussing union, too.

There are about 260,000 Congregationalists in England and Wales. Presbyterians number under 40,000, although there are many more in Scotland and Northern Ireland, who are not affected by the present merger.

The laity is expected to be given an important role in the United Church, presiding at holy communion when necessary. Men and women will be strictly equal, with women also eligible for the ministry. Local churches will have lay elders chosen by the church to share in preaching and pastoral work.

The United Church will consider itself in communion with other Christian churches and welcome all Christians to holy communion.

It will be organized into 11 provincial synods, each presided over by a moderator, and governed by its annual general assembly.

Civil Liberties Union Defends the Unpopular

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) —A senator campaigning for a U.S. presidential nomination is slain, and the American Civil Liberties Union promptly goes to the aid of the accused.

A famed baby doctor is accused of conspiracy to counsel violation of the U.S. draft law. The ACLU involves itself.

A teacher is charged with violating a state law forbidding the teaching of evolution. The ACLU involves itself.

For 46 years, the ACLU has been embroiling itself as a self-appointed defender of the American Bill of Rights.

Controversy has nurtured the organization which now claims a national membership of 125,00 and operates on an annual budget of $2,200,00.

It was proposed, among many other things, that the ACLU condone "violations of an admittedly valid law as a method of expressing political or social opinion."

Holding that the present U.S. Selective Service law as now administered and in present circumstances "is a violation of civil liberties and constitutional guarantees," the Ann Arbor conference said the ACLU "should act to oppose the present draft law in the judicial, legislative and public arenas." The vote was 100 to 20.

Another resolution proposed a government subsidy for public broadcasting "to foster diversity on the airways," and another advocated "a guaranteed income as a matter of right," in lieu of the present welfare system.

Whether these recommendations become national policy rests with the union's 80-member board of directors, which may adopt or reject conference actions, despite the fact this organization has battled for a "one-man, one-vote" principle in the public realm.

In the great majority of suits in which it imposes itself, the ACLU does so as a "friend of the court" and limits itself to defence of the accused's constitutional rights.

"Parian" or "Carrara" Marble-like Porcelain

No Victorian what-not was complete unless it displayed at least one piece of "Parian." The marble of the island of Paros was noted for its beauty and "Parian" was the name given by Minton to their marble-like porcelain. The first pieces in this ware began to appear in the 1840's in England. Copeland and Garrett, (in Joseph Spode's factory), were the first to produce "statuary porcelain". Wedgwood called the same thing "Carrara" after Carrara marble. "Parian" was the name that stuck.

The majority of Parian appears white and unglazed although it is finished in a soft, non-glossy glaze, pleasant to the touch. "Belleek" is classified as a form of Parian that is highly glazed. Originally made in Fermanagh County, Ireland, this paper-thin porcelain has been copied by many other firms. It is still being produced in Ireland.

Early Belleek may be marked with a harp with a crown above; or a hound, harp and tower and the name "Belleek". After 1891 the word "Ireland" or "Eire" or "Made in Ireland" were added. Ott and Brewer Co. of Trenton, N.J. copied Belleek in 1882. Their mark was a crown and wreath or a crescent or the mark "O & B" and the firm name. In 1894 Cook Pottery took over the firm and used a mark with three feathers and the word "Etruria".

Willet Manufacturing used a serpent in the form of a "W" and "Belleek", American Art China used "H.E. Co/China/Trenton" within a circle. The Ceramic Art Company used an artist's palette with "CAC". The Columbian Art Company used a shield with an "M" and "W" and "Belleek" and a ribbon scroll with the words "Trenton N.J.". Lenox Inc., who still make fine china, made Belleek from 1906 to about 1917, although pieces were made personally by Walter Scott Lenox exist from an earlier date.

The marble-like appearance of Parian pre-dates Belleek by at least 15 years. Between 1850 and 1900 Parian was at the height of its popularity. The most noted sculpture of the day was reproduced in Parian. It was generally believed that Parian copies of works of art improved artistic taste and it was a sign of cultural sensibility to display Parian statuettes. Various art unions promoted this idea by lottery. Their advertisements appeared in Canada and many Canadians bought chances on Parian prizes in art lotteries.

The earliest subject matter was generally statuary reduced by machine to an exact scale copy of the original. The name of the machine patented by Benjamin Harris Brayton, sometimes appears on pieces reduced by his process.

The decorative application of Parian was painstaking. Including shrinking during firing, and highly skilled assembling of those castings made in moulds. Almost all of the finished pieces are in a soft marble-like white color. Some vases are found with applied raised decoration or applied fruit, flowers or leaves.

Parian figurines made in one of the most popular collectors items. It retails now for the best part of $20 and can probably made in the United States. The Bennington pottery made a fine figurine and started copying English designs. This was shortly abandoned for their own designs of which the hand vase is probably one.

British firms made many pieces especially for the Canadian market. The statuette of Edward Hanlan of Toronto issued after his rowing victory of 1880 is one. Sir John A. Macdonald issued a few years later, is another.

White – Bateman

MR. AND MRS. VICTOR J. WHITE

St. Thomas Anglican Church, Belleville, was the scene of the recent wedding when Archdeacon A. S. McConnell united in marriage Ann Blanche Bateman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edgar Bateman of Belleville, to Victor James White Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor James White, of Belleville. Mr. S. Alec Gordon played the wedding music and Ronald D. Robertson was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white alencon lace and organza over taffeta, with pale blue taffeta sash crossing in front and falling into two panniers at the back. The fitted lace bodice had a scalloped picture neckline and short sleeves, while the full organza skirt fell into a chapel train. Her three tiered elbow length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Heather Grant, Belleville, acted as maid of honor, and Mrs. John Bateman, also of Belleville and Mrs. Charles Bateman, Montreal, sisters-in-law of the bride and Miss Susan Walsh of Pleasantville, N.Y., were the other attendants. All were gowned in sleeveless dresses, each in a different rainbow hue of daffodil yellow, mint green, ginger pink and powder blue. In the front, each dress featured a yoke top with a flower trim at the bodice seam and the skirt falling loosely to the floor. The back of each dress was trimmed with self-covered buttons to mid back where it was gathered for a train effect. Each attendant wore a picture hat with a crown of the same fabric and color as her gown; they carried cascade bouquets of baby carnations in rainbow hues.

Miss Johnson Bateman, Belleville, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a floor length dress of white dotted swiss with a light blue trim and a small pearl crown trimmed with light blue. She carried a nosegay of baby carnations in rainbow hues, also. Master David Bateman, Montreal, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

Attending the bridegroom was Martin Bakker, of Hamilton. The ushers were John Bateman, Belleville and Dr. Charles Bateman, Montreal, brothers of the bride and Richard Nicholson, Oshawa, cousin of the bridegroom.

Following the church ceremony, a reception was held at the Sun Valley Motor Inn. The mother of the bride received the guests wearing a rose colored antique silk shantung dress with light beige and a corsage of gardenias. The mother of the bridegroom assisted wearing a navy blue dress of Chantilly lace and chiffon with a navy and white flowered hat, white accessories and a purse corsage of gardenias.

For the wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride chose a navy blue linen dress and jacket ensemble, a matching organza hat with white accessories and gardenia corsage. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Toronto.

Real Cause of Divorces—"Possessive Women"

TORONTO (CP) — Diane Dufort, a 41-23-36 blonde, has a theory about the cause of divorces.

She should know. As a bartender at the Constellation Hotel, the 28-year-old buxom miss hears more than enough problems from her male customers to form a basis for her opinion.

Canadian women, she thinks, are "too possessive."

"That's why there are so many divorces," she says.

The Montreal-born former bunny girl mixes drinks for 300 to 400 men daily, some of whom were astounded to see her behind the bar.

They soon accepted her, though, and began bending her ear to their difficulties.

"I'm one of the boys. In a way," she says. "They tell me their problems, problems they wouldn't tell their wives."

"They call me untouchable: Look, but don't touch. People get the idea that because you're a bunny girl, you're loose. That's not true. Guys think they can date me but they find out fast enough."

And, as a note of discouragement to any would-be Romeos, her hobbies include weight-lifting and judo.

Another blonde bartender, also 28, keeps an eye in eye with Diane's theory of women's possessiveness, but shares her feelings on dating customers.

A third girl in the bartenders' female fraternity who works under the name of Merry Mary, has two rules of thumb.

"I never date my customers, and I never date the hotel staff. I keep the customers longer this way."

During bar hours, her relationship with the patrons is unusual. She teases them all and they love it.

"They're so used to me. and I'm so used to their temperaments. This is the only place where they can get yelled at and leave."

Grandmother Still "Lively"

TORONTO (CP) — Mary Solnick, the grandmother declared dead nine months ago, is still alive and soon will celebrate her 80th birthday.

She is unsure of events of last Oct. 21 when she got up as usual, cooked her own porridge, lay down on the living room sofa for a little sleep and woke up four days later in hospital.

Shortly before noon Oct. 21 a relative concerned about her condition called police. Coroner Dr. Elie Cohen arrived about 3 p.m., declared her dead and signed a death certificate. He pulled a comforter over her head.

While her children waited for funeral attendants to arrive, a son John, 42, noticed the comforter "moving up and down". An ambulance rushed her to hospital.

Acting chief coroner Dr. Fred Cruickshank explained that elderly patients with heart conditions often become hypothermic. The temperature drops and the breathing apparently stops. In some cases the heart beat can be detected only in the brain.

Mrs. Solnick left hospital Nov. 10 and since then has been just taking it easy. She came to Canada from the Ukraine 53 years ago and still cooks Ukrainian dishes for her family of five children and seven grandchildren.

Miss Marilyn Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark, of Consecon, graduated on July 26, from the Nightingale School of Nursing, Toronto. Miss Clark, attended B.C.I. and will be on the staff at Wellesley Hospital, Toronto.

Outing Ideas Are Great—Everyone Can Come

By DORIS CLARK

"All aboard! Is everyone here? Let's have a roll call!" And we did. Annie and Oscar were missing but a few inquiries soon accounted for them. And so in the time at all 50 excited, happily expectant CCB members and their friends climbed (the short ones were literally hoisted) aboard a 48 seating capacity bus; bound for Port Stanley, a lake port and popular summer resort.

This wasn't a "trip to nowhere" project; this time they knew where they were going and what they would do when they got there. It was to be a fish fry.

Closely, with rain later in the afternoon; temperature a high of 62, was the weatherman's forecast. He was partly right, but nothing could dampen the high spirits and gaiety of that rollicking crowd as they sang their way to the anticipated treat awaiting them at the end of their 28 mile ride.

DORIS CLARK

The More We Are Together, Let Me Call You Sweetheart, Peggy O'Neill, sounded as if they are coming from a hundred throats instead of 50. Someone suggested, "Why don't we sing something modern — like When You And I Were Young, Maggie?" And, uproariously, they did.

Then the bus stopped; we were there. The predicted rain turned out to be a few drops between which we dodged as we made our way into the auditorium where the Port Stanley United Church Women were swalling us. Dinner was to be served at 5.30 and it wasn't quite ready. It wasn't ready because the fish were to be delivered at 5.15 in order that we might have it piping hot and at the peak of flavor.

And with it went tomato juice, scalloped potatoes, mixed vegetables, homemade chili sauce and pickles, buttered soy bean rolls, homemade lemon and cherry pies. And one two, three extra servings were offered if one wished for, or could possibly eat, more than the first large plateful. Are you drooling? If not, surely there must be something lacking in your gastronomical gastric? What food! What cooks! What hospitality!

And for us it was a lot of fun, with increased enrichment of the fellowship we already enjoyed.

Why don't you undertake such an outing? "Most of our members are too old"; do you say? A number of our young ever-eighties enjoyed it immensely. Now is the time. You can find the place. Have fun: fish fries are really wonderful. But if fish is not your dish, how about roast beef? A little imagination helps a lot. — Sadie Brooks Bending, in CCB Outlook.

Dear Sadie: Who wouldn't drool? Here's a super idea, not only for branch members of Canadian Council of the Blind, but for seniors' clubs, juniors' clubs, and in-betweens.

* * *

Dear Doris: I am a 15-year-old girl who has just recently begun to be interested in boys and vice versa.

(1) How does a girl refuse a date from a boy she does not wish to go out with? I hate to lie to him, but that's usually what I do to save hurting his feelings.

(2) How does a girl break up with a boy if I go around with a boy for about two weeks he decides he owns me. I don't want to go steady yet, but you can't tell a boy that. — Trapped.

Dear Trapped: (1) Tell him you are going to be busy. This doesn't mean, necessarily, another date; but a plan to study or get to bed early, or fix up a dress that needs a little repair. Then do it! (2) Say, yes, you can. Saying you don't want to go steady is the very best reason I can think of for keeping possession of yourself. Going steady at your age is for the birds.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Delicious Golden Salad Mould

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: A few years ago I clipped a recipe for a jellied carrot and pineapple salad. I have recently lost it and cannot remember the exact ingredients. I might add my family thought it delicious and I have carried it to many church suppers since I first clipped it. I hope you can help me. — Mrs. Donald E.

ANSWER: I do not know which jellied carrot and pineapple salad you mean, so I am giving you this one which has been a favorite here for many years. If it is not the one you refer to, I am sure you will like it just as well.

GOLDEN SALAD MOULD (Serves 10)

1 cup canned crushed pineapple, drained
2 packages lemon jelly powder
½ teaspoon salt (first amount)
¼ cup finely shredded or grated carrot
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water.
1 cup genuine mayonnaise
½ cup light cream or evaporated milk
½ teaspoon salt (second amount)
2 tablespoon grated onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup coarsely grated cucumber

Pineapple Layer: Drain pineapple before measuring. Add enough water to syrup to make 1¼ cups liquid. Heat to boiling and dissolve jelly-powder in this. Add ½ teaspoon salt and chill until partly congealed. Add carrots and pineapple. Turn into lightly oiled large mould, filling only half full, then chill.

Cucumber Layer: Dissove plain gelatin in cold water, then stir over hot water. Combine remaining ingredients. Add gelatin and blend well.

Dinner Menus

SATURDAY

MONDAY

(Civic Holiday Picnic)

If desired hot green (a very pale green is recommended). Pour over congealed pineapple layer and chill until firm. Unmould and garnish with salad greens attractively.

QUESTION: I would appreciate a recipe for a cabbage salad using oil. — Mrs. A. G.

ANSWER: CHOPPED CABBAGE SALAD (serves 12 — ½-cup measure scant) one hard green 6" diameter cabbage, chopped.

Dressing: 3 tablespoon oil, 1 tablespoon flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons boiling water, ½ teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon accent, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon celery salt(optional), 1 egg yolk, ½ cup cooking oil.

Trim, quarter and remove core from cabbage. Cut into strips and chop or put through grinder using knife with ⅜" holes. You should have 3 cups packed.

Press out excess liquid. Make Dressing by mixing together in saucepan the 1 tablespoon oil, flour, salt and sugar until blended. Then add boiling water until thick. Remove from heat. Mix together sugar, accent, mustard, pepper, celery salt (if used) and egg yolk. Stir a little of the hot mixture into it then return this to hot mixture and over high heat, stirring constantly, slowly, steadily add ½ cup oil until thick. Cool. Add all of this dressing to 8 cups ground (or chopped) cabbage.

A GIFT OF LEISURE

A letter should convey "a whiff of leisure." — The Royal Bank of Canada Monthly Letter.

* * *

"And the reason?"

"A letter from home — what else?" she laughs gayly. "From my sister-in-law, who lives the quietest of lives, who has troubles of her own, yet — when a letter comes from her, I at once take time from whatever I'm doing, light a cigarette and sit down — for I know I'm in for a moment of pure enjoyment.

"But what is her secret?"

"I'm certain she would deny having one. But, somehow, wherever she writes of meeting a new friend, some new recipe for tarts she has baked, a new dress she's making, she makes me feel she's written because she knows I enjoy hearing about that, and writes about it then and there and sends it off to me. As if it were special. Just commonplace things, I grant you, about events of her day. But family things, dear to us both, which she shares with me. She has really done more than anyone in our family circle to draw us closer together, by her chatty, gossipy pleasant letters. They bring a calm in these restless days.

* * *

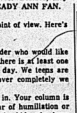
"Here is proof that letters do add to joys of life.

"Yes — and, what's more I should add, her handwriting is easy on the eyes — it does for a letter what a fine china cup does for a cup of hot tea. Makes it sort of elegant — a kind of bonus. Do you see — no wonder I'm in a mellow mood."

These intimate visits with dear ones on paper are said to supercede ammunition and food as far as a soldier's high morale is concerned. Mothers in war time are aware of this. The mother-in-law in Alice Miller's The White Cliffs knew their value, and refused to leave the bedside of the wounded for whom she was reading and writing letters from and to home, when news of her own son's death was brought to her.

We recall a Montreal mother of four boys who devoted without fail each Sunday writing to each, long chatty letters — just about homey everyday life the boys had left behind.

But no matter the circumstance, the place, the age, everyone answers the postmans ring with anticipation, hopeful that there "is some mail for me." Wrote Carlyle's wife, thanking him for a birthday note, "I wonder what letter was ever received with such gladdenness!"



* * *

Parents are warned that children should be encouraged to write little notes of thanks on their own without too much supervision, and not to be too concerned over such efforts as: "Dear Grandma: Thank you for the pin-cushion. I like it. I like it very much . . .", for a little tact and practice will in time win out.

Yes, a letter is truly an oasis in a desert of unrest, where, as has been said, one can lay the hour-glass on its side, so that the sands cease to flow.

Ann Landers

Two Points of View Given Re Problems

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For crying in the grog, will you please quit wasting valuable newspaper space on those squirrely teen-age "problems." The kids who write have a different beef every five minutes — especially the girls — they sound as if the world is coming to an end. I'll bet by the time their letters appear in print-they have forgotten who the clown was they were writing about.

In the past two weeks I've read nonsense from a sitter who complained about not getting fed while on the job, a boring thing from a girl whose parents fight all the time and a stupid request for a cure for acne. You've also printed letters from friends are shoplifters and smoke pot. Such letters should not get space in your column. It makes the writer feel important.

Please use your brains on the adults who need your help, Ann. The punks can manage for themselves. Besides, they probably don't listen to you anyway. — STEADY ANN FAN.

* * *

DEAR STEADY: Thanks for your point of view. Here's someone else's:

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a teen reader who would like to make a request. Please, Ann, make sure there is at least one teen-age problem in your column every day. We teens are faithful readers and when we get passed over completely we feel very let down, like ignored.

Many teen-agers have no one to confide in. Your column is a welldeyful place to unload without fear of humiliation or embarrassment. We also learn a lot from the kids who have made mistakes and written to say so. So please, Ann, pay more attention to us. We really need you. — TRUE BLUE TO YOU.

* * *

DEAR TRUE: I can't promise, but I will try to publish one teen-age letter every day. Thanks for your vote of confidence.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from the wife who complained because she and her husband must go visit her 79-year-old mother-in-law "several times a year." She said the old lady lives 140 miles away and the trips are a big, fat bore.

My mother-in-law lives two blocks away and she drives me and my husband nuts. She thinks nothing of telephoning at 7:30 in the morning and asking him to get her a pint of coffee cream or a loaf of bread. And no matter where she goes, he has to drive her.

I hope the woman who complained sees this letter and realizes how lucky she is. I'd be happy to go visit her mother-in-law "several time a year" if she'd play hand maiden to my mother-in-law around the clock. — WORN OUT.

* * *

DEAR WORN: Sorry I can't arrange the switch but thanks for writing.

BOQYC Junior Sailing Program Offers Sailing—Taught Right

By JERRY HOFF
Staff Reporter

Where do Canada's sporting sailors come from?

You see them everywhere in this land of lakes and rivers. And you see them in Olympic and other international competition. And just last week you saw them in the world's most prestigious inland lake race, the Freeman Cup.

But how do they become sailors? Do they just absorb it from their parents and acquaintances, read a book, learn it in school or college, or what?

The basic answer is that sailors are made, not born. It's true that almost everyone is born with an almost instinctive attraction to water (where there's water — mud puddle or lake or lawn sprinkler — you'll find kids), but it takes training to become a sailor — both experience on the dock and lectures on shore.

Two Belleville youths are dedicating this summer (and last) to training Bay of Quinte area youngsters in the art and sport of sailing.

Brian Domney, 19, and Anne Rickards, 17, both students, are the instructors of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club's Junior Sailing Program.

"We're here to make good sailors", Brian said. "We emphasize the basics because the basics are important to both the beginner and the expert. A good basic knowledge of sailing is the only way to enjoy the sport".

"It's the only safe way", Anne added. "I've seen kids whose parents let them have the boat' but who had no idea what to do once they were on their own. I've helped a couple of them off the shore where they were stuck and didn't have clue how to get either back to where they came from or to where they were going. It's a shame".

The Junior sailing program began at the Yacht Club in pre-World War II days, was interrupted by the war, then was regrouped after the conflict and put in its present form in 1957.

The course became affiliated with the Canadian Yachting Association in 1960 when the organization became concerned with the few courses actually offered interested young people.

The Belleville program is open to all. Parental membership in the Yacht Club is not required, although members' children are given preference in the program's enrolment of 40 for the month-long courses.

"We find that most of the time if the kids join, the parents end up joining the club," Anne said. "We've seen the program bring in quite a few new members. But we're not just looking for members," she added, "we're looking to help people learn about sailing the right way — say people."

The program has two courses during the summer —in July and August and registration is opened in the early spring.

A day in the classes goes like this: The kids arrive and are divided into groups under "Skippers," usually the instructors-in-training or more advanced and older students.

"We don't really get many lectures in," laughed Brian. "The kids want to be out in the boats. And that's really the best way to learn. You can't always learn something in a boat, and you can't afford not to pay attention, like you can on shore."

The afternoons are usually spent out on the bay racing, Brian explained. "A good racer is a good sailor", he said. "And the competition makes the kids more interested and enthusiastic".

The members of the Junior program are trying to raise money to increase their 'fleet' by offering to clean the topsides of members' or non-members' boats.

"We have to get some more boats somewhere", Brian said. "Now", Anne added, "we have five boats and 35 kids this month. That means seven in a boat if we tried to take everyone and that's illegal.

"So somebody has to stay on shore".

Which, as Brian and Anne and the program demonstrate, does not make for good sailors.

Brian Loads 'em In . . .

Brian Domney assigns boats and crews for the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club's junior sailing program in the harbor. The junior sailors have five Nordburg 14-ft. sloops to call their own.

An' Anne Takes 'em Out

Anne Rickards, Brian's assistant instructor, heads a pair of junior sailing program enrolees out to the bay and open water. The program requires beginners to wear life jackets in the boats, but wear 'em or not, all the boats are equipped with the familiar orange vests.

Charges of assaulting a hockey fan and his wife with a deadly weapon — a hockey stick — have former Montreal Canadiens coach "Toe" Blake and His forward Claude Provost facing the corridors of a Los Angeles courthouse, awaiting outcome of the case and damage suits of $665,000 hanging over their heads.

And a New York sports writer has tagged New York Jets star quarterback Joe Namath with a $310,000 writ which claims the playboy backfielder and two friends used him for a punching bag in a Manhattan bar.

Oddly enough, the guilt or innocence of the athletes concerned might not be in question had they not allowed themselves to be in situations where they might be accused.

The argument is similar in applicability if different in subject matter to that put forward by some during the Guinness Mystery affair. Canadian political life's darkest — and at the same time — lightest hour.

Granted, a politician's off-duty time is his own business, they said, but society, as a public figure, he must avoid like the pox situations in which his integrity might come in for embarrassing questioning.

For hasn't it been proven that many people can tell you who Maurice Richard is than Maurice Duplessis, or isn't it probable that more people admire Nancy Greene than Charlotte Whitton?

The Montreal hockey accused may have done nothing more than defend themselves against an overly-zealous hometown rooter. Then again, Mr. Blake never was known for his subtleties in dealing with people during the heat of hockey battle.

His numerous fines and suspensions for hot-headedness beyond the call of duty were bound to bring him grief sooner or later, and it looks like it was a "sooner" sight in Los Angeles.

Likewise, Joe Namath's million-dollar right hand might not have made the New York writhe in pain if he had been holding a football instead of a deadly weapon.

But the swashbuckling grid star wouldn't be on the receiving end of a law suit had he not been living up to his reputation as a frequenter of the hottest night spots on Manhattan's martini circuit.

It's tedious for any competitor to absorb the scorn of those that think an admission ticket bought him a monopoly on criticism.

Athletes at any level — they can be in the spotlight at the local ball diamond or hockey rink like big-time counterparts — must realize that their actions are under closer scrutiny than those of most members of the community.

Sometimes it involves developing a thick skin, sometimes it calls for turning the other cheek, but it can simply mean "keeping one's cool."

St. Catharines Stands

U.S. Takes 3 of 4 Spots In Canadian Henly Meet

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Strong United States crews pummined a additional hefty competition today in the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta after three days of the five-day meet left them in first, third and fourth places.

Only the host St. Catharines Rowing Club, in second spot, blocked the way Friday to U.S. domination of the meet.

Buffalo West Sides, who haven't won the points title since 1957, rolled up 85 points as top club after the gruelling 24-race program Friday.

St. Catharines had 78 points; Ecorse (Mich.) Boat Club was third with 40%; Minnesota (St. Paul) Boat Club, fourth, 39; Hamilton Leanders, fifth, 34; Toronto Argonauts, sixth, 30.

St. Catharines has won the Henley championship for the past seven years and was favored to win again.

But the rampaging New Yorkers grabbed the lead from the host club with an impressive victory in the junior 135-pound eights and added seconds in the junior 145-pound fours and junior 155-pound eights.

It was in strong contrast to Buffalo's showing last year, when West Sides finished in ninth place.

Another club that improved greatly over 1967 is Minnesota. Last year it ended 19th iwt Last year it ended 18th with 21½ points. Friday Minnesota was the only club to win more than one of the seven finals completed.

Richard Klecatsky and Howard Ostrem won the junior 145-pound doubles and their Minnesota's junior 145-pound fours also captured their final.

The Henley this year was extended to five days and combined with the Olympic rowing trials.

Canada's Olympic rowing coach Gerry Lienert asked two spares in the 12-man team that was named Thursday. They were Don Ulander and Lyle Gately of Vancouver, who finished second Thursday in the Olympic trials for pairs without cox.

Another Vancouverite, Roger Jackson, won the junior single finals Friday, edging Jack McNivan of Hamilton Leanders. Jackson also won the singles in Wednesday's Olympic trials.

A gold medal winner in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics in the doubles, the 26-year-old Jackson competed in the junior class because he had never won a Henley singles event. He will compete in this year's olympics at Mexico City.

$26,000 Stampede

Seven Within One at Western

CHICAGO (AP) — The chase for the $26,000 winning jackpot of the Western Open Golf Tournament is becoming a stampede.

Bobby Nichols, the 1964 PGA champion, and George Archer, this year's fourth leading money winner, swing into today's third round sharing the lead at 136, six strokes under Olympic Fields' battered par.

Archer matched the 66 by uncorking a four wood second shot that stopped inches from the cup for an eagle three on the long 18th hole.

Only three strokes back at 139 were Bert Yancey and Kermit Zarley. In all, 20 players are within five strokes of the two leaders.

Alvie Thompson of Toronto, the only Canadian entered, finished up with 77-71—148 and missed the cut by two strokes.

"Rabbit-Ears" Toe?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A prosecution witness conceded Friday that he heckled Dee Black during a hockey game last Nov. 19 but denied he struck the former coach of Montreal Canadiens on the head with his fist.

Blake, who retired as coach of the National Hockey League team last May, and right wing Claude Provost are on trial in Superior Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Postmen Stop Delivery

Weslock Foregoes Nat'l Links

EDMONTON (CP) — The Canadian amateur golf championship, which opens Monday at Mayfair Golf and Country Club, has already fallen victim to the strike of Canadian postal workers.

Tournament officials learned Friday that Nick Weslock, four-time champion has been forced to withdraw. The strike has forced an extra work-load on Weslock and he is unable to leave his engineering business in Brantford, Ont.

Thus, the tournament will be without one of its major attractions.

Weslock did not qualify for the Ontario Willingdon Cup team this season but has the sort of game that would fit nicely on Mayfair's heavily-treed, tightly-trapped 6,544 yards.

It is a course that demands accuracy more than length, with fines off the tee and from the fairway—Weslock's game, Jones' game now is the best it has ever been.

Jones, 43, is a six-time New Zealand amateur champion, and has been a member of every New Zealand international team since 1953.

Others who might like Mayfair are Gary Cowan of Kitchener, the 1961 champion, Bob Alexander of Calgary, the 1960 champion, Doug Silverberg and Bob Wylie, also both of Calgary, Bert Tieckburst and John Naisbett of Vancouver and John Sale of Penticton, BN.

All are fine iron players who specialize in keeping the ball in play.

Wylie, especially, has had a good season. He won the Calgary city championship and the Alberta amateur, then was nosed out in a playoff for the Alberta Open crown.

He, Silverberg, Alexander and Norm Gray, another Calgarian, from Alberta's Willingdon Cup team.

The Willingdon rounds' will be played Monday and Tuesday in conjunction with the amateur qualifying rounds. Amateur matches start Wednesday and end Saturday with the 36-hole final.

Alberta is favored to win the Willingdon Cup. Three times in five years, and four times since 1960, the province's golfers have won this inter-provincial team competition.

Last year, Alberta finished three strokes behind British Columbia, but B.C. this year has two new members on the team — Art Donaldson and Ross Ellison, both of Vancouver. The returnees are Russell and Tieburst.

Eskies Overwhelmed 32-4

Argos Opener Still Leaves Question: "Is Montreal Really That Bad?"

The question now is can the Argos actually be that good or are Montreal Alouettes just that bad?

The Eastern Conference Argos, who changed their age-old green uniforms to navy blue for their season opener, overwhelmed Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Conference 32-4 in a Canadian Football League interlocking game.

The visiting Eskimos had used their vaunted offensive line to defeat the Alouettes 27-10 Wednesday night, but the Argos held it to a mere 217 yards—71 in the air.

Toronto quarterback Wally Gabler was the key to Toronto's attack. Gabler, a third-year Argo who refused to sign his contract this season until he sulled down the first-string job, completed 22 of 33 pass attempts for 285 yards in the air.

He threw touchdown passes to Neil Smith, Bill Symons and Mel Profit and directed most of Toronto's 149 yards rushing along the ground during the first 55 minutes of the game. Symons scored the other Toronto touchdown on a two-yard plunge, while Dave Mann kicked a field goal, three converts and two singles.

Still, it was difficult to assess Toronto's depth.

The Eskimos put Gabler under little stress of a strong rush. His passes are accurate and he used Bobby Taylor and Mel Profit as his principal receivers.

Profit gained 106 yards on five catches and Taylor gained 71 yards on five catches.

Toronto gained a total of 319 yards in the air and added another 153 along the ground.

Symons was the big yards gainer, rolling up 135 yards—40 along the ground. Art Perkins of Edmonton was the leading ground gainer with 79 yards and added five more on three catches.

Toronto scored the first time it got possession of the ball. Edmonton was given a 29-yard interference penalty on the first play and the Argos scored on three plays from the Eskimos' 37, with Symons going over at 3:11 of the first quarter from two yards out.

Kempf then brought the score to 7-4 with a 38-yard field goal at 6:35 of the quarter and a wide attempt that went for a single at 2:52 of the second quarter.

Mann, who converted the first Toronto touchdown, kicked a 31-yard field goal a short time later and Toronto added another touchdown at 12:29 with Gabler hitting Profit with a 35-yard pass after the Argos marched 100 yards on nine plays.

Mann converted the touchdown to give the Argos a 17-4 half-time lead.

Mann, Gabler and Symons were all involved in the third Toronto touchdown. Mann lined up to kick an 18-yard field goal on a third-down faked it and Gabler threw to Symons who crossed over the line safely.

Gabler's pass about 30 yards across field from the five-yard line to the end zone accounted for the fourth Toronto touchdown and Mann converted and added singles on punts of 44 and 40 yards.

ANDY CAPP

KNUDSON'S WORLD OF GOLF

By GEORGE KNUDSON

It isn't foolproof, of course, but usually, if you want to predict the outcome of a tournament, watch the guy who's coming off the pace — the one who's three or four strokes off the leader going into the last round.

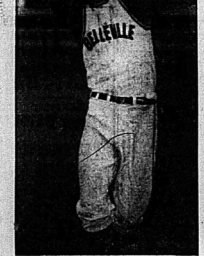
How this will work this week at the Western Open isn't known. I was in that position there last year but, unfortunately, didn't close as well as I hoped.

The advantage of coming off the pace is that the golfer goes out to the course for the final round knowing he needs to shoot his best to win.

He's aggressive - - - thinking positively.

The leader, meanwhile, may be having a hard time making up his mind. He's thinking that perhaps he can get by without taking that unnecessary gamble. He'll settle for a par - - - anything except bogies.

And the guy behind him, knowing he needs a 65 or 66 to win, is shooting both guns.



As a result, rarely does a pro lead a tournament wire to wire.

I was fortunate to do this in the Phoenix Open this year, however. I opened with rounds of 67 and 64, then shot 71 and 70. As it turned out, I didn't need a brilliant round to win. I played very cautiously on the last 36 holes.

But the next week, when I won at Tucson, it was the opposite. I had opening rounds of 79, 67 and 71. I was four off the pace going into the final day and needed a 65 to win.

My attitude, if I'm leading, is to let them come to me. Play for bogies. That's why you seldom see a guy run away with a tournament.

Hunter for Hastings

Rodger Hastings will step onto the rubber for the Belleville Joyces Senior EOBA team today at Kingston instead of Joe Hastings as originally announced. "Kingston might get to know Joe's stuff too well," explained player-coach Gary Goyer. Today's game opens the first EOBA playdown series for the locals.

Sport Briefs

GALT, Ont. (CP) — Peter Trounce of Montreal beat out 10 other entrants to win the 10-day 20th Canadian national soaring championships, which ended Friday. Trounce, who flies his glider with the Gatineau Flying Club in Ottawa, collected 5,679 points over the championship site 19 miles south of here.

Happiness Is:

For Chisox-Milwaukee; For Cubs-Holzman

American League

The Sox took their road show to Wisconsin for the seventh time this season Friday night, drew well again, and lost again, 4-3.

This time Washington Senators did the honors. Bob Chkupp lug up the Sox 11-8 before a crowd of 20,652 in County Stadium—once the home of the National League Braves.

That brought Chicago's Milwaukee attendance to 187,756—an average of almost 27,000 a game—considerably better than the less than 10,000 per game they've drawn at home.

Artistically, playing in Milwaukee hasn't helped the Sox place Sox. Friday night's loss was their sixth there this year.

Elsewhere in the American League Friday night, Detroit Tigers nipped Minnesota Twins 6-5, Oakland Athletics dumped Cleveland Indians 5-1, Baltimore Orioles beat New York Yankees 4-1 and California Angels split a twi-night doubleheader with Boston Red Sox winning 3-2 before losing 8-3.

Frank Howard drove in three runs for the Senators with a double and his 31st homer of the year while Camile Pascual coasted to his 12th victory behind the 15-hit Washington attack.

Three of the Senators hits were singles by Tim Cullen, traded to Washington by Chicago for Ron Hansen earlier Friday. Cullen drove in one run and scored another.

Hansen, who made an unassisted triple play and whacked a grand slam homer the week before the Senators unloaded him, had a single and a double, drove in a run and scored one for the White Sox.

Bill Freehan drove in three runs with a double and a single for the front-running Tigers. Ron Clark and Rich Reese bombed for the Twins.

Boog Powell tagged a three-run first inning homer and some strong relief pitching by Josh Morris earned Baltimore its victory.

Morris allowed just three hits in 6 1-3 innings of relief, the last two with two out in the ninth as he closed in on the victory.

Oakland captured its fourth straight and 11th in its last 12 with its third straight loss and eighth in the last 11 games.

Dave Duncan's two-out single drove in a pair of runs for the Athletics in the second and Cleveland never made up the deficit.

Rookie Tom Murphy, just 2¼ weeks years old from induction into the army, throttled Boston on six hits and the Angels won the first game of their doubleheader. California scored all its runs in the first inning against loser Jose Santiago—two of them on Bubba Morton's double.

In the second game, Jim Lonborg went seven innings and gave up seven hits, struck out five and walked two.

National League

The Cubs, who had slammed 10 homers in their three previous games didn't hit any Friday night, but Holtzman didn't need any in blanking St. Louis Cardinals 3-0.

Holtzman allowed just two singles in bouncing his record to 8-7 and in posting his third straight shutout. He blanked San Francisco Giants 2-0 on seven hits July 24 and then shut out Los Angeles Dodgers on four hits July 28.

The Cubs' fourth straight victory moved them to within one percentage point of the third-place Cincinnati Reds in the National League race.

The Reds' game at Atlanta was rained out but Houston Astros edged Philadelphia Phillies 4-3, Pittsburgh Pirates nipped San Francisco 3-1 and New York Mets defeated Los Angeles 3-2 in other league action.

All-Star Proof

Tyke Non-Stars Fall 13-5

The Booth Radio and TV Tyke EOBA All-Stars proved they deserved the title Thursday night as they pounded their Non-Star house league counterparts 13-5 in an exhibition tilt.

B. Whalen and B. Balzx combined for the All-Stars on the mound to sink the house league hopefuls with a four - hitter.

Whalen and Balyx struck out 11 and walked three in the win while giving up their four safeties.

The Non-Star bullpen saw plenty of action as the losers tried changing their luck with their pitchers. D. Matthews, C. Routley and B. Cunningham all had their chance.

The three combined to give up the 13 runs on 11 hits and six walks while fanning six.

Top hitters for the All-Stars were R. Culkin with a double and three singles and R. O'Sullivan and Ricky Hutchinson with two baggers. Hutchinson also had single. Whalen added two singles to his pitching efforts and Randy Hutchinson and B. Porter also collected 'safeties.

R. Lapp and R. Kruger led the the Non-Stars with triples while G. Andrews and B. Coughlin hit singles for the total four hits.

Titles And Changes

Individual Joyces Take EOBA Titles

By JERRY HOFF
Staff Reporter

Four members of the Belleville Joyces EOBA Senior team took a total of six individual titles in the league statistics for the season as they paced the Joyces to the league title.

Catcher Larry Mavety led the league in homers with three, and in RBI's with 24. Shortstop Gary Goyer held the individual title for runs scored and hits with 25 and 26, respectively. He shared the honors for most triples with outfield Doug Defoe as they both collected three.

The Joyces also boast of Pat Asselstine. The lanky second baseman completed an errorless season. "And on the fields we play on, that's something!" said player-coach Goyer.

The Joycet themselves finished first in the N. EA standings with 12 wins and four losses. Kingston, defending EOBA champs, finished at 9-7 for third while Toronto Leaside slid into second place with a 5-1 mark.

The league standings are figured on a percentage basis.

The senior locals will face Kingston at Kingston today in the first game of their first round in the EOBA playoffs.

Last minute changes in the line-up include Roger Hunter (3-2) as today's starter. Latchford will go on the mound at Belleville Sunday.

Third baseman Moe Hunter will also be fielding, it was learned last night, with a severe infection in his hand resulting from a slide into third late in the regular season.

Hunter is expected to be benched for at least a week.

Coach Goyer said that the decision to pitch Rodger Hunter instead of Joe Hastings as announced was prompted by the fact that Latchford will be absent from the playoffs for the next three weeks and "we don't want Kingston to get too used to seeing Joe."

Goyer praised the young Guelph student, Hunter, as having "the best curve in the league when he's on."

He added, "And we hope he's on today."

The Kingston game today starts at 4 p.m. The Centen nials will play at the Fairgrounds on Sunday at 7 p.m.

Homenuik Back At Willow Park

CALGARY (CP) — Stan Homenuik still nurses painful memories from a year ago when he had the Willow Park golf classic championship in his grasp but lost it during the last hour of competition.

"I was leading by four strokes starting the last nine holes when I just couldn't do a thing right," the slightly-built Dauphin, Man., golfer said Friday night after sharing the first-round lead with two others in this year's Willow Park which pays a record $5,000 to the winner.

Homenuik, an eight-year professional, fired a blistering four-under-par 67 Friday, the only veteran who was able to keep up with Wayne Volkner, 24, of Vancouver, and Trevor Bateman, 23, of Montreal, who stole most of the limelight during the opening day of the $20,000, 54-hole tournament.

"The first day is scary," Homenuik said. "It's the last day that's tough. That's when the pressure builds up."

Homenuik, third-place finisher last year, was generally pleased with his opening day play, except for the second hole when he missed the green and the 18th wheh a shot-putted.

"I should have had a 66," he said.

Volkner, who only turned pro this year, put in the most consistent performance as he eagled the 526-yard, par-five first hole, and then repeated on the 495-yard, par-five 14th.

The Vancouver golfer who won the Alberta Open a week ago sported a jaunty hat while Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont., and Bob Wylie of Calgary, ordered the victory, which earned him a berth in the Canadian professional golf tour championship, helped his play Friday because he was "not under pressure."

He had a birdie on the second hole, but got a one-over-par on the 180-yard 13th.

Bateman displayed a hot pace for the par-36 front nine with 32 strokes, but tapered off and shot par on the back nine. Bateman, too, eagled the first.

Most veteran golfers gave poor performances. Homenuik's brother Wilf, who plays out of Winnipeg and won the Willaz tournament only managed a two-over-par 73, while Stan Leonard of Vancouver, winner of every major tournament in Canada in years past, was irritually no chance of winning the Willow Park after shooting a 79 on the first 18 holes.

Bob Cox Jr. of Richmond, B.C., who fired the best practice round of 65 Thursday, and Bobby Cruse of Weston, Ont., were tied for fourth place with 68.

Five golfers were tied with a score of 69. They were Norman, Willow Park champion in 1966 and the year's leading money winner on the Canadian pro tour; Jim Hiskey of Fall Church, W.Va., Jack Wakeham of Victoria, Russell Farrell of Calgary and James Lawrie of Winnipeg.

For several Canadian pros, victory means an automatic berth in the tour championship in Woodbridge, Ont., Sept. 13-15. Four of them, Wilf Homenuik, Norman, Volkner and Alvin Thompson of Toronto have already qualified because of previous four victories. Eligibility berthsfor the championship are still to be contended.

Nine Provinces Unite to Ask Ottawa For Talks on Taxes, Finance, Medicare

WASKESIU, Sask. (CP) — Spokesmen for nine provinces have announced the annual premiers conference which ended Friday said they were not ganging up on Ottawa, but they did make combined requests for federal-provincial conferences on several issues.

The provinces have asked for discussions on taxes, medicare insurance, and fiscal agreements.

The approach was more forthright than the previous eight premiers' conferences and marked somewhat of a change from an unwritten rule to avoid presenting united demands to the federal government.

Evidence of the new approach first came Thursday when delegates fired off a telegram to Ottawa seeking an early meeting on medical care.

The telegram expressed concern among the provinces over rapidly increasing health insurance costs and that the increase was expected to further escalate in the next few years.

At closing sessions Friday, reporters were told, the nine provinces also had requested early federal-provincial consultations to draft new taxation and fiscal arrangements.

They view with concern a widening gap between provincial expenditures and the ability of revenues to cover them. Spokesmen noted the federal government is formally committed to revise present agreements before 1969.

The provinces also asked Prime Minister Trudeau for "full consultation with all provinces" before taking any action on the Carter royal commission report on taxation, which calls for sweeping tax changes.

Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher, conference chairman, said there had been extensive discussions on fiscal questions at the conference.

The Nova Scotia delegation had raised the issue and Premier Smith said after the conference the provinces were anxious to start discussions on new five-year arrangements. Time was running out on the current two-year agreement and the fiscal positions of the provinces were deteriorating rapidly.

Premier Smith said the shorter term agreements had been drafted because of uncertainty created by the Carter commission. Under it the provinces receive grants from Ottawa and divide up the tax fields with the federal government.

Mr. Smith said a federal-provincial tax structure committee two years ago had worked out projections that showed the gap between revenues and expenditures in all provinces would grow rapidly in the current decade and into the 1970's. Ottawa's position, meanwhile, would remain fairly stable.

"Actually, the rate of increase of provincial expenditures in the last two years has been even greater than the tax structure committee anticipated it would be," Premier Smith said.

Ottawa has assisted the provinces since the Second World War with various cost-sharing programs covering everything from roads to medical insurance. But the representatives of all provinces here said the criteria set by Ottawa for such assistance often were unsuitable for some or all provinces.

Conference delegates reached unanimous agreement Friday to develop as soon as possible a set of nationwide guidelines for controlling air, water and soil pollution.

Alberta Premier E. C. Manning, who placed the matter before the conference, announced that British Columbia had agreed to co-ordinate work by various provinces and to draw up tentative guidelines.

Mrs. Grace McCarthy, British Columbia minister without portfolio and leader of the B.C. delegation, initiated a discussion on public housing. Although no action was taken, Mrs. McCarthy said the discussion was useful in view of the planned cross-country visit by Paul Hellyer, the federal minister in charge of housing.

Offshore mineral rights also came under discussion but delegates came away from the conference with divergent views on the matter.

Work Too Successful

U.S. Steel Price Is Major Test Of Government Versus Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The steel price war of nerves has become a major test of the power of government against the will of industry—with further escalation likely.

President Johnson said Friday that he is sure there "will be additional action" in the steel situation.

He didn't elaborate. But in view of the vast array of government means to bring pressure—ranging from a change in government steel-purchasing practices already in effect to a federal investigation of steel pricing—the message to industry times was clear.

Within hours of the president's comments, however, four more companies announced selective increases—and there was little doubt they knew of the president's current mood.

He said he had sent telegrams to "the men guiding the destiny" of the steel disaster asking them to consider the national interest.

The latest companies to raise prices were National Steel, Jones and Laughlin, Armco and Youngstown, the last a maker of specialty products and not ranking among the big 10 producers. Only Kaiser and McLouth of the top 10 have not announced increases.

The steel price hassle began Wednesday, when Bethlehem, the No. 2 steel-maker, announced across-the-board increases of slightly under five per cent.

The announcement came within hours of industry agreement with the United Steelworkers Union on a new three-year contract that will raise wages and fringe benefits at least six per cent a year for some 400,000 workers.

It was the first time since 1962 that any major producer had tried an across-the-board increase.

Only Twelve Are Killed As Jetliner Hits Hill

Nine of the 12 passengers who died when the DC-8 crashed Friday during a violent storm were Italians—four men, three women and two children, a brother and sister.

The three non-Italian dead were identified as Mrs. Abi Abdallah of Beirut, Lebanon, and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Matlo'ysky, travelling from Israel.

All the 21 survivors 67 were Italian, the other 16 were six Britons, three Canadians, three Americans, two Israelis, a Swede and a Frenchwoman. All 10 crew members survived.

They made the crash remarkable was the fact that while it was violent enough to kill 12 persons, nearly all of the survivors came out of it with only minor injuries.

The engines caught fire after the crash and the fuselage was destroyed by flames. But there was no explosion and the survivors managed to flee before the fuselage burned up.

The black box that contains the electronic flight record of the flight was recovered within hours after the crash. AMalia and Ital Ialian government opened immediate investigations.

The big jet crashed into a pine-covered hillside six miles short of its runway at Milan's Malpensa Airport. Many survivors escaped through cracks in the fuselage.

Pablo Staffere, 56, the pilot, said the crash appeared to be caught in a downdraft about 600 feet off the ground.

"It wasn't really a violent impact," said the survivor. Franco Colombo, 44, of Milan. "The airplane didn't break up into pieces, but the motors caught fire and the flames overspread almost the whole plane."

The crash was the first of a commercial plane in Italy since a Trans World Airlines jet crashed taking off from Rome on Nov. 23, 1964, with a loss of 41 lives.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For Aug. 4

Your birthday today: All year you will try to settle accounts and to go in some new direction. Broaden your life now, since whatever you do not get rid of this year will hang on. Today's natives are generally lucky in all material matters and are warm-hearted and open-handed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): You are apt to find today's plans confused and hindered. Keep it simple; pay consistent attention to good manners. Look where you are going.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Your home for once is not completely comfortable. Spoil the day outside. Then in the evening seek entertainment most enjoyable to you.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): The more you involve yourself today, the more complicated things get. Do your normal spiritual devotions, then rest, or study. Take anything you hear today with a grain of salt.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Your own sensitivity is matched by the tensions of others. See that your share of the community life is adequate.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Though subject to some confusing influences, estimate your earnings for the fortnight today. See that your belongings are secure against loss or damage.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Family gatherings and picnics are indicated for today. Your church also needs your support. Think about where life is leading and what you have learned from recent experiences.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Remain calm. Others are easily provoked today. People may give you a fraction of the whole picture; allow for considerable error.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Watch and wait. Fulfill your share of the amenities of community life today with dignity, but take nothing for granted. Day's end lends itself well to planning.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): The high side of today can be abundantly spiritual; the low side could be deceptive. People either do not realize what they say or intentionally withhold parts of the story.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): There is a special premium for religious thought and action today. Any business activity brings disappointment later. Spending is too easy this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Misunderstandings may arise from your behavior. Spend a good portion of the day alone, preferably outdoors.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Spiritual considerations are important today. Prudent behavior is not easy this evening, but is well worth the effort.

For Aug. 5

Your birthday today: In the coming year you tend to find yourself active in the social movement of our times. Leadership is thrust upon you, in all sorts of subtle ways. Today's natives are inclined to be restless and possessed of strong beliefs, artistic talents and idealistic motives.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Begin your day very early; avoid being rushed or taken by surprise. Great care in driving and on the job is suggested. Relax early.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Survey your accounts today. Check up on your investments, and make conservative changes. The evening is better for correspondence.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Precautions taken to assure home safety will pay off. Check to see you have enough insurance. Seek protection and privacy for yourself and your loved ones.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Your neighborhood is full of surprising incidents; be an interested bystander. Celebrate quietly this evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Excess spending arouses envy. Keep everything simple. Entertain, by all means, but taper off early.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): There is unusual news today. At the same time you have a good chance to keep your plans out of public view. Settle a long considered financial move. Romance may blossom late in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Disclosure of secrets is the order of the day. The atmosphere clears, and in the evening you can enjoy a bit of festivity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): You are likely to find an old friend very helpful. The last several days are seen now in a better perspective. Work is highly productive today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Radiate the truth about your ideals and your goals. For those eligible, opportunity may call you to faraway places.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Today is a good time to settle budgets, particularly group funds, prudently. See a show this evening, or, even better, listen to great music.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Your principles may unsettle some friends today. Take this opportunity to establish more realistic relationships. Your home can be an interesting place tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Dormant business deals and personal connections spring to life today. Remember, however, this is not the complete story.

For Aug. 6

Your birthday today: Blessed are the peacemakers, who are very much needed in our times. Those born today tend to be peacemakers working in the place of publicity. Like Aquarius, the year ahead is normal and productive.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Smoother working conditions are indicated for today. Money matters are under pressure. Get the most out of the time you have.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Today is wide open. The results depend on your attitude and on how willing you are to use your opportunity.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): This is a great day for settling small quarrels. Review your budgets to see where you are. Enjoy the evening with a show.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): The preferred course today is to listen. Let other people explain. Keep in touch with the neighborhood; it will need your opinion in due time.

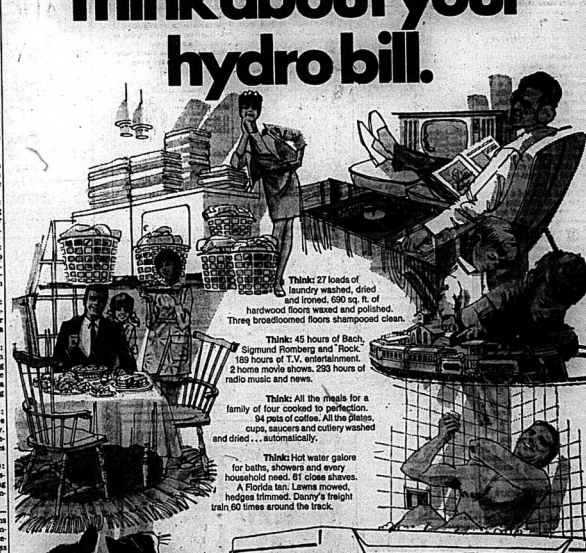
VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Keep up the momentum from yesterday. Early in the evening seek pleasant diversion. Take your rest early; there will be a reason, later, for conserving your energy now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Personal affairs tend to take more time than your job today. Keep close in balance. Do something nice for your loved ones tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Catch up with your correspondence, errands and shopping near home. Make a quiet evening within your own circle.



SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Working conditions are still subject to change. Improvements are more than likely today. Go right ahead; press the issues tactfully. Organize this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): News from distant places will be of strong interest today. Think of your personal appearance. There's something constructive you can do about it.

Think: 27 loads of laundry washed, dried and ironed. 690 sq. ft. of hardwood floors waxed and polished. Three broadloomed floors shampooed clean.

Think: 45 hours of Bach, Sigmund Romberg and Rock. 189 hours of T.V. entertainment. 2 home movie shows. 293 hours of radio music and news.

Think: All the meals for a family of four cooked to perfection. 94 pots of coffee. All the plates, cups, saucers and cutlery washed and dried . . . automatically.

Think: Hot water galore for baths, showers and every household need. 61 close shaves. A Florida tan. Lawns mowed, hedges trimmed. Danny's freight train 60 times around the track.

Think: A host of other electrical servants working for you and your family, night and day . . . all covered in a two month's Hydro bill.

your hydro

Every home is different, but one thing for sure: every hydro bill buys a lot more convenience, pleasure and comfort than most people ever stop to think about. When you do, you realize electricity is the biggest bargain in the family budget.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"My husband, in his infinite wisdom, assured me the tide was going OUT!"

Insist on English Equality

Levesque and Gregoire Combine Their Forces

MONTREAL (CP) — The Movement Souveraiste-Association and the Ralliement National will merge and take steps to form a political party this fall, leaders of the two separatist organizations announced Friday night.

But a third separatist group, the Ressemblement pour l'Independance nationale, refused to enter the merger because it opposed plans to safeguard the right of Quebec's English-speaking minority to state-supported schools.

The merger proposal was drawn up earlier this week by the MSA executive, formed last November by Mr. Levesque.

Mr. Bourgault proposed during the meeting that the question of English-language schools be decided by an open convention of representatives of all independence-seeking movements in Quebec, but Mr. Levesque insisted that Quebec's English population will have "full rights" in an independent Quebec.

Mr. Bourgault said his party could not agree with Mr. Levesque's position and would continue to oppose as a political party entering the Quebec state "the only choice for true independence."

Mr. Gregoire, former Independent member of Parliament for Lapointe, said his Ralliement National accepts all the MSA's conditions and agrees to take part in a founding convention to establish the MSA as a political party in the fall. Mr. Bourgault said the RIN will not take part in the convention.

An RN spokesman said after the meeting that regional officials of his group will meet next week to work out an actual formula for merger with the MSA.

The MSA seeks an independent state of Quebec associated with Canada in an economic union. Mr. Levesque, its leader, resigned from the provincial Liberal party last fall to sit as an independent for Montreal Laurier.

A meeting of the Quebec Liberal Federation earlier had refused to consider his proposals for sovereign Quebec in association with Canada.

Pill Issue Not New Galileo Case--Vatican Paper

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican warned Roman Catholic theologians Friday against espousing Pope Paul's birth control encyclical to the Galileo case.

The warning came in a front page editorial in the Vatican daily L'Osservatore Romano. It was published two days after Rev. Hans Kueng, a noted theologian, termed the Pope's birth control ban "possibly a second Galileo case."

The theologian said the encyclical "is not infallible teaching from a Pope, but on the contrary, mistaken teaching."

"The case of Galileo has nothing to do with the transmission of life," L'Osservatore Romano said. "Whether the sun moves or stands still, the nature of man remains the same.

"Therefore, whether the cultural sciences of medicine and pharmacology have found a way to arrest temporarily certain vital functions is, from the moral point of view, irrelevant. The point is this: We seek to know whether it is permitted to men . . . to make use of these means.

"The Pope has responded no."

Vatican commissions condemned Galileo for heresy in 1616 and 1633 for his thesis that the earth revolved around the sun.

In June, Francis Cardinal Koenig, Archbishop of Vienna, told a meeting of scientists there was a chance the Vatican would appoint a commission to review the condemnations of Galileo.

LONDON (Reuters) — A Roman Catholic priest who spoke out against the Pope's ruling on artificial birth control was suspended Friday night from preaching and hearing confessions.

Father Paul Weir, 31, of St. Cecilia's Church, London, said his vicar-general, Msgr. Hubert Gibney, told him he could continue his say mass publicly.

Weir told reporters Thursday he did not know whether he could continue as a priest because he could not accept a papal encyclical against artificial contraception issued Monday.

Thunder Stolen Anglicans Remark

LONDON (CP) — "The Pope has rather stolen our thunder this week."

That wry remark by a Lambeth conference spokesman summed up the situation as 400 Anglican bishops from around the world—38 from Canada—ended their first week's work in the month-long assembly.

As the bishops buckled down to work in the 33 subcommittees, little emerged from the closed doors except reactions to Pope Paul's controversial encyclical banning all artificial contraception.

The Archbishop of Canterbury reiterated the Anglican position adopted at the 1958 Lambeth conference, which leaves contraception to the individual conscience.

The Primate of Canada, Most Rev. Howard Clark, said the Anglican Church believes framily planning is "part of the loving responsibility of husband and wife in marriage."

The means used must be entrusted to their consciences as "free, responsible people," Archbishop Clark added, explaining he would not comment directly on the Pope's encyclical until he could study it further.

Bishop Ralph Dean, Bishop of Cariboo, who is conference secretary and executive officer of the Lambeth conference, said in a statement he thought the encyclical would cause "great disappointment . . . in many Roman Catholics, both lay people and clergy. He thought many Catholic laity would simply go on as they do now.

Bishop of Huron, for a larger hindrance to the talks between Anglicans and Roman Catholics but the papal ban "is bound to highlight the disagreements between us."

Pope's Plea for Birth Control Research Ignored

QUEBEC (CP) — Maurice Cardinal Roy said Friday Pope Paul's appeal for more research into the birth control field has been ignored by critics of the encyclical Humanae Vitae.

The archbishop of Quebec City and primate of the Roman Catholic church in Canada told a news conference, called to discuss the encyclical which banned all artificial contraceptives, that he hopes science could discover means of regulating births such as establishing the exact period of a woman's fertility.

Cardinal Roy said Pope Paul is "explaining the word of God."

It was a time for people to re-educate themselves to clearly understand the edict.

"It is here that the work of the priest will become more difficult and delicate in helping the faithful in studying his own case."

Cardinal Roy said the Pope's decision could cause a schism within the Roman Catholic Church, "but it is very improbable."

It could possibly bring a temporary halt to the ecumenical movement. However that would not be unexpected in an age when even "the competence of professors at the university level" was being questioned.

Cardinal Roy said it is difficult to determine the degree of culpability of persons who continues to use contraceptives for birth control.

Even though the pope's decision is law rather than advice, it would be hard "to blame" the faithful who continue using contraceptives, he added.

The faithful must remember to set according to conscience while keeping in mind that the church receives divine and natural laws and is duty-bound to apply them.

'Alternate Sunday' Is Still an Issue

QUEBEC (CP) — The prelate of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada said Friday night that the proposal to permit Catholics in Canada to fulfil obligations of Sunday mass attendance on another day is still an issue.

Maurice Cardinal Roy—Quebec City's archbishop—told a news conference that Canadian bishops probably will discuss the matter when they meet in September.

Cardinal Roy said the practice is in effect, notably in areas where Catholics may satisfy the requirements of the church by attending mass either Saturday or Sunday.

Cardinal Roy felt that permission to attend mass on either Saturday or Sunday would lead to confusion among Canadian Catholics.

"We are continuing, however, to study this possibility but the view of the church states clearly that Sunday is the Lord's day—the day that Christians gather for worship and prayer."

Leger Has Second Thoughts on Africa

MONTREAL (CP) — Le Petit Journal says Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, who left Montreal last December to work as a humble missionary among Africa's lepers, is having second thoughts about his new role.

In a story from Yaounde, capital of Cameroon, the Montreal weekly says the cardinal came to Africa full of enthusiasm for work among lepers and the possible founding of a leprosarium, but soon found that obstacles were being placed in his path.

"I am learning my lesson about Africa," Cardinal Leger is quoted as saying.

Le Petit Journal quotes an unnamed Cameroon clergyman as saying the government built its own facilities for lepers were adequate and it did not need anyone "coming here to tell us what to do and how to do it."

This view had not been expressed to the cardinal to his face, found that his efforts were being hampered by official delays and administrative tangles.

The weekly says Cardinal Leger has been received by Mgr. Jean Zoa, Archbishop of Yaounde, to take an interest in the establishment of handicapped children in Cameroon, for whom there were no specialized institutions.

Informants in Yaounde said the cardinal and his team of three Canadian priests had already begun to lay the groundwork for a program of aid for handicapped children.

Tweed

TWEED — Glen Riddle, of Pennsylvania, U.S.A., a 6 pound muskellunge in Stoco Lake recently. Joseph Winebart of Cleveland, Ohio, assisted him in landing the big fish, which Mr. Riddle plans to have mounted. Mr. Riddle was staying at the Kanata Beach Cottages, on the eastern side of Stoco Lake, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hall.

James E. Booth of Wainfleet, Ont., caught a 4 lb. 2 ounce, Kaloops trout in Mosqua Lake, in Miller Township, while trolling earlier this month. He was using a Willow Leaf lure. The fish was weighed at Hubert's General Store, in Ompah, Ontario. On Saturday evening, July 20th, a Toronto fisherman, W. E. Rosen, landed two nice pike from Stoco Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Rash of Stoco, who recently sold their farm home to their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Rash of Oshawa, have moved to the home of their other son, Harold Rash, which was recently vacated by them.

Mrs. Orey Loyst of Henderson, is still a patient in St. Marys-of-the-lake Hospital, in Kingston.

Trading Busier on Canadian Markets Toronto Index Lower but Montreal Up

By JANE BECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Trading on Canadian stock markets increased in volume this week.

But despite a mid-week rally, the Toronto Stock Exchange, which does most of the country's stock market business, finished slightly lower for the week.

In Montreal, the composite index rose by .73 to 159.73 but declines outnumbered advances 168 to 146.

In Toronto, the opposite was the case. All major indexes but base metals were down, but advances outnumbered declines 389 to 309.

In Vancouver about 9,250,000 shares were traded in a week of active trading where prices were mixed.

The week's financial news was mostly bullish. Brokers put the drop partly to profit-taking, partly to a reaction to a falling New York market. The Dow-Jones index was off almost five points on New York Thursday and fell another 6.80 Friday.

U.S. traders were reported to be expecting a lessening of interest rates soon. But the market was said to be suffering from the possible effects of a hike in price increases being fought by President Johnson, even though a threatened strike in the steel industry was headed off by a settlement early in the week.

In Canada, the steel industry was buoyed by the U.S. price increases. The steel index was one of the few groups to gain significantly at Toronto, adding 2.33 to 149.92.

Reports of increased earnings announced this week also helped. Steco gained ¼ to 21¾ after reporting earnings up 88 per cent for the first half. Dofasco rose ¼ to 17¾ after reporting slightly increased earnings, and Interprovincial Steel was up 1 to 6¾.

A drop in the Bank of Canada lending rate to 6¼ per cent at the beginning of the week, followed by a drop in the chartered banks' lending rates, apparently had a good effect on both bank and trust company stocks.

Trust and loan companies rose most of any group at Toronto for the week—5.44 to 144.56. Crown Trust gained 4 to 53 and Huron and Erie reached a high of 124½, up 1¼. The latter announced that its takeover bid for Halton and Peel Trust of Oakville had been accepted by Halton and Peel directors.

The Bank of Nova Scotia rose 1 to 104½ and Imperial-Commerce ¼ to 69¾, although Bank on Montreal lost ¼ to 43¾.

Western oils also were active. The index dropped 4.64 to 197.76, about half as much as the previous week's index drop.

A sale of mineral rights in Alberta netted $18,000,000. Analysts noted that stocks of companies with holdings close to the recent Alaskan discovery by Atlantic-Richfield Corp. generally rose on the market, while those with interests in other areas fell.

Imperial Oil reached a high for the year of 77¾, up 3½ on trade of 42,500 shares. Bow Valley Industries, a Calgary company which also has extensive holdings in the Mackenzie Delta, traded 161,800 shares and reached a high of 18, up 1¾.

Great Plains Development gained ½ to 19¾, but Scurry lost 4¼ to 32¼. Dome Pete was off 1¼ to 56¾, despite higher net income in the first half.

Base metals generally rose during the week, apparently chiefly on improved copper prices. Bethlehem rose $1.50 to a high of $8.40.

Rio Algom dropped ¼ to 32¼, Noranda, which had better first-half results, lost 1¼ to 49¾.

Golds dropped over the week, although the gold index was up on several days. Dome lost 1.67 to 59.29 and western oils 4.64 to 197.76. Base metals were up .95 to 95.11.

There were 16,411,000 shares traded compared with 14,996,000 the previous week.

In Montreal the Montreal and Canadian exchanges traded a total of 5,528,000 shares compared with 4,642,000 the previous week.

Economic Questions Crucial In Czech Dispute with Russia

LONDON (CP) — Political questions have the limelight in the argument between Czechoslovakia and Russia, but economic questions are crucial to the final settlement a Czechoslovak source said Friday.

"We are all confident here," said a Czechoslovak embassy spokesman.

"There are some uncertainties, but we sincerely hope Imperial Russia's pressure can be settled at Bratislava."

The Bratislava session Saturday will bring Premier Antonin Novotny and other leaders of the new Czechoslovak regime up against leaders of five critical neighbors—Russia, Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria.

Beyond the issue of relaxed political authority under Dubcek and military security matters in Czechoslovakia's effort to shake free of the most limiting features of the Soviet-type economic program imposed by Russia through Comecon, the bloc's system of economic cooperation.

Economic reforms and decentralization of many industries proceeded and helped stimulate political reforms such as abolition of press censorship in Czechoslovakia.

The country has been chafing under a Soviet-imposed program of developing heavy industries like steel, petro-chemicals, all based on Russia raw materials.

Further, Czechoslovakia feels it has more to gain from more than it gets from Comecon. Its trade surplus last year was more than $200,000,000.

Czechoslovakia, which conducts 80 per cent of its trade with East European countries, is anxious to divert trade to the West where it can buy products it wants. To do so, it would want to convert more of its trade in national high-skill products for sale.

That change, in turn, would require heavy capital investment amounting to an estimated $500,000,000.

Which side in the Soviet-Czechoslovakia argument holds the whip hand in these economic considerations is open to debate, a point made obvious by the fact that this week's four-day meeting at Cierna Nad Tisou lasted longer than expected.

The Russians could threaten to withhold essential raw materials — oil, synthetic rubber, steel and cereals—which would seriously disrupt the Czechoslovak economy and cause hard ship that could rebound on the Dubcek government at home.

But the Russians could foot-drag in meeting Czechoslovakia's request for capital loans to reform its industrial program, despite the fact that Czechoslovakia has built up a massive credit with Comecon.

On the other hand, the Soviet leaders must have had long reporters in the Warsaw pact could provoke an outright break by withholding materials and money. Dubcek's government already has been putting out feelers for capital loans in the West and he could go the whole way West for trade and aid if necessary.

Such uncertainties Inspire mainly-optimistic Western and Czechoslovak observers to hedge optimism with remarks such as "Dubcek is not out on a limb" and "the military intervention on balance seems unlikely, but the situation could change momentarily."

To Your Good Health

No Magic Way to Gain Weight

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a problem that is not too common. I am a teen-ager who wants to gain weight. I've tried eating and eating, and nothin helps. I've even tried those vitamin-packed liquids, but they make me sick.

Are there some tablets available for underweight people? Something like a high-powered vitamin? — L. L.

Your problem isn't as uncommon as you think.

You haven't really given me much to go on — except that you want to add weight. Are you a girl or a boy? How old? How much do you weigh now?

Have you had a thorough medical examination to see whether you have an over-active thyroid? Are you a lifety type or placid? How much exercise? How do you sleep?

Of all the—questions, your general health is the basic one. Next comes your heredity. Are your parents thin, average or heavy? You may be — or may not need medication to adjust you to normal. But vitamins don't add weight and there is no magic pill that will put weight onto your frame overnight any more than there is a pill to take weight off without any effort on your part.

Exercise may be important. It's important for those who want to lose weight—but also important to those who want to gain, believe it nor not. If you are squandering your energy and food intake by nervous jittering, you'll be a lot better off to start getting regular and strenuous exercise.

You'll eat better—and sleep better.

This sort of thing happens all the time as young men go into military service. Some are too thin, some too fat. Both have to go through the same rigorous training — a kind of steady exercise.

In a few weeks the fatties have shed excess pounds and the thin fellows have gained weight in the form of solid muscle.

Even thin youngster — girl or boy — doesn't really gain much just by putting on some extra fat. But getting the muscles toned up improves the figure; and such fat as will be gradually useful to you will form around the muscles.

Exercise is much underestimated as a way to lose weight but it is even more underestimated by people who want to gain.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done to reduce finger joints? I have difficulty with my rings. The joints have become large but I have no pain. — L.J.

If this is soft tissue swelling treatment can reduce it; if it is enlargement from arthritic changes, there is no way to reduce the swelling. Therefore get medical diagnosis as to which is your trouble. (Your jeweler can fit your rings with adjustable circlets.)

Dear Dr. Molner: Can missing a period only mean pregnancy if you are very young?

— G. H.

How young? But no, that isn't the only cause. It sometimes can take a couple of years or so, after periods first start, before they settle down to a regular pattern, and sometimes several may be missed in succession. Some glandular disorders also can be present; being overweight also can be associated with missing or absent periods.

You know what you've been doing, though: if your behavior has permitted any possibility of pregnancy, you might as well have the doctor find out whether you are or whether you aren't. Waiting won't help things, but delay can lead to another embarrassment not to mention the risk of medical hazards.

Cabinet Meets

Postal Talks On Round the Clock

House Might Meet

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet met on the postal strike crisis today even as negotiators continued a round-the-clock meeting in hopes of working out a settlement without parliamentary intervention.

A marathon mediation session that began at 10:40 a.m. EDT Monday still was in progress after 24 hours. There was no indication whether the closed talks were in reach of accord.

Prime Minister Trudeau met his ministers in the cabinet room of Parliament Hill's East Block amid speculation that he would call Parliament to end the strike should the last-ditch mediation effort collapse.

Treasury Board President Drury declined to comment as he entered the East Block. He is the man in charge of the government's bargaining stand.

Complaints about the length of the strike have started to pile up on Mr. Trudeau's desk—and there is a distinct possibility the government might decide to recall Parliament and pass emergency legislation to put the mails back in operation. Mr. Trudeau moved the timing for the regular weekly cabinet meeting ahead one day.

Negotiators were mum about just what stage their talks had reached.

But the traffic was heavy between the hotel suites occupied by the union and government representatives and the room of Judge Rene Lippe of Montreal, mediator in the dispute, through Monday and half this morning.

Wages and working conditions are the big issues and it appeared obvious that negotiators were hammering away at these in the marathon session.

The two sides negotiated for 14 hours Sunday. They were back at it Monday about 10:40 a.m. EDT. They had lunch and supper breaks later Monday but the all-night session was broken only by brief halts for coffee or soft drinks.

Close to 4 a.m. Douglas Love, treasury board officer representing the government, told reporters:

Ike Has New Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former president Eisenhower, recuperating from a heart attack, suffered renewed chest pains early this morning. Walter Reed Army Hospital announced.

The hospital announcement said it appeared to be another myocardial infarction, or heart attack.

The announcement at 10 a.m. EDT said his condition then was stable and he was comfortable and free of pain. The attack occurred at 6:15 a.m.

He is 77 years old.

Johnson Has Check

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson's visit to the hospital today is described by his personal doctor as "in keeping with the policy" of an annual physical checkup.

The Texas White House pictured the president's admission to Brooks Army Medical Center as routine, observing he did not use that word in the official announcement Monday and neither did the presidential doctor, Vice-Admiral George Burkley.

Johnson and his wife, who is taking the opportunity to have a checkup as well, may stay overnight at the hospital, a TS-mile helicopter ride from their Johnson City ranch.

Spy Satellite Will View Reds

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (Reuters) — A spy satellite was launched from here today, headed for an orbit which, it is reported, will take it over Russia and China.

The launching of the Atlas-Agena rocket had been shrouded in secrecy by the defence department. The air force had refused to announce the time of launch in advance.

The satellite is said to be a highly-advanced set of sensing devices attached to the Agena's second stage instead of a separate space craft like most satellites.

Ontario Man Slain in West

DAUPHIN, Man. (CP) — The body of a man, shot and burned with gasoline, was found Monday in a lonely gravel pit off a western Manitoba highway.

RCMP here said they had not established positive identification but believed the victim was from Toronto.

They said the man, between 20 and 30 years old, had been shot several times and his body splashed with gasoline and burned. A .22-calibre rifle, several spent shell casings and a five-gallon gasoline can were found nearby along with a car bearing Ontario licence plates.

The discovery was made in a gravel pit near Grandview, 30 miles west of Dauphin and about 100 miles north of Brandon.

Czech Pledges Economic Ties With Red Bloc

PRAGUE (AP) — Premier Oldrich Cernik said Monday night Czechoslovakia's reform-minded leaders will not forsake economic ties with the Soviet bloc, but he called for a "new quality" of co-operation within the Warsaw Pact's economic organization.

Cernik's address to some 6,000 party functionaries was viewed as an attempt to dispel Soviet fears that Czechoslovakia would turn increasingly toward the West for trade and aid.

"We have and will continue to have a supreme interest in the broadest possible bilateral and multilateral co-operation with the Socialist countries," Cernik said.

"Without co-operation with the countries of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance, Czechoslovakia would not have permanent assurance of raw materials and food and also would not have a sure market for its products."

The council is the Soviet bloc's common market.

Cernik did not elaborate on his statement that co-operation within the economic council must have a "new quality." But it appeared likely that the new Czechoslovak Communist party leaders are fed up with the dictates of Soviet economic planners, now blamed for the post-war decline in Czechoslovakia's thriving pre-war industrial economy.

Earlier Ronald Reagan, California governor, confirmed long-held expectations that he officially declaring his own candidacy. It tended to be regarded as a sign of weakness in the right-wing former actor's position.

Henry Budd, the business executive who runs the National Citizens for Reagan group, said Reagan "was three months too late."

Israelis Cross Into Jordan to Kill Saboteurs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli troops crossed into Jordan today for the first time in four months and killed five members of an Arab sabotage band that had slipped into southern Israel to attack a hospital, the Israeli army announced.

The army said the intruders fired a bazooka shell at a hospital clinic a the Ein Yahav settlement, near the frontier in the Negev Desert. No damage or casualties were reported.

Two other saboteurs were wounded and captured, the army said, and then led Israeli troops to two mines they had planted near the clinic.

The chase over stony waterless terrain was the first time since April 8 that Israeli troops crossed the border in pursuit of Arab guerrillas, the army said.

Sunday, Israeli warplanes streaked across the Jordanian border and attacked what Israel said were two Arab guerrilla bases 15 miles from Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Jordan and Israel blamed each other for the air attack during a UN Security Council meeting Monday. Debate was to continue today.

Elsewhere on the tense frontier, Israeli and Jordanian troops duelled with mortars and light arms for about two hours early today at the southern tip of the Golan Heights, from which the Israelis drove the Syrians in the 1967 war.

An Israeli spokesman accused the Jordanians of firing first at Israeli troops at Dabousiyye, near the Jordan River. There were no Israeli casualties, he said.

Another brief skirmish was reported Monday night south of the Sea of Galilee. A Jordanian spokesman in Amman said Israeli troops in the occupied West Bank opened up with machine-guns and mortars. He said no Jordanians returned the fire, knocking out three Israeli guns and hitting seven Israeli soldiers, but there were no Jordanian casualties. There was no confirmation from the Israeli side.

Starving Biafrans Await Results of Peace Talks

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — With thousands of Biafran refugees dying of starvation daily, Nigeria and Biafra opened peace talks in this Ethiopian capital Monday night, but neither side gave any indication of compromise.

Lt.-Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, leader of the Biafran secessionists in eastern Nigeria, declared in his opening speech that "our survival cannot be separated from the sovereign independence of our state."

Earlier Chief Anthony Enahoro, leader of the Nigerian delegation, said there could be no end to the year-old civil war until Biafra renounces secession.

Although both delegations expressed optimism about prospects for the talks, Enahoro said: "This may be our last chance to attempt a negotiated settlement."

Unsuccessful peace talks were held earlier this year at Kampala, Uganda, and a Biafran military spokesman charged Monday that the Nigerian government has ordered its field commanders to ensure a military victory before the talks in Addis Ababa end. He said there was heavy fighting Sunday on most fronts but Biafran troops held fast.

Emperor Haile Selassie, host at the peace talks, stirred in his address to Ojukwu told the opening session:

"There is no precedent for a people being victim of such injustice and being at present threatened by abandonment to its aggressor. I was defending the cause of all small people who are threatened by aggression. . . It is us today, it will be you tomorrow."

The words were the emperor's, taken from his speech to the League of Nations in 1935 appealing for help against the invading Italians.

Meanwhile, a physician employed by the World Council of Churches, Dr. H. J. Middlekoop, reported from Biafra that some 6,000 war refugees are dying of starvation daily in the besieged area of eastern Nigeria into which the Biafrans—most of them members of the Ibo tribe —have fled.

Canadian Plane Reaches Lagos

OTTAWA (CP) — An air force Hercules aircraft carrying the first shipment of Canadian relief supplies for Biafra landed at 10:10 a.m. EDT at Lagos, Nigeria, a defence department spokesman said Monday.

The four-engine plane was loaded with 7,000 pounds of medical supplies at Ottawa last Friday then flew to Halifax, to take on 26,000 pounds of dried codfish.

The Hercules, commanded by Capt. Dan Grummet of Barrie, Ont., flew to Lagos via Barbados, Brazil, and Ascention Island. The plane was based at Ottawa.

The medical supplies included 36,000 vials of powdered penicillin, along with a shipment of distilled water, and 1,750,000 tablets and pills.

Their Fate in Balance

Commercial Use Evident

Skyway Doing Job Expected: Whitney

PICTON — A recent traffic survey on the $3,000,000 Quinte Skyway at Deseronto reveals only what planners expected, Norris Whitney, MPP Prince Edward - Lennox claimed today.

A key point in the department of highways survey was the Skyway's effect on traffic using Highway 33 and the Glenora ferry link between Prince Edward County and the Quinte mainland.

R. A. Shannon, regional traffic highways traffic engineer last week said indications were there has been no noticeable lessening of traffic volume on the ferry route.

But, said Mr. Whitney today, there have been no complaints about undue delays and traffic jams at the ferry this year.

"With the opening of the Skyway, we never really expected there would be too big a falling - off on Highway 33," said the MPP. "But there is this: We're not getting any complaints of lineups on the highway. Before there were reports of lineups up there a half - mile long."

Yet, added, Mr. Whitney, tourist volume along the scenic Highway 33 route has not decreased. What has happened is that the Skway has diverted commercial and industrial traffic from the ferry link. An increasing number of local residents, particularly those in a hurry, also are using the bridge.

The Skyway was officially opened by Premier Robarts last Sept. 17 — the day he launched the 1967 Ontario election campaign.

"In talking with the engineers, we agreed at the start that we didn't expect any drastic reduction in traffic across the ferry," said Mr. Whitney.

However, the new link, dramatically soaring above the Bay of Quinte at Deseronto, also is indicating a bigger future in local commerce, added the MP.

"People are paying more attention to this area than was formerly the case," he said.

Among the signs:

For the first time, Deseronto business established at Picton fair last year; Toronto real estate now has local representatives in the Prince Edward area; a Deseronto cannery now can import Prince Edward crops more readily.

Deseronto reeve Don Armitage has also believes the Skyway was planned as a bridge to future growth.

"I would think the future expansion of the area is the prime purpose of that bridge," said Reeve Armitage.

There is "very rarely a time" when a vehicle isn't using the bridge, he added.

"And I'd presume by the number of transports that go over the bridge, all the freight must be using it," he added.

The highways survey noted a pronounced difference in traffic on Highway 33 and the ferry in January, February and March.

Mr. Shannon said a winter-time count found crews hard-pressed to find sufficient traffic. He estimated that winter volume on Highway 33 had fallen at least 30 per cent since the Skyway opened.

Picton Man Suffers Burns

PICTON (Staff) — A Picton man is being treated today for chest and facial burns suffered in a lawn mower accident last night.

A spokesman from the fire department said a spark flamed on the machine. When Mr. Pierson attempted to douse the flames, the gas tank exploded.

Blood Is Thicker Than Sand

porters they should pack up their vigil.

Meetings would continue, he said, but no announcements were expected before full morning. Union representatives were still cheatered in their suite. They also figured the meeting would go on, but were not expecting any announcement.

There had been a four-day break in negotiations prior to Sunday when Judge Lippe persuaded the teams to get back to the bargaining table.

The last announced wage position left a big gap to be bridged.

The postal workers sought an increase of 75 cents an hour over a 16-month contract. The government offered 49 cents an hour over 38 months. Average hourly postal wage is $2.57.

In each case, the contract would be retroactive to Aug. 1 of last year. The union is understood to be set against any contract extending past Sept. 30, 1969.

The government's sole authority over job classification, promotions and transfers was understood to be a tough area in the talks on the working conditions.

Mr. Trudeau has expressed reluctance to interfere in the bargaining process, particularly since the right to strike in the civil service was embodied in legislation passed only a little more than a year ago.

But he also said Parliamentary intervention would have to be considered if it became obvious that the two sides remained miles apart or that hardship to the public was becoming intolerable.

The decision to keep the talks going throughout the night indicated the two sides felt Mr. Trudeau might think that one or both or these conditions now apply.

Little Progress Evident In Proctor-Silex Dispute

PICTON (Staff) — Union officials of the striking IUE, local 585 here are declining to comment on a package proposal presented by the Proctor Silex Co. Ltd.

George LeBlanc, union president, said however that the proposal was "widely separated" from a proposal presented in July by the union.

The company proposal said Mr. LeBlanc, is totally unacceptable.

Negotiations between union and company will not resume until Aug. 14. The date was set by Proctor Silex.

Mr. LeBlanc said that he and other union officials were bitter about the "stalling tactics" being used by the company.

Since the beginning of this year, 14 meetings were held with Proctor Silex, prior to the strike. Little progress was made.

Only one meeting has been held since July 17, the beginning of the strike. At that meeting the company demanded a package proposal, which the union says it was presented within a few hours.

The return proposal from Proctor Silex, was to have been made within four days union officials said, but despite close to two weeks elapsed before the proposal was presented.

Mr. LeBlanc charged the company was "giving only lip service to the needs of the employees," and accused the company of "failing to make any effort to return the workers to their jobs."

Company officials have similar declined comment, or can not be reached.

Nixon Likely Winner

to a massed audience at his hotel headquarters, an event that emphasized the extreme security precautions being taken by the number of federal and other protective personnel around them.

Referring to the pre-convention campaign, Nixon said the "battle for delegates is the end of one journey and, we think, the beginning of another that is needed to new leadership for the nation."

He promised "a new coalition of Americans in which Democrats and independents will join in the drive to build a great victory next November."

Nixon's backers, pegging their first-ballot hopes on a roll-call switches, have been told they probably won't get any delegates Rep. Charles Mathias of Rhodes, a key favorite son.

Also, the repeated contention that the nomination can't be won by anyone who has won 50 per cent of the 667 needed for nomination may become a test.

Charles McWhorter, a Nixon floor manager, said:

"We're going to win it on the first ballot. You watch those switches at the end of the roll-call. They'll put us over."

Implicit in this statement was an acknowledgement that defeat would drive to the floor favorite sons and to commit unpledged delegates. Nixon has not been able to buy his hands on the prize-winning total.

Told of McWhorter's estimate, forces.

Rhodes said he is holding fast to his non-committed stance as a means of controlling the 58-vote Ohio delegation.

But he implied strongly that if Nixon can't win on first ballot where for any needed margin at the end of the first count.

Asked if he would be running as a favorite son on the second ballot, Rhodes said, "I'm not ruling it out."

The Ohio governor's confidence that the 58 votes would not go to Nixon blix was even more heartening to supporters of New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller. And Reagan's entry into cive competition was hailed by a Rockefeller backer as likely to cut into Nixon's first-ballot strength.

While all of this manoeuvring went on, the convention prepared in its second day to hear the reading of a 13,000-word platform which seemed likely to be accepted quickly.

The platform features a moderate plank on Vietnam calling for the eventual replacement of American forces with South Vietnamese troops.

The platform also calls for ending violence and crime but pledges to work to alleviate social and economic conditions that it said often set off these

No Bids for Bus To Zwick's Park

The need of a possible bus service to Zwick's Island Park, may have been the topic of private conversation during recent weeks, but the Belleville Transit Commission has had no official requests.

"At least the commission is concerned we have had neither written nor verbal requests for bus service to the park," stated commission chairman Jack Ireland.

However, commission members have discussed the possibility of some kind of bus service to the island, but Mr. Ireland said it appeared this was something which would have to be considered for next year.

"We've been toying with the idea but it would not be an easy route to set up. There just would be no easy answer," he said.

Such a service would be for the summer months only and the decision would have to be decided whether runs would be regular throughout the week or only during weekends.

And if Sunday runs were involved there would be a problem of drivers.

Local bus drivers are all union members and they do not work on Sundays.

Lorne Williams, Parks Board administrator, said the parks board has not received no official requests for bus service to Zwick's Island.

"However," he said, "there is the point of whether we are satisfying the need of people without cars."

Mr. Williams said the matter would be discussed at the next parks board meeting.

IN MEMORIAM

ROYLE — In loving memory of a dear sister and aunt, Margaret (Heidi) Royle who passed away August 6th, 1964.

Sadly and silently she is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain,
Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Dear sister Heidi, not in vain.

But trust in God to meet again.
—Lovingly remembered by her sister-in-law Mrs. Heidi, Aunt Tommy.

ROYLE — In loving memory of our dear sister and aunt, Margaret (Heidi) Royle who passed away August 6th, 1964.

How constantly we think of you,
With hearts and eyes that weep,
You were so kind in life dear,
In death, grown stronger with the years,
Your memory faithful and ever abiding heart.
The day we lost you dear Marg.
Our world just fell apart.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Mom, Dad and Gerry.

ROYLE — In loving memory of a dear sister, Margaret (Heidi) Royle who passed away on Aug. 6th, 1964.

God, put your arms around her,
Lord, hear in your ears,
Make up for all she suffered,
For all she went through,
We'll save only a sister of ours,
cries,
Spared with a million tears.
As we wish, God, you had spared her,
but
Just a few more years,
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by her sister and brother-in-law Al, and niece Cathy.

"Those we love go not out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in their hearts,
And in God we hope to find.
You were so kind in all your ways,
Upright and just in all her days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,

It's Tarzan-time: Youngsters Yesterday Beat Heat at Cannifton – Swinging From Rope for Cooling Dip

Room to Romp: Outlet Beach Helped Beat Holiday Weekend Heat

Tough Approach by Quinte Police Keeps Weekend Mishaps to Minimum

Provincial police came out in force on land and water during the August holiday weekend as a record volume of traffic poured through the Quinte district.

The forceful display of law enforcement apparently paid off. Today, police records are clear of any major mishap during the three-day holiday.

It was the heaviest weekend we've had for traffic," said a police spokesman. "But it paid off. We didn't have one bad accident.

An OPP motor launch plied lakes in Hastings and Prince Edward counties as the flight to the outdoors mounted as warm, humid weather hit the Quinte urban areas.

The launch even made an appearance at Weslemkoon Lake, one of the district's more solitary lakes, on the borders of Hastings and Lennox and Addington counties, where the crew reported issuing several warnings to boat owners.

Sunday, liquor violations were charged against three men when the launch patrolled West Lake in Prince Edward County.

The only serious traffic incident occurred Sunday afternoon on Highway 7 at Elm Tree Corners, five miles east of Kaladar.

Air force corporal Isobel Osolinsky, stationed at Canadian Forces Base Trenton suffered a fractured shoulder and leg and severe leg lacerations when her sports car was wrecked.

Police said she lost control of the vehicle when she pulled out to avoid a car turning onto the highway.

Cpl. Osolinsky was transferred to the military hospital at Kingston.

Goal of most of the shade-seekers, apparently was the area's provincial parks.

Municipal recreation areas — like Belleville's Zwick's Island park — still drew a steady flow of visitors. But numbers were down in comparison to other warm-spell weekends this year.

The weather pattern finally broke with the end of the holiday.

A mild thunderstorm hit the Belleville area about 3 a.m. today, bringing heavy overnight rains — and cooler temperatures.

Moira Level So Low No Water Over Dam

Rapidly lowering water levels in the Moira River may make the filling of the new seasonal dam in North Belleville a slower process than was originally expected.

A Moira River Conservation Authority official said that the seasonal dam opposite Riverside Park on Cannifton Road was now completed with the exception of placing the stop logs. These will be placed next Thursday.

Authority officials will be on hand to see at least some of the stop logs placed as an executive meeting has been scheduled to be held at the dam during the afternoon.

A couple of months ago high water conditions were hampering construction of the dam.

Now the picture has completely changed and the river level has dropped to such an extent that no water is going over the Cannifton dam about a mile upstream.

As result filling of the new seasonal dam may be much

Rain Fails to Ease District Fire Hazard

TWEED — The forest fire hazard still remains high in the North Hastings area despite an overnight shower which slightly dampened the ground.

Three quarters of an inch of rain fell in the Tweed district overnight, but further north in the Tweed fire district there was very little rain with precipitation ranging from .01 inch at Palmers Rapids and .02 inch at Bancroft to .17 inch at Dacre.

Three new fires broke out in the fire area over the weekend, including one in Ashby township, one in Lake township and another in Carlow township.

The Carlow township fire was still burning this morning but was stated under control.

So far this season a total of 119 fires have been reported in the Tweed fire district with a total of 1,113 acres being burned over.

Last year during the entire fire season there were 112 fires burning a total of 659.7 acres.

Marmora Miners Get Wage Parity

MARMORA — This village of 1,400 may now be housing the Quinte area's highest-paid workers.

Sunday, workers at Marmoraton Mining Company board details of the rich contract package won at recent negotiations in Pittsburgh, giving them parity with U.S. steelworkers.

"This was the biggest thing — the breakthrough on parity with the U.S.," said Cecil Bell, president of the steelworkers' Marmora local 4834.

Across-the-board wage increase amount to about 6½ per cent for each of the three years the new contracts run, Mr. Bell said.

He estimated new hourly wage rates in the first year would give Marmoraton truckers $3.20, shovel-operators $3.80 and electricians $3.95.

The local labor leader believed the new wage rates put Marmoraton workers "in front" of other hourly-paid employees throughout the Quinte area.

Parity with the U.S. industry was "a goal we have been working towards for a long time," added Mr. Bell. "Now we've achieved it and they (the workers) are awfully happy."

Fringe benefits include extended vacation periods, which over, five years will give half the mine's senior employees an extra 10 weeks.

Negotiators Resign

Electricians Veto Contract

The current postal strike, now in its third week, may have had a bearing on Sunday's rejection by striking electricians of a revised contract proposal approved earlier by their negotiators.

The proposed contract, approved by union negotiators eight days ago, was turned down by members of Local 115 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers who went on strike June 24 against the Kingston Builders' Exchange.

The five-man negotiating team resigned after the membership refused to ratify the proposed agreement.

Six other men have been picked by the membership to replace the negotiators.

However, it is suspected that not all union members in the Trenton to Cornwall area effected by the strike were aware of Sunday's vote. Union members are normally advised by mail but as a result of the postal strike newspaper advertisements were placed advising of the vote.

Many of the electricians normally employed in the area are working in other areas such as Oshawa, Peterborough, Sarnia and Ottawa, and may not have been aware of the vote.

In the immediate Belleville area many electricians have been back on the job for periods of up to two weeks as result of their employers signing an open agreement.

Under such an agreement electricians have been working at Loyalist College for the past week.

Electricians are still out at the Belleville General Hospital addition, however. Here, certain other trades are being held up awaiting the completion of electrical work.

Lake Pollution Threat

Bill Hawthorne, who knows as much as anyone about running a resort (his Moira Lake enterprise was featured in The Intelligencer the other day) has some first-hand knowledge of the pollution problem, too.

While Moira Lake at present poses no health hazard, Mr. Hawthorne is concerned about the future. He wants government action now before it is too late. Claiming there are not enough teeth in the present laws, the resort owner lays the blame for the pollution of Lake Ontario on the dumping of industrial waste into Lake Erie. Locally he cites industry and improper sewage disposal from Madoc and from the cottages on the lake.

When all is said and done the issue is one or personal and corporate responsibility. In other words individual Canadians as well as industrial plants must ensure that no action of theirs will contribute to the further pollution of lake waters.

The Government meanwhile must do all in its power to track down sources of pollution and eliminate it where it exists.

Threat to Prince

Threats of violence are not new to members of the Royal Family. In her extensive travels the Queen frequently has moved under the shadow of possible attempts on her life.

Ghana . . . Northern Ireland . . . Quebec all at different times have been potential areas of danger for the Queen. Yet she has never flinched, never been deterred from undertaking any journey already scheduled.

Now with royal tours less in the picture than before there are rumblings from Wales — and the possibility of trouble from extremists when Prince Charles formally accedes to the title Prince of Wales at an investiture at Caernavon next July.

Activity by Welsh nationalists has been increasing of late. And while the public tends not to take the extremist element very seriously the bomb explosions involving public buildings and utilities are worrying the authorities.

A CBC team interviewed Welsh underground members recently. They spoke of gun caches and training in guerrilla tactics, and while there was some element of cops and robbers about it all it would be foolish to dismiss the threat completely. Especially now when security officials are concerned about threats to life of Prince Charles.

The prince is now certain to be kept under strict security watch, while efforts to track down extremist elements in Wales are likely to be stepped up. Britain, for so long one of the world's most stable democracies, has had this kind of problem before — in Ireland. Now the storm signals are out in Wales, and in Scotland too. Many in both countries would like to see them made responsible for their own affairs.

Time Flies

Speaking of young people as we have on a number of occasions of late we suggested that those who feel there is nothing to do in Belleville should realize that it is later than they think. They should make the most of their youth, for one day they will wake up as adults and there will be no time then for idle reflection.

They might consider some words of a remarkable Hollywood personality. Fred Astaire belongs to a generation far removed from today's youth, but he is still young in mind and supple of body. He may not dance much these days but he still pursues his acting career.

Nearly 70, Astaire talked recently with John Gale of the London Observer Service. "I don't know where the time goes," he said. "People immediately mention my age. They mention everybody's age. I'm not conscious of it. The only thing I do notice is that everything goes by much faster than it seemed to before."

"You can't explain that to any young person," he went on. If they only realized. I'm one of the fortunate ones who have had a long career, and don't think I don't appreciate it. There are so many people who don't function around my age. You have to be lucky and try to be reasonable with yourself in order to survive a rough world.

"I don't have any particular philosophy; why I did that or why I didn't. I don't know why I did. I want to do something worthy to follow what I did . . ."

It is advice anyone might take.

"Unreasonable" New Democrats May Dominate Opposition

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — "Charles de Gaulle — Charles de who did you say?"

The question, asked with a quiet, well-satisfied chuckle, came over the phone from just across Parliament Hill

A whole new guard of men Friday — and very sharp they are, too — has taken over in the Prime Minister's east block suite.

Could be that the boss allows them considerably more "freedom of speech" than prime ministerial aides previously have enjoyed, but whatever the reason, the Trudeau "spokesmen" speak in clearer, fresher voice than did Lester Pearson's.

The "Charles de who" crack was typical.

It answered the question beautifully.

And the question had been: "What did the PM think about those French-Government inspired reports from Paris that General de Gaulle, having tampered down his own troubles at home, was set to start stirring up trouble abroad again, specifically for Canada in Quebec?"

Without being smug about it, the way the east block sees things, the new French Government now simply can't afford — in terms of either its diminishing world prestige or its softening currency — its previous political adventuring as an international home-wrecker.

And nowhere, believes the federal Government, has this been as realistically understood as among the provincial politicians in Quebec City.

The Quebec Government, which carried on a two-year flirtation with Paris, has discovered that for French Canadians — even the separatists — General de Gaulle has lost his political sex appeal.

The so-recent-mighty mystique of the de Gaulle grandeur has been punctured like the balloon of hot air it must have been all along.

Le once-grand Charles just is not believable in Quebec any more and probably never will be again.

"De Gaulle," proclaims the one possibly credible Separatist Leader Rene Levesque, "is nothing but an overbearing old man with an insufferably inflated ego."

What has taken the stars out of French Canada's eyes is the embarrassment of knowing that when de Gaulle was giving it "Vive le Quebec Libre" from that Montreal balcony last summer, back in Paris, thousands of students and workers were getting set to start crying "Vive le France Libre."

Just about everybody across La Belle Province, but especially the Provincial Government, is acutely sensitive to the humiliating fact that while de Gaulle was giving them goose pimples of nationalistic delight by trying to tell them how they should be governing, it was scarcely able to control, much less govern many of his own people.

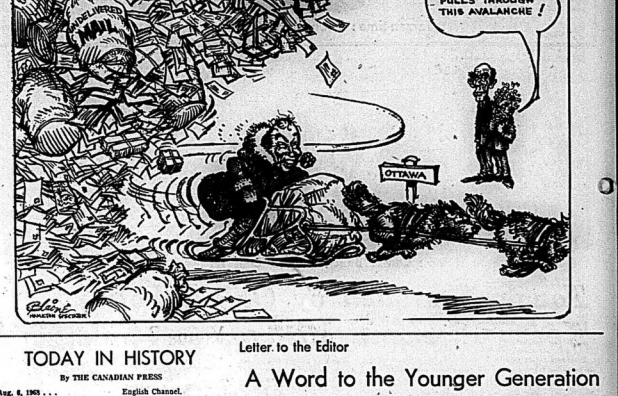
So Premier Daniel Johnson's political honeymoon with the le grand Charlie first was postponed, and then, because of illness, conveniently cancelled.

Former Separatist MP Gilles Gregoire, now leader of the Ralliement National, and Pierre Bourgeault, head of the Rassemblement pour l'Independence Nationale, both made pilgrimages to the Paris shrine for financial and moral support . . . and found the French too busy with their own troubles to worry about "Le Quebec Libre."

But there has been more to Quebec's change of heart than de Gaulle's fall from grace.

The "move" has been "Pierre Power," the Trudeau take-over. Overnight it has made Ottawa, not Quebec City, the real capital, the power centre of French Canada.

Sure prof is the "repatriation" to the federal capital of a host of French Canadian bilingual English Candian newsmen from the provincial capital.



They were in Quebec City these past few years because, for French Canada, that is where the action was.

And so suddenly super-charged East Block can ask:

"Charles de who?"

Contraception Issue

Montreal Star

Reading reports of Pope Paul's encyclical on contraception, one realizes the awful responsibility borne by a spiritual leader when, after lengthy and deep probing of his own conscience, he feels compelled to lay down rules for the consciences of others which he knows full well will divide a resurgent church.

Yet it was a sad decision he reached, for the form which it took, the reservations that it included, the harkening back to past teaching and the oblique references to thinking that has developed since, will only lead to increased, and perhaps impassioned argument by theologians. On both sides. And this argument can only further upset consciences the statement was meant to settle.

Letter to the Editor

A Word to the Younger Generation

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

A great deal has been said about the problems of young people such as the unemployed high school students of Belleville. Problems they have, no doubt about that. Look no further than Front Street on a summer afternoon, teeming — or should I say choking, for there is a minimum of motion — with youngsters who have nothing to do.

Recently two girls complained publicly that Belleville is doing nothing for teen-agers, save sponsoring the odd five-band dance or some such thing. What nonsense! So what if the public doesn't pull you by the apron-strings and program all your days and nights for you! What do you want? Are you youngsters really becoming so lazy and stupid and insensitive and uncreative that you don't know what to do? Is life really that boring? Must I sure do feel so fully sorry for you.

Have you ever dreamed perhaps of inventing some gadget or repairing a lawn-mower or making a real piece of furniture or maybe cycling in the countryside or hiking in the woods or painting a landscape or maybe just a house? How about learning to make real photographs and develop giant prints yourselves (it's fascinating and cheap), or making a bird-cage or an aquarium? Carve a hunk of wood, write an essay, send a letter to the paper and have the guts to sign your name. Of course just now you still have to deliver it yourself. Take advantage of the postal strike and make a few dollars delivering mail locally, if you're not too conformist to be a scab. Sew a dress, knit a sweater, or just do any thing at all.

But don't expect me to take your hands and do the first half for you. Get up, be creative, take the initiative, do it yourself. Sometimes I think you're the most apathetic youngsters society has ever bred, true products of the sunshine TV programming and the unthinking mediocrity which it emulates.

Now, before you flip, let me say why I feel that I can talk this way to you. I am of your generation. Though I've taught high school a couple of years, I am hardly a year or two older than many of you loitering on the streets. And furthermore, oddly enough, I feel sorry for you. Your problem isn't Them. Your problem is You.

Time Flies

Speaking of young people as we have on a number of occasions of late we suggested that those who feel there is nothing to do in Belleville should realize that it is later than they think. They should make the most of their youth, for one day they will wake up as adults and there will be no time then for idle reflection.

They might consider some words of a remarkable Hollywood personality. Fred Astaire belongs to a generation far removed from today's youth, but he is still young in mind and supple of body. He may not dance much these days but he still pursues his acting career.

Nearly 70, Astaire talked recently with John Gale of the London Observer Service. "I don't know where the time goes," he said. "People immediately mention my age. They mention everybody's age. I'm not conscious of it. The only thing I do notice is that everything goes by much faster than it seemed to before."

"You can't explain that to any young person," he went on. If they only realized. I'm one of the fortunate ones who have had a long career, and don't think I don't appreciate it. There are so many people who don't function around my age. You have to be lucky and try to be reasonable with yourself in order to survive a rough world.

"I don't have any particular philosophy; why I did that or why I didn't. I don't know why I did. I want to do something worthy to follow what I did . . ."

It is advice anyone might take.

Bank Rate Is Down

Ottawa Citizen: Reduction of the Bank of Canada rate to 6¾ per cent—from 7¼ per cent in March and 7 per cent several weeks ago—is the best example of news in some time. It reflects declining fears of inflation, and suggests a quickening growth rate. With money more readily available, industrial expansion should go forward. The unemployment rate, now at more than 4 per cent, makes this a goal of public policy. Growth in residential construction is especially desirable, and the government should concentrate its effort in that field.

Many Immigrants to Australia Have Been Disenchanted

By MARTIN SMITH

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—The present Australian immigration program is coming under close scrutiny because of an increasing number of disenchanted settlers who have returned to their homelands.

Figures just released by the department of census and statistics show the net gain of immigrants is steadily dropping.

More than 2,700,000 people have emigrated to Australia since the Second World War. But a large number of them have returned to their homes in Britain, continental Europe and elsewhere.

In the first 19 months of the 1967-68 fiscal year just ended, 111,879 immigrants arrived compared with 111,566 in the same period of the previous fiscal year. At the same time, the number of departures was 20,123—almost as high as the departures for the whole of the previous fiscal year.

Reasons given by returning immigrants for their departure from Australia include allegations of poor housing, anti-British prejudice, slow work promotion, lack of security, no free health plan and bad sanitation.

E. J. McMahon, president of the New South Wales Master Builders Association, said in an interview the high cost of housing could be forcing immigrants to leave, adding that this problem requires urgent action.

Mr. Justice Wilfred B. Dovey, a retired judge of the Supreme Court and member of the committee on social patterns of the Immigration Advisory Council, said a number of causes led immigrants to leave Australia permanently.

"Often the cause derived as much from the individual's own personality as from the material circumstances he met in Australia," he said.

"An immigration program of the magnitude of Australia's could be regarded as successful—at least materially—if 84 per cent of migrants remained permanently in their adopted country."

In March, it was announced that the number applying to immigrate under Australia's assisted passage plan had gone up by more than 50 per cent in the first part of this year.

About 48,500 applied to Australia House in London compared with about 30,800 in the same period of the previous year.

Many of the applications were from persons who previously emigrated to Australia and returned to Britain.

Immigration Minister William M. Snadden said: "These are not people who left because they were disgruntled, or dissatisfied with this country, but people of quality who represent an asset to Australia."

Immigrants who departed solely because of home-sickness, the persuasion of their family or similar factors would not be eligible for a second chance, he added.

Relaxation of entry laws in the last couple of years against Asians has been one of the most important changes in immigration policy.

For generations, the so-called White Australia policy was mainly devoted to excluding Asians from permanent residence in Australia. Since March, 1966, the federal government has been letting in immigrant from Asian countries "with qualifications which are in fact positively useful to Australia."

Johnny Marches Into Town On Ottawa-Toronto Hike

Later he strode through Belleville, a heroic figure under escort carrying aloft the flaming torch lit last Thursday in Ottawa and presented him with due ceremony by Transport Minister Hellyer.

However, the symbolism of the occasion was not all it seemed.

Johnny and his trainer Leo McDonald, have been having nothing but trouble with that torch ever since they left Ottawa.

The aluminum sheath sprung a leak and, fearful of an armful of flaming coal oil, the marathoner decided not to keep it lit during the entire trek.

Instead, when he nears a built-up area, the torch comes out and Johnnie comes marching into town, as though nothing was amiss.

So far, he has been unable to find any craftsman enough to weld aluminum.

The light that failed has been the only setback so far on the hike.

Walking Highway 2 eight-to-ten hours, he figures on covering 35 miles from each daily sunup.

Each stretch is covered on an egg breakfast with no solid food until the day's journey ends.

The trek is scheduled to halt at Toronto city hall Friday noon when the flaming torch will be officially turned out.

Despite the distance, Johnnie figures the walk is something of a snap.

The 38-year-old trucker already has crossed Newfoundland, and marked up marathons between New York City and Toronto and Montreal — Toronto.

"It's easy compared to all the others," he says.

The trek is expected to take about 10 days.

Aaaah! Halfway There

Surrounded by curious kids, Johnnie Rowe dips feet in old mill stream at Shannonville as he reaches halfway mark in 260-mile Ottawa-Toronto marathon yesterday. Torontonian's long-distance hike is to publicize Olympic test trials at CNE.

Four Hurt When Cars In Collision

TRENTON — There were no fatalities reported from here and the surrounding area during the long holiday weekend.

A Colborne car driver, however, was charged with failing to share the roadway following a collision which sent four of the nine people involved to the Cobourg hospital for treatment and X-ray examination.

The property damage resulting from the collision was in excess of $1,900.

Former Police Sergeant Walks Miles for Health

One way to stay healthy: Walk — and walk-tome more. The advice was trotted out yesterday by a man who has been putting his best foot forward and staying fit for years.

At 62, Art Kay can still strike a stride with the best of 'em.

And to prove it, the retired Toronto police sergeant strode eight miles into Belleville with friend Johnnie Rowe, the man who is staging an Ottawa-Toronto marathon to publicize the Olympic test trials at the CNE grounds.

Later this week, he will repeat the demonstration on the last 10 miles of the marathon into Toronto.

"Walking? It keeps you fit. It's good for you," said Art who has been cutting a bronzed, athletic figure for 50 years.

Much of that time has been exerted on track-and-field competition. But, in the 1950s, Art went in for marathon walking. He stayed with long-distance jaunts until 1961, when he walked between Toronto and Montreal for the last time.

There are few Canadian enthusiasts for the sport of walking, says Art, mainly because it lacks the glamor of the big-time, like baseball and hockey.

For the serious participant it means seeking a sponsor to pay fares and point-to-point costs of living.

Otherwise, it's not a costly sport.

Funeral Service Held For Boating Victims

The funeral of a Trenton couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Flindall, who lost their lives last week in a Lake Ontario boating accident, was held Monday morning at St. George's Anglican Church in Trenton.

The funeral service was conducted by Canon K. F. Blatchford.

Mr. Flindall was buried in Mount Hope Cemetery at Brighton, while his wife was buried in St. George's Anglican Church Cemetery at Trenton.

Mr. Flindall, 57, and his 39-year-old wife, left Brighton on Wednesday morning aboard an American-owned 26-foot cabin cruiser La Dolce Vita which was later reported overdue at Rochester.

During the trip across the lake, the cabin cruiser apparently disintegrated. Thursday afternoon debris from the boat was found in the lake north of Oswego and Friday afternoon the body of Mrs. Flindall was recovered.

The bodies of Mr. Flindall and those of the American couple Arthur Patterson Sr. and his wife, Marian, were found on Saturday. Mr. Patterson was a retired U.S. Army lieutenant colonel.

United States coastguard officials said all four had been drowned and suffered exposure. They were wearing life jackets.

The cause of the mishap has not been pinpointed but the Oswego county sheriff's department said there was evidence of fire.

"Too Many Women In Our Economy"—Bluntly Asserts Czech Economist

PRAGUE (CP) — Women of Czechoslovakia, beware! A leading economist says, with disarming bluntness: "We have too many women in our economy."

To which a Czech woman journalist replied later: "It's not possible to make an economic reform here and throw the women into the street." Five languages.

The slightly exasperated women's view of the current economic and political reform in Czechoslovakia came at a recent meeting with members of a publishing house run by the Czechoslovak Women's Union at the opulent 18th century mansion they use as editorial headquarters.

Chief spokesman was Zdenka Zimova, a grey-haired, motherly woman who is editor of a quarterly magazine called Czechoslovak Woman which circulates abroad in five languages.

Mrs. Zimova was not prepared to accept the economist's view of the future for working women in a Czechoslovak society which is likely to be radically transformed in months and years ahead.

"As a whole, we have a shortage of labor in Czechoslovakia," Mrs. Zimova said. "The new economic changes will surely affect not only women but the whole working population.

"We must close down unprofitable old factories and transfer the workers to different branches of industry. It will undoubtedly be a painful process, but it concerns only certain sectors of society.

"It's true that the new factories won't be able to use unqualified workers, and it's also true that there are many unqualified women. For this you can blame the past.

"When they were building heavy industry in Czechoslovakia, they needed and recruited women for light industry. The women came mainly from the household and were largely unqualified. However, many of them have gained their qualification since."

Although not noticeably quick to react when the reform movement began late last year, Czechoslovakia's women have been caught up in the changes. Their leaders seem prepared to take advantage of the deep-seated reforms instigated by Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek and his supporters.

In April, not long after former president Antonin Novotny lost power, the women's union held a special plenary meeting, replaced its top leaders with more liberal personalities and took a message of support to Dubcek.

From a Soviet-style group which passively echoed the old government's line on every issue and claimed gratitously to represent all of Czechoslovakia's women, the union is planning a stem-to-stern overhaul.

Special commissions have been set up to remodel the union's constitution, make its membership more democratic and reshape its objectives. Among other things, the union is likely to take a more active, questioning role in politics and to demand that government ministries consult it more closely on laws and regulations which affect women.

Forty-six per cent of the Czech working population are women. But the visitor is most likely to be struck by the fact that the great majority of street-sweepers, store clerks, streetcar conductors and other such unskilled workers are women.

"The situation here is not as it is in the Soviet Union, where many women occupy high places in industry and medicine and education," said dark-haired, attractive Marta Valsova, one of the publishing house's staff writers.

"We have many highly qualified women in Czechoslovakia but the old habits prevail. The women's union has an important job to do to improve the situation."

The women will also have to work hard to convince the reform economists. Many of the men now shaping the new Czech reforms believe the number of women workers can and should be reduced.

One of them gave me two main reasons:

1. Married women with no real interest in a career frequently took advantage of the government's pledge to provide work—and a salary—for all who wanted it. The result had often been "mass-work" employment for women, which contributed little to the over-all economy, as well as a wood-like spread of bureaucracy.

2. Women tended to be more conservative by nature and were more likely to resist the changes which Dubcek's reformers feel the country needs to survive and prosper economically.

They contended that women who went to stay at home should be able to do so without their family living in poverty. But women who want to have a career should be given full equality with men as well as the facilities—such as adequate child-care centres—to look after their families.

The Home Economics meeting of the River Valley Women's Institute was held Thursday at River Valley School house with 16 members and seven 4-H club members present. Mrs. Roy Irwen, Club leader and her assistant, Mrs. Gerald Brooks were in charge.

An interesting display of posters, record books and hats portrayed the work of the 4-H clubs. The projects were "coma dine in China," by the River Valley Centennial Chefs and "de-tails are important," by River Valley threads gang. Those taking part in the presentation included Mrs. Glenn Bush, Mrs. G. Bennett, Connie Tucker, Joyce Carr, Susan Bush, Jane Bush, Judy Donohoe, Judy Bush and Trudy Bush.

Reports were given by Mrs. Ernest Carr, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe and Mrs. Roy Tucker. The American Farm Women organizations are raising $20,000 in order to entertain 5,000 guests of the associated Country Women of the World at Michigan State University College in September.

Mrs. G. Bush reported that 41 children were enrolled in the swimming classes at Belleville and that they were transported by bus, and a special awards night will be held at the school house. The recent barn sale was very successful and provided funds for this project.

The lunch committee served refreshments and Mrs. Ross Bush voiced thanks.

Fund-raising Adds Up to Fun and Profit

OTTAWA (CP) — Students at Georges Vanier secondary school in Don Mills, Ont., found that fund-raising can be fun and collected $1,236 as a result.

They staged an "ugly duckling" concert, a car rally, a walk-a-thon, a poster party, a "battle of the drummers" and operated a coffee house.

The proceeds were turned over to the Vanier Institute of the Family as the students' annual contribution to its endowment fund, the interest of which supports the institute's work.

Since the federal government matches any contribution to the institute dollar for dollar, the students' donation became $2,472.

In feeding a helping hand to the institute, the students were helping fulfil one of the late governor-general Georges P. Vanier's wishes.

Gen. Vanier, for whom the institute is named, asked that every Canadian be given an opportunity to lend a helping hand in the work of the institute through a donation or in arranging a collection for its support.

The Vanier Institute of the Family is carrying out a program of research and education. The organization's purpose is to help Canadians build a strong and wholesome family life.

THE CAR BUYER'S PROBLEMS

WHAT DO LADIES REALLY WANT?

A leading family magazine has attempted to answer some of the questions that never cease to puzzle car salesmen whose job it is to sell ladies' cars.

The main point the authors are trying to make is that ladies aren't as complicated as some of us males are inclined to think. They're just different.

Well, for one thing, they rely on their instincts a lot more than men and they can sense dishonesty and insincerity in a salesman with the sureness of a bloodhound.

Ladies want to be credited with intelligence, though they make no pretensions at being informed on all things mechanical. They know what they want and they look to the salesman to know his business so that he can help them with integrity of their wisest choice.

A car is VERY important to a woman who needs it, whether she lives in Belleville or Timbuctu. The ladies questioned suggested they would be pleased if they were introduced to the service manager so that he would know them whenever they need him.

Finally, the ladies want this made clear: They spend most of their lives doing conventional things, dressing within conventional limits, while they are striving to be individual within those limits. They want a car that is just right for them, not the salesman's wife or some other gal.

Ann Landers

Son's Girlfriend Poses Several Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 20-year-old son, Cy, has been going with a nice quiet girl who comes to the house evenings and helps him with his homework. (Cy is taking some night school classes.) We all like Hilda because she is encouraging our son to make something of himself.

Yesterday I noticed Hilda looked unusually large around the middle even though she was wearing a smock. I asked Cy this morning if he was aware that Hilda had put on some weight. He replied matter-of-factly, "Ain't you just getting around to noticing it?

ANN LANDERS

Hilda is six months pregnant."

When I regained my composure I asked Cy when they planned to get married. He said, "The baby might not be mine. We're going to wait and see who he looks like."

Ann, I could not believe my ears. Cy then went on to say something about a former boyfriend of Hilda's — one whom she had not quite given up. The boy has red hair. If the baby is a redhead, Cy might not marry her.

Hilda is going to get larger and larger and we have two pre-teen children in the family who know where babies come from. Shall we tell Cy he can't bring her to the house any more? Please, Ann, tell me what to do. I'm going out of my mind. P.S. Hilda does not drink or smoke. — D.C.M.

* * *

DEAR D: Well it just goes to prove that some girls can have fun without drinking of smoking. Don't tell Cy he can't bring Hilda to the house anymore, it won't help matters any. (P.S. You know, of course, the baby's looks will not prove anything, but stay out of it. These two are not interested in opinions or advice.)

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter Jan is 17 years old and I am worried sick about her. This girl is attractive, bright and popular, but she doesn't know how to boil water much less cook a meal. She can't even wash a dish or scrub a floor so that it looks halfway decent. Jan will be going away to school in the fall and I hate to think what her room will look like. (I have an idea because I know what her room at home would look like if I didn't clean it.)

Please don't tell me that I am to blame, Ann. It's not true. I have done my best to teach Jan the things a girl should know but she is not interested.

Children today don't live like they used to. It's TV, their own telephone, and all over the place, phonograph records, hi-fi, stereo and wild competition for grades so they can make the better colleges. Please tell me, Ann, how can mothers teach their daughters to be homemakers when they refuse to stay home long enough to learn. Do you have a word for me? — DEFEATED.

* * *

DEAR DE: Yes. Horseefeathers. Don't blame "the times" for your failure. There are 24 hours in every day — for all of us. It's how we choose to spend those 24 hours that counts. If you've permitted your daughter to spend every one of those 24 hours doing as she pleased, you did her no favor. Every girl should grow up with household responsibilities. It makes life easier for her mother (who deserves a break) and it equips the girl for marriage with something besides good looks and a talent for spending money.

BRONSON AND PEACOCK

On Sunday, July 28, the Bronson and Peacock annual picnic was held at Zwick's Island Park, Belleville. A record of the names and addresses of those present revealed 118 in attendance, coming from nearby villages and from points as far away as Hamilton, Oakville and Ottawa and Petawawa.

The afternoon began with a picnic dinner after which Mrs. George Cotten extended a warm welcome and gave a report of the family and marriages. This concluded the formal business of the reunion and everyone dispersed to take part in the various sports organized by Kay Bronson.

A ball-driving contest was held and the winning lady was Shirley Phillips; the winning man was Wayne Bronson, and the winning child was Michael Bronson. A cracker-eating contest was won by Barbara Bronson for the children and by Marilyn La Morre for the ladies. Sherry Carr won the shoe tongue and Jean Wilson won the shoe-kick. The egg toss was won by John Ward and Dennis Wright. Several races were held and the winners were Scott Franks, Kevin Cotten, Christine Phillips, Kimberley Patrick, Barbara Bronson, Vicki Phillips, Mark Bronson and Roger Bucknell.

The youngest and the oldest present were Cathy Bronson, nine months and Thomas Peacock, 90 years of age. Bob and Lorna Patrick of Petawawa travelled the farthest to attend.

During the gathering considerable interest was shown in the family tree, which was drawn and prepared by Mrs. George Cotten. Next year's reunion will again be held at Zwick's Island Park on the last Sunday in July.

Jestings of Adults Often Instill Fear in Children

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: My husband had a very pretty blonde in a bathing suit on a calendar. He used to leave me and say it was his girl friend. We thought nothing of it, really, until our little grandson enlightened us. My daughter was telling us how he could not sleep and was saying he didn't want any other Granny, and wondered what I would do if Grandpa left me for a blonde.

Well, one morning he and his sister came and crawled in bed with us, as I'm our custom. He said, "Nanny, that is not really Grandpa's girl friend is it?" I said, "No, dear, Grandpa just teases me." He answered "Oh, I'm sure glad. I was scared Grandpa would leave you and we don't want anyone else."

My daughter then told us how worried he had been and she couldn't get him to sleep. Grandpa took him into the bedroom, removed the calendar and assured him I was his sweetheart as Mummy was Daddy's, and no more girls go on the wall. Children, animals and scenery. Those things that bring peace of mind to our wee ones.

I oft times have wondered since then how many little ones live in hidden fear of adults' jestings, as innocent as they may seem to us.

Could you pass this along to others to help keep our young minds clear? — Contented

Dear Contented: And so they do. Reminds me of how a jesting uncle of mine would grab my fresh ice cream cone, pop most of it into his mouth in one big bite when I stood with open mouth and empty hands.

One glance at my own Dad fixed it all, though. He would look at me, wink and shake his head, and I'd know there was another cone in my future.

* * *

Dear Doris: I have a problem about keeping friends. Every time I seem to have a boy that likes me, he drifts away after a couple of days.

I just love doing things that are a lot of fun, and I seem to make friends fast enough. If you could, would you try and suggest what I should do differently? — Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: The friendmaking will have to be fast indeed if replacements are needed every day or two.

But despair not. All girls have boy friends who drift away, and vice versa. It would really be something to worry about if they stuck too long. Gradually you will learn compromise.

Your very anxiety scares 'em. Be friendly, but play it cool.

Dear Doris: We have a new minister at our church, and he is the one who will perform our marriage ceremony in two months' time. Will he just take for granted he is expected at the reception?

I hate to send a formal invitation, which might imply that we expect a gift. He must have plenty of weddings to attend. — Bride's Dilemma

Dear Bride: No minister assumes an invitation he does not receive. Do it with a personal note to his wife, inviting both of them. This does not obligate them to send a gift.

In a case where the minister is a personal friend he should, of course, be sent the same invitation every other guest gets.

Lemon Loaf - A Tantalizing Dessert

By MARY MOORE

Desperately trying to get ready for a three-day camping trip "up-island" in Victoria, I made a Lemon Loaf, Picnic Squares (see later) and Spicy Prune Drops (see Aug. 1). Even as the last two came out of the oven Marian's children were standing by waiting to gobble up their samples. "Grandma, we will be test - tasters this time!"

I managed to keep the Lemon Loaf intact and it was a great comfort one night for dessert after a campfire supper in a gentle rain.

Dinner Menus

Outsize Meat Loaf (Reserve half for slicing cold Wed.); Tomato Sauce; Baked or Pan - Roasted Potatoes; Shredded Cabbage and Carrot Salad; Chilled Compote of Cherries; Lemon Loaf (see Mon.); Coffee.

LEMON LOAF

1 large lemon, ground (see below)
½ cup margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups sifted all - purpose flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sour or buttermilk (or 1 cup sweet milk soured with 1 tablespoon lemon juice)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped walnuts

Cut the lemon into quarters and remove the seeds and grind through food chopper being sure to catch all juice.

Cream together the margarine and sugar until light then beat in eggs and ground lemon. Sift together the flour and soda. Add the vanilla to the sour milk. Now add, alternately, the flour and milk to creamed mixture, stirring between additions, until blended. Stir in nuts. Turn into well-buttered standard loaf pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 60 to 70 minutes. While still warm in loaf pan brush over top a mixture of ¼ cup fresh or bottled lemon juice and ¼ cup granulated sugar. Be sure to use it all for it has a tang into the loaf and gives a lovely flavor.

Store in pan in refrigerator or slipped into a large plastic bag.

As required, slice from pan.

Teacher Struggles to Raise Money for Library

TORONTO (CP) — Susan Usher, a 20-year-old public school teacher from Moosonee on James Bay has been knocking on businessmen's doors hoping to raise $8,000 for a new library for the Indian children she teaches.

But she hasn't had much luck in getting the money to take Moosonee's library out of its present 15-by-eight-foot quarters in the community hall.

"The people I call on have secretaries who won't let me get a chance to speak with them," said the blue - eyed blonde. "Moosonee needs a new library."

She said that the one they have now can hold 500 books, but there is no room left for reading them.

"The children need a quiet place where they can sit and read. They can't read them at home because of cramped conditions and if they take books home they often become destroyed by younger children or dogs."

Miss Usher, here to take a summer course in English and psychology, said the Indian children need every chance to read because there is no television, movies or museums at Moosonee where they can get enriched. Books are no problem.

"A public campaign two years ago collected 5,000 books. They're just what the children need, but there is no room for the books and they have to be stored in cartons in the basement of the Anglican church."

Miss Usher planned the library as a centennial project, but the board never received the donations expected. The community has raised $2,000 over a two-year period with receipts from bingo, dances and turkey shoots.

"At that rate it will take us another eight years before we raise the $10,000 needed," she said. "And by that time a whole generation will have gone through our school without the necessary help."

Pope Says Birth Control Ban Is No Bar to Limiting Children

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pope Paul said Sunday his encyclical banning artificial birth control had been misunderstood by some critics and emphasized it did not bar "reasonable" limitation of families.

Meanwhile, the dispute among Roman Catholics over obedience to the papal ban showed no sign of abating.

Addressing thousands of pilgrims to his summer residence south of Rome, the 70-year-old pontiff said the policy he proclaimed "is not in itself opposed to—as some seem to think—to a reasonable limitation of birth, nor to scientific research and experiments, which, not even to a truly responsible parenthood nor to peace and family harmony."

The Pope's encyclical, Of Human Life, renewed the church's prohibition against chemical and mechanical methods of contraception. Total abstinence and the rhythm method of abstinence during the wife's fertility period remain the only methods approved by the church.

Obviously concerned by the growing opposition to his decision, the Pope said: "We know that there are many who have not appreciated our teaching. In fact many oppose it. In a certain sense we can understand this incomprehension and also this opposition."

But he gave no indications of retreating from his decision, and said his encyclical "is derived from the laws of God." While not issued as infallible, the encyclical is considered binding on the world's 500,000,000 Roman Catholics.

U.S. Catholics who went to church on the first Sunday after the encyclical was issued heard every shade of comment from their priests, including outspoken support for the Pope by high church officials, "It's up to you" statements by some lowly-ranking clerics, and open opposition by other priests and theologians.

In Washington, the Catholic University of America announced that the number of American Catholic theologians opposing the Pope's ban on artificial contraception had risen to 222.

"I am surprised and saddened by the actions of those gentlemen—actions which are setting the church on fire," said Washington's Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle in a sermon urging obedience to the Pope.

But later in the day 52 of the priests in the cardinal's archdiocese signed a declaration reaffirming the position taken before the encyclical by the Associations of Washington Priests that Catholics have the right "to responsibly practice birth control."

In London, The Sunday Times said a poll taken among an undisclosed number of British Catholics showed only one in five supports the Pope's decision and three Catholics out of five using birth control pills are going to continue.

Canadian Catholic MPs Are Told Not to Be Bound by Pope

TORONTO (CP) — Roman Catholic members of Parliament voting on proposed legislation on contraceptive information and sales should not be restricted by Pope Paul's encyclical on birth control, a Catholic theologian said Monday.

Rev. Walter Principe, professor of dogmatic theology at St. Michael's College, said that the Pope's encyclical banning all artificial birth control devices was also aimed at preventing some government from making laws forcing people to use contraceptives.

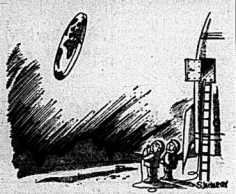
Canadian proposals to permit information and sale of contraceptives are not intended to exert such pressure, Father Principe said.

"Therefore in my opinion Catholics in the Canadian Parliament continue to use the principles suggested by the bishops of Canada in their brief on this bill—that is, they may support the proposed changes in law if they think these changes are for the common good of all Canadians."

The papal encyclical also drew reaction Monday from 82 Toronto intellectuals and laymen who submitted a petition to the coadjutor archbishop of Toronto asking clarification of the church's position on birth control.

Albert Wingell, assistant philosophy professor at St. Michael's and spokesman for the group, said some Toronto priests had said in Sunday sermons that birth control was sinful. This posed the question of how a person practising birth control should act in the confessional.

In the petition to Most Rev. Philip Pocock, the group said:



"The encyclical is not an infallible teaching and therefore remains to loyal Catholics freedom to dissent from its teachings if there be sufficient reason to do so.

There was "sufficient reason to warrant dissent" over the birth control encyclical, Loyal Catholics should consider the encyclical as only one factor in reaching their own attitude towards contraception.

The petition also urged Catholic clergy, the Canadian Catholic Conference of Bishops and Canadian Catholic theologians to make sure that Canadian Catholics understand the papal directive was "only one of many considerations" on the birth-control issue.

Mr. Wingell said the petition was planned after a faculty mass at St. Michael's Sunday. Many of the signers are lawyers and teachers but no priests at the college signed it.

Bishop of Huron Urges Anglican Leaders Speak For Catholics Opposed to Birth Control Ban

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian bishop at the Lambeth conference says Anglican bishops who know the value of family planning may speak for vast numbers of Roman Catholics distressed by Pope Paul's ban on all artificial contraception.

The whole body of 460 bishops Monday hardened their opposition to the papal ruling, reaffirming Anglican teaching that the matter is up to the individual conscience. Their resolution took particular issue with the Pope's choice of words when he asserted contraception led to moral degradation.

Rt. Rev. George Luxton, bishop of Huron, Ont., said in a later interview that Anglican married bishops could judge the subject from personal experience, unlike the Roman Catholic prelates, pledged to celibacy. Anglican clergy knew that use of contraceptives did not lead to moral degradation.

"It is my hope that the Lambeth bishops are not only going to speak for Anglicans in this, but also for the vast concourse of Roman laity," said Bishop Luxton, 67, and the father of three sons.

Noting that the bishops still are in process of shaping a final statement on the Pope's encyclical—Monday's resolution now is being refined in committee—Bishop Luxton said:

"There seems a very strong feeling among the bishops that we should be forthright in reaffirming in no uncertain terms the Lambeth teaching of 1958 and denying the Pope's allegation that use of contraceptives is a responsible fashion leads to moral degradation."

Wording of the resolution on this latter point, which may emerge differently in its final shape, registered the bishops' conviction that the consequences of rational and disciplined use of so-called artificial contraceptives do not of themselves lead to moral degradation."

The bishops considered they tended instead to produce "maturity."

Church Can't Enforce Law in Bedroom

LONDON (AP) — A Roman Catholic prelate warned Pope Paul Monday that he could not legislate for the bedroom.

He was commenting on the Pope's encyclical last week reversing the church's prohibition against chemical and mechanical methods of contraception.

"In the last resort the law is worth as much as the power of authority to enforce it," Archbishop Thomas D. Roberts, 75-year-old Jesuit said in an interview. "Even the church has not the power to enforce its law in the bedroom."

Priests are leaving the church on the issue of birth control, he said, and more will follow.

BC Doctors Replace Diseased Vertebra With Metal Rings

VICTORIA (CP) — A surgical team at Royal Jubilee Hospital has replaced a diseased vertebra in a man's spinal column with a metal prosthetic, the first reported operation of its kind in Canada and possibly the world.

The patient, a Victoria man in his 60s, is in "very good condition," said Dr. A. C. Pickles, the hospital's executive director, at a news conference Monday.

The hospital withheld the patient's and surgeon's names.

To the best of our knowledge, there is no record of this operation being performed previously in Canada," Dr. Pickles said.

It was learned later there appears to be no record of the procedure in the surgical literature of the United States or Great Britain.

The patient, suffering a progressively degenerative disease, had a choice of either going the operation or spending the rest of his life on his back, doctors said.

While it is still too early to assess the outcome of the Friday operation, "we are very hopeful," said Dr. Pickles.

The first five hours of the six-hour operation were spent removing the diseased vertebra —the No. 2 lumbar—in the lower back. The bone, compressed under the weight of the upper part of the body, was meticulously chipped away.

Spokesmen said it was an exceedingly delicate procedure because a slip of the instruments could have damaged the spinal cord, the cells of which do not regenerate.

The metallic device, developed by a specialist employed by the Victoria firm of Kennametal of Canada Ltd., in consultation with the surgeon, is basically two semi-circular rings with supports separating them.

The rings were fastened to the No. 1 and No. 3 lumbar vertebrae with screws to stabilize them.

Doctors expect the device will be further stabilized by the formation of fibrous tissue.

Doctors were asked if the new operation could lead to replacement of two or three vertebrae.

"The technical difficulties would be enormous," said one doctor. "Even with one prosthetic, there is bound to be a certain limitation of movement."

Man with New Heart Visits Home for Coffee Break

MONTREAL (CP) — "Gaetan came home today! He came home for a cup of coffee! But I didn't cry, I didn't cry . . . I'm not the type. . . ."

The excited though restrained voice belonged to Claire Paris, wife of Canada's second heart transplant patient whose health has been improving steadily since his operation June 28, 39 days ago.

"I got a call from the heart institute," Mrs. Paris said in an interview Monday, "and before I knew it, I was meeting him at the door. He said he came home to have a cup of coffee.

"So I made him a cup of coffee and he stayed for about half hour and then went back to the hospital."

The visit came unexpectedly after Dr. Pierre Grondin, who performed the operation, said last week Mr. Paris would remain in hospital for at least "another four weeks."

Last Tuesday Dr. Grondin who had just returned from a conference of heart transplant surgeons in Cape Town, South Africa, said:

"We are going to look at Mr. Paris' home and make possible suggestions to Mrs. Paris as to what should be done to insure the continued progress of Mr. Paris. It will be just a matter of checking to see all is clean. We are not going to have the place sterilized or anything like that."

At home to greet him when he arrived was Mr. Paris' 16-year-old daughter Louise.

"Oh my, she was excited to see her father at home again," said Mrs. Paris.

Louise will enter Grade 12 this fall and then go into nursing, said Mrs. Paris.

Christiane, the eldest, is a nurse and Dr. Grondin had said earlier she would be brought into the Montreal Heart Institute for quick training on how to care for her father at home.

Mr. Paris is Dr. Grondin's second heart transplant and among 10 survivors of a total of 29 such operations performed throughout the world.

New Knee Works

QUEBEC (CP) — A 65-year-old woman who received a new knee last Friday is convalescing normally at St. Francois d'Assise Hospital, Dr. Andre Gilbert said Monday.

The woman, who at the request of her family was not identified, was reported Sunday to have bent her knee 90 degrees without difficulty.

Dr. Gilbert removed the upper part of the shin bone and the lower part of the thigh bone of Fernand Gilbert, 62, of suburban Sillery, who died the day before, and transplanted them to the woman in what he said may be the first such operation in the world.

Children Die in Fire

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Two children were burned to death here early Sunday in a fire in their three-bedroom stucco house.

Their mother and four of her children escaped. Two other children were not home.

Driver Al Vance Surveys Fallen "Unity"

Pacer Dies After Best Heat

Unity, a four-year-old mare, died of a heart attack on the parade lap following the third race. She finished second in a three-way photo-finish that saw Little G. Pat win by a nose.

Unity ran the fastest time of her life's eight racing starts with a 2:12.4. Then she died.

The same people who cried for Unity were those who paid money and trained her to exert herself to the limit.

The brown mare was owned by Cecil Hutchinson of Bath. She was trained and driven by Al Vance. Vance stood second among the track's drivers at

First Race

Second Race
Justa Magic Bomb, B. Wemp, $4.40, $2.50, $3.10. Victory Babe, G. Daily, $4.30, $2.70. Claude Wann, C. Newton, $2.30. Time — 2:17. Also started — Presto Gratton, Lucky Direct, Dixie Conway, Creed. Daily Double Nos 5-4 paid $8.00.

Third Race
Little G. Pat, G. LaRush, $8.60, $3.10, $2.30. Unity, A. Vance, $3.10, $2.30. Time — 2:12.4. Also started — Molly Haw Lee, Success Lightning in the ninth for another first, this one in 2:14.4.

The driver also finished second on Unity in the third and collected another third behind Lisa Lee Chief in the sixth.

Boasting a .400 record, the top Belleville driver took Little G. Pat to her third race win in a lifetime record time of 2:12.4, then came back in the sixth to win behind Evangeline Wick in 2:16.2.

The track card attracted a record attendance of 1,024 Saturday and collected the second highest pari-mutuel amount, $20,130, in its history.

Title Tune for Hyde-Miller Duet

Signal honors were brought to the Belleville Bowling Club on Saturday in Oshawa when Bruce Miller, former Dominion title holder and G. «B. "Jerry" Hyde, President of the Dominion Council for Lawn Bowling, won the provincial title for men's doubles. They will compete in Leaside on August 26-28 for the Dominion title for men's doubles against nine other Provinces.

The winning pair received hearty congratulations from their own club members and visiting club members at the Corbin Gold Cup Trophy tournament staged on Saturday at the local Bowling Club.

There were four zones competing: Kew Beach, Paris, Waterloo and Belleville. In the first draw, Belleville met Norman Page and Jack Wilkinson of Kew Beach and won, 21-13 in 18 ends. In the second round they were drawn against George Lindsay and 'Smokey' Spencer of Paris and edged them in a close game 19-15.

In the third and final round they met Ray Riedel and Joe Dorsch of Waterloo and won 20-15 although the match was decided on the final bout of the game. At the 16th end, Belleville was one up with two ends to go. The 17th end required a measure for shot won by Belleville.

The 18th and final end was a thriller. Bruce Miller with his first bowl drew one behind the 'cat'. His next bowl was slightly in front. In the meantime, Joe Dorsch was making a pocket to the left of the 'cat' hoping to 'spring' it over. With his last bowl, Dorsch touched the 'Jack' but failed to move it far enough, and 'Jerry' Hyde was able to draw and score a three.

From reports the game was decided on the 16th end when Dorsch laid five and one only one more bowl to come., 'Jerry' Hyde had the bowl and his partner insisted he draw for shot. Mr. Hyde made one of his 'steely-eyed' draws and landed directly on the 'cat.'

The play followed by a large audience, who gave a rousing welcome to the new champions.

Price Still High

CALGARY (CP)—Price Morris of Belleville, Saturday won the Canadian weightlifting heavyweight championship with three lifts totalling 1,005 pounds, more than 100 pounds better than his nearest competitor.

Harold Harville of Oshawa, took the featherweight title with 704½ pounds.

Santavy was named to the Canadian Olympic weightlifting team.

COPETOWN, Col. (CP)—Canadian motorcyclists came from behind Monday to post their third straight win in the seventh annual Canada-U.S. motorcycle racing competition. Dave Sehl of Waterdown, Ont., took all four heats in the 500 c.c. event.

"SOCK" ON THE OTHER FOOT—Despite their batboy's T-shirt encouragement to "sock it to 'em", the Belleville Joyces absorbed a 6-4 loss at the hands of Kingston in Sunday's second game of their Eastern Ontario senior baseball association best-of-seven series. Pat Asselstine, John McKibbon and Larry Mavety are the glum Joyce players pictured.

Joyces Split

Srs. Win on Road, But Drop Home Opener

At first glance, it's a paradox. Then, like other seemingly answerless questions, a closer look will reveal that the answer lies in a basic mistake.

Four basic mistakes, in this case.

The paradox lies in the Belleville Joyces winning their first EOBA Senior playdown game against Kingston 6-4 Saturday at Kingston, then losing to the Centennials 6-4 Sunday at the Fairgrounds.

In the first game, coach Gary Goyer explained that the local nine would be at their best for the playdowns with three of their regulars absent from the lineup.

Second baseman Pat Asselstine, injured third baseman Moe Hunter, and injured first sacker John McKibbon weren't supposed to see action. Although McKibbon did see five innings worth of play, the other two didn't, yet the Joyces won.

In the Sunday tilt, with top Joyce hurler Bill Lacroix starting and going the route, and Asselstine back for nine and McKibbon for another four, the Joyces lost.

By four mistakes.

"The first and fourth killed us," said sidelined Moe Hunter. The Centennials collected their six runs in those innings on three of the four Joyce mistakes.

The Joyces tried to make a comeback in the final six innings of the game, but the closest they came was two runs in the eighth on singles by outfielders Doug Dafoe and Craig Rump and walks by fielder Ralph Plane and Asselstine.

The loss Sunday went to Lacroix who allowed six runs on nine hits and four Belleville errors while fanning nine. He walked four.

Top Belleville hitters Sunday included Craig Rump with three singles for five tries and one RBI. Gary Goyer with an RBI and a double, and Doug Dafoe with two singles. Outfielder Larry Soule, hitless, collected the only other Joyce RBI with an eighth-inning fielder's choice.

Kingston hurler/Art Leeman collected the win, allowing four runs on seven hits and nine walks while striking out six.

Line Score:

Kingston	200 400 000 — 691
Belleville	000 100 120 — 474

In Saturday's game at Kingston, Rodger Hunter took the mound for the Joyces until the fifth when Latchford took over. Hunter missed the win by one out.

The two pitchers combined to allow the Centennials six runs on six hits and three Belleville errors. Hunter allowed four of the hits, "Latch" two. The starter fanned five and walked seven. Latchford fanned one and walked one.

The Belleville hitters were Goyer with a single, a double, and a fifth-inning homer with none on; Hunter with two singles, Plane and Dafoe with a single apiece; catcher Larry Mavety, Rump and infielder Wayne Woods. McKibbon hit the only other extra base hit — a double in the fifth frame.

Keith Weese started for Kingston and was relieved by Doug MacIlroy in the seventh. Kingston gave up eight runs on 11 hits and four errors while striking out 13 Belleville batters and walking three.

The Joyces meet Kingston Wednesday night at the Fairgrounds at eight for the third game of the seven-game set.

A 250-mile walk, a $40,000 flame, and a $296,000,000 subway are the talk of the Olympic world.

If anyone doubts to what excesses humans go in the pursuit of their sporting aspirations, these tid-bits should be enlightening.

Professional walker John Rowe was upset because of the apparent lack of interest by Canadians in the upcoming Olympic track and field trials in Toronto.

What to do? Take a 258-mile publicity stroll from Toronto to Ottawa, distributing tickets and enthusiasm along the way.

His Highway 7 endeavor (with an overnight stop in Belleville) should recall for Quinte residents the weird assortment of Centennial year treks, that literally, everyone and his dog made during 1967.

The government of Mexico — scene of this October's 19th Olympiad — will put out an estimated $40,000 to run, ship, and swim the precious flickering torch from historic Olympia in Greece to Mexico City.

It's all very historic and fascinating, but we weren't aware the state of Mexico had $40,000 to spend on anything remotely resembling a trifl.

But I suppose the expenditure can be excused, seeing as how the Games should swell the country's tills with tourist dollars.

An expensive plum being thumbed by Toronto officials in the direction of the International Olympic Committee is a $296,000,000 subway-monorail package, IF their lakeshore site bid for the 1976 Games is accepted.

This type of teaser is becoming the accepted mode of bargaining to attract the Olympics by members of the world community, which pretty well excludes most of its less-affluent members right off the bat.

Of the three Olympic routes, we like John Rowe's pedestrian one the best.

You might say it's in the Olympic tradition.

Calgary Coach Fears B. C. Kicker

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coach Jerry Williams of Calgary Stampeders has no fear about tonight's Western Football Conference game against British Columbia Lions.

His name is Ted Gerela.

"There's no doubt about it," Williams told a news conference Monday. "The Lions greatest threat is the field goal."

Williams was referring to Calgary's last game of the regular schedule against B.C. last season.

Gerela, the soccer-style booter from B.C.'s Fraser River district, kicked five field goals to equal a Canadian Football League record.

"I have memories about the Lions field goal attack, and it's a terrific threat," Williams said.

He wasn't referring so much to equalling the record but to the fact that Gerela kicked all the three-pointers from close to mid-field.

Williams says Lions will be no patsies for the powerful Stamps, who had the strongest pass offence and dominated WFC all-star selections last season.

But he agreed with those who have picked his club as the best in the WFC.

This observation comes despite Stamps 25-24 loss in their season opener against Saskatchewan Roughriders.

"We dropped four passes we should have had, and we lost two gambles when we went for first down on a third-down situation.

Lions know they have to defend against Stampeders quarterback Peter Liske and his favorite receiver, Terry Evanshen, if they want to get their second win of the early season after beating Winnipeg 18-16.

Head coach Jim Champion juggled the Lions defensive unit Monday, cutting injury-plagued Lions added ex-Winnipeg Blue Bomber Wayne Dennis and a yet-unnamed player. He is expected to be Fred Hubbs, an offensive tackle or guard who came from Toronto Argonauts.

Champion says his offence, sparked by halfbacks Jim Young and Leroy Sledge along with fullback Jim Evenson, can score more than 20 points against Calgary.

That means we have to hold them to about 20."

tackle Wayne Foster, a 24-year-old all-American from Washington State, and Canadian Brian Murphy, a Toronto native who had a tryout with Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Conference.

Hamelin Out

Winnipeg Hobbles After Regina Bombing

REGINA (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers went home, licking their wounds and without the services of defensive end Roger Hamelin after a bruising 27-6 defeat by Saskatchewan Roughriders in a Western Football Conference game Sunday.

A total of 16,700 fans had watched as Saskatchewan jumped on the scoreboard at 5:14 of the first quarter with a touchdown by Gord Barwell on a pass from Ron Lancaster. The Roughies built the score up to 17-7 at the half and the last quarter was scoreless.

Saskatchewan smothered the Bombers on the statistics sheet as well as on the playing field.

With 27 first downs, 328 yards rushing and 226 yards passing, they were well ahead of Winnipeg which had nine first downs —eight of them in the first quarter-34 yards on the ground and 160 aerial.

Goode' performance moved him into top spot in WFC scoring ranks. His nine points in Sunday's game raised his season's total to 16, four more than Peter Kempf of Edmonton Eskimos.

Ribs May Sideline Pitts

WINNIPEG (CP) — Defensive back Ernie Pitts of Winnipeg Blue Bombers may be lost to the Western Football Conference club for two weeks with a rib injury suffered Sunday in Regina.

Pitts, former outstanding end in his 12th season with the team, received a torn rib cartilage in a crushing tackle after intercepting a Saskatchewan pass.

Bombers lost the game 27-6 and also lost the services of defensive tackle Roger Hamelin, another club veteran in his eighth year, who sustained a broken left ankle and is out for the season.

EDMONTON (CP)—Light rain which fell all day Monday and Monday night made the start of the Canadian amateur golf championship today doubtful.

The rain began in the early hours Monday, fell heavily for several hours inundating several greens at the Mayfair Golf and Country Club, then slackened to a steady drizzle which persisted throughout the day and night.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A witness testified in Superior Court Monday that former coach Toe Blake of the Montreal Canadiens hit a fan but said the blow did not appear injurious.

The fan did not bleed until after players began hitting him, said Norman Southerby of Canoga Park, Calif.

Blake, who retired as coach of the National Hockey League team last May and right wing Claude Provost are on trial on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon —a hockey stick.

Maris Quits

Suffered Yank "Burns"

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris says he got burned and had the scars to prove it when he left New York Yankees two years ago.

When the star outfielder announced Monday he is leaving St. Louis Cardinals after this season, he said he has had "probably two of the most enjoyable years" of his career. And he has a comfortable future to show for it.

In 1961, Maris hit 61 home runs in a 162-game schedule, breaking the 154-game record of 60 set by Babe Ruth in 1927. That marked the high point of his career with the Yankees.

Two years later, he hit only 23 home runs and drove in 53 runs. That marked the beginning of the end for him in New York.

While announcing his retirement at a news conference, Maris indicated those last bad years with the Yankees haunted him.

"It's like being burned—you never get rid of the scars," he said. "As far as the fans in New York were concerned when I would go back there, I just did my job. I wasn't worried about their reaction."

Maris said he was going to quit after the 1966 season. He had been plagued by injuries and fans and had trouble with the press, but his winter trade to the Cardinals in 1966 for third baseman Charley Smith almost forced him to play another year.

"I didn't like how the trade came about. "I told New York I was going to retire, and they made the trade announcement before I had a chance to open my mouth. And I didn't want the writers to jump on me by saying I retired because of the trade.

"So I decided to play another year," Maris added, "and I believed he liked it so well I decided to play another year. It's a pleasure playing where people like you."

Maris, 33, was paid an estimated $70,000 for each of his two years with the Cardinals. And his future was assured when President August A. Busch Jr. of the Cardinals awarded him a beer distributorship in his new home town of Gainesville, Fla.

Though no longer the super star he was with the Yankees, Maris showed well in the 1967 World Series for the Cardinals. He led the club with seven runs batted in and hit .385 in seven games.

Maris said he decided to make the announcement before the end of the season because "I did not really care to be bothered by the press after the season."

Hopefuls Stew on Sidelines in Wait to Play Top Seeds

TORONTO (CP) — Eighty-eight recreational tennis players, hopeful juniors and serious seniors sweated out the opening rounds of the Canadian closed tennis championships Monday for the chance to say they played against the best in the country.

Some had it easy, Pat Gamey, the blonde under-16 closed champion, bought three new balls at used prices after his opponent retired following the first-round warm-up.

Jim Skelton, the 48-year-old Stevens Cup senior star from Vancouver, won by default, and unranked junior Terry Whelpton of Toronto upset seeded senior Chet Coleman 1-6, 7-5, 6-4, with a tremendous rally in the second set.

Meanwhile Dave Dinelle, a former junior Davis Cup team member, was extended to three sets before beating Fred Wall, a University of Toronto economics professor, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

And Dawood Kahn defeated his Toronto team-mate John Gering 12-10, 6-0 in a match played in Waterloo, Ont., where they were competing in the Western Ontario doubles final.

The best in Canada had the day off Monday. None of the eight seeds were to find an opponent until after the third round this afternoon.

King Loses Crown

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Edmonton's Billy McGrandle was stripped of his Canadian featherweight boxing title when the Canadian Professional Boxing Federation held its annual meeting here during the weekend.

The federation ruled McGrandle's conduct in failing to show up for a June 3 bout in Regina "detrimental to boxing" and declared Francis (Rocky) MacDougall of Sydney, N.S., the No. 1 title contender.

MacDougall had been scheduled to fight McGrandle in the Regina bout.

The federation called for leading Canadian lightweight boxers to meet in a series of bouts which would lead to a title fight for the now vacant lightweight title.

In Winnipeg, Mitch Kilmove, McGrandle's manager, said he will appeal the boxing association's decision on McGrandle.

Bateman Cools Rivals

CALGARY (CP) — Cool composure under pressure won the Willow Park golf classic for Trevor Bateman when he outlasted two others in playoff competition for the first time in two years Sunday.

The quiet-spoken Montreal golfer finished the $20,000, 54-hole event tied with Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver and Stan Homeniuk of Dauphin, Man., with a seven-under-par 206 score, forcing the playoff.

Bateman—who played his first tournament in Western Canada—won it on the second extra hole after matching Vollmer's two-under-par performance on the 528-yard first hole.

The victory was worth $3,000 and earned Bateman a berth in the Canadian golf tour championship at Woodbridge, Ont., Sept. 13-15.

Vollmer, Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont., Wilf Homeniuk of Winnipeg and Alvie Thomson of Toronto had already qualified for the championship with previous tour victories.

Bobby Breen of Weston, Ont., was fourth in the three-day event with a four-under-par 209 good for $1,000.

Norman, this year's leading money winner on the Canadian professional golf circuit and Willow Park champion in 1965, tied with Jim Hiskey of Fall Church, W. Va., for sixth spot with 211. Each won $775.

Kingston Winners
Corbin Hardware to Remain in Eastern Ontario

The Corbin Gold Cup will remain in Eastern Ontario for another year for a rink of Vic Gage, Bert Bruce, Hugh Galt with Bob Stringer as skip from the Kingston Bowling Club won the cup, sponsored by the International Hardware Company and staged by the Belleville Bowling Club. This tourney was the culmination of a bowling weekend with a mixed doubles tourney on Saturday, the Corbin competition on Sunday with men's and women's doubles on the holiday.

Ald. Robin Jeffrey on behalf of Mayor Russell Scott welcomed the visiting bowlers and delivered the first bowl of the tournament. General chairman, William Van Tassel, Abe Wilson, president of the PERA and director of the tourney Gerald B. Hyde also addressed the bowlers and hoped for good bowling. The 'spider' was then played with Bill Deakin of Galt the winner. The proceeds go to disabled veterans.

The women's section of the club provided a full course beef dinner as well as sandwiches, pies and beverage and did a land office business for the 44 rinks entered. A large gallery followed the play during the day. Two firsts were established during the tourney.

The first playoff in the history of the tourney was contested when Gerald Hyde of the Belleville Club and Al Kelly of West Toronto were tied for second play and a playoff of one end was a victory for the local rink.

In the tourney there were three sons and fathers competing for the first time. Doug and Jack Hickman of West Toronto, Peter and Percy Locke of the Maple Club and "Jerry" and G. B. Hyde of the local club were the participants.

In second place in the tourney a rink of "Jerry" Hyde, Abe Wilson, Roy Hall with G. B. Hyde as skip won the Lord Calvert Trophy with a score of 54 plus 6, third place was taken by a rink of Frank Widgery, Al Kelly, Doug Hickman with Jack Hickman of West Toronto as skip. This rink won the Belle Cleaners Trophy. The Gordon Watkis Memorial Trophy was won by a rink of Jay Rollins, John Sager, Wally Lavergne with Bill Fuller from the Belleville Club with a score of 52 plus 7.

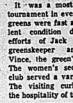
The winners of the luggage sponsored by John Labatt's Limited were a rink of Ossie Newton, Bob Baker, Horace Ormshaw with Ken Peacock of the Trenton Club with a score of 45 plus 4. This rink won the trophy last year.

Winners of the Silex Trays sponsored by Stephens-Adamson were a rink of Fred Mitchell, Peter Locke, Percy Locke with Mel Caverley of the MacDoc club as skip with a score of 66. The first two game winners were a rink of John Morrison, Jack Hunter, Ewart Carswell with Gordon MacMillan of the Oshawa club as skip. They won the Greenfell Jackets donated by the Deacon Shirt Company. The Silver Casseroles were won by a rink of Lyle Foote, Bob Semple, Ken Ashley with Bill Wright as skip from the local club.

The one-game high winner was a rink of John Furney, Walter Rayson, Archie Mayo, with John Hull of Leaside as skip. This prize was sponsored by The Intelligencer and consisted of four silver dessert sets. The second one-game high winner was a rink of Claude Tice, Herb Duke, William Van Tassel with Percy Graham from the local club as skip. They won the four trouble lamps donated by Elliott Motors Ltd.

The no-game high winner was a rink of Ignie Clark, Vic Ingledsen, Bert MacDonald with Grant Edward of the Whitby club as skip. This prize was donated by the Stephen Licence Company. A special prize for the highest score by a Belleville rink that did not enter the prize list was a rink of Frank Benson, Mac MacDonald, Herb McIntyre with "Ab" Wonnacott as skip. The prizes were donated by the Black Diamond Cheese Company.

Peter Hinder, representative of the Calvert Distilleries was the host of a reception for the visiting bowlers held at the Sun Valley Motel Inn on Saturday night and a good time was had by all. Delightful weather was enjoyed, the greens were excellent and a successful tourney passed into history.



Nearly a full draw of 64 rinked doubles rinks competed in the Watkin Memorial Trophy Tournament staged by the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club on Saturday. It was one of the strongest fields of bowlers ever assembled in the city and the competition was keen.

A rink of Patricia Sheffield and Ethel Bonisteel of Trenton won the tournament with a score of 61 plus 10 for three games. The maximum score was 21 and this pair went 10 points over the maximum in their first two games. In second place was a rink of Lil Macaro and Bill Van Tassel of the Belleville Club with a score of 48 points - third place was taken by Mary and Dick Edney of Kingston with a count of 47 points. They were followed by Dorothy and Reg Little of Toronto Cricket Club with the same number of points.

Joan Watkin, a former member of the Belleville Club with J. Ridley of New Toronto were next in line with 46 points and Helen and D. Reynolds of Oshawa were next in line with 45 points. Kitty Owens and Ed Dennison of Kingston were the final three - game winners with 6 points.

The two game high winners were Mabel Brooks and Ted Barnard of Stirling followed by Anne and Jack Avery of the Belleville Club. The high single winner was a Belleville Club pair of Millie and Orlo Smith, while the low game winner was Marg Sherman and Ralph Tuck also of the Belleville Club.

It was a most successful tournament in every way. The greens were fast and in excellent condition due to the efforts of Jack Smith, the groundskeeper and Gordon Vince, the green's chairman. The women's section of the club served a variety of food. The visiting curlers praised the hospitality of the host club.

Playoff Hopes Alive in Pt. Anne

The win affects Point Anne's fifth-place standing in the league by putting them within four points of the fourth-place playoff cut line. The Cementmen are two games behind City Hotel at 13 points.

The loss puts Stinsons at 15-9 for the year, but doesn't move them from their 3rd point second-place in the league. Black Diamond, however, is now still only two points out of second instead of a possible four.

Waite collected five strikeouts in the one hitter, walked none, and his team committed four errors. The single hit came in the fourth as pitcher Bobby Boyle collected a single.

The Cementmen collected their five runs on seven hits and no walks from Boyle. The Builders had three errors. The Cementmen picked up their big runs in the second when four tallies came in on five hits and two errors.

Top hitter for the Point Anne nine was catcher Dave Akey with a double in the second and a single in the fourth. The other hits for the winners were singles by Tom MacDonald, Jim Horwood, Rick Rosebush, Wayne Brown and Waite.

Planes Concrete took two weekend South Hastings Baseball Leagues Series "B" playdown contests from Latta to move one game away from winning the best of seven set, while in the "A" series, Shannonville made sure it would go at least five games with an 8-1 win over Read.

Read now leads Shannonville two games to one.

In the Monday Class B game, Plane's pitcher Pat O'Connor hurled his team to a 6-1 win over Latta with a two-hitter.

O'Connor walked four and fanned five in the win. His team made two errors.

Doug Geen did the pitching for the losers, allowing six runs on seven hits and ten walks while striking out nine. Latta made three errors.

Top hitter for the winner was Don Forsythe with a double. Singles went to Ron Urch, Bob Moon, John Tweedy, Court Braley, Larry Adams, and Eric Emerson.

A Saturday game saw Planes take their second win in series 10-9 behind pitchers Bernie Coughlin and Garn Adams. The two winners gave up two runs on five hits, four walks, and one Planes error while fanning seven.

Top hitters for Planes Saturday were Bob Luffman with three singles. Don Urch with a double and a single, and Braley with two singles.

John Hill and Lorne Cronkright did the Latta surling, giving up ten runs on 11 hits and five walks while their teammates made three errors. They struck out seven.

Latta hitters were led by Geen and Horton with two singles and Ritz with a double.

In the loser Series "A" tilt, Shannonville collected their first win in three outings with Dave Lewis going all the way in the 8-1 win. He allowed five hits, struck out nine, and walked three as his team made three errors.

Frank Farrell pitched the nine for Read, allowing eight runs on eight hits, walking three, fanning one, and also collecting three errors.

Leading the winners at the plate were Dave Lewis with a homer, a double, and a single and Bill Barberstock with a triple and a double. Carl Boonhower, Larry Lewis and Bob Dettler had singles.

Read hitters were Pete Enright with two singles and Jerry Brennan and P. Hunley with one safety each.

Weekend Meet
Bantam Miss Paces Locals

Marie Braida, outstanding Bantam competitor on the Belleville City Track Club, paced the club to a sixth place in the Newmarket AAU meet Saturday.

On her way to a second in the 100-yard sprint and firsts in the 220 and long jump, Marie was very outstanding person: Wendy Braiden, Ontario Bantam Champion and Olympic Trial qualifier from Scarborough.

Miss Braiden beat Marie in the 100 by 1/10 of a second according to Coach Gord Smith. Then the local trackster came back to run over the provincial champion "by at least 10 feet" in the 220 and break the tape by a foot.

Miss Brain won the long jump with a fine, neat, and one-half inches. She got her second in the 100 in :11.6.

Coach Smith said that Marie is not entered in the Ontario championships because she is only 12 years old and has another full year- in her age group.

"This is Marie's first season of competition," the coach continues, "and she has not developed enough in technical things like starts, pacing, and the like. She has, however," he said, "improved greatly in the past two weeks and her Newmarket times were the best yet. Next year we hope to go all the way to the top."

Dave Simonds was the only other member of the team to take home more than one ribbon. He placed second in the midget mile in 4:40.3 and third in the midget 880 in 2:26.6.

Roy Vassey was second in the midget high jump with five feet, four inches; Murray Dales was third in the Bantam 220 with :26.8, and Frank Johnson was fourth in the juvenile 100 with :10.7.

"This was our toughest meet yet," said Coach Smith. "There were more than 340 competitors from 26 clubs. The competition was amazing. There were eight people in the junior 100 and all ran it under 10 seconds!"

Nixon Has Big Edge

Primaries and Favorite Sons Complicate Republican Choice

MIAMI BEACH (CP) — The Republican party's choice for the man to contest the U.S. presidential election Nov. 5 depends on 1,333 official delegates.

How he or the other contenders—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California—get them offers an insight into complications within the complicated American system.

Nixon got a head start by participating unopposed in part of the primary election season. Starting last March in New Hampshire, he captured and tied up—for a first ballot at least, or in some cases longer—the allegiance of more than 200 delegates.

For example, New Hampshire gave him all eight votes. But only 15 states hold primaries in 1968, and Nixon did not contest all of them.

Wisconsin was another he won, and he has his 30 votes until he fails to amass one-third of the 1,333 total votes. Oregon must support him for two ballots.

Much more important from the Nixon standpoint has been a long record of Republican party loyalty—as vice-president for eight years from 1952 to 1960, then as the unsuccessful 1960 presidential candidate and—perhaps most important—going along with former senator Barry Goldwater in his 1964 failure when others such as Rockefeller stood aside.

That has earned him a solid hazful of I.O.U. votes among the party professionals who both populate and direct the otherwise-uncommitted delegates.

Finally, the verdict of the delegate rosidue hinges on a peculiar American device called the "favorite son."

Of these, Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio—with 58 voting delegates—has been the main figure and a holdout from commitment to any candidate.

Rhodes as a favorite son retains control of his delegation until he gives the word that members can vote as they like, aside from his personal preference. This is not an airtight ruling but it tends to be honored.

Most of the Ohio delegates are believed to favor Nixon, but Rhodes is said to be holding out in an effort to liberalize the party platform and perhaps gain a final say on the vice-presidential choice.

Soviet Space Shots Finally Pass U. S.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — For the first time since 1957 Russia this year is expected to launch more successful space shots than the United States. As in the past, the programs of both countries place heavy emphasis on military goals.

In 1957, the Soviet Union inaugurated the space age with two successful Sputnik shots, compared with none for the United States. The U.S. took command with a 3-to-1 edge in 1958 and generally maintained a substantial edge, building up to a 73-to-46 margin in 1966.

An accelerated Russian program cut the margin considerably last year, and the U.S. led by only one launching, 67 to 66.

Through 1967, the U.S. had a total of 600 successful space launches and sent 532 payloads into earth orbit or to the moon, planets and deep space. Comparable figures for the Soviets were 240 launches and 289 payloads.

So far in 1968, the American space activity curve is moving down while Russia's has shown a slight increase.

This year's scorecard for the first seven months shows that the Soviets have launched 40 space rockets, each with one payload. The United States in the same period launched only 22 rockets with 31 payloads. Compared with the first seven months last year, the U.S. has sent up 23 fewer payloads while the Soviets have increased by five.

There are two reasons for the decline in the U.S. launch rate.

—Budget cuts have curtailed drastically the activity of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Activity will remain light the remainder of the year, although NASA plans to resume manned space flight with the launching of the first three-man Apollo ship in October.

—Improved sensing devices and better means of recovery of photographs and other data has reduced the military launch rate, which has accounted for about 60 per cent of U.S. firings.

Twenty-two of the U.S. payloads orbited this year were for military purposes, mainly reconnaissance, navigation, interception of radio signals and communication. Twenty-four of the 40 Russian payloads had military goals.

The Soviet tag almost all their satellites with the general Cosmos label. But American experts report that 19 of the 1968 Russian satellites have been on reconnaissance assignments. With 13 added on been put recently to earth with their data after eight days in orbit and two after 12 days. One is still aloft.

Russia—like the U.S. recovering from a manned space flight tragedy—has launched no cosmonauts this year. But the experts list two launchings as forerunners of a manned flight to the moon. These were Cosmos 212 and 213 which linked up in space April 15.

GOP Platform Aim Is Full Flexibility

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The platform the Republican national convention is expected to adopt tonight would put the Republicans on record for a flexible policy to meet the issues of war, poverty, riots and crime—problems of main concern to U.S. voters.

It is this attitude, rather than stern insistence on party principles, that contrasts sharply with the document tailored by Barry Goldwater's uncompromising—and unsuccessful—campaign four years ago.

The 1968 statement endorses negotiations to end the Vietnam war while looking to a progressive takeover of the fighting by South Vietnamese forces. In 1964, the party promised to "move decisively to assure victory."

On poverty and urban problems, the current statement calls for a substantial vote for private industry. But it does not think at proposals for substantial use of federal funds.

It claims credit for Republicans in the development of such programs as a federal interest subsidy to help the poor buy homes and federal backing of efforts to develop ghetto-owned businesses.

"We will not tolerate violence" in the cities, the 1968 platform says, and it calls for a vigorous drive under new leadership against organized crime.

But it also promises "measures to alleviate and remove the frustrations that contribute to riots" and "a relentless attack on economic and social injustice."

In 1964, riots and crime were not a comparable issue and the platform had no direct reference to them.

The 1968 statement urges revision of welfare programs "to liberate the poor from the debilitating dependence which erosed self-respect." The 1964 statement emphasized first reliance on "the individual's right and responsibility to advance his own economic well-being."

Light Plane Imbedded In Convair

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A prop-jet airliner, with the wreckage of a light plane and the bodies of one of its two passengers embedded in its side, landed safely Sunday before most of the 11 persons aboard the bigger plane knew what happened.

Capt. Ted Baum, 43, Skokie, Ill., brought the twin-engine plane in with one engine dead and his co-pilot badly injured.

Officials said the single-engined Cessna 150 rammed North Central Airlines Flight 261, a Convair 580, over southern Wisconsin. The light plane hit just behind the co-pilot's seat, badly damaging the propeller on the plane's right engine.

The co-pilot, First Officer John Mazur, 30, Wheaton, Ill., suffered multiple fractures of his right leg and head injuries. He was reported in serious condition in a Milwaukee hospital. He was the only person on the airliner injured.

The bodies of the victims were removed after the plane landed. They were identified as Rick Stenberg, 19, Eki Grove Village, Ill., the pilot, Virginia Johnson, 18, Mount Prospect, Ill., and her brother, Richard, 12.

"That pilot did a fantastic landing job," a federal official said.

Lure of Convention Spending Spirals Bids by Host Cities

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The cost of nominating candidates for the U.S. presidency has soared spectacularly in recent times.

In 1940, Chicago got the Democratic convention on a bid of $125,000 and a free hall. Philadelphia bought the Republican show for $200,000 and a hall.

By 1964, reported convention expenses had soared to $1,200,000 for the Democrats and $664,754 for the Republicans.

As convention costs went up along with the price of everything else, an increased burden was placed on host cities.

To win the 1968 Republican convention, Miami Beach had to pledge $850,000 in cash and services and lay out $4,003,000 for a new convention hall. Chicago got the Democratic site for $909,023 in money and services.

The out-of-pocket expenses of delegates went up along with party costs.

A survey after the 1964 conventions showed that the average Republican delegate spent $647 on transportation, hotel rooms, meals, entertainment and other personal expenses at San Francisco. The average Democrat put out $465 at Atlantic City.

For the most part, the survey found, the delegates are upper-income people who contribute to their parties and presumably can afford the high cost of participation in politics at the national level. The Republicans had a higher proportion of delegates with incomes from $25,000 a year upward, 39 per cent to 30 per cent for the Democrats.

In the under-$20,000 range were 47.9 per cent of the Republican delegates and 53.2 per cent of the Democrats.

By guaranteeing the bulk of the party outlays, the cities hope to benefit in turn from a one-week upsurge in business and nationwide exposure on television and in the news media.

If the convention draws 25,000 people to each city, as predicted—and everyone spends about the same—some $16,000,000 will be left at Chicago and $11,000,000 at Miami Beach.

U. S. Air Force Cooks Volunteers

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — They're cooking people at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here.

It's an experiment in human reactions to extreme heat, with applications to the aerospace program with supersonic flying.

Three times a day, volunteers put into a four-foot-high oven and the heat is increased to 300 and 400 degrees.

Fifteen minutes at 400 degrees and a small steak should be done rare.

Some of the human subjects can stand as much as 15 minutes at 300 degrees, well over the boiling point of water, but two or three minutes has been the limit at 400 degrees, says Capt. Grant Callin, 27, of the aerospace medical research laboratories.

Callin's first conclusion: "That the human body is a lot tougher than you'd think."

One of the most significant conclusions reached since the program began in March, says Callin, is that "astronauts could survive re-entry through the earth's atmosphere if their cabin cooling system failed.

"This sort of information could lead to the elimination of a lot of bulky and costly systems from spacecraft," Callin explained.

FINDS CURE

PERNIE, B.C. (CP) — Harry Fulton, a spry octogenarian, has a novel cure for arthritis—bicycle riding. After a 45-mile trip from Fernie to Cranbrook, he said: "When I left the house, I was so crippled up, I could hardly hobble on to my bike, but when I got to Cranbrook, the arthritis was gone and hasn't come back."

Florida Train Crash Leaves 125 Injured

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — A Seaboard Coast Line spokesman says Monday's headon crash of two Silver Meteor passenger trains that injured 125 persons could have been due to "a faulty switch or a dispatching error." His statement added, "We just don't know."

Railway officials said the line uses a centralized traffic system under which a single dispatcher manipulates all movement over several hundred miles of track. All switching is done automatically.

The tourist-jammed passenger trains collided in an orange grove, strewing wreckage for hundreds of yards.

Twenty-seven of the injured were treated at the hospital then critically hurt. The others were given first aid and released.

Winter Haven, famous as a spring training camp for major league baseball clubs, is in central Florida in Polk County, about 40 miles east of the gulf city of Tampa.

Harold Walters, a fireman on the southbound train, said his engine was stopped on the main line, waiting for the slower train to switch to a siding.

Trooper J. L. Smith of the Florida highway patrol said he heard the crash from four miles away. When he arrived he said his first thought "was to try to get the injured people out, but that was pretty much of a job because there were so many people in hysterics."

"We started laying them up along the embankment next to the tracks. We put as many into each ambulance as we could. Some of them rode sitting up next to the stretchers."

Ontario Delaying Case Rush's Lawyer Claims

LONDON (CP) — Chief Magistrate Frank Milton Monday warned the Ontario government it must proceed by Aug. 26 with its extradition case against Myer Rush or the Toronto stock promoter will be discharged.

At the same time, Milton rejected a defence plea for bail which was opposed by the Crown on the grounds that Rush would abscond.

Rush, 44, is wanted in Toronto on a $100,000,000 stock conspiracy charge. He was arrested in London June 21 and has been held in Bristol prison.

His London lawyer, John Cope, argued the Ontario government is taking too long in submitting evidence on which the extradition case could be judged and that Rush should be released on bail.

Cope said Rush's family posted about $27,000 worth of jewelry from Toronto and is prepared to allow this jewelry be used as surety for Rush.

Sgt. John Pole of Scotland Yard testified the Crown is opposed to bail because of fear that Rush would abscond. He said $40,000 bail was forfeited earlier in Toronto because Rush had not appeared on a date set for trial.

Michael Mansfield, a London lawyer appearing for the Crown, requested a further remand in custody, saying the evidence likely will be brought before the British authorities within the next 15 days and the Crown will be prepared to proceed with the case by the end of August or early September.

Mini-hurricane Hits Hamilton

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A mini-tornado ripped through the east-end of Hamilton early today, tearing the roofs from two apartment buildings and a gas station, blowing one car 40 feet and damaging many more with uprooted trees.

Residents of two apartment buildings were evacuated, but no injuries were reported.

The wind was part of a storm that dumped more than two inches of rain from Toronto to Mount Forest, Ont., about 65 miles northwest of Toronto. Hamilton bore the brunt of the storm, receiving 1½ inches of rain in an hour.

Damage was not estimated.

The high winds in Hamilton centred on the six-square block east end area, where hydro crews worked this morning to repair lines brought down by uprooted trees. The area was sealed off as branches and crushed cars made passage impossible.

Most of the city was without power after the wind hit at 3:30 a.m. EDT. Many traffic lights were still out during the morning rush hour, but police kept traffic moving smoothly.

One householder reported his garage was picked up and moved four feet.

There were no serious fires reported, but the Hamilton fire department received about 20 calls, mostly to deal with downed power lines.

The city's east-end beach strip area and parts of neighboring Burlington reported flooding from the heavy rains.

Officers at the Burlington provincial police headquarters building worked in ankle-deep water. A Burlington resident on a street suffering chronic flooding problems reported 22 inches of water in his basement.

In Toronto, Alex Jelinek and his family fled their burning house after a lightning bolt struck the attic and short-circuited power cables.

Lightning also struck a hydro substation, blacking out a large part of the city for about three hours. Officials reported some apartment dwellers were in a "near panic" as loss of telephone service and elevator power left them stranded on the darkened upper floors.

There was flooding and damage from uprooted trees all over the Toronto area.

SHIP SERVICE ENDS

ARICHAT, N.S. (CP) — The last of the coastal passenger and freight boats that served eastern Nova Scotia ports has been taken out of service. Trucks and roads have ended the boat service of the Vanaheim, which the Langely Shipping Ltd. says will no longer carry freight in the Strait of Canso area.

American Motors Reports Car Operation in Black

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. Monday reported a total net loss of $2,561,000 in its third quarter but asserted the firm no longer is losing money on its automotive operations.

AMC, smallest of the four major U.S. automakers, said its third-quarter loss, equalling 14 cents a share, resulted chiefly from absorbing a loss on its books from the recent sale of the Kelvinator appliance division.

The company reported a total profit during the first nine months of its fiscal year of $17,773,000, or 93 cents a share, compared with a net loss in the same period a year ago of $47,965,000, or $2.52 a share.

AMC sold 258,853 cars in the nine months, compared with 230,877 in the comparable span of 1967, the firm said. It reported $652,080,000 in automotive income during the nine months, concrasted with $510,522,000 a year ago.

No Significant Cracks In Steel Price Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the major steel-price boosters have agreed to hold the line on some defence items, but the government is still looking for the first significant crack in a nearly solid industry front.

Republic, No. 3 U.S. producer, and Armco, No. 5, assured the defence department Monday they would not raise prices on military barbed wire and certain steel used in shell casings.

But both firms noted they hadn't raised prices on the items in the first place. Armco did announce an increase of $6 a ton on other steel used in making smaller ammunition and naval shells.

Despite the pledges from Armco and Republic and continued escalation of government pressure on the industry, there appeared to be little if any net gain for either side.

There was no movement from Bethlehem Steel, the No. 2 producer which sparked the current war of nerves by raising prices on all basic mill products nearly five per cent last week.

The Bethlehem increase followed industry agreement with the United Steelworkers on a three-year labor contract expected to cost six per cent a year.

President Johnson is pinning hopes for a price rollback on industry-leader U.S. Steel. If U.S. Steel does not follow suit in refusing to increase some prices—especially on big tonnage sheet and strip—other companies could be expected to do likewise to remain competitive, as they did in 1966.

The defence department, the general services administration and the department of housing and urban development all have issued orders to shift buying wherever possible to firms which have held back from a general increase.

But the pressure of the market place on producers is mixing, hardly anybody need, steel right now. Users are working off a twice-normal inventory which is no protection against the strike that never came.

Anglican Bishops at Conference Likely to Criticize Pope's Ban

LONDON (CP) — Anglican bishops are likely to vote today on a motion criticizing Pope Paul's ban on artificial contraception as the storm of controversy in British sweeps on unabated.

After a turbulent weekend when several Roman Catholic priests preached against the pope's ruling—though many more refrained from comment —Archbishop Thomas Roberts, independent-minded Jesuit prelate, said the storm will "clear up the air."

Archbishop Roberts, 75, former archbishop of Bombay and author of a book called Contraception and Holiness which criticizes traditional Roman Catholic teaching on the matter, said he was glad of the people's decision because it would bring out the truth.

"In my long experience of life, I have found that the truth always comes out best by an overstatement by the other side."

Archbishop Roberts said in an interview published in The Times.

"This is what has happened now. A storm has broken, and it will grow, but as I found in India, a mighty good thunderstorm clears the air."

Dr. Roberts, who believes the Anglican Church should be left to the individual conscience—as the 1958 Lambeth conference decided for Anglicans—said the Pope, by considering contraception as inhuman, had placed it in the same category as the Nuernberg trial judges of 1945 placed genocide.

Dr. Roberts thought more priests would challenge their bishops on the matter, particularly in places like America where they were more economically independent. He felt that time would see the Roman Catholic Church change its attitude, but it might take longer because most Roman Catholics in the world were illiterate and took the Pope's ruling without question.

Signs of this increased in Britain today as Rev. Patrick Fitzpatrick, a Hartlepool priest who handed out printed copies of his Sunday sermon against the encyclical after it had been banned by his bishop, declared a "national movement" of dissent is being organized among British Roman Catholics.

Father Fitzpatrick, warned by the Bishop of Newcastle Mon day to think over the issues he was raising, said he has no intention of leaving the church. At the same time, a group of leading Roman Catholic laymen declared they were willing to publicize the views of the dissenting priests.

At the Lambeth conference, the Anglican bishops were further discussing a motion moved Monday which reiterated Anglican teaching on birth control and declared their conviction that responsible use of contraception did not lead to what the Pope called "moral degradation."

Bishop George Luxton, Bishop of Thurso, said in an interview Monday the bishops feel strongly about the subject. He added that as married men, Anglican clergy could judge contraception by personal experience, unlike the celibate Roman Catholics. He hoped the bishops would "speak for" vast numbers of the Roman laity.

New Car Warranties Generous But Do Not Cover Owner Abuse

By RAY STAPLEY

In the past two years all domestic car makers have extended the warranty period on certain areas of the car to 5 years or fifty thousand miles. I have studied these generous warranties and believe me, never has the customer enjoyed such a comprehensive coverage. However, in order to understand exactly what is and is not covered, it is necessary to study the warranty agreement in depth, which is fairly time consuming and few motorists take the trouble to do it. But there is one point that must be fully understood.

The manufacturers assume responsibility for factory defects only and damage resulting from neglect and self-inflicted punishment must be paid for by the owner and this is the greatest source of aggravation between dealership and customer. When expensive breakdowns occur the average owner hopefully looks to the dealer for coverage under warranty but when, due to neglect or abuse, the customer is asked to pay the shot he is horrified. He feels that he did nothing to cause the damage or perhaps does not care to admit it.

For example, I receive many enquiries from angry readers who have stripped the gears in their standard transmissions and to their dismay, the damage is not covered by the warranty.

Transmission gears are exceptionally tough and seldom fail in normal service, but once abused they can fracture in a split second. When the transmission is dismantled it is fairly simple to detect whether the gears failed as a result of abuse or a factory flaw. In the event of factory defects, once the manufacturer and not the dealer pays the cost of warranty, the dealer is quite happy to cover it under warranty. The gear stripping plague is not just common to the car makers.

A few years ago when operating a garage I overhauled a standard transmission at a total cost of $175, and a week later it failed again. This time it was a horrible mess. When we removed the inspection cover we could shake most of the shattered gears from the transmission case. Fortunately for me the customer discovered that his son had decided to try his hand at drag racing and became a little confused while shifting gears.

With standard transmissions, don't cram through the gears when shifting. No professional driver crams through the gears, but instead, saves time through proper co-ordination with the clutch fully depressed, hesitate briefly before using the gears. Jack rabbit, rubber - burning starts will take their toll.

If your car is in gear when parked, a sudden jolt against your bumper by a careless motorist attempting to manoeuvre out of a tight parking spot can chip the case hardening on the gears and failure will soon result. To avoid this hazard when parked place the transmission in neutral and firmly apply the parking brake. Only when parked on grades is it necessary to place the car in low gear as well as using the brake.

"American Motors claim that an air conditioning unit with the standard equipment and with the Ambassador and is included at no extra charge to the purchaser. I am interested in buying one of these cars and would like to know if there is a gimmick attached to this offer. Would I really get a full sized efficient refrigerating unit?

The air conditioning is somewhat used rather loosely and leads to confusion. Sometimes just circulating outside air through the passenger section is referred to as air conditioning. But in order to cool the inside of the car to any desired temperature a refrigeration unit, much the same as those used in our domestic refrigerators, must be incorporated in the system and this is quite costly — possibly $400 to $500. As well as the refrigerating unit itself, when installed by the car makers, a heavy duty engine cooling package and a heavy duty alternator and battery are included.

American Motors' offer of free air conditioning is genuine. The fact that the Ambassador did not increase in price after the offer was made proves this.

Also, the unit compares in quality with anything used by the car makers including the heavy duty engine cooling package, alternator and battery.

Their system is designed to accomplish cooling, heating, and defrosting with the same unit. Functioning as an air conditioner it cools, dehumidifies, and circulates the air in the car. As a heater it maintains a comfortable temperature in sub zero weathers. The unit is completely automatic and is thermostatically controlled much the same as a household air conditioning unit.

I strongly endorse this accessory. While seldom referred to as a safety feature, true air conditioning offers at least two major advantages. You drive with the windows closed, thus preventing the entrance of stinging insects which can cause a driver to panic and lose control of the car. Also, the driver remains fresh and relaxed in the cooler environment and the possibility of inattention or taking chances due to fraged nerves is minimized.

Most Lottery Winners Are From Drapeauland

MONTREAL (CP) — This city again supplied most of the names Monday night among 151 persons selected to take a chance on winning the $100,000 top prize in Mayor Drapeau's third monthly voluntary tax scheme.

But also drawn were the names of six British Columbia residents, making up the largest block among the 17 persons from outside of Quebec province who will meet here Sunday to discover whether they are winners of lesser prizes or the big one.

Other non-Quebec residents chosen include five from Ontario and two each from Saskatchewan, the Maritime provinces and Massachusetts.

The 151 chosen will be required to answer questions based on Montreal facts about which are printed on the back of each $2 receipt.

The first 100 persons called will receive $100 prizes, followed by 30 to receive $500 each, 30 to receive $1,000 each and the last person $10,000 prize — each contestant being required to answer the questions correctly.

Prizes consist of silver ingots — a 2,150-pound load for the finalist — which can be cashed at once for cash.

The draw, already staged in May and June, was designed to help offset the city's anticipated $28,000,000 budgetary deficit for fiscal 1968, but officials said the postal strike reduced the number competing in July.

In the two previous draws, more than 100,000 persons contributed $2 each to the scheme. Bringing the revenues of more than $900,000 each time to city coffers.

Officials said Monday night, however, the July draw, delayed by the postal strike, was expected to add about $100,000 less than the others.

All payments originally destined for the July draw and now stalled throughout Canada in the strike-bound post offices will be entered in the following month's draw.

The scheme, proposed by Mr. Drapeau to continue for 12 months, is Montreal's answer to a test its legality. U.S. authorities have already banned its citizens from taking part by mail because of a ruling which suggested the draw has aspects of a lottery, illegal in the U.S.

Names drawn Monday night of persons living outside Quebec:

British Columbia: Mrs. E. Eden and S. J. Yotto, both of New Westminster; Mrs. L. E. Swain and J. A. F. Jolicoeur, both of Vancouver; Bernice Bogan, Trail; R. A. King, Castlegar.

Ontario—D. O'Collin, Alexandria; J. N. Flynn, Sarnia; H. J. Seaton, Sudbury; Marcel Laberie, Toronto; D. Marshall, Fort Erie.

Saskatchewan—Mrs. J. Campbell, Colfax; E. Stöninger, Grenfell.

Massachusetts— W. H. Clancy, Hudson; Walso E. Ellis, Greenfield.

Tweed

TWEED — The S. H. Connor Public School in Tweed is getting a new face lifting, two rooms of the interior are receiving a cost of new paint, and as soon as that is finished, Mr. Walter Harkness and his helper will be giving the outside, or exterior, a coat of paint to the entire surface.

Mrs. Dorothy Todd of Colborne, Ontario and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClaughan and three children of Chateauguay, Que. were visitors this week with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harkness on Bridge Street, Tweed. The former is a sister of Mr. Harkness.

Mr. Joseph Dion, of Victoria Street, Tweed, has been off work at the local Sawyer-Massey Company, with an injured knee.

It Is Not Left Which Kills

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Early this summer, I watched a Black Power candidate, Wallace, the Alabama candidate for President of the Confederacy. He was haranguing the audience about the violence and killings in our nation, and, naturally, blaming it all on our "left-wing, radical, Communist elements."

At point of fact, the political killings in the U.S. have all been the other way around — the men and women murdered could all be described as "liberals" — at least supported in the civil liberties movement.

The two Kennedy brothers and Martin Luther King are the most obvious examples, but there have been a dozen other assassinations of Americans who were on the left of the political spectrum. Not a single conservative or right-wing spokesman has been shot even during the most tumultuous summer demonstrations.

But the mind of the bigot, as I am fond of quoting Oliver Wendell Holmes, is like the pupil of the eye — "the more light you pour upon it, the more it contracts." It doesn't matter to Wallace that the facts force us to the opposite conclusion; like Hitler, and little Hitlers everywhere, he finds it comfortable and profitable to blame all our woes on the Communists."

What surprises me in this whole matter, however, is that so many voters apparently look upon Wallace as a "conservative" when in truth he is a right radical of the most pernicious sort, as a true conservative like William Buckley has sharply pointed out.

Genuine conservatives and genuine liberals have no trouble in working together, for both want the same things, basically, and both share a common ethical frame of reference. But for every one genuine liberal there are dozen spurious ones; and for every genuine conservative, there are a dozen spurious ones.

In the 1930s and 1940s, the liberals were beguiled and betrayed by Marxist doctrines; today they are much more sophisticated, and recognize that a political creed based on pragmatism cannot work. But the conservatives — or those who consider themselves so — have yet to awaken in the same way.

They must not be taken in by the Birchite, the vigilante groups, the super-patriotic idiots, the Wallaceites, who are really deep enemies of the conservative position. The Marxists have crushed the liberal faction whenever they got in power; and the right radicals would do the same to their conservative supporters when they felt strong enough — for the decent conservative learned in Germany, too late and too bitterly.

Czechs' Press Freedom Now Like That in West

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"You're very kind to do this for me! It's the only one I really liked."

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new press freedom is settling down at a level that compares favorably with those Western countries where restrictions on news are at a minimum.

Editors use more self-restraint than in the first few months after censorship was lifted, but their main concern is the national interest.

The free press has been a chief target of Czechoslovakia's Communist critics. Revival of censorship was one of the chief demands of the Warsaw letter signed by the Communist parties of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria and Hungary.

The Czechoslovak party's new leaders rejected this and have made plain that censorship was not part of the deal in the propaganda truce agreed to at their meeting in Bratislava Saturday with the signers of the Warsaw letter.

"We believe that Czechoslovak newspaper men are mature enough to avoid all the cheap invectives and provocations which filled the press of the five (Warsaw letter signers)."

The new leaders in Prague who ousted Antonin Novotny from his post of party chairman in January maintain that the country can have a free press and communism, too.

The press helped the new leaders consolidate their position by publicizing the Stalinist secrets that has been considerably pruned under pressure from journalists.

Most editors are members of the Communist party or other organizations in the Communist-led National Front. From time to time, they are asked by the party leadership not to press particular stories or to write about particular subjects.

Direct attacks against Soviet leaders probably will fall in this category following the Bratislava meeting.

Newspaper men have been critical of wrong information given them about the withdrawal of Soviet troops. The Association of Military Writers has asked the defence minister to fire his press spokesman, accusing him of incompetence.

Britain Proposes Germ Warfare Ban

GENEVA (AP) — Britain proposed today a new international convention that would outlaw germ warfare.

Outlines of a draft treaty banning the manufacture and use of bacteriological weapons were put before the 17-nation disarmament conference by Britain's minister of state, Fred Mulley.

A working paper produced by Mulley proposed that states signing the convention would:

"1. Declare their belief that the use of microbiological methods of warfare of any kind and in any circumstances should be treated as contrary to international law and a crime against humanity.

"2. Undertake never to engage in such methods of warfare themselves in any circumstances."

The convention also would include a ban on the production of microbiological agents. But Mulley said this must take into account the fact that such agents also are needed for peaceful purposes.

Firm Denies Milk Jugs Shrink Ounce If Washed

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A spokesman for London's Kemp Products Ltd., Canada's largest plastic milk jug manufacturer, Sunday denied that the jugs lose about one once a washing as reported by federal consumer affairs officials.

Des Kavanagh, dairy representative for the London firm, said Sunday the most any customer could lose would be the equivalent of about one-third an ounce of milk—or about 10 drops.

W. H. Staple, the Sudbury representative of the weights and measure department, had said that when heated in the cleaning process the plastic two- and three-quart jugs contract and lose about one ounce a washing.

"Our department has contacted jug manufacturers and they have started to recall all old jugs and replace them with larger ones," Mr. Staple said in Sudbury.

Mr. Kavanagh, commenting on Mr. Staple's statements, said his company manufactured jugs larger than they should be in the first place.

Mr. Kavanagh added that a milk jug would not go on constantly shrinking.

"It will contract only so far and we allow for that in the manufacturing process," he said.

BC Youth Attempts To Hijack Ferry Boat

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — An 18-year-old youth armed with a loaded .22-calibre rifle was talked out of hijacking the British Columbia ferry Queen of New Westminster in the Strait of Georgia Sunday night.

Captain John A. Smith managed to calm down the youth and convince him he should surrender his weapon after he burst on to the bridge of the ship, loaded with weekend passengers, and threatened two of the ship's officers.

Police arrested a youth when the ferry docked at this Vancouver Island port and seized a long barrel rifle with nine rounds of ammunition in its chamber.

Larry Wayne Ness, 18, of New Westminster, a Vancouver suburb, appeared in magistrate's court here Monday with possessing an offensive weapon. He was remanded in custody without plea until Wednesday after the court was told the youth's parents were en route here to obtain legal advice for their son.

Satan's Choice Chicken Race, 'Lot of Fun'

At the word go, the 60 members, their bikes roaring, raced for a live chicken at the far end of a field.

First person to pick up the largest piece of bloody chicken after it disappeared under the bikes was declared winner.

The victor: the member who grabbed the neck and half the breast.

"I bet the humane society wouldn't like it," said Burnard Guindon, Oshawa branch president. "But it was a lot of fun."

Shooting Follows Robbery

STRATFORD (CP) — Two youths are to appear in magistrate's court today on charges of break, enter and theft following the theft of three rifles, a shotgun and a quantity of ammunition from a Dublin, Ont., hardware store.

The robbery Saturday preceded a shooting incident in Dublin, a village 17 miles north of here, during which a house and car were riddled by shot.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brown and eight of their 10 children were sleeping when shotgun pellets and rifle bullets broke several windows and damaged their front door. No one was injured.

Postmen Are Offered Increase of 39 Cents

Deciding the Big 'If'

William Hurst, a letter carrier in Belleville and member of local 45 of the letter carriers' union, wasted no time this morning in getting his vote in on the settlement offer. He said that he was 100 per cent in favor of ending the strike.

Votes Being Taken By Postal Workers

If the 24,000 postal workers across the country vote to accept the government's offer of a 15.1 per cent pay increase the postal strike should be over by Monday.

But it is a big if and postal workers in Belleville and Trenton are wasting no time in helping to decide the outcome.

Letter carriers in Belleville (Local 45 of the carriers union) are casting their ballots this morning at an informal meeting.

"We're not having a formal meeting", said Jim Campbell, president of the local, "because we received a telegram from our national committee recommending that we vote yes."

"I'm for accepting the offer," he continued, "I think it's a good offer and I think it will be accepted."

The clerks and inside workers, led by president Les Wynne, will be holding a formal meeting at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

In Trenton the workers will be meeting at noon.

Strikers Vote On Settlement

OTTAWA (CP)—The decision on whether to end Canada's national postal strike has been tossed in the lap of 24,000 post office workers.

If they decide to accept a reported wage increase offer of 39 cents an hour, the mails could start moving again this weekend.

Negotiators for the Council of Postal Unions and the government's treasury board finally reached a meeting of minds late Tuesday after a marathon bargaining session that ran virtually non-stop for more than 31 hours.

The threat of parliamentary intervention was hanging over their heads.

With the strike in its 20th day, Prime Minister Trudeau said at noon Tuesday that action had to come one way or another. Either the negotiators would announce substantial progress or the machinery would be started to recall Parliament for emergency action to end the strike.

The Ottawa negotiators and Judge Rene Lajoie of Montreal, federally-appointed mediator who guided the talks through their last crucial stages, remained mum about the agreement's details.

This was apparently in line with the union team's expressed wishes that details be sent to the various locals before individual members saw them in the press or heard them on the air.

But a general picture of the proposed wage package emerged quickly after telegrams went out from Ottawa headquarters to the various union locals. The reported details:

—An increase across the board of 39 cents an hour in two stages of a 26-month contract, retroactive to Aug. 1, 1967, and terminating Oct. 1, 1969.

—The increase would be 21 cents, 8.1 per cent on the average postal pay of $2.57 an hour, over the first 14 months of the contract.

—For the final 12 months, the boost would be 18 cents, an increase of about seven per cent.

Local union officials were to advise their members of the terms today. Voting on the pro-

Biafra Aid Stockpiled While Thousands Starve

TORONTO (CP) — Hundreds of tons of relief supplies, including some from Canada, are being stockpiled in the interior of Nigeria but few of the starving Biafrans are receiving any, John Drewery, CBC news correspondent, said Tuesday.

Mr. Drewery flew to Lagos aboard a Canadian Armed Forces Hercules with 17½ tons of supplies for victims of the country's civil war which began a year ago.

He said in a dispatch to CBC here that the supplies are being stockpiled pending the outcome of continuing peace talks at Addis Ababa.

Food and medicine sent by 10 countries are being piled up in the interior where between 25,000 and 30,000 citizens of breakaway Biafra are said to be starving in pens.

The Hercules, with the Canadian contribution of dried fish and medicine, arrived in Lagos Monday, commanded by Capt. Dan Grumett of Barrie.

Split Is Seen In Union Ranks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's 24,000 striking postal workers are to gather in local meetings in the next two days to vote on the strike settlement reached in Ottawa Tuesday, but indications are union ranks will be sharply split.

A union spokesman in Vancouver said Tuesday night settlement terms providing a 39-cent wage increase over two years are a disappointment and may be rejected by British Columbia postal workers.

"The whole deal is a disappointment," said Jim McCall. "There's a chance the membership will reject it."

He called the government offer, reached after a 31-hour bargaining session spurred on by the threat that Parliament would be recalled to end the strike, a slap in the face because workers are seeking a 70-

Stephen Lewis Assails British, Canadian Policy

CARNARVON, Ont. (CP) — An NDP member of the Ontario legislature Tuesday criticized his party and the Canadian and British governments for their positions on the Nigerian civil war.

Stephen Lewis, member for Scarborough West, told a party gathering in this resort area about 60 miles northwest of Peterborough that the Liberal government has been "crude and unresponsive" in its approach to the war, particularly to the plight of thousands starving in the breakaway state of Biafra.

"We apparently do not give a damn about starvation in Biafra which, for sheer wretchedness of the human condition, rivals nothing since the Second World War. . . ."

"The British government has kept a steady supply of arms flowing to the fratricide," he said. "I style myself a socialist, but to share the label with the British Labor party is a considerable humiliation . . ."

Biafran Leader Leaves

Reagan and Rockefeller Try To Deny Nixon Quick Victory

MIAMI BEACH (CP) — For the second time in eight years, Richard Nixon stood on the threshold of nomination as the Republican presidential candidate, and the big moment for him tonight was only hours away.

The party's 29th convention, its preliminaries mostly out of the way, reconvenes at 5 p.m. EDT.

About 18,000 people in the Miami Beach Convention Hall and millions more on television will be watching the Republicans name their choice for the White House in the Nov. 5 general election.

By all signs and polls it was to be Nixon, the party wheelhorse who was beaten by John Kennedy in 1960 by a bare 100,000 votes.

In three weeks the Democrats, meeting in Chicago, will choose their man—generally expected to be Vice-President Hubert Humphrey, although he is being strongly challenged by Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

Private estimates based on talks with delegates put Nixon within a handful of votes of the majority. Other polls said he was over the top.

The slim chances of Rockefeller and Reagan hinged on their ability to hold in their grasp enough votes to keep Nixon from a majority on the first ballot, and force the voting into at least three ballots with the hope that Nixon's strength then would begin to ebb.

Although the former vice-president declined to predict a first ballot victory, his strategists chipped away at the few remaining boulders of opposition in an all-out attempt to settle the issue quickly.

With the Associated Press count of delegates standing at 613 for Nixon, a first-ballot victory for him seemed to hinge on what switches might take place if he came close to the necessary 667 total for the nomination as the state-by-state tally is completed.

The Associated Press tally showed Rockefeller 272, Reagan 178, favorite sons 195, uncommitted 76 and Mayor John Lindsay of New York 1.

If nominated, Nixon will go into consultation with party leaders about the man who will run with him as vice-presidential candidate.

That man could be Senator Mark Hatfield of Oregon, former governor and a Vietnam war critic. His presence on the ticket would be aimed at attracting liberal Republicans, disenchanted Democrats—particularly those against the war—and independents.

The convention chooses the vice-presidential candidate Thursday night.

The Republican party appreciated the moment of nomination in a fighting mood, sensing victory in a presidential election for the first time since 1956.

Only in eight of the last 35 years has a Republican occupied the White House—that was under Dwight D. Eisenhower—and this year is generally regarded as the best Republican opportunity since 1960. Nixon served as Eisenhower's vice-president for two terms—eight years.

Peace at Home, Abroad Is Republicans' Aim

MIAMI BEACH (CP) — Republicans roared approval early today of a platform pledging that if the party takes over the White House in 1969 it will strive for peace at home and abroad.

Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the platform-writing committee, told the national convention Tuesday night that a new national leadership under the Republican banner will push "for a just peace in the world, for dependable progress for all our people, and for a new serenity and unity in this land."

With these words Dirksen won a final shout of endorsement after two hours of speeches.

The leading presidential candidates—Richard Nixon, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan—already had bestowed their blessings on the manifesto, which calls for peace, without surrender and de-Americanization of the war in Vietnam, and a crusade against crime and causes of social ills at home.

Youngsters Stay Cool At Summer School

TRENTON —"Go to school in the summer, you gotta be kidding."

This would be the standard answer if you suggested to a student that he visit a learning institution during his sacred summer holidays.

However many Trenton students arenblinding a visit to Trenton High School the best way to beat the hot and humid spells which have been attacking the Quinte area.

The secret's in the pool.

Trenton's community pool, situated in Trenton High School, has had adults and tots as well as students enthusiastically entering school doors.

Afternoons, between one and four, are devoted to those under 14 and there are usually up to 90 youngsters in attendance.

Evening hours usually see over 50 adults but extreme heat has doubled this figure.

Douglas White is director of the summer operations and is a Belleville student.

"We always have a lifeguard and most of them are high school students," he said. He added that those who took part saw this as a good way to earn extra money.

Doug pointed out that Tuesday evening is a special "family night" when parents bring their children to enjoy the pool. "The hot weather has really increased the number of swimmers across the board," added Doug.

And why not? For only 25 cents (a dime for kids) you can enjoy the cool luxury of an indoor pool.

So if your son says he's going to school sometime in the future — stay cool. That's probably what he is doing.

Picton Vetoes Fire Aid Pact With Sophiasburgh Township

PICTON (Staff) — After months of negotiations, there will be no Picton-Sophiasburgh fire protection agreement.

That decision may or may not be final, but a Picton council yesterday, lacking Mayor H. J. McFarland and two councillors, voted the proposal down.

* * *

Hallowell Agreement Discussed

PICTON (Staff) — While turning down an agreement with Sophiasburg that would have given fire protection to that township, Picton has begun negotiations with Hallowell for the same services.

Parts of Picton lie within that township, but are actually beyond fire protection here.

Protection will extend to areas at present serviced by fire hydrants.

Payment will be made through taxes to the town, which will be on a par with the rest of the community, the only stipulation being that areas that do accept the agreement do so 100 per cent.

Discussions at this time are still tentative.

Council finally balked at the thought of Picton property possibly going unprotected while the best fire truck was out combatting flames in Sophiasburg.

The issue has been alive for some time. In early June the agreement was thought to be almost within hand. Sophiasburgh objected at that time to a clause stating that the township pay for all damages incurred fighting fires there.

That matter, according to one councillor, was a misunderstanding and was easily ironed out.

At a meeting last month, council became concerned that insurance on equipment and construction covering the crews would be invalid while in Sophiasburgh.

It was learned yesterday, however, that insurance would in actuality still be in effect.

It was felt however that the town would not necessarily be protected under the terms of the mutual aid association, while the department sold its services beyond town limits.

Fire Chief Duane Foshay was on hand for the matter. He commented "there seems to be some confusion within the ranks of the fire marshal's office."

"We are not eligible for protection if all of our equipment is out of town, but only if a re serve truck is here to handle any normal fires. In that case a written agreement would be needed from the fire marshal."

He pointed out that Picton was more fortunate than most communities with the presence of the Camp Picton fire department.

"We have a verbal agreement to fill in for one another if necessary," said Chief Foshay.

Dockrill Asks Police Be Given Job Training

PICTON (Staff) — Police education is to be investigated in Picton.

He stressed that he was in no way decrying the town police force but merely inquiring what opportunities were available for further police education.

"I am asking on their behalf, as well as on our own," he said.

"I would expect that training courses, and refresher courses would not only be available but to an extent compulsory," he said.

Steak House Entered

A break-in at Pape's Steak House sometime Sunday was not discovered until yesterday afternoon, reported Deputy Chief Harold Reid this morning.

"It was nothing too serious," he said, "but six bottles of whiskey and around $25 in cash was taken."

Police are investigating the incident but as yet there have beco no arrests.

Driver Kills Brother's Cow

A cow was struck and killed by a truck driven by Stafford Cassidy of Stoco in that village last night.

The cow turned out to be the property of Clement "Tommy" Cassidy, brother of the driver. The year-and-a-half old animal was valued at $200. Damage to the truck came to $300.

The accident occurred when a dog chased the cow into the path of the oncoming truck.

Planning Board Waves Bye Bye But Blackbird Still on Wing

PICTON (Staff) — Blackbird Investments has been having its troubles with Picton town council and the Prince Edward Central Planning Board, but council at least is determined that its rights must be respected.

The Kingston organization has been attempting since May to erect a soft ice cream stand in Picton on Lake St. Owner George Crowe has been represented by Kingston lawyer Robert Sheppard.

Mr. Sheppard appealed in June to the council. At that time part of the stand had already been erected. The establishment, a commercial enterprise, was falling within an industrial zone.

In July Mr. Sheppard returned insisting that the industrial zoning was an unnatural one, and had been instituted only for the benefit of the former Van Dusen Canning Factory. The ice cream stand occupied that site.

He requested a temporary permit for the second time, and said Blackbird Investments would pay for any cost incurred in rezoning.

A cheque for $300 was deposited with clerk treasurer Andrew Jarvis.

The problem, said Mr. Sheppard, was that the stand was at best a seasonal occupation, and that the prime business period of the year was slipping by.

Council then referred the case to the planning board.

The board submitted its report yesterday to council. The request was refused on the grounds "this is an industrial zone, and the building permit dated April 18, was for repairs only."

The board suggested the industrial area be rezoned, but as residential.

Picton Lawyer Named Family Court Judge

A Picton lawyer, Robert Walmsley, has been appointed the family court judge for Prince Edward, Hastings and Lennox and Addington counties.

The appointment became effective on Aug. 1.

And as a result Mr. Walmsley last night resigned from Picton council as under section 33 of the municipal act he is disqualified from holding public office.

Mr. Walmsley is not a novice in his new position as he has been a part time juvenile and family court judge in Prince Edward County for some time.

Now with the expansion of his duties the new judge will be holding court in Belleville, Trenton, Madoc, Napanee and Picton.

Lyle and Clarence Vanclief Check Potato Growth

Potato Farm Project Grows

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Can Ontario's Prince Edward County match New Brunswick as a potato growing area?

At least two county farmers, Clarence and Lyle Vanclief of Willow Lee Farm in Ameliasburg township feel that it can and have a 30-acre field of potatoes to prove it.

Favored with good potato growing weather this season the Vancliefs hope for a yield of 300 bushels per acre this fall. The tubers will be sold to W. T. Hawkins Ltd. in Belleville for processing into potato chips.

According to a county agricultural representative just returned from a holiday in the Maritimes, the Vanclief potatoes are further advanced than fields in New Brunswick.

The potatoes will be dug about the middle of September and placed in farm storage until required for processing.

But successful potato growing on a big commercial scale is not just preparing the ground, planting and sitting back to wait for harvest time.

You also have to have the right kind of soil, invest in thousands of dollars worth of mechanized equipment, put on spray to combat blight and control weeds and then hope for the right kind of weather.

According to Lyle Vanclief, an Ontario Agricultural College graduate and instructor in farming practice at the federal government adult retraining centre in Belleville, this year has been ideal for potatoes.

First, there was the long, cool spring and early summer with lots of moisture, then good growing weather during July.

The above combination, along with the right type of soil and proper fertiliser, has seen the Vanclief potato field turn into a solid mass of tops completely obliterating the rows in which they were planted.

The Vancliefs got into the potato growing business in a small way about five years ago and each year has seen an increase in acreage with yearly additions in mechanized equipment.

The potato growing venture was all part of a switch from a general dairy operation, which now sees the Vancliefs without livestock of any kind.

"We haven't got an animal on the farm," stated the father.

But the Vancliefs still carry on a diversified farming operation and in addition to the 30 acres of potatoes this year are growing 200 acres of corn. They had a good 20-acre crop of canning peas and close to two acres of strawberries.

"It doesn't pay to put all your eggs in one basket," commented Lyle.

As far as Mr. Vanclief Sr. is concerned, the fact you can grow a big acreage of potatoes without cultivation or weeds is one of the marvels of modern day farming technique.

The answer of course is in commercial spray which costs up to $45 per acre — for material cost alone and without considering the labor involved.

"Our potatoes were billed, not never cultivated," said Lyle.

And there is hardly a weed in the entire 30-acre field.

Sprays are applied for blight, and for weed and insect control. A spray also goes on to prevent sprouting of the potatoes when they are later placed in storage, and a special spray for killing the tops is applied a few days before digging.

Modern day mechanization has greatly reduced the labor involved in the growing of potatoes on a commercial scale. The entire operation from the cutting of the seed, planting and digging is accomplished without touching the potatoes by hand.

An electrically driven seed cutter in a few hours can cut all the seed required for 30 acres of planting. A two-row combination fertiliser and planter does the entire planting job in hours instead of days.

At harvest time a mechani

Fair Parade Tuesday Has Grown in Size

A giant parade which promises to be one of the largest and noisiest ever seen in Belleville will be the opening push-off for this year's Belleville Fair scheduled to get underway next Tuesday, Aug. 13.

Featured will be open cars carrying local fair officials and civic dignitaries, bands, clowns, floats — and more than 70 horses with riders in full Western riding regalia.

The parade, under parade marshal Arthur Corfield, will move off from the Moira Street firehall shortly before seven o'clock Tuesday evening, pass down Front Street, and up Bridge Street West to the fairgrounds.

Immediately following the parade will be official fair opening ceremonies in front of the grandstand. Officially opening the fair will be Tyendinaga Mohawk Chief Earl Hill and his council.

Leading the parade will be open cars carrying Belleville Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott, Trenton Mayor James MacDonald, fair officials and Chief Hill.

Former fair presidents and their wives will ride in the Black Diamond Cheese double decker bus, while Mohawk Indian Council members dressed in full Indian regalia will ride on a special float. Angus Duffy will act as parade supervisor.

There will be special lucky draw prizes for the parade, and entries are still being invited. Anyone wishing to enter may contact parade marshal Art Corfield or any fair official.

Tuesday, opening day, will be children's day at the fair with special rates for the Conklin midway rides. Other opening day attractions include the annual baby show and Al Staggert's professional variety show in the evening.

Votes Being Taken

In Belleville the letter carriers seem to be more pleased and optimistic about the government offer than the inside workers.

Bill Hurst, a carrier, said: "I'm 100 per cent for it" and immediately echoes around the room at strike headquarters on Pinnacle repeated the statement.

One carrier was "150 per cent" for voting yes.

However, some of the men did decline to comment and others said they would wait until they saw the outcome of the vote.

"I'll wait until the votes come in," said Don Mathews.

The president of the local for the postal workers, Les Wynne, would not make any comment.

"Sure I've an opinion," he told The Intelligencer, "but I don't want to give it. There will be a statement released after the meeting," he finished.

In order to make the vote complete all workers who were on sick leave or compensation have been notified to come into the headquarters to vote.

Whether or not either of the local presidents will release the outcome of the balloting is still unknown.

A few members of the Postal workers union (inside workers) were quite emphatic in stating they didn't want the results released.

"There will be a national count and the results will be released on Friday," said one of them.

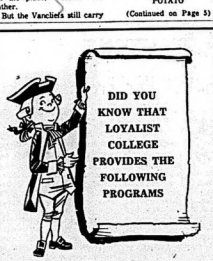
McFarland Gives Raft

PICTON (Staff) — "When Harvey McFarland decides he no longer wants to be mayor, this town will surely miss his favors."

Reeve Barney Hepburn expressed those views yesterday at Picton town council.

He was speaking in regards to the mayor's most recent gifts to the community.



He is footing the bill for a recreation department raft, that is going to run into $800, and has offered to provide the materials for a ceiling at the fire hall.

Earlier in the year, when it became apparent that the budget would not bear the strain, he provided four litter containers for the main street.

The containers cost approximately $56 apiece.

Last month a town worker petitioned the council for a $5 raise. Although it was felt the raise was justified, again the problem of budgeting arose.

Mr. McFarland offered to provide funds for the raise for the remainder of the year.

The Generation Gap

In a recent radio feature Toronto writer and broadcaster Kildare Dobbs spoke of the need for more communication between the generations.

Teenagers for example are regarded as a race apart and it is no wonder they feel alienated, cut off from parents and older people generally. For their part the young people are not as communicative as they might be vis-a-vis the adult world. Each group seems to function as if in a separate compartment.

And yet a look at the contemporary Toronto scene suggests that the generation gap is being bridged to some extent. Mentioned here recently was the work of teenage volunteers who are helping to brighten the lives of slum children in areas like Cabbagetown. Their interest has done much to stimulate youngsters who otherwise are familiar with little else but their own dismal environment.

At the other end of the age scale dozens of senior citizens are reported to have found a new lease of life doing volunteer work for the Social Planning Council. There is Mrs. Cassie McKernan, for instance, who is 82 and spends at least three days a week at Dovercourt Boys' Club. Not only do the youngsters benefit from adult interest and guidance but the work has given the older folk a new lease of life.

As is only too apparent retirement seems to mark the start of a decline in the lives of many people. They have been so accustomed to the routine of working life that cessation of such activity comes to them with nothing to occupy them but lost interest and life can be a burden. Not so, however, when there is work to be done of the kind mentioned here. It is one way to bridge the generation gap and at the same time obtain a new lease of life.

Weekend Scene

What to do when a holiday weekend event does not materialize. One couple solved the problem Monday with a look around the surrounding countryside.

It began with a drive to Cobourg for the Highland Games there. But the event that gave so much life to Donegan Park in past years this August weekend could be viewed and heard only in imagination. No skirl of the pipes was heard, no measured swing of the kilt was to be seen. Its brawny Scot was tossing the caber. The games, it was learned, had been discontinued because of lack of support. What a pity . . . but come to think of it a similar event had been scheduled in the Thousands Islands Parkway area, together with professional golf exhibitions. These events may have drawn both competitors and public away from Cobourg.

A quick look at the beach revealed a crowded lake scene and the inevitable dead fish. So on to Gores Landing and a first time view of Rice Lake and the rolling valleys and high ground overlooking it. A light haze hung over the water and the islands. Was this some other place? Some other country? Ireland perhaps, or Scotland? No, it was one of the many fascinating vistas of southern Ontario's vacation country.

A yacht cruised on the glassy lake. Along the highway by the lakeshore the water was disappointingly distant and cottages and private camps and commercial boating facilities seemed to take up every available access to the water. But that is the way it is these days. Nothing is for free, save perhaps the view itself.

Harwood, . . . Roseneath . . . and then Hastings, small lakeside communities pass by on historic countryside which the Indians have long known and still inhabit — and then Campbellford, that interesting little community on a wide tract of the Trent. The quietness and unhurried atmosphere of this place founded by two Scots brothers back in the 19th century belied recent startling events there marked by the reading of the Riot Act.

But peaceful it was on the weekend. Down by the riverside park an American couple were getting under way in their cruiser. A boy of about 11 was digging in a small garden at the edge of the park. He had a dog for company and he was joined later by a couple whose creation the garden apparently was. Farther along a group of youngsters swam in the river. A pair of teenage girls stirred up a merry swell as they swept past and under the bridge in an outboard.

It was late afternoon and activity was at a minimum. A few cars crossed the bridge. People were scarce. In a busy world the tranquility of the scene was of the kind few experience, let alone enjoy, any more. And for this reason it was difficult to take in, to realize there are places that still remain far from the madding crowd.

Pope Warns of Political Control

Is Birth Control the Only Answer to Population Boost?

By CARL MOLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Reaction in North Atlantic countries to Pope Paul's strictures against artificial birth control has obscured features of his pronouncement that blend with feelings among some Asians, Africans and Latin Americans.

Last Monday's Papal encyclical, Humanae Vitae, contains a warning against authoritarian population control and suggestions that ingenuity should be directed instead to providing for the natural increase in population.

Similar views have been expressed in non-white countries, where both communist imperialism — often organized by European or North American agencies — are suspected of being white, neo-imperialist plots to limit the growth of non-white countries.

Pope Paul has given prominence during his reign to concern for so-called "third world", countries he has visited India and the Middle East and plans a trip to Latin America. His encyclical Populorum Progressio of March, 1967, urged rich-country assistance to underprivileged people.

His experience of the poor countries and advice on their problems would encourage a global view of the birth control issue, rather than the narrower problem of its impact on rich, white societies.

References in the latest encyclical to politically-inspired birth control constitute a challenge to the view expounded widely in the Western world that poor countries will never beat poverty until they learn to limit the growth of population.

Right at the beginning, Pope Paul observes:

"Fear is shown by many that world population is growing more rapidly than the available resources . . . so that the responsibility for authorities to counter this danger will radical measures is great."

Later, discussing possible consequences of condoning artificial birth control, the encyclical expands on the hazards of the temptation by asking:

"Who will stop rulers from favoring, from even imposing on their peoples . . . the method of contraception which they judge to be most efficacious?"

The pronouncement acknowledges the "serious difficulties" of public authorities in developing countries, but adds that there is a mistaken tendency to place all the blame for poverty on population growth.

Instead, the encyclical suggests, the blame may well rest on "lack of wisdom in government, on an inadequate sense of social justice, on selfish monopolization, by egoism as blameworthy indolence. . . ."

Letter to the Editor

Adults' Role in Front St. Open-air Cafe Project

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Being involved with and interested in the "Cafe de la Moira" student project. I wish to inform Libra of the true purpose and results of this project. It is not a silver spoon charity, and it has not failed: it is still operating.

The cafe was born out of concern for Front Street's empty lots and lack of local color and the student unemployment problem.

This project had city of Belleville and Chamber of Commerce approval. Many interested adults, parents and businessmen, gave freely land, buildings, equipment, initial supplies and labor.

The students required to operate the cafe were employed through Canada Manpower. The first four males and the first four females on their list of students who had not been hired before July 11 were offered this job (N.B. Libra) They were not selected from the overall group of students.

The project was described in detail to these young people by Alderman Jeffrey and myself, and we stressed the fact that there would be a lot of hard work, and that the project's success or failure would depend on them. Six accepted the challenge, and two more were hired. Most of these students put in many hours of hard work painting, building, and preparing the cafe for operation.

The students were offered professional guidance regarding all phases of restaurant operation. Much of this advice has been accepted resentfully or not at all.

The primary complaint of the cafe operators is that they are not making enough money. The secondary complaint is that they do not want adult interference. Why aren't they making money? Their profit is poor because generally the seats are occupied by teenagers who buy one soft drink per table then dawdle for hours with it. The attire and attitude of these young customers is not conducive to attracting adults who order, pay, eat and move on. The cafe operators will not ask these "Come-for-the-Afternoons" to leave, but they have also refused adult volunteer assistance in doing this.

The students know how they should be running the cafe and that they can get an adult help any time they want it. A few of them do, but they are overruled. They have not been dumped Libra, but they can kill this project for future years and students by their attitude. By Labor Day weekend we "misguided Dropouts" will know whether we are just that or if we have helped today's youth to accept adult responsibilities.

Quebecers Shunned Couchiching Parley

Montreal La Presse: French-Canadians were conspicuous by their absence at the 37th Couchiching conference on Ontario . . . on the general theme of The U.S. and Us. This negative attitude is in striking contrast to the policy of pressence adopted by the prime minister of Canada, whose efforts were again crowned with success during his "working vacation" tour of 16 communities of the Far North. Communication . . . which breaks down so many barriers is still rejected by too many Quebecers.

Britain — Down But Far From Out

Ottawa Journal

The Christian Science Monitor had five of its correspondents take a stern look at the state of Britain and they found themselves surprised at the vigor of a nation supposed to be broke.

One of them, John Allan May, said that Britain spent almost all its treasure in fighting the Second World War but in 20 years had built it up again. Further:

"Its roads are crammed with 10,000,000 private cars. Its people have $33 billion on short-term deposit in banks and finance houses. Its export record is second only to West Germany's, and its import record is second to none. It provides jobs for 25,000,000 people. Its international investments are enormous. Even its banks have 4,300 international branches."

Another correspondent, John Parrot, noted weaknesses. The machinery of government, he concluded, had to be overhauled and streamlined and social plans reoriented so as to encourage people to have motives which lead to hard work, self-reliance, thrift and service to their fellows.

"The leaders of the country need a new sense of mission or direction," he added.

In business, as in government, Britain has need of more modernization, the correspondents agreed. To find its full strength the nation must overcome inflation.

British domestic criticisms of leaders are not to be blunted by those cast by foreign observers. The London Economist, for example, does not think that the future has been made rosy by the invalion of new standby credits provided by the central banks of friendly nations. With about $2½ billion available to meet withdrawals of sterling, Britain is in a sounder economic position than a few months ago, but the Economist warns this does not allow anyone to take it easy, and adds:

"It means almost precisely the opposite: that our foreign creditors, having given Britain another loan, will henceforth be watching the country's progress with an even more gimlet eye."

The Cause Of Peace

Toronto Telegram: The winner in the Russian-Czech confrontation could well be the cause of peace itself. One wonders, therefore, at the absence of picketers at the Russian embassy in Ottawa. Where are the academic voices, so concerned about peace in Vietnam, which should be standing up for the Czech freedom-lovers and the issue of peace?

Labor Relations

"Right to Strike" Issue Comes Under Scrutiny

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — No matter what happens in the postal strike, the next Parliament is going to have to deal with the question of whether strikes should be permitted in essential public services.

The government is not likely to take any action until it has a report from the special committee studying federal labor legislation and the whole field of labor relations. This report is due in December.

However, the issue is almost certain to be raised by opposition MPs in light of the severe effect of the postal strike on many businesses.

The right to strike was given to public servants for the first time under legislation that came into effect a year ago. Each category was given the option of arbitration, with a board handing down binding settlements in any dispute, or the strike weapon.

The majority of bargaining groups chose arbitration. But postal workers and air traffic controllers were among those who elected to use the strike route.

Negotiations between the government and the 800 air traffic controllers are in a deadlock and a conciliation board is being set up to assess the dispute. A legal strike could take place seven days after the board files a report.

A walkout by the controllers would halt all air traffic in the country. They perform the vital task of directing aircraft landings and takeoffs.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said that Parliament will not be called to deal with the postal strike until there is evidence that postal workers are using their right to strike in an irresponsible fashion and the hardship on the public becomes too great.

But who is to decide when a strike becomes irresponsible? Nobody in the government has yet spelled out a formula for such a decision.

The committee studying labor relations is known to be giving special attention to public service strikes.

It is made up of three of the country's leading experts on labor law: Dean H. D. Woods of McGill University, Dr. John Crispo of the University of Toronto and Rev. Gerard Dion of Laval University.

Their recommendations are certain to have great weight in any revamping of labor laws.

Fluoridation A Boon In Care of Teeth

Ottawa Journal

A post-flouridation study in Metro Toronto's Scarborough has shown that 58.5 per cent of native born four-year-olds drinking fluoridated water since birth had no cavities compared to 49.5 per cent of the age group born elsewhere.

In the 10-year-old group, 56.5 per cent of the Metro born were cavity free, compared to 41.4 per cent born elsewhere. This represents a 30 per cent decrease in cavities for those who grew up where Metro Toronto's water was fluoridated in 1963.

What about Ottawa's children who have been drinking fluoridated water since 1965?

Controller Murray Heit, himself a dental surgeon, says no study is planned at the municipal level. Dr. Heit believes the beneficial effects of fluoridation have been proved many times and Ottawa's undermanned dental clinics take priority in expenditures over flouridation studies.

Prior to the Toronto study, a 10-year study found that Brantford and Stratford children drinking fluoridated water had 60 per cent less cavities than control group of Sarnia children drinking non-fluoridated water.

Dr. Heit says that a local study over a 10-year period would produce similar results.

There's no reason to doubt his reassuring statements, although the facts of fluoridation will continue to see unproven hazards.

Modern Canadians at times appear unwilling to accept the benefactions of research without the support of continuous studies and statistics. On fluoridation, they should relax and be grateful

River Becomes A Garden

Moira River between Lower Bridge and CPR overpass right now is a garden — of weeds. Fed by runoff fertilizers, detergents, stimulated by low water, hot weather, algae is now at its growth peak, giving the waterway, a dismal, dirty-green appearance.

Algae Growth in River at Peak

Density of algae, now carpeting the Moira River in downtown Belleville, will be measured this week.

Growth of the marine plants which give a dismal appearance to local waterways, now is at its peak.

Warm weather, lower water levels, the continued deposit of detergents and fertilizer runoffs are a runaway breeding combination for the algae.

Belleville utilities manager, Ernest Burnham, says a density count will be taken in the river within days. However, he did not believe algae growth was noticeably worse than previous summers.

Present prime breeding ground for the pollution-fed plants lies between the Lower Bridge and the CPR overpass.

By contrast, algae growth is down in northern areas of the Moira watershed.

Moira River Conservation Authority officials explain that high water has reduced growth in major locations like Stoco and Moira lakes.

Increase of 39 Cents an Hour Offered

posal also starts today and Ottawa headquarters expects to know the outcome across the country by Friday.

The reported increase averages 15 per cent, apparently close to an unofficial guideline the federal government has set for negotiations with its employees this year.

The last firm government offer to the workers was 49 cents an hour over a 36-month contract, an over-all increase of about 19 per cent. Annual boosts in that offer were 7.5, 6.5 and five per cent.

Neither William Houle nor Roger Decarie, co-chairmen of the Council of Postal Unions, would say whether they would recommend to the workers that the agreement be accepted.

Romeo Mathieu, chief council negotiator, described the package as a "very acceptable settlement but not from all points of view."

Treasury Board President Drury and Postmaster-General Eric Kierans also declined any amplification on the agreement's terms.

Mr. Drury said the agreement gave the government hope for an early resumption of postal service.

Talks had broken off for four days after the government's last firm pay offer to the union last week. Mr. Drury told reporters Tuesday that since that time "no further offer was made by the government side."

Since the strike started, the union has not announced any change in its publicized wage demand of 75 cents an hour effective for a 14-month contract retroactive to Aug. 1, 1967.

Split in Union Ranks Seen

cent hourly increase in a one-year contract.

"What we have been offered isn't enough," he said. "We need a substantial increase to catch up with other working people."

Mr. McCall said the proposed settlement also lacks clauses covering union participation in evaluation of job and wage structures to offset automation threats.

Fringe benefits should have been higher to make up the difference between wage demands and what the government offered, he said.

Meanwhile Metropolitan Toronto's 4,000 postal workers were to meet early today.

"You never know—we don't know what the proposal is and we may not accept it, but I'll be glad when it's over," said Al Bolger, who has been at a wicket at the main post office for 28 years.

The strikers receive no money when they are on strike because their unions have no strike funds.

One union spokesman predicted that the "agreement will be rejected by workers in the four major cities of Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Vancouver."

"It doesn't go far enough. The wage raise is unrealistic and the government thought they'd put us with the threat of recalling Parliament. They think they can push a settlement on us, but they'll find out that they're wrong."

Elsewhere, a union official of some eight of the postal workers union, which embraces 28 union locals from Niagara Falls, Ont., to Owen Sound, said the 1,700 workers will be asked to reject the settlement.

Potato Farm Project

cal digger digs the potatoes, shakes the dirt loose and runs them into special self unloading wagons for transport to the temperature controlled farm storage which can handle 300 tons.

For storage and transportation to the processing plant in Belleville, the potatoes are placed in crates of 33 bushel capacity weighing a ton each.

The crates are built on pallets and are handled with a fork lift tractor unit.

Next year, to speed the harvesting operation, the Vanclefs expect to purchase a more sophisticated two-row digger.

The farm potato storage building 80 by 60 feet is built to department of agriculture specifications, its walls and thicknesses of insulation to assist in temperature control.

Potatoes for "chipping" are stored at a temperature of 53 degrees maintained by electric heaters and thermostats. If the storage temperature falls below 50 degrees it can mean a lowering of potato quality.

At the same time the higher temperature induces rapid sprouting unless otherwise controlled. Hence the sprout inhibitor spray applied during the growing season.

The Vanclefs own two farms in Ameliasburg township, with close to 300 acres and rent other land to augment their total acreage.

Four tractors are required for the farm operation and even this number at times is not enough. During rush seasons other tractor equipment is hired.

Included in the 200 acres of grain corn planted this year is seven acres of demonstration plot corn. Here 29 different varieties of corn are being grown for display at this fall's Quinte area Corn Land Day scheduled for Sept. 10.

That is the day the big farm machinery companies and the seed firms set up displays of equipment to attract area farmers.

Close to 1,500 farmers are expected to turn out for the event — a percentage of them adult retraining students formerly taught farming practice by Lyle.

"They will be there to make sure that I am practicing what I preach," he laughed.

Trenton's PUC Billing Still Delivered by Hand

TRENTON — Although the nation's postal strike seems to be coming to an end, the Trenton Public Utilities Commission is taking no chances.

Bills are being delivered by hand.

Jim Page, secretary manager, said today: "We are delivering the bills to all our clients."

The hand deliveries, which began Friday, were limited to commercial and industrial users. Now everyone is being billed.

"Clients can pay by coming to the office," explained Mr. Page, "and we also have a cash deposit box outside for those who come after office hours."

He was unable to say how many bills had been delivered so far as "no count has been kept."

A MEMO FROM THE PRESIDENT

Why is Loblaws going out of Stamps?

The overwhelming verdict in our recently completed Loblaw Customer Survey was that the majority of Loblaw Shoppers (8 to 1) were no longer interested in stamps. They indicated that they would like us to concentrate on "Lower Prices"—without lowering our quality standards. This we are doing—immediately. We realize that there are Loblaw Shoppers who would like to have stamps continue. However, all of us at Loblaws feel that all food shoppers will be pleased with the "new look" in Loblaw prices. This is only the beginning. In the coming months you'll notice more and more changes—many suggested by Loblaw Shoppers. You've told us your likes and dislikes. Now we've begun to tailor our stores more closely to your needs.

May I personally thank everyone who took the time and effort to complete our survey questionnaire.

The annual Ketcheson reunion was held on Sunday along the Moira river in the Price Conservation Park. After the picnic dinner, the meeting was called to order by Douglas Ketcheson, vice-president, in the absence of the president Ross Ketcheson.

At this time, it was alsd decided to work on a revision of the Ketcheson history, with the return of Professor Jack Ketcheson from Austria, with David Gamble helping on the committee.

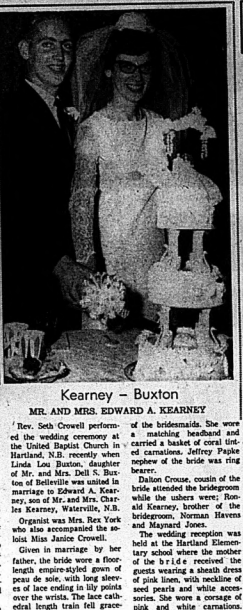
Marchand — Hultquist

MR. AND MRS. GILBERT MARCHAND

Rev. Reginald Sweeney officiated at the August 3rd wedding ceremony at Holy Rosary Church when he united in marriage Louise Hultquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hultquist of Belleville, to Gilbert Marchand, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marchand, of Abitibi, Quebec.



The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white silk organza, featuring a bodice of embroidered lace with pearls and sequins, completed by a shoulder length bouffant veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and ivy.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Rachelle Bigonnette was attired in a flowered nylon over taffeta ensemble; while the bridesmaid, Mrs. Lynda Hultquist wore a gown similar to that of the matron of honor as did the junior bridesmaid, Miss Joanne Tardif of Hull, Quebec. They all carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white 'mums.

Attending the bridegroom was Dick Bigonnette of Belleville; and the ushers were Robert Hultquist of Belleville and James Hultquist Jr. of Brampton.

The reception was held at the Army Navy and Air Force Veterans Hall, where the mother of the bride received the guests in a two-piece blue French lace ensemble, with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom wore a street length dress of cornflower rose lace and crepe with white accessories and a complementing corsage of white carnations.

For the wedding trip to Abitibi, Quebec, the bride chose a two-piece ensemble of pink lace, matching coat and white accessories; her corsage was of white carnations.

Kearney — Buxton

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD A. KEARNEY

Rev. Seth Crowell performed the wedding ceremony at the United Baptist Church in Hartland, N.B. recently when Linda Lou Buxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dell S. Buxton of Belleville was united in marriage to Edward A. Kearney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kearney, Waterville, N.B.

Organist was Mrs. Rex York who also accompanied the soloist Miss Janice Crowell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length empire-styled gown of peau de soie, with long sleeves of lace ending in lily points over the wrists. The lace cathedral length train fell gracefully to the floor, held by a bow from the empire waistline. The headpiece was a bouffant three-tier veil held by a starburst headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

The maid of honor, Miss Gaynell Everett wore a sleeveless empire-styled gown of coral embroidered peau de soie and white accessories and carried a bouquet of aqua tinted carnations. The three bridesmaids, Mrs. Lloyd Buxton, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Louise Crouse, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Jack Fitzgerald were attired identically to the maid of honor but wore aqua peau de soie and carried bouquets of coral tinted carnations. The flower girl, Miss Shelley Mortensen, cousin of the bride, was identically dressed to that of the bridesmaids. She wore a matching headband and carried a basket of coral tinted carnations. Jeffrey Paine nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

Dalton Crouse, cousin of the bride attended the bridegroom while the ushers were; Ronald Kearney, brother of the bridegroom, Norman Havens and Maynard Jones.

The wedding reception was held at the Hartland Elementary school where the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a sheath dress of pink linen, with neckline of seed pearls and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Assisting her, the bridegroom's mother wore a sheath dress of green crepe with a black lace coat and green accessories. She wore a corsage of green and white carnations.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Prince Edward Island, the bride donned a sheath dress of pink boned lace with matching hat and white accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Upon return the couple will reside at Waterville, N.B.

Successful Living

Relaxing Diversions Still the Only Defence

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I read and like reading, but recently have not been able to concentrate. I go outside and look around without actually seeing things. I have a horror of having a blank mind.

Perhaps some of the difficulty is due to work pressure. We have had so many leave this residential school that it throws the work load onto a few able ones, hence no free time. The only time I read is when I am in bed at night and the old brain is not too peppy.

When I do try to take a relaxing walk I have guilt feelings that I am wasting my time and should keep the old nose to the grindstone, which is not right at all. — Concerned.

Dear Concerned: You'd be super-normal if you did not emerge from those long hours of work with brain fag. The ideal work situation is where the worker can walk out of the work environment, close the door behind him, and think no more about it until tomorrow.

Frequent diversions could be your lifesaver — and believe me, you need your life saved! If you can't find breaks for yourself I'd strongly recommend a talk with your president or director, and some thought to pulling up stakes if there is no improvement.

Right now the rat race has got you!

Dear Doris: I am 18, came from a semi-farm-village type of life on the prairies.

Recently my boy friend (24) and his brother suggested driving to the farm home of the brother's girl friend some 150 miles from here. The problem of driving such a distance in one day came up. I hold out for going down and coming back the same day, since even though I trust the boys quite a bit, I have not met the girl.

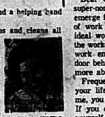
I need a book that will "wake" me up as far as immoral behavior that always seems to creep into parties is concerned. I am the type of girl who wants to be kissed and to kiss as an expression of appreciation of the personality and to show you really feel they're "tops". Then I want to end it right there. I will not sell a kiss nor kiss when I do not want it.—Accepted Ideals?

Dear Ideals: The ideal is good. You make it real by showing friendship in other ways before giving affection, and by avoiding what might turn into necking sessions.

About the overnight trip — would you be going to a home where parents are in charge? Or does the girl live alone? This might well be the deciding factor.

Confidential to Touchy: Next time somebody hurts your feelings, tell yourself the other fellow didn't intend it, but was thinking more about his own worries than about your feelings.

You hurt easily because you are not very sure of yourself. It is far better to wipe out of your mind any concern about the impression you are making. Replace this with some imaginative concentration on what is going on with the other person.



You'll find yourself reaching out to put him at ease, and your own self-conscious fears will leave you.

Ann Landers

Harassed Hairdresser Pleads for Help

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please, please lend a helping hand to the hairdressers of America.

I wonder how a woman who washes, irons and cleans all day would like to go to the home of a friend and do the friend's housework in the evening?

ANN LANDERS

My last three "dinner" invitations turned out ot be requests for free beauty work. My cousin wanted a permanent, my aunt asked me to give her a bleach job and a neighbor needed a haircut, shampoo and set and "couldn't get downtown."

This evening a woman who used to live near us when I was a child dropped over to my home. (I hadn't seen her in 5 year.) She brought her hair clips, setting lotion and a haircut — said I owed her a favor because once she cooked dinner for us kids when Mom was in the hospital.

I couldn't refuse her, although I had been on my feet since 8:00 a.m. and my own hair needed shampooing but I was too tired to do it. Please print this letter, Ann. We abused hairdressers need someone to speak for us. Will you? — VARICOSE VICKIE.

DEAR VIC: I'd be happy to but in the final analysis you must speak for yourselves.

Each of you must put down his (or her) swollen foot and say to friends (?) and relatives who would take advantage of your tender-heartedness, "Sorry, no. I work hard all day and I can't work at night, too, or I'll collapse."

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it so terrible for a 20-year-old girl to be in love with a boy 15? Before you jump to conclusions let me tell you that I look like 16 and Jerry looks like 18. I wear a size 5 dress and Jerry is six feet tall.

My mother and dad tell me I'm crazy to be seen with this guy but they don't understand we are really in love. I've dated dozens of older fellows but nobody compares with Jerry. He sings and plays the guitar and when I am with him I forget all about his being a freshman in high school.

I've heard so many women at work complain because their husbands are too old and too tired that I believe a girl is smart to marry a man who is at least five years younger than she is. After all, when I am 30 Jerry will be 25. What do you have to say about this? — HEART AFIRE.

DEAR AFIRE: I say leave the kid alone before you hear from the Juvenile Protective Association. He may not be underaged but he is definitely underage. In some states you could get into trouble for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When a fellow is engaged and he drops off his fiancee at midnight and meets another chick you call him a bum. What would you call an engaged girl who does the same thing? — BIG DADDY WHO NEEDS A FAST ANSWER.

DEAR DADDY: I take it you're the guy whose fiancee is doing the two-timing. My answer is — why call her anything? Or better yet, why call her at all? Bow out now, Buddy. Your first markdown is the cheapest.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Lamb Curry to Please Your Family

By MARY MOORE

On the meat counter prime rib roast price per pound was higher than usual; stewing lamb price was low, low.

As Marianne pushed her grocery cart through, the male cashier asked "Buying this for the dog Mam?" "Certainly not. I'm making a curry for our family."

She was incensed and so determined to make the best curry yet and froze a leftover sample for me to taste after my imminent arrival. It made me proud.

MARIANNE'S GOURMET LAMB CURRY (serves 6)

2½ pounds stewing lamb (thawed) (see note below)
1 or 2 teaspoons curry powder
2 cups hot water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 bay leaf
1 medium onion, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¼ cup flour
3 tablespoons cold water

The lamb you buy probably will have some bone-in pieces, but cut it where you can into about two-inch pieces. Trim off excess fat. Turn meat into large hot frying pan and when some of the remaining fat has melted add curry powder and stir until meat is seared. Add hot water, salt, bay leaf and onion. Simmer covered about 1½ hours or until tender.

Mix together to a smooth paste the flour and cold water and stir in until thick. Serve with fluffy boiled rice prepared by boiling together covered, 1 cup long grain rice, 2 cups boiling water, and ½ teaspoon salt. Or make packaged quick - cooking rice according to directions.

ACCOMPANIMENTS: Chutney, flaked or unsweetened desiccated coconut, peanuts, chopped banana (dipped in lemon juice to prevent discoloration).

This meal cost about 60 cents and served six generously, one of whom was won over to lamb by this wonderful method of preparation.

Dinner Menus

NO MORE OBSTACLES

CAPE TOWN (AP) — The cause of world-wide student destruction, says Joyce Waring, wife of South Africa's minister of sports, is boredom resulting from too much freedom. She said modern youngsters are cynical and destructive because there are no obstacles left to master.

Nixon Girls and David Eisenhower Sure Their Man Will Win

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — With all those delegates about to cast all those votes, there was nothing in the world that could convince Richard Nixon's daughters that their candidate might not sweep the convention.

In a sun-flooded hotel suite, Tricia and Julie Nixon and Julie's fiance, David Eisenhower, sat on the edge of a bed and fairly bounced in anticipation of Republican national convention action.

"We don't even talk in terms of polls and ballots any more," said Julie, 20. "We're going to win on the first ballot and we're going to win the election. Everybody should know that by now. We do."

The three of them admit that it's been a gruelling job.

"I think we were almost killed outside the hotel," Julie said of a crushing demonstration by Nixon supporters outside his headquarters when the family arrived Monday.

"I've never been through anything like that, and I guess I could say honestly that I've been in politics a long time."

All her life, to be exact.

Julie wasn't even born when Richard Nixon was first elected to Congress in 1946. Tricia, now 22, was only an infant.

He's been in and out of politics—mostly in—ever since, so both his daughters have grown up in the campaign wars.

Tricia, Julie and David joined forces this year in the Nixon cause, the girls as family campaigners and David as national chairman of Youth for Nixon.

"This (convention) battle has been the hardest fight in many ways," David said. "We've won it, though, and Humphrey can be beaten. There's no doubt about that."

"The thing that's been so exciting about this campaign," Tricia said, "is that we've been able to do something more than look sweet for cameras this time.

"We've been able to do more than watch Mom and Dad on television. We've been able, I hope, to do something to help the cause."

The trio has been so successful at its job that some conventioneers here have started talking of David in terms of future candidate material.

"Oh, brother, they've got to be kidding!" David said.

Elder Statesman Wayne Is Topped by Prairie Actor Dirksen

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — John Wayne, the elder statesman, gave way to Everett McKinley Dirksen, the old prairie actor, and the Republican national convention came alive Tuesday night.

Rising up from the tundra of tedium and the rhetoric of rigor mortis, it was Dirksen, Senate Republican leader, who gave delegates their first incisive lesson in the arts of elocution, execution and electrification (rural).

They began by giving him a roaring hand and he began by saying, "I accept the nomination." It was the first joke to emanate from this year's podium. Theatre critics, alleged by Democrats, predicted it would not be the last.

The delegates laughed and continued to make noise. Dirksen turned alternately imperious, menacing, cajoling, bargaining.

"Quiet!" he thundered, jowls quivering, silver rivulets of hair flailing like that of an aroused Zeus.

And still there was no quiet. He held up nine pounds of speech texts.

"If you'll be quiet for 45 minutes," said Dirksen, "I'll throw these speeches anywhere you want me to throw them."

And then he did, nine pounds of speeches, right over the speaker's platform — into the hearts of the peasants. While it was not precisely clear whose speeches had been jettisoned, it was obvious Dirksen still had his.

Now the delegates were quiet, and he began. "In Philadelphia 181 years ago, farseeing men fashioned us a revolutionary new government. . . .

He dared Russia to knock the chip off his shoulder.

"A Soviet leader declaims that ours is a rotten, decadent society. God forbid our having to make the point but, should he try us, he'll quickly find out what Americans really are!"

Membrane by membrane, Dirksen peeled off the skin of The Great Society, stretching out each syllable of the phrase in a mockery of rubber.

"Oh, how cynical, how mocking that political slogan! . . . Never has an undeclared war embroiled America so long. . . . Never our prestige so low, our alliances so weakened, our image so impaired. . . . Never has the nation been so mired in debt. . . . Now we've been rocketed to fiscal outer space. . . .

"Great Society indeed! . . . It is not a New Deal or a Fair Deal. It's just a straight-out Misdeal. Rumor it longer and it will destroy what the founding fathers wrought."

Body swaying, finger pointing out and down as if he were anointing the delegates in holy water, Dirksen quoted Abe Lincoln, Oliver Cromwell, Ben Franklin and got the delegates up on their feet and repeating after him, "One nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Then, with lofty tolerance, he finally allowed them to subside back into their seats, fully sated with their first red meat although they never did learn which speeches were thrown away, if any.

Bishop Installed At Peterborough

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Rev. Francis A. Marrocco, 55, a native of Peterborough, who is regarded by his associates as a level-headed progressive in the Roman Catholic church, Tuesday night was installed as the ninth Bishop of Peterborough.

The two-hour ceremony was conducted by Archbishop Emanuele Clarizio, apostolic delegate to Canada, in the Cathedral Church of St. Peter where Bishop Marrocco was baptized, ordained and consecrated.

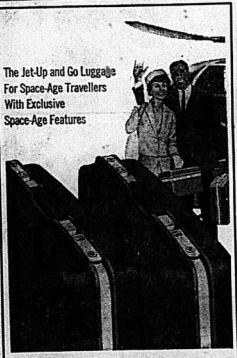
He succeeds Bishop Benjamin Iberlin Webster, who is retiring.

He also is chairman of the board of the Catholic Register, a national Roman Catholic weekly newspaper.

Bishop Marrocco pledged himself to the ideals of service and involvement of the church in the every day affairs of the diocese. He said he would try to fulfil the ideals laid down by the recent Vatican Council.

Hanoi Admits Troops Are Fighting in South

MANILA (AP) — Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam has admitted that North Vietnamese troops are fighting alongside the Viet Cong in South Vietnam, a Philippine weekly magazine reports.



The Graphic said the premier made the statement in an interview with the magazine's assistant publisher, J. Antonio Aranetta Jr., and his wife.

Aranetta reported that he asked Pham: "Your government, in public statements, refuses to admit that you are actually helping the National Liberation Front in the South by sending troops and war materials. Why do you deny it?"

He said that Pham replied, with "a puzzled expression:

"We do not deny that. We are indeed helping the NLF in every way we can — including the sending of our own troops.

"Since the U.S. invades our fatherland in the South and attacks the North, why should we renounce our right to defend our entire fatherland from every corner of our sacred territory!"

Biosphere Fountain Garden Is Popular

Drapeau's Wand Still Magical Though 'Son' Not Up to Expo

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
STAFF REPORTER

Expo it's not.

But Man and his World, the 1968 edition of Expo, still beats any other annual fair by a sophisticated city mile.

Mayor Jean Drapeau waved the magic wand of several million dollars over some St. Lawrence River shoals and conjured up a fairy - tale world. Now he wants his creation to live on happily ever after.

Son of Expo. Montrealers' nickname for the fair they now own, got off to a rocky start this year.

But now it appears safely launched as the world's largest permanent annual fair.

The line - up still snakes around the British pavilion, but now the building houses an exhibit of antique cars — the fair's most popular attraction.

Expo express still functions as fast and efficiently as ever, but the blue minirail takes you twice as far this year for the same 50 cents.

The antique carousel at La Ronde still enchants youngsters and adults, but the price of this and most other rides is about one - half last year's rate.

Most national pavilions remain, but their governments have left, turning the buildings and exhibits over to the city of Montreal.

With them went the international flavor of Expo 67 and the exotic touches that made the fair sparkle last year.

Gone are the swarms of colorfully dressed visitors who locked around their national pavilions, and the staccato accent of head-of-state appearances on the grounds.

Gone too are the distinctively uniformed pavilion hostesses and guides. They have been replaced by students garbed in last year's Expo blue.

The site's biggest attraction, an environment perfectly planned for people, registers this year as it never did through 1967's mob scenes.

And the people, the same friendly, good-natured Expo crowds, are finally beginning to take advantage of Man and His World.

Montrealers, as one of them put it, "are falling in love with the place all over again".

Plagued by poor weather and lack of promotion, Man and His World failed to orbit during its first two months.

"Drapeau tried to run this year's fair on last year's publicity," a Montreal businessman explained.

Boosted by advertising, this week's attendances peaked to an over 100,000 daily average, and the fair is operating in the black.

Still bitter are boutique and restaurant owners, spoilt by last year's swollen profits.

Man and His World has become the best holiday entertainment buy available for $2.50.

And probably more of the attractions are seen by visitors this year with the impediment of long line - ups gone.

Mayor Drapeau, finding his feet as an impresario, has wilted his Son of Expo into a world without end.

New Uniforms All Around

Man and His World Has Largest Bird-cage

Expo 67 was a tough act to follow.

So no wonder Man and His World has gone to the birds.

Literally, not figuratively, that is.

Biggest attraction at the fair this year, after the antique car show in the former British pavilion, is Biosphere, the world's largest bird-cage.

A bubble-sized bit of the famous Montreal Botanical Garden, Biosphere is the new name for Buckminster Fuller's geodesic dome, the former American pavilion.

The awesomely high and steep escalators carry visitors past five gardens on each level of the dome. These range from a formal renaissance retreat to a tropical oasis populated with storks.

Sleeper of the year is the Face of Winter in the former Ontario pavilion.

All the Expo gimmicks are here: the "atmospheric approach up a path painted with wild animal foot-prints to the sounds of Arctic winds whistling and wolves howling; live displays, with musical accompaniment, of figure skating, and snow-shoe making, and a static display of winter transportation.

Worst of the new pavilions is probably Ireland's — a few pieces of Waterford glass, some linen and gallons of dark green paint.

Other new exhibits include a police display in the former polish and paper pavilion, the Scandinavian pavilion and miniature stage sets in the Greek pavilion.

A display of weapons has been named Man the Destroyer, and the Ferrovian pavilion in the former State of Maine building houses model railway displays.

With the hostesses gone from the national pavilions, best bet for girl watchers are the mini-dressed flower-sellers dotted around the grounds. They operated carts stocked with red and white carnations and wear abbreviated costumes to match.

Biggest comics on the site?

Back to Biosphere and the parrots, macaws and cockatoos. Born clowns, they ham it up whenever a visitor draws near.

Bear Tracks Lead to Old World

An old world blacksmith in the Ontario pavilion shows how they made tools in an old forge. Bear tracks outside lead into the display.

On Even Keel

Picton's Budget at Half-way Mark

PICTON (Staff) — Picton's budget seems on an even keel, at the half way mark of the town's fiscal year.

Current tax collections have amounted to not quite half a year's quota. $262,781 have been gathered. That amount is 43.1 per cent of the current role.

The Province of Ontario is yet to come over with $86,042 which will compensate the town for the residential property tax reduction.

The parking meter reserve fund balance at the end of July amounted to $4,798. An additional $18,000 is owed to that fund. Clerk Treasurer, Andrew Jarvis, explained that funds could be taken from the reserve to be used for general purpose work in the community, only on the condition that the funds be repayable on demand.

"At this time," said Mr. Jarvis, "there are no bank loans outstanding."

Expenses are down in major community undertakings. The streets department has spent only $38,562 of their budgeted $97,700. Of a total $6,600 allotted to sanitation and waste removal only $12,551 has been spent.

Fire department expenditures are slightly under half, of the budgeted $40,477, only $19,256 has been spent. The police department to date has spent $24,164 of the total $54,490.

Councillors commented on the fine report presented by Mr. Jarvis, and his ability to keep the budget in line.

Mr. Jarvis assumed the position of clerk treasurer only earlier this year.

Drowning Blamed on Heart Attack

An autopsy performed by Dr. L. J. Tremblay in Belleville found that Frederick Mills, believed to have drowned on West Lake yesterday afternoon, had suffered a heart attack.

It had been thought at first the winds gusting between 20 and 30 mph had been the cause of the mishap.

Only a few minutes after he put out from the shore of West Lake to fish, two unidentified people who were sailing saw his capsized boat and a body.

However, the sailors were unable to get near the scene because of the winds so they made for shore as fast as possible and notified the fire department.

In the meantime Otto Kneidinger from Easton, Pa., also told of the mishap by the sailors, put into his powerboat and brought the body to shore.

Mr. Kneidinger said that Mr. Mills was floating face down and that he had one arm around a life preserver.

"It looked as if his one leg was caught under the boat so maybe it held him under," Mr. Kneidinger said.

Members of the Wellington fire department were the first to arrive at Thompson's Fishing Camp where the body was brought ashore.

Chief Jack Ogilvie, assisted by members of the department, tried to revive the man until an ambulance arrived from Picton. However, all attempts at resuscitation failed to bring the man around.

Meanwhile members of the fire department brought the 12 foot aluminum craft to shore.

It was reported that Mr. Mills had a six horsepower motor on the boat but it was not found.

Both the drowned man and a friend had been camping at Joe Steven's fishing camp on West Lake for a couple of days.

Only yesterday his wife, and his brother-in-law and his wife came from Toronto to spend a few days with the campers.

Dr. C. B. Richmond pronounced the man dead before the body was removed by ambulance to Belleville.

City Playgrounders Win Second Leg of Track Meet

Belleville emerged victorious in the second leg of a three-cornered track meet between representatives of Belleville, Trenton and Picton playgrounds, held last night at the Ontario School for the Deaf.

The high jump and triple jump were the events run at OSD, in four age groups for both boys and girls: under 14, under 12, under 10, and under 8. Belleville finished with 66 points, Trenton with 55, and Picton with 22.

On July 26, in Picton, the standing broad jump and running broad jump were held. Belleville also finished first there, with 88 points, Trenton had 64 points and Picton 23.

The track events, the 75 and 50-yard dash and relays scheduled for Trenton on July 31, were rained out. They will be held tonight, but the Belleville group is unable to attend due to previous commitments. Tonight's races will be run as an exhibition meet between Trenton and Picton.

The young athletes for the competitions were chosen by the playground supervisors of the three different communities.

Province Awarded Lacrosse Assist

TORONTO (CP) — The company which produced 97 per cent of the world's lacrosse sticks until it burned down in June is to receive an $18,333 forgivable loan from the Ontario government.

Stanley J. Randall, minister of trade and development, said Tuesday that the Chisholm Lacrosse Manufacturing Co. of Cornwall will build a 7,700-square-foot building costing $55,000.

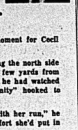
Mr. Randall said that replacement of the plant is essential to the employment of 76 Mohawks of the St. Regis Indian Reserve.

"The alternative is selling the company to U.S. bidders who would transfer the operation to an urban area rather than rebuild on the reserve," said Mr. Randall.

The loan will not have to be repaid if the company shows signs of solid production and employment potential.

Because of a growing interest in lacrosse, it is expected that employment of Mohawk Indians at the plant will increase by 25 the first year and additional 100 within five years, Mr. Randall said.

Ontario's loan was made under the Equalization of Industrial Opportunity program.



In 1967, Chisholm manufactured 50,400 sticks for sale in Canada, the U.S., Britain and Australia, and 1968 production was set at 72,000.

It takes almost a year to produce a stick, including curing of the wood to bend to the correct shape. Hickory is the only wood that has the right qualities for lacrosse sticks.

It had been a proud moment for Cecil Hutchinson.

He stood at the rail along the north side of the Fahrgrounds track, a few yards from the stall where minutes ago he had watched his four-year-old pacer "Unity" hooked in her sulky.

"I was really excited with her run," he recalls. "It was the best effort she'd put in yet."

Saturday night's third heat in the weekly harness card was Unity's best effort in her eight-race career on the local trotting circuit.

Cec Hutchinson's brown mare had appeared to show promise, winning two, placing in two, and running third in another of her first seven races.

And now, Saturday, she'd turned in her fastest mile yet — 2:12.4 — and it would take a photo-finish camera to keep Unity from her third win in eight races in her novice season.

But it was Cec Hutchinson's most costly success in the Bath area farmer's 30 years' connection with harness racing.

"Al Vance had just turned her around, and she was going to parade past the judges when it happened," Mr. Hutchinson said haltingly.

"She just fell, right there, a few feet away from me. I knew right away what had happened. I didn't go over immediately — I waited awhile."

Yes, he'd heard of that happening before, a horse's heart failing, but how could he describe the shock?

"She was a bit of a problem . . . high strung, you know, but as far as the vet was concerned, her health was 100 per cent. Even doctors can't always pinpoint something like this . . . It just happens."

"It's nobody's fault, and it's fortunate it happened when it did — after the race — otherwise someone could have been hurt."

(The latter said in an obviously painful attempt at stoicism.)

The 46-year-old Bath farmer, who called Unity "my only hobby," will try to outpace his grief with the assistance of "Gemini", a three-year-old colt now being trained for possible fall racing.

But he'll be a long time forgetting Unity's last pace for him.

In her final heat, the plucky brown mare paid her backers $3.20 to place, and $3 to show.

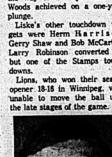
A Stampede!

Calgary Q-Back Plays Over Lion Heads

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Canadian football, with three downs, is made for the pass," said Calgary Stampeders coach Jerry Williams prior to his club's Tuesday Western Football Conference game against British Columbia Lions.

Then his club took the field at Empire Stadium before 32,765 fans, to prove his theory and wallop the Lions 41-7.

Stampeders, still smarting from a 25-24 season's opener loss to Saskatchewan, wasted little time tearing the Leos' pass defence apart. It was as though they had brought their own football to the park and wouldn't let B.C. play with it.



Quarterback Peter Liske, Canadian football's all-time passing leader, passed for 308 yards in the first half as Stampeders breezed to a 34-0 half time lead.

Liske, the outstanding player award winner of 1967, chose Terry Evanshen, the outstanding Canadian award winner last season, as his key receiver.

He threw two touchdown passes to the 5' 10" Evanshen, and a third strike that paved the way to a major that Ted Woods achieved on a one-yard plunge.

Liske's other touchdown targets were Herm Harrison, Gerry Shaw and Bob McCarthy. Larry Robinson converted all but one of the Stamps touchdowns.

Lions, who won their season opener 19-18 in Winnipeg, were unable to move the ball until the late stages of the game.

PETER LISKE

Stampeders eased up, Lions starting quarterback Pete Ohler aggravated an old injury and Paul Brothers replaced him. Brothers led the Lions 43 yards in six plays before connecting on a five-yard rollout pass to Sonny Homer.

Homer's touchdown, converted by Ted Gerela, gave him a share with Evanshen of the western conference scoring race. Both have three touchdowns for 18 points.

"There's no doubt, we went in with a hot hand," said coach Williams. "And when a passing club starts scoring against you, they can score much faster than a running club."

Williams inserted alternate quarterback Jerry Keeling into the lineup after his club had built up a 41-0 cushion. Keeling completed three of eight passes for 42 yards, compared with the 271 total by Liske who was good on 22 of 31 attempts.

The powerful Calgary offence made it an easy night for the club's defensive squad. Most of their work was confined to retaining the kickoffs run back mainly by Jim Young and John Griffin.

Just Stringing Along

National women's archery champion Carol Armstrong will be a featured part of this year's Belleville Fair program. Shown here with Canadian men's titlist Don Jackson of Lindsay, the city bow-woman will give archery demonstrations for benefit of visitors at this month's annual Fairgrounds pageant.

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP) — B. W. Byerly of Placida, Fla., worked 1½ hours Tuesday to land an 820-pound tuna hooked off this western shore port. It was the second time within six days that Captain Reginald Jacquard of Westport has had a sports fisherman catch a tuna from his boat.

LONDON (AP) — Alan Blinston, Britain's 5,000 metre runner who suffers from epilepsy, was ruled fit by doctors Tuesday to compete in the Mexican Olympics. The slightly built, 24-year-old athlete, who has suddenly emerged as one of Britain's top distance runners, underwent a special medical examination by doctors appointed by the British Olympic Association.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former middleweight champion Emile Griffith proved a boxer in the classic style can beat a clown as he ended Gypsy Joe Harris' unbeaten streak with a unanimous, 12-round decision Tuesday night at the Spectrum. The 28-year-old Griffith, a slight underdog in Harris' hometown, won easily as he pounded the Philadelphian with a consistent left jab and a long right hand that several times staggered Harris.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An appeal by Cassius Clay, former world heavyweight champion, against his conviction and sentencing for refusing induction into the U.S. armed forces was opposed by the justice department Tuesday. In a brief filed with the U.S. Supreme Court, prior to the court's reconvening Oct. 2, the department urged denial of Clay's petition to the court to review the appeal.

CHICAGO (AP)—WGN Broadcasting said Tuesday night it has learned Montreal will lose its National League baseball franchise because the city is unable to finance a dome for its stadium. In a broadcast over its radio and television stations, WGN said "a high baseball official" reported the franchise would be shifted to either Buffalo, N.Y., or Milwaukee, Wis. Montreal would have had to raise $2,000,000 to build the dome, WGN said.

TORONTO (CP)—For the first time, the Canadian Football league has issued numbers which game officials will wear throughout the year. In the past, numbers were issued to officials on a game-by-game basis.

MONTREAL (CP)—Shell Canada Ltd. announced Tuesday it is dropping its sponsorship of the annual Shell 400 cross-Canada car rally. C. F. Williams, vice-president of marketing for the company, said he feels the rally has developed into a mature annual, national sports event to the point where "it is no longer appropriate for us to retain sole responsibility for its organization."

OAKLAND (AP)—Oakland Seals, last in the National Hockey League last season both in standings and attendance, now have fewer owners and, they hope, more money. The new owners also have sole control of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team and have a financial interest in the baseball Atlanta Braves of the National League, Miami Dolphins of the American Football League and Atlanta Chiefs of the North American Soccer League.

Soggy Round

Only Pair Beat Par

EDMONTON (CP) — Only two players broke par Tuesday in the first of two Canadian amateur golf championship qualifying rounds on a course made sodden by 24 hours of almost steady rain.

Keith Alexander of Calgary and Art Donaldson of Vancouver carded one-under-par 69s and took a one-stroke lead into today's second qualifying round.

Tied at even par were Bob Wylie of Calgary and John Ellison of Vancouver.

Everyone else in the field of 151 golfers was over par.

Alexander and Donaldson had startlingly similar cards. Both had four birdies and both went one over par on three holes. But Alexander, the 1960 champion, was dissatisfied with his putting.

"I worked for every shot—wards. "I should have saved another couple of strokes on the greens."

The rains came early Monday, and the course scheduled for a no-cut time, several greens had only high spots showing. The Royal Canadian Golf Association tournament committee toured the course and decided to set the event back a day.

Kingston Here

Joyces Want Rubber

Belleville's senior baseball Nine is up for tonight's "rubber" match of their Eastern Ontario playoff series with Kingston.

After mastering the defending provincial champions without much difficulty throughout the regular EOBA schedule, the Joyces were handed an embarrassing 6-4 home defeat by Kingston in Sunday's second game of the best-of-seven set.

The locals had handed the Centennials an 8-6 dumpling on their home field Saturday, but a Sunday win would have left them sitting pretty for tonight's third contest.

Rookie Joe Hastings is expected to start on the Joyce mound for tonight's game, which will be sprinkled with the current team program of "fan-appeal."

Spectator draws are a featured attraction, as the seniors are out to boost the poor home attendance that has been the only blemish on a league-leading EOBA season.

Team spokesman Murray "Moe" Hunter estimated Sunday's Fairgrounds crowd was better than 300, easily the best of the season for the hustling baseball crew.

And Hunter, sidelined for the first two playoff tilts with a hand injury suffered late in the season, says the Joyces intend to pull out all the stops tonight.

"No sir, I won't be on the bench tonight — we're going at full strength!" the third-sacker roared.

In addition to seeing what is shaping up as a whale of a ball game, tonight's spectators will also find their admission tickets entitle them to chances on everything from grocery hampers to hairpins.

A list of 20 prizes, including steak dinners, has been laid on for tonight's contest.

But the Joyces have only one dish planned for their diamond palates.

They're out to rake him over the coals.

He Prolonged Things!

Gary Gow, Belvedere third baseman, slides home with the tying run in Tuesday night's Belvedere-Brants Commercial League game. Gow's run made the score 2-2 and it stayed that way for 7½ innings. In the bottom of the 13th, the league-leading Hotelmen scored again to beat the cellar-dwelling Brants 3-2.

No Hospitality From Hotel Entries

This story is for all the wives of the Belvedere Hotel — Commercial Softball League team who couldn't believe it when their husbands told them why they were late coming home Tuesday night.

Simmer down, ladies. It's true. Your husbands were late, because it took their first-place crew 13 innings to down cellar-dwelling Brants 3-2.

In the second half of last night's double-header, City Hotel broke away in the first innings against the Black Diamond Cheesemen, collecting two walks and four hits for five runs from Black Diamond pitcher Danny Holloway.

In the longest game this season at the Ainslie, Mark Sheridan, who entered the local softball contingent with a no-hitter against Stinsons a few weeks ago, took Brants the entire 12-inning route, only to see Bob Lloyd blast his hopes with a bottom of the 12th triple which scored Belvedere catcher Cliff Hinesman.

Sonny Gray pitched the first four for the Hotelmen then Doug Ellis took over. After his first inning on the mound, Ellis pulled a muscle in his side. "It's a little sore and stiff," he said after the inning, "but I can make it for three more."

Little did he know.

The two winning pitchers allowed two runs on seven hits while walking two and striking out 12 in the dozen innings.

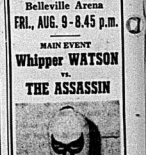
Mark Sheridan for Brants allowed three runs on 11 hits and one walk while issuing nine strikeouts.

Sheridan gave his team their runs with a two - run homer in the third. Gerry Devereaux had a double, and Barry Ryckman had two singles.

Line Score:

Brants 002 000 000 000—2 7 3
Belvedere
010 100 000 001—3 11 1

City's win over Black Diamond ties the two teams for the league's fourth position at 24 points.



In his two - hitter, Davenport struck out four and walked three. Losing hurler Don Holloway walked four and struck out eight.

The Black Diamond hits were singles by Gene Francis and Jack Gilbey. The City Hotel hitters included Doug Hull with a single and a double and Doug Dafoe with a double.

Baltimore Hurler Boobs Blooped Bunt

Baltimore Orioles' pitcher Tom Phoebus falls down after trying to grab blooped bunt hit by New York Yankee Tom Tresh in fifth inning in New York. Oriole third baseman Don Buford charges ball. Buford's throw to first base was too late to catch Tresh, and two runs scored on the play. Orioles beat the Yanks, 5-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Cubs In Ascent

Drysdale Boots It for Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Atlanta Braves fumbled the ball and Don Drysdale couldn't pick it up.

The Braves committed four errors in the first inning Tuesday night on the way to a 4-3 loss to Chicago that gave the Cubs undisputed possession of second place in the National League.

Drysdale bobbled Maury Wills' bases-loaded roller in the ninth inning and Pittsburgh Pirates added two more runs for a 4-1 victory over the skidding Los Angeles Dodgers' ace.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney stopped first-place St. Louis Cardinals 5-0 with a five-hitter; San Francisco trimmed Philadelphia 4-1 behind the hitting of rookie Bobby Bonds and New York Mets topped Houston 4-1 on rookie Kevin Collins' three-run ninth-inning homer.

The Cubs capitalized on two errors by Felipe Alou—on the same play—and one each by Marty Martinez and Felix Millan for a 3-0 first-inning lead at Atlanta.

Fifth-inning doubles by Al Spangler and Handy Hundley sent another Chicago run home and the Cubs weathered a late comeback by the Braves for the seventh victory in eight games.

Hank Aaron and Alou hit bases-empty homers for Atlanta before Phil Regan, the Cubs' relief ace, nailed the victory for starter Joe Niekro.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie at Los Angeles on Drysdale's second error in the ninth and Willie Stargell provided insurance with a two-run single.

Bill Mazeroski and Jerry May singled with one out and moved up one base apiece on Drysdale's wild pickoff attempt.

First baseman Ron Fairly then fielded pinch hitter Manny Jimenes' grounder but failed to make a play after bluffing a throw home.

That filled the bases and set the stage for the decisive misplay by Drysdale, who has lost his last four decisions for a 12-10 season mark.

The Reds nursed a 1-0 lead until the eighth inning at St. Louis, when Leo Cardenas homered and an error by Julian Javier opened the gates for three more runs.

Bonds tripled in the first inning and scored on a passed ball, then cracked a tie-breaking single in the eighth as the Giants struck for three runs.

Gaylord Perry stopped the Phillies on three hits and leveled his record at 10-10.

Collins grounded into a force play with the bases loaded in the seventh, driving in New York's first run, and drilled his first major league homer following singles by Cleon Jones and Ed Kranepool in the ninth.

Orioles Beaten Missing Ball, Base

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was out and you're on. And on and you're out.

Any fan knows that's no way to play baseball. The Baltimore Orioles know it, too.

Tony Oliva led off the sixth inning for Minnesota Tuesday night and struck out. But Oriole catcher Andy Etchebarren failed to handle the third strike and Oliva reached first. One out later, Bob Allison homered and Minnesota had a 5-0 lead.

The Orioles then fought back to trail by only 5-4 with one out in the ninth. Up stepped pinch hitter Larry Haney, who lashed a ball to right field and ended up on second base. But he failed to touch first and was out.

Ron Perranoski retired the next hitter and the second-place Orioles were beaten 5-4 to fall 6½ games behind the American League-leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers edged Cleveland Indians 2-1 in 17 innings on Dick Tracewski's run-scoring single and led 5-0 after eight innings of the nightcap of the twi-night doubleheader when it was suspended by a 1 a.m. curfew. It will be completed tonight.

In other American League action, Boston Red Sox trounced Chicago White Sox 8-2 and California Angels beat Washington 10-3 before losing to the Senators 1-0. New York Yankees and Oakland were not scheduled.

Cleveland scored in the third inning on Tommy Harper's single, a sacrifice and Jose Cardenal's single. Detroit tied it in the eighth when Don Wert homered off starter Luis Tiant.

Detroit starter John Hiller, a Toronto native, broke the major league record of five consecutive strikeouts at the start of a game by fanning six. He didn't strike out any more in the eight innings he pitched.

The Tigers took a 5-2 lead in the suspended game by scoring four-runs in the sixth, two of them coming on Al Kaline's pinch double with the bases loaded.

Lou Klimchock's bases-loaded single brought in Cleveland's two runs. Detroit's other tally came on Norm Cash's 18th homer.

Losborg, a 22-game winner in 1967 still making a comeback from a skiing mishap last winter, picked up his third victory in six decisions. Losborg tired in the late innings and gave way to a pinch batter in the eighth although his club held a five-run lead at the time.

Batting—Kevin Collins, Mets, drove in four runs with a ground out and his first major league homer, a three-run shot in the ninth inning that gave New York a 4-1 victory over Houston.

Pitching—Joe Coleman, Senators, scattered four hits and struck out eight in taming California 1-0 in the second game of a doubleheader.

In the East Hill Tyke semi-finals, the Canadians topped A&W 13-4 and Tabernacle downed the Kinsmen Hawks 17-6.

Tourney Loss

Ellis Out of Series

Ellis Midgets, Belleville's entry in the ninth annual Toronto Leaside ZORA Midget Tournament, were dropped from the series Saturday when they lost to the Merriton Midgets 7-1.

Midge McTaggart was the losing pitcher. The Belleville hurler allowed seven runs on seven hits and seven walks while fanning nine.

Beck and Rimple shared Merriton mound duty, allowing one run on seven hits and two walks while striking out 13 Belleville batters.

Top batters for Belleville were Brian Coughlin with a double and a single, Steve Bedard with two singles, Wayne Kemp, Paul Hall, and Moe Thompson had singles.

Merriton got its plate power from J. Thomson with a triple and P. Shugam, M. Pastore, and P. Gettler with two singles each.

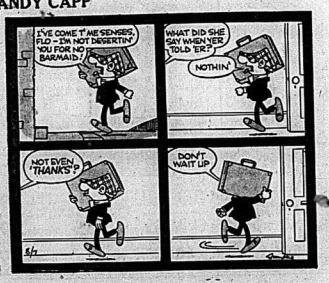
Leave Beads Home!

HOUSTON (AP) — It might be a mod, mod world, but not when New York Mets play on the road.

The Mets have been asked by manager Gil Hodges to leave their beads at home following a heated argument between 26-year-old outfielder Ron Swoboda and 32-year-old pitcher Don Cardwell over a necklace of love beads.

On the flight to Houston from Los Angeles Swoboda wore a strand of the multi-colored beads a fan had given him and Cardwell objected.

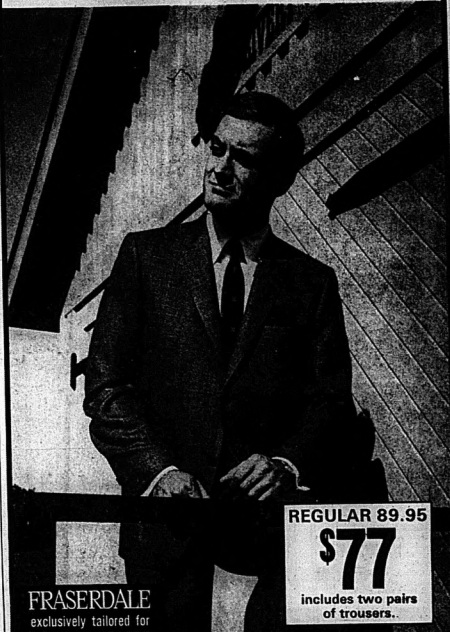
"I thought it was definsental for a ball player to be wearing beads," Cardwell said. "I wouldn't let my 11-year-old son wear them."



The argument prompted Hodges to call a clubhouse meeting Monday night, news of which became known Tuesday.

"I just told them I would appreciate it if they did not wear beads on the road," Hodges said. "What players wear at home, I cannot control."

Swoboda reacted by leaving his beads in the hotel and he and Cardwell shook hands.



Earlier this year, Hodges set down a code of dress for his players but agreed to go along with the mods who want to wear turtle neck shirts in lieu of shirts and ties.

Difficult to Determine Extent of Eisenhower's Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors say it could take days to assess the damage from former president Eisenhower's third heart attack in slightly more than three months.

Physicians described the condition of the 77-year-old General of the Army as "stable" within hours after his latest heart attack Tuesday. But they also used the word "guarded" in their comments on his chances of recovery, hospital-talk for uncertain.

Private physicians told The Associated Press diagnosis of Eisenhower's attack is complicated by the fact that he has had so many—six since 1955.

They said previously affected areas of the heart present a confusing picture on electronic equipment monitoring the heart beat, possibly sending signals overlapping the latest trouble.

But doctors at Walter Reed Hospital, where the general suffered the latest attack at 6:15 a.m., said: "Any individual who has sustained a recent infarction is considered to be seriously ill."

The doctors described the attack as probably a myocardial infarction, or blocking of blood flow in the heart by a blood clot or fatty deposits in the bloodstream.

Doctors said electronic equipment was keeping tabs continually on Eisenhower's metabolism. He was on a low salt, liquid diet.

Visitors were restricted to the immediate family. Doctors said his wife, Mamie, visited him often. His son, John, and granddaughter flew here from the Republican national convention at Miami Beach.

"The doctors thought the situation was serious enough that I should be here," said John. "When the boss is in trouble I come."

At the convention, former presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey asked that delegates pray for Eisenhower's swift recovery.

The attack came Tuesday less than 12 hours after Eisenhower addressed the convention from the hospital via a television hookup.

Eisenhower held a news conference July 18 to announce his support for his former vice-president, Richard M. Nixon, for the Republican presidential nomination. It was the first time since he stepped down as president that Eisenhower had publicly endorsed a presidential hopeful.

Yukon Women 'Different'

WHITEHORSE, —Y.T. (CP)— Women of the Yukon differ from their provincial counterparts, the royal commission on the status of women was told Tuesday.

The chairman, Mrs. John Bird; Commissioner Lois Lange of Alberta and Executive Secretary Monique Begin, heard the claim in one of five briefs presented at the opening session here, 900 miles northwest of Edmonton. They were to hear five other presentations Tuesday night.

The commission was told Yukon women play a larger part in the community than elsewhere because their men are away from home a great deal.

A brief said the need for social participation is underlined by the absence of normal family ties and the fact there are fewer older people in the North to impose their experienced views on the young.

The brief recommended the federal government establish day care or nursery facilities; adult classes in child care for mothers, teachers and particularly Indian mothers; and family counselling and homemakers' services.

The commission was told later that although Indians account for nearly 18 per cent of the Yukon population, school curriculum is not geared to them and they immediately are given a feeling of inferiority.

Dr. Hilda Hellaby, an Anglican Church official and longtime mission worker in the Yukon, said young Indian men are left in an unhappy position with little incentive to improve themselves because Indian girls want to consort with white men.

Woman In Car Strangled

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Police said Tuesday night that Helga Beer, whose scantily clad body was found Tuesday morning on the floor of her car, died of strangulation.

Herb Jeffery, superintendent of detectives, said an autopsy indicated there were marks on the woman's neck but could not say what caused the marks.

He said there is "no evidence at this time that this was a sex crime."

The body of the 31-year-old divorcee, clad only in a brassiere and blouse, was discovered by a parking lot attendant.

Mrs. Beer, a hairdresser in a local department store, lived with her brother and mother, who arrived recently from Germany.

Student Housing Approved

OTTAWA (CP) — Two federal loans totalling $1,341,270 for student housing projects in Ontario have been approved, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. said Tuesday.

The Ottawa Civic Hospital Residence Corp. is to receive a $1,436,807 loan to assist construction of a 15-storey building to accommodate 120 interns, both single and married, in residence at the hospital.

Trent University at Peterborough is to receive $44,463 to help purchase two three-storey houses and convert them into student housing to accommodate 22 students and one don.

Use of Psychological Terms Hampers Teaching

TORONTO (CP) — The use of jargon and psychological terms in teaching children with learning disabilities may be seriously hampering communication and progress, an American educational expert warned Tuesday.

Dr. Jeanne M. McCarthy of Roselle, Ill., opened the fourth annual four-day conference of the Canadian Association for Children with Learning Disabilities with a warning: "Don't try to become an armchair neurologist.

"Accept that the child has a learning disorder—then go ahead and teach him," Dr. McCarthy told the audience of 300 teachers, parents and association members.

"Once the child is labelled, teachers are often afraid to teach him," she said.n

"In the 1940s, we used to say the child had a mental block. Now, in 1968, we say the child has a minimal brain dysfunction.

"All we have done is switch labels . . . We have to leave the diagnosing to the researchers. Whatever labels they care to give to the child's problem, he still has to be taught."

Minimal brain dysfunction is the all-embracing term given to learning disabilities ranging from hearing and perception problems to emotional disturbances and plain "slow" learning.

Propane Gas Leak Alarms Hamiltonians

HAMILTON (CP) — Police stood ready to evacuate residents from a four-square-block area near downtown Tuesday night when a propane tank ruptured, sending 1,900 gallons of liquid propane hissing into the air.

Although the evacuation was not required, occupants of every home in the area which uses natural gas were ordered to extinguish pilot lights as a precautionary measure.

One spark could have ignited the escaping gas and the resulting explosion would have been "disastrous," said Assistant Deputy Fire Chief Fred Spittles.

Firefighters spent three hours at the Carter Welding Supplies Ltd. yard spraying fog on the escaping gas to help dissipate it.

About 400 gallons of water a minute were also sprayed on the ruptured tank, and on the mound of ice the liquid propane formed when it hit the ground.

Mr. Spittles explained that the propane in the tank was in liquid form. When it hit the air, its temperatures dropped far below zero, and it turned to ice. The ice in turn emitted the volatile gas.

CNTU Seeks Minister's Aid to End Union Rivalry

HAUTERIVE, Que. (CP) — The Confederation of National Trade Unions said Tuesday it will present a 3,000-signature petition today to Labor Minister Maurice Bellemare in Quebec City to resolve the union rivalry at Baie Comeau, Que.

Hauterive is near Baie Comeau, 220 miles northeast of Quebec City.

The petition will request the government to do its utmost to resolve the union situation at Canadian Bechtel Ltd.'s construction site for work on the $42,000,000 expansion to the plant of Canadian British Aluminium Co. Ltd.

Employees of Beaver Underground Structure Ltd., a Canadian Bechtel sub-contractor, voted 33-11 Monday to be represented by an affiliate of the CNTU rather than continue their affiliation with an international union.

The Beaver workers were forced to join the International Union of Operating Engineers as a condition of their employment. Some, when hired, already were members of the CNTU-affiliated National Union of Hauterive Construction Workers.

The vote was ordered by the Quebec Labor Relations Board.

The CNTU also said it had sent Mr. Bellemare a telegram urging a forced vote among other unions at the expansion site to resolve their affiliation.

There have been a number of violent incidents during the unions' dispute.

Pill Ban Called Disaster

PETERSFIELD, England (Reuters) — A Roman Catholic priest said Tuesday night Pope Paul's ban on artificial birth control is a disaster that has set back the church for years.

Rev. Henry Clarke, priest at St. Laurence Church here for 22 years, said the Pope made untrue statements in his encyclical last week.

Father Clarke's comments have been among the strongest by a Roman Catholic clergyman in the controversy among priests and laymen in Britain over the encyclical.

Four days ago, another priest, Rev. Paul Wehr, of a London parish, was suspended from preaching and hearing confessions because he spoke out against the Pope's ruling against artificial contraception.

Basques Arrested In Spain

SAN SEBASTIAN (AP) — Spanish police rounded up suspected Basque separatists and collaborators Tuesday in a growing crackdown on anti-Franco extremists in the northern Spanish province of Guipuzcoa.

Unofficial reports placed the number detained at 50 and said some of the suspects were lawyers and other professional men and priests.

Police sweep followed and was facilitated by a government decree Monday that proclaimed a state of emergency for the province and suspended key civil rights for its residents including protection from searches without warrants and from police detention without charges.

Four or five Basque priests were said to have been among those taken into custody. Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime has been campaigning against the Basque clergy for allegedly encouraging and even harboring extremists.

Northern Telephone Settles

NEW LISKEARD, Ont. (CP) — Terms of settlement in the 61-day strike against Northern Telephone Co. were announced after ratification of the new contract Tuesday.

The strike ended Aug. 2 and affected 300 workers.

Tom Cowell, representative for the Telephone Communications Workers, said members voted 233-91 in favor of a return to work.

The 32-month contract runs from Dec. 1, 1967, to July 31, 1970, with retroactive pay of from $75 to $150.

Plant hourly wage rates covering line men and radio men are increased to between $1.70 and $2.30 from $1.65 and $2.25.

The strike involved Northern Telephone workers at New Liskeard, Timmins and Alliston, Ont., and Northern Quebec Telephone Co. workers at Val D'Or, Rouyn, Liskeard and Ville Marie.

Supervisory personnel handled the work during the strike.

SPCA Probes Incident

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Humane Society is investigating the death of a chicken that was run over and torn to pieces Monday by members of Satan's Choice motorcycle club.

Thomas Hogarth, the society's general manager, Tuesday went to the scene of the killing, a field at nearby Brougham, where members of the club met for their annual field day.

In a beer garden called the chicken race, 60 members with their bikes roaring, raced for a live chicken at the end of the field. After the killing the person with the largest part of the chicken was declared winner.

The victor emerged with the neck and half the breast.

Harvester Co. Strike Is Over

HAMILTON (CP) — The six-week-old strike of 2,300 employees of International Harvester Co. of Canada Ltd. ended Tuesday when workers voted to accept a new three-year contract.

William Scanlan, spokesman for Local 2808 of the United Steelworkers of America, said the contract provides for an immediate average wage increase of 26 cents an hour, including a five-cents-an-hour cost-of-living bonus.

Other increases in the second and third years of the contract vary from three per cent to between seven and 34 cents more an hour for skilled trades.

The increases will provide a basic rate of $2.52 an hour immediately; $2.81 in April, 1969; and $3 in April, 1970.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

QUESTION: We are visiting Cape Cod in August and would like the fast route down and a scenic and historical route back. Please give us a description of the Cape Cod area and interesting things to see there.

ANSWER: Cape Cod is a place to rediscover the art of walking. The town of Yarmouth has special botanical trails marked for visitors. You start at Yarmouth Historical Society Center, just off Route 6A and come on one of the rare chances to be Huckleberry Finn again. You climb a trail through a wooded area and suddenly come upon a mirror-like pond which looks as if it would be great for wading up to your knees in. So you do. These walking areas are found on several parts of the cape. Many are on the Cape Cod National Seashore. At Pilgrims Springs, you walk through a sweet smelling salt meadow up to the place where the early settlers first found fresh water on the cape. The large ponds you come upon were formed millions of years ago by melting glacial ice. In Wellfleet is the White Cedar Swamp trail at the Marconi station area, which natives claim is the spot from which the inventor sent his first wireless messages.

Nature trails aren't the only places where walking is a pleasure. In Provincetown you can take in the Artists' Colony and at Sandwich Village you can walk through Hoxie House, which was built more than 300 years ago, and has been restored with furnishings of the era. Head down the road to Dexter Mill where you can watch corn being ground as it was a hundred years ago. The largest beach on the cape is at Hyannis and the Country Club has an 18 hole golf course.

During the summer there is ferry service from Hyannis to Nantucket Island and Martha's Vineyard, both worth a visit.

Provincetown, at the tip of Cape Cod, was the scene of the first landing of the pilgrims on November 11, 1620. After an arduous voyage across the Atlantic, the Mayflower dropped anchor in Provincetown harbor. This important fishing town, once a whaling port, is today one of the best known art colonies in the U.S. The Provincetown Playhouse Company produces seven plays from July through Labor Day. The Symphony Orchestra gives concerts during the summer season. There are miles of splendid beaches, both sides of the peninsula.

A fast route down is 81 to Syracuse. N.Y. Thru-way to Massachusetts Turnpike—128 by-passing Boston, No. 3 and 6 to Provincetown, Mass. Distance 370 miles.

On your return journey a visit to historic Boston is a must. Follow the well marked "Freedom Trail" which starts at the Common and your family is in for a truly exciting brush with the past. You'll see the Granary Burying Ground, with the battered graves of John Hancock, Samuel Adams, Paul Revere, the site of the bloody Boston Massacre, the Old South Meeting House, where the Boston Tea Party was plotted. Paul Revere's House, the oldest in Boston (1670) still stands as does the old North Church, whose white spire held the lanterns that sped Revere on his ride.

Take the short subway ride to Cambridge, home of Harvard University, America's oldest (1636) and tour the lived Harvard Yard. Don't miss Boston's fine museums. The kids will have a whale of a time with the "see, hear, and touch" exhibits at the children's museum and the do-it-yourself exhibits at the museum of science. The fine Hayden Planetarium is next door.

On your return home on U.S. 20 is the village of old Sturbridge, a re-created early American town, complete with costumed natives at work on early crafts. The 200-acre village consists of more than 36 original buildings, moved from different sections of New England to the site. Horse and ox-drawn vehicles provide the only transportation.

If you follow along No. 20 and up No. 5, you'll come to the village of Deerfield, where the Heritage Foundation Homes are on display. These are all furnished in the 17th Century decor and have beautiful paintings and furnishing. Open Monday through Saturday 9:00 to 5:00. admission to most of the homes is $1 or $3 for a combination of home viewing.

No. 5 will take you North to Greenfield, Mass., and west on the Mohawk Trail or No. 2 to Williamstown, Mass., a pleasant colonial town and home of Williams College. The Mohawk Trail is the original trail the Mohawk Indians made and is remarkable for its magnificent views of mountains, lakes and forests. If you turn north at Williamstown and follow No. 7 to Bennington, Vermont, you will see where the Battle of Bennington was fought, August 16, 1777, when the Americans under General Stark defeated a British expedition. In the village of North Bennington is Bennington College, a very progressive school for women. Bennington Historical Museum and Art Gallery includes a large collection of pottery, early American glass, furniture and priceless manuscripts. The Gallery contains works of old Masters and contemporary artists. Open daily 9:00 to 6:00 — admission 50 cents.

Continuing north on No. 7, through the beautiful green mountains you come to Rutland, Vermont, where there is an immense quarrying and finishing industry. Rutland is known as the "Marble City" and Vermont Marble has been used for many fine structures in the U.S. Farther North on No. 7 is the Shelburne Museum, just miles south of Burlington, Vermont. You enter through a wooden covered bridge to another world of early New England life with 32 buildings filled with 18th and 19th century china, dolls, rugs, paintings, carriages, locomotives and many other antique exhibits. Open daily 9:00 to 5:00 — admission $2, Students $1.

From here you can cross by ferry at Burlington and take No. 2 to Watertown, and No. 81 to Ivy Lea Bridge or go north to Rouses Point and cross at Cornwall and take 401 home. This should be a very enjoyable, and educational journey.

Censured Student On Board

MONTREAL (CP) — A student who was reprimanded by Montreal's McGill University disciplinary board for his part in reprinting an allegedly obscene article in a campus newspaper last winter has been chosen as one of the three student representatives who will sit on the board.

John Fekete, an editor and columnist of the students' newspaper, McGill Daily, was accused of printing the article in a column last November and was verbally reprimanded by the disciplinary board.

Two other students will sit with Mr. Fekete on the committee: Robert Hajaly and John Shribnik. The three were the only ones to submit applications for the positions.

The Library Corner

By O. D.

CHATEAU BON VIVANT. By Frankie and Johnny O'Rear.

Newlyweds Frankie and Johnny O'Rear fresh out of a debutante dress and a World War II Navy uniform, set off for old Quebec to run a ski lodge, even though Frankie thought a maitre d'hotel was something to eat and Johnny thought he could easily run an inn on Navy "regs." So they began a twelve-year comedy of errors in which every day was at least an adventure if not a catastrophe.

THE SITUATION IN FLUSHING. By Edmund G. Love.

In Mark Twain's day the most glamorous objects in a small boy's life were the river steamboats. By the second decade of this century, the river boats had been supplanted by the railroads. In this funny and warm reminiscence of his early life in a small Michigan town, the author tells of the passionate love of a boy for the engines that chugged their way through his village.

TO REMEMBER FOREVER. By Gladys H. Carroll.

Here is a book with a great variety of appeal to the reading public. To Remember Forever is also for all those who were college students or college associated with college students between the two world wars. We see what young people then felt the world needed, how much they hoped to fill that need, what at the same time how much fun they had.

LIFE WITH MOTHER SUPERIOR. By Jane Trahey.

"I was lucky enough to be born a Catholic," says Jane Trahey, "and fortunate enough to be Irish, what more could anyone ask? Well, my mother asked much more than that. She wanted a charming, polite, intelligent, well-mannered child instead of the off-beat, rebellious one she had."

A MOUSE IS MIRACLE ENOUGH. By Myra Lockwood

An enchanting true account of how a lonely woman's experiences with an unwanted pet brought her to rejoin the human race. She scorns "weak, solitary humans who fill their life with a dog, a cat, or a bird," and contents herself with the Spartan fare of reading, writing her memoirs, and "protecting her privacy," flut on Christmas Eve two children whom she knows only casually call at her door with a gift of a mouse in a cage "so you won't be lonely any more."

WILD APPLES AND NORTH WIND, By Lorna Beers.

When Lorna Beers and her husband came to Vermont to stay, snow lay among the hills and the wild apples clung to the branches like forgotten holiday ornaments. As they grew to know their neighbors, they formed a deep kinship with the laconic men and women of Vermont. Shy animals came to share their life, and sometimes their vegetables, and Blue Jays swung on the bird-feeders.

PARSON EXTRAORDINARY. By Ursula Bloor.

This is the biography of the author's father, James Harvey Bloor, who was a genius in many ways, a "never grown-up schoolboy" in others. Brought up by his grandparents at Castleacre in Norfolk, he led a strange life. He was a man devoted to history, natural history, archives, and heraldry; a man who was perhaps too clever all around.

Student TB Tests Prove Negative

A tuberculosis scare involving hundreds of Belleville-area youngsters has had a reassuring ending.

Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott confirmed no positive reaction had been reported from public school students who underwent a mass TB test 60 days ago.

Tests followed identification of disease in a women teacher. Some 421 persons — mostly children, but including a "fair number of adults", were given skin tests at clinics in Belleville and Canniffton, the mayor said.

Two of the adults show a positive reaction, but they may had made the contact earlier, Mayor Scott noted. They now will be x-rayed to determine the extent of the reaction.

The test-clinics were launched after an 11 - ont drive two weeks ago to notify all persons who had contact with the carrier — a young supply teacher who taught at Belleville and Canniffon - Corbyville schools.

Mayor Scott described the clinics as "good preventive medicine" and the results "reassuring to the public."

TAKES FINAL TRIP

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — No. 17, a steam locomotive brought to Cape Breton Island from New Yorkk in 1903, has taken its final trip—to the Miner's Museum. The steam engine, first dubbed the Simon A. Fraser, worked until a few years ago at the Brookfton mines. Earlier she hauled coal from other pits in the area.

To Meet Peterborough

Belleville Bantams Down Oshawa

The Belleville Legion's EOBA Bantam team took the third game of a best two of three playoff series against the Oshawa Legion tom-Monday 17-6.

The locals won the first of the three games 7-3 Friday but then tied it up 1-1 with a 6-5 loss to the visitors Sunday.

The Belleville team will now meet their counterparts from Peterborough at a date to be announced by the league.

In Monday's deciding game, the Belleville nine went all the way behind pitcher Stan Brooks who allowed six runs on five hits and eight walks while fanning 11.

Oshawa hurler Gary Allison allowed Belleville 17 runs on 21 hits and five walks while striking out six.

Leading the Belleville batters was Doug Dersnah with four singles. Brian Cousins and Mike Meagher had three singles each and Dan Lupenette, Barry Coulton, Allan Wood, Paul Wolfe, and Stan Brooks had two singles each. Mike Keegan hit a double.

Miller hit a double and a single for Oshawa and Steve Shiner had another two-bagger.

In the second game of the series, Belleville's only loss, Oshawa came back from a 2-1 deficit in the eighth to notch up four ninth-inning tallies for the 6-5 win.

David Wood and Stan Brooks pitched for Belleville with Brooks taking over in the ninth after Wood was charged with the four runs.

Wood allowed six runs on seven hits and one walk while fanning four. Oshawa's winning pitchers, Blake and Gary Allison, allowed five runs on ten hits and six walks while striking out 11.

Belleville was led on the plate by Paul Wolfe and David Wood with three singles and a double, respectively.

Rick Gallagher and Barry Culkin had two singles each.

Gary Wilson led the way for Oshawa with a homer. Brian Paul had two triples, Steve Shine had a double, as did Mike Haynes.

Belleville took the first game of the series Friday 7-3 with behind Stan Brooks' pitching. Oshawa went with Allison.

The winner gave up two runs on four hits and no walks and struck out eight.

Allison allowed seven runs on eight hits and two walks while striking out 13.

Leading Belleville batters in the first tilt were Rick Meagher and Stan Brooks with a triple and a single each. Dan Lupenette with a triple, and Allan Wood and Doug Dersnah with singles.

McLaughlin, Steve Shine, Colin Lockey, and Gary Wilson had singles for Oshawa.

Two Straight Tourneys

Belleville PeeWees Win Playdowns

The Belleville Holy Rosary EOBA PeeWees decided they wanted a holiday from baseball too on Monday, so they ended their best of three EOBA semi-final playdown series against Oshawa in straight wins Saturday and Sunday.

In Saturday's game, Belleville downed the Oshawa nine 9-6 in Oshawa behind pitcher Tom Coughlin. The local lads gave up six runs on six hits and struck out nine.

Belleville collected their nine runs on a double and three singles by Terry Ray, three singles by Steve Kirby, and doubles by Andy Ricketts and Pete Molasky. Coughlin had a pair of singles and Pete Crawford and D. Menard had safeties.

Thompson went the nine for Oshawa, giving up nine runs on 10 hits and striking out seven.

Sherban, Sheridan, and Scharam had doubles for Oshawa.

Belleville clinched the series with Sunday with a 4-1 win. Ron McTaggart did the mound honors, allowing one run on five hits and fanning 12. Tom Coughlin aided the effort with a homer and a double, Andy Ricketts had a single as did Sid Forster.

Belleville went the route for the losers, giving up four runs on four hits and striking out nine. L. Thompson led the Oshawa hitters with a double.

Kickers' Finale

Parsons Lose Away

The Belleville Parsons dropped the last game of the regular season to Kingston Bonds 5-0 Sunday at Kingston as they battled with only a ten-man team.

A misunderstanding as to the location of the game resulted in Belleville coming up one player short. By the end of the game, with Joe Romano being ejected for arguing with an official, Belleville was playing with only nine men.

Parsons, as befits a team one man short from the start, played a defensive game. "We were fortunate to keep Roma to only one goal in the first half," said Parsons coach Peter Crowle. "Strong defensive play from Bob Rutherford and Joe Iasenza kept Roma shooting from a distance."

Tillo Salvador got the lone first-half tally for Roma on a breakaway.

In the second half, Zeltan Cziraky came closer for the locals on a lone breakaway down the field only to have his shot go wide of the net. Parsons lost Romano early in this period and finished the game with only nine men.

Combines Move Into Second Place

The CNR Combines tied the Fire Department 4-4 Tuesday night in the Departmental Softball League and moved into a tenuous one-point hold on second place in the league.

One point moved the Firemen to within two points of fourth place Post Office.

The Combines are now one point up on the Turbos in third.

Brooks and Junior Day were on the mound for the Combines in the tie and the Firemen pitched Larry Reid.

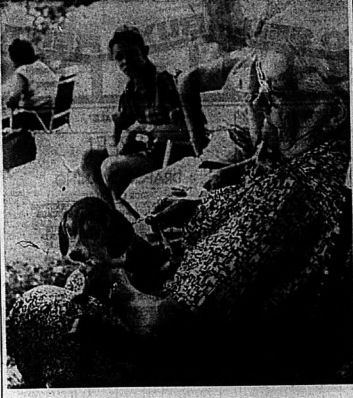
Shannonville Colt Takes Walker Stakes



Justa Tom, two-year-old pacer owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Blatherwicke, RR 1, Shannonville, turned in the fastest time this year on the Kingston track to take the $1,000 Walker Stakes Race in Kingston Monday.

The winner's record time was 2:10.0. Mr. Blatherwicke's Justa Tom finished second in the O'Keefe Trophy race two weeks ago. The horse is also entered in the Black Diamond Stake Race which closes the Belleville Fair Aug. 17.

The horse's owner raised and trained him himself. He drove him 300 miles in January and February during his evenings home from work just to ready himself for final training in Cobourg.

The horse was driven by Hugh Hamm of Centreville.

River Gall, Madawaska Farms, Arnprior, driven by Dr. J. Findlay, was second in the Walker Stake and Todd Judge, Jean E. Miller, Kingston, driven by E. Miller, was third.

The World in Her Lap!

Not every hound can hope to become a coddled pet. But four-month-old Duchess seems to have the whole world in her lap. The pet is actually a miniature beagle, property of a Belleville resident.

TV Column

Hutchins A Dagwood Fan

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the producers of CBS's new comedy series Blondie, tapped actor Will Hutchins to play Dagwood Bumstead, they did not know they had acquired a long-time student of the venerable comic strip.

"Very few people remember why Dagwood is such a bumbler," says Will.

"Chic Young's comic strip was started in the late 1920s and one of the depression themes was that he was the son of a very rich man who, until he lost his money, had never done anything practical."

Will, whose speciality as a performer is projecting a gentle, naive quality, is a lanky six-footer who resembles not at all the cartoon character nor does Arthur Lake, the actor who with Penny Singleton made careers out of playing Dagwood and Blondie in a series of almost 30 motion pictures.

But Hutchins, still remembered for his four years in television's Sugarfoot series, seems to be right for the role. Patricia Harty plays the title role.

After Sugarfoot, there was Hey, Landlord, which barely staggered through the 1965-67 season. His TV wife, Miss Harty, had a similar experience that year with Occasional Wife. Both series were better than their ratings indicated.

"What I'd love," says Will, "is to bring back Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton to play our children's grandparents."

ABC executives are pleased with the 8:30-11 p.m. time period on the first night showed that, in terms of audience size, it trailed NBC by less than a point and CBS by two points but still twice as strong as its showing four years ago.

The first of the nightly summaries suffered from the same problems that bugged the continuing live coverage of CBS and NBC-lack of stimulating raw material with which to work.

Art Buchwald, hired by CBS to add a light note to the Miami Beach proceedings, also seems to have encountered some performing problems. In two outings seen by this viewer, there wasn't a chuckle to be found in the heavy-handed proceedings.

Party Leadership Claimed

Competition for Leadership

American Nazi Party Showing Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after the assassination of its founder—George Lincoln Rockwell—the American Nazi party, its name changed, appears outwardly more prosperous, more sophisticated. But its private papers disclose that, behind factions are competing for control of the tiny movement.

What apparently is the principal Nazi organization—now known as the National Socialist White Peoples party—has bought a two-storey building in a quiet middle-class neighborhood in suburban Arlington, Va.

There, in a second-floor office, Matthias Koehl Jr., 33, presides as national leader. Koehl rules a tiny band of armed racists and anti-Semites.

If was born a racist," Koehl told an interviewer. "I never could see the sense of mixing of blacks and whites.

"It's highly indecent. I've always believed in the preeminent of all white America."

But while the basic aims of the black haven't changed, their activities have. They've largely stopped publicity-seeking antics such as the demonstration in 1965 when a Rockwell trooper put on black-face minstrel garb, slipped past guards and made a dramatic entrance in the House of Representatives to protest civil rights legislation.

And they've turned to the telephone for what Koehl calls the "white power message." One such message, opposing the elevation of Associate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice, called him "a Red Jew—an utterly despicable one."

Koehl publicly denies that there are any splits or factions in the party, but one recent issue of the NS Bulletin, the party's official internal publication, contained pleas to "stick party unity . . . reject splintering."

A key splinter group with headquarters in the Los Angeles area calls itself the American Nazi party. Its publication, Attack!, signed by "Capt. George Carpenter, national secretary," says that since Dr. Kwi ell's death, the Nazi movement "has no real leader."

"All white man in America are waiting for a man of the quality of Adolf Hitler to make himself known and lead the white race to victory," it said.

Metro Toronto Expects Building Boom

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto, one of North America's biggest builders for the last several years, appears on the verge of an unprecedented construction boom, planners say.

In the first five months of this year, Metro issued more than $253,000,000 worth. of building permits—second on the continent only to New York City's $631,000,000—and 25 per cent from a year ago.

Los Angeles is third with a total of $228,100,000. Montreal, Canada's second-biggest construction market, is almost $100,000,000 behind Toronto for that period.

While Metro critics are quick to note the city has failed to come up with anything as exciting architecturally as Montreal's Dorchester Blvd., city officials say that could change.

"There's an awful lot of work in the design stage," says Building Commissioner F. E. Wellwood.

Some large, unannounced projects are on the drawing boards, he says.

Robert Briggs, a partner with the architectural firm of Bregmann and Hamman Ltd., predicts there will be an "above normal" number of jobs up for tender in the last half of this year in Metro.

"Some of it is institutional work, such as hospitals and government offices. Contractors are starting to look their work forces now.

"The economy appears to be fairly good right now, perhaps with favorable indications from a strong government, and some of the previously held back projects may be coming back in the fall," he said.

He says his firm has between $80,000,000 and $100,000,000 worth of work put out for tender within the next two years, mainly in the Toronto area.

Among the major projects that have been announced are:

—A $30,000,000 hotel-shopping-entertainment complex on Queen St. south of the new city hall;

—A factory headquarters for Lord Thomson of Fleet's international publishing empire, to be built beside the new complex;

—A $22,000,000 commercial complex north of the new city hall;

Bank of Commerce;

—A major office-apartment-entertainment complex at Yonge and Eglinton in north-central Toronto;

—A $100,000,000 development by the CNR and CPR involving lakeshore properties near the present Union station.

Planners say two other huge, but long-delayed projects still are rated good bets.

One is an $85,000,000 office-apartment development across the waterfront, held up for the last few years because of a lack of financing.

The other is the often-discussed $250,000,000 complex to be built around the site of the old city hall at Queen and Bay streets. Originally put forward by the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., retail giant, it has a large department store at the site, it got hung up by lack of agreement between Eaton and city officials.

Several other developers, however, have expressed interest in the proposal.

Providing a strong base for further Metro construction is the city's housing needs.

The city recently was told that long-delayed projects still could double by 1980 to 4,000,000.

Much of the growth in the last five years has been met by large apartment complexes, costing as much as $100,000,000.

The development of apartments has been phenomenal in the last few years," says Mr. Wellwood.

"There is no indication that it will let up. The space has been taken up and the vacancy rate is very low."

The Toronto exchange posted its best gain in the last month in moderately active trading Tuesday. Advances outnumbered losers 285 to 245.

Trading resumed in Pamour Mining, which jumped 9 to 43½ after touching a record at 45½. Occidental Petroleum Corp. of Los Angeles said it will decide by Sept. 14 whether it will make an offer of $50 U.S. a share for all Patino stock. Dealing in the shares was halted Friday pending the announcement.

Loblaw Stores to Stop Issuing Trading Stamps

TORONTO (CP) — Loblaw Groceterias Co. Ltd. will discontinue issuing trading stamps at the end of this month, President Leon Weinstein said Tuesday.

Mr. Weinstein told a news conference the company expects to increase its turnover, profits and lower prices as a result of discontinuing the stamps.

He said the stamps cost the company about three per cent of its sales last year. Loblaw Groceterias does not report Canadian sales figures separtely from its international operations, but they have been unofficially estimated at about $240,000,000 annually.

That would make the cost of the stamps about $7,200,000.

Mr. Weinstein said the stamps are being discontinued as the result of a consumer survey. About 57,000 customers of 65,000 replying were against stamps, an eight-to-one ratio, he said.

"If the survey hadn't turned out that way we would have continued stamps," Mr. Weinstein said. "Like other chain groceterias we haven't listened to the public enough in the past, or done anything about their complaints."

He said Loblaw's prices will be cut by at least three per cent, on a gradual basis, starting immediately. The cuts will be in shelf prices, rather than in special items, he said.

Mr. Weinstein said Loblaw stores will continue to give out stamps until the end of the month. Customers may redeem them any time, either for cash or merchandise.

The decision to abandon stamps was not unexpected, Mr. Weinstein hinted he would have the news when he became Loblaw's president two months ago.

Mr. Weinstein, who is also the head of Power Super Markets Ltd., said Power gained 14 per cent more customers in the first year after it discontinued stamps.

Loblaw Groceterias net profit last year was $16,540,000 compared with $16,775,000 in the 1966 fiscal year.

TORONTO (CP) — Withdrawal of Loblaw Groceterias Co. Ltd. from the stamp field means trading stamps in Canada will again be able to fulfill its original function of helping independent retailers, says Monty West.

Mr. West, chairman of the Canadian Association of Stamp Companies, said in a statement Tuesday night there still are more than 12,000 independent retailers in Canada handling trading stamps.

He added that stamps will continue to provide an important promotional aid, especially to the small retailer.

He was replying to Loblaw's announcement earlier that it will discontinue issuing trading stamps at the end of this month because of customer complaints.

Mr. West said small retailers unable to buy large amounts of time on radio and television use trading stamps. Since the advertising budget was used to provide stamps, they did not add to the cost of merchandise, he said.

"Survey after survey in the United States has shown that when stores discontinue the stamp program they do make an attempt to reduce prices for a short period. But these surveys show that prices quickly creep back to the level they were at before, leaving shoppers without stamps but with the same price level as when they obtained stamps.

"It is not possible in today's market-place to substantially reduce promotional expenditures—they're just diverted from one type of promotion to another."

Stroke's Effects Can Be Minimized

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

We explained yesterday that a "stroke" is damage in the brain. When a leg, arm, speech or whatever, becomes paralyzed from a stroke, the damage is not in the paralyzed limb. It is in the brain, where limited treatment is possible.

If, as is common, the damage in the brain was because a clot or thrombus shut off circulation to a certain area; anticoagulants (blood thinners") may be, and often are, used for a time to minimize risk of another blockage.

Thus, depending on the severity of the stroke, circulation resumes, or finds other routes to carry the blood stream. The damaged brain tissue regains some degree of activity. This accounts in part for the paralyzed limb's beginning to lose some of its paralysis.

Another reason for this partial recovery, in some instances is that other parts of the brain and other nerve routes can "learn" to control muscles in place of the damaged brain area.

I have made it clear, I hope that the paralysis from a stroke does not mean that the paralyzed muscles have been damaged. It is merely that they receive no "instructions" from the brain and so can do nothing.

As time passes, this very idleness results in weakness and wasting of the muscle. The same thing happens if a person spends too much time at bed rest — loss of muscle tone and weakness sets in rapidly. Even a few days makes a difference.

Therefore with a stroke it is necessary to prevent the idle muscles from the consequences of not being used. Shortly after a stroke, any measures to retain muscle tone must be under medical supervision. Gentle massage, physical therapy of various types, in certain cases even electrical stimulation to make the muscles contract and relax.

Later on, however, much of the responsibility belongs to the patient — with encouragement by his doctor and family. The partially paralyzed patient cannot overcome the effects of a stroke by sheer will power. But he can and must exercise, to the best of his ability, such muscular activity as remains.

If a leg is affected, he still must move it as much as he can. If he cannot walk, he may still be able to move it a little — and he should. Or if a hand and arm are affected, squeezing a rubber ball or practicing lifting and arranging very small objects will be of benefit. Any action that is possible will tend to keep the muscles in condition while the patient waits for the return of nerve stimulus as may be possible for him.

The patient cannot hold a fork or a spoon or comb, but can move his arm, special holders have been designed to give him a sufficient grip — rehabilitation institutes or rehab departments of many hospitals can show what is available in this line.

And the sooner a patient receives active physical therapy a stroke, the better for him. Some further thoughts tomorrow on strokes.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would eating the yolk of a raw egg every morning harm an elderly woman? — Mrs. Z. B.

What's the purpose? And why would it? Raw egg may harbor germs at times, which is why I want my eggs cooked, to avoid the occasional risk of raw ones. The germ may be one that causes diarrhea. Anyway, I see no benefit to you in eating only the yolk.

Tax Reform Group Rejects Brief Against R. C. School Aid

OTTAWA (CP) — A Protestant organization's arguments against a Roman Catholic campaign for increased tax support of separate high schools in Ontario were rejected Tuesday by a select committee of the legislature.

John White (P C—London South), chairman of the committee studying proposed provincial tax reforms, said a brief from the Inter-Church Committee on Protestant-Roman Catholic Relations was beyond the committee's terms of reference.

He said the committee was holding public hearings in Ottawa as ways of raising revenues, not to study their expenditure.

Pat Lawlor (NDP-Toronto Lakeshore) assailed the church committee for presenting "narrow and petty" arguments against an extension of the separate school system.

Mr. Lawlor, a Roman Catholic lawyer, said there are "unassailable" arguments against tax support for separate high schools, but the church committee had chosen instead a "partisan" presentation that was "tra-cing your own cause."

The brief, presented by Rev. William G. Berry of Ottawa, said the church committee opposes tax support of Roman Catholic high schools beyond Grade 10 for these reasons:

—Separate schools have no legal right to public funds for support of Grades 11 to 13 and the government cannot be expected to "hall them out" on financial difficulties;

—The cost of setting up separate high schools would be prohibitive;

—Roman Catholics should continue to pay tax support of public schools just as all citizens are required to support all fields of public concern.

The committee represents Anglican, Baptist, Churches of Christ, Presbyterian, The Salvation Army and United Churches.

The legislature committee, due to report to the government by Sept. 17, will hold public hearings in Kingston (Wednesday and Peterborough Thursday.

The committee was told Tuesday that regional library systems should be excluded from the 29 regional governments proposed for the province.

Claude B. Aubry, director of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System, said the 14 regions already established for library services are better able to serve the people.

A good-library system needs a large, well-financed central library around which regional libraries and bookmobile services can be built, he said.

The 29 regional governments proposed in the Smith committee report on tax reform are not organized to perform this service,

Mental Illness Not Toxic

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Although the public attitude toward mental illness, and emotional disturbances, has changed a good deal for the better in the last decade or so, it is with an aura of suspicion, fear and shame. We have come a long way, but not far enough.

One reason for our slow pace I think, has been the use of the word "sickness" in a confused and mysterious sense. Many still think that "sickness" is the mind or emotions representa something toxic, or twisted, or mechanically defective in some substantial way.

But I think we have to look at it as a much different and more salutary, way. We have learned that in the case of the body we have what are called "deficiency diseases." We acquire some of these deficiency diseases — scurvy, for instance — if we don't eat enough fresh fruit, or don't get enough iodine or vitamins of one sort or another.

There is nothing especially mysterious about such deficiency diseases. The body needs and craves certain forms of nourishment and sustenance; when it doesn't get them, it responds by falling into illness of one type or another. Providing the missing element usually restores the person to full health — if treatment is not too delayed.

Now, we have to begin to look upon "mental illness" also as a kind of deficiency disease. Something in the early emotional nourishment of the child was missing, or was not transmitted properly or absorbed properly — with the result that the child grows up with a neurosis, instead of scurvy, or goitre, or some other physical deficiency disease.

Some basic needs and satisfactions — all centering around the feeling of being loved and being safe — have been cut off from the source of supply, in one way or another, and the child acquires some symptoms of neurosis as a defence against these lacks. Just as some children deprived of calcium will begin nibbling blackboard chalk.

Obviously, I am not speaking here of cases where there may be organic brain damage or some other neurological impairment — but of the ordinary, garden-variety neurotic, who seems so "normal" in some areas and so distressed or perverse in others. (It is not the "deranged" people who cause so much trouble in the world as the half-sick.)

Our progress in coping with what we call "mental illness" — for want of a better term — will come only in part from medical science; the other part depends upon public understanding of this "deficiency disease," and the reduction of the feelings of fear, shame, resentment and scorn. Love is what they lack, more than vitamins, and love is the most effective therapy to bring them to a full, productive life.

A Day in the Life of Canada's Heart Transplant Patient

MONTREAL (CP) — "Well, that's that," said Gaetan Paris, as he put down his electric shaver and ran a hand across his chin to check for remaining stubble.

The new shaver is used by Canada's second and surviving heart transplant patient instead of a blade to prevent cuts that could cause infection.

In the sterile room with the 66-pound transplant patient who received a new heart from Yvon Bastien, 25, an accident victim, on June 28—40 days ago—was his wife Claire and nurse Micheline Richard.

Mr. Paris, who at 5 feet 5 inches once weighed 148 pounds, now turned a lean face upward and grinned at gown-clad Canadian Press photographer Harold Herschell who looked more like a surgeon than a photographer.

"He looks well doesn't he," said Cecile Boisvert, head nurse of the institute, "especially after the 10-minute military drill."

Military drill?

"Yes," explained the pert, blonde nurse who had been at Mr. Paris' bedside for the first 24 hours straight after his operation.

"Military drill—he has to exercise for 10 minutes every day and that means marching on the spot for 10 minutes, just like in the army."

Mr. Paris was being photographed after Mr. Herschell agreed to scrub for 10 minutes and undergo a sterilization process which included putting a plastic sheath over his camera while wearing surgical gloves.

The institute's current rule is that no reporters are allowed into the room with Mr. Paris, but the administration agreed to let a photographer enter.

Mr. Paris could see into the ante-room where Miss Boisvert was instructing the photographer about sterilization procedure.

"How are you doing, Mr. Herschell? Now remember, take off all your clothes and put on the special green shirt and pants. Then put on the cap and the special boots over your shoes and I'll tie the mask for you.

"Whew," she said.

"Well, it's not as bad as slipping pizza or Chinese food into Mr. Paris' room, which is a little bit contrary to normal hospital diets.

A Canadian Press reporter was permitted Tuesday to see Gaetan Paris, Canada's second and surviving heart transplant patient, at the Montreal Heart Institute 40 days after his operation. The following story tells how Mr. Paris spends the day.

* * *

"His day begins about 8:30 a.m. when he gets up and if he has a special request I try to fill it. This particular day he wanted pizza and we have a marvelous Italian chef who made the pizza right here at the institute and we brought it to Mr. Paris. What fun."

At 8:30, said Miss Boisvert, Mr. Paris has a normal breakfast which includes muffins, cereal and fruit juice.

"He also dresses himself and shaves with an electric shaver. He takes a bath now and will even spend an hour by himself during the day.

"If it's a nice day, he walks out to the balcony and takes some sunshine. When he comes back, he knows he has to remove his clothes and put on special ones before returning to the specially sterilized room in which he has been living for over a month."

The room is about 12 feet by 12 feet, has glass walls, houses a bed, chair and some equipment.

When he leaves his room, he dons a mask to walk through the corridors but once he gets outside into the air, he takes the mask off.

"There is more bacteria in here (the hospital) than out there," said Miss Boisvert. "The pollution actually destroys the bacteria."

"He comes in about 11 a.m. and reads or reads and then has lunch, a normal lunch. Then he sleeps for a little while if he's tired and after that has a 10-minute exercise period.

"And his heart stands the exercise very well. Do you know it's very difficult to march on the spot for 10 minutes? One of the doctors marched with him one day and gave up before Mr. Paris did.

"I've worked with cardiac patients for many years and I've never seen anyone make such a marvellous recovery."

In the afternoon, Mr. Paris, who speaks both French and English, reads several newspapers which have to be sterilized first.

"They are sterilized through a special gas process," said Miss Boisvert.

Dinner is served at about 5:30 p.m. and includes anything from meat loaf, mashed potatoes and celery stalks in the special treat of pizza and Chinese food.

"Mr. Paris really loves these foods and the chef goes out of his way to prepare them for him. Actually, the chef prepares some for the staff at the same time," said Miss Boisvert.

In the evening Mr. Paris enjoys television.

"He's crazy about suspense programs," said his constant nursing companion, Miss Richard.

"They watch all the mystery programs together," said Miss Boisvert. "They never have to fight over what channel to watch. Danger and intrigue seem to fascinate both of them and when he's not watching suspense programs he's reading mystery magazines or books."

Mr. Paris is allowed to have two visitors at a time until nine p.m.

"Mrs. Paris usually comes in the afternoon and spends about an hour with him."

On Tuesday she stayed through the supper hour with him during the photographing session.

At one point she leaned over and kissed her husband.

"Can you see the light in my eye," she said happily to the photographer.

Miss Boisvert said Mr. Paris' children visit him also and some relatives.

"Usually he's in bed by 11:30. Of course, during the day we try to keep him out of bed as much as possible so he'll return to a normal routine.

"Some of the things he might like though, we can't give him. For example, no beer or hard liquor because that might interfere with the action of certain medications he has to take during the day.

"Oh, I almost forgot. There was a tailor here to see him a little while ago. Mr. Paris said he wanted a new suit in which to leave the hospital so the tailor came in, scrubbed for 10 minutes, put on the special clothes and went in with a tape measure to get the details for the suit."

Most of the time, Mr. Paris likes to dress in a casual manner, preferring the turtleneck jersey to the shirt collar and tie.

"He has several jerseys," said Miss Boisvert.

"That brown one he has on today doesn't really make him look his best but the blue one really brings the color to his face."

On Monday, the 43-year-old electrical designer surprised his wife by coming home to suburban Laval for a cup of coffee.

"The hospital called me early in the morning to say Gaetan wanted to come home for a cup of coffee and before I knew it there he was," said Mrs. Paris.

"He stayed for a half hour and then went back to the institute."

Dr. Pierre Grondin, who performed both Canada's transplant operations said last week that Mr. Paris probably will go home "in another four weeks."

At the time, he had returned from a conference in Cape Town where he met with other transplant surgeons to discuss the various methods involved in such operations.

Postmen Backing Return to Work

Local Groups OK Bid

By DON MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

Members of both postal workers unions in Belleville accepted the settlement offer made by the government, in a combined vote yesterday.

Co-chairman of the voting committee, Don Mathews, said this morning that the men in both the letter carriers' union and the postal workers' union accepted the offer.

"That's all I can give you," he finished, "I can't release any figures."

With reports coming in from across the country predicting that the settlement offer would be voted down, Belleville union members are waiting to see what will happen.

"We'll be going back to work anyway," said one of them, "when parliament is called."

If a law is passed in Ottawa putting postmen back on the job, the government is not going to meet with any opposition in Belleville.

"Of course we'll go back if they pass a law," said carrier Al Kelleher. "After all, we work for the government, not for the union."

Jim Campbell, who is president of the letter carriers local 45 in Belleville, said that restating a parliamentary order would be stupid and foolish.

"It took us 10 years to get as far as we are," he continued, "and resistance like that would put us right back where we started."

Another carrier, Harold Bankier, said: "We were only authorized by law three years ago to legally strike, not wildcat strike."

Union members in Trenton are not voicing any opinions on the strike.

Offer Winning Slim Approval

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposed settlement to end the country-wide postal strike was getting 58-per-cent approval as the vote count neared completion today at the union's national strike headquarters.

At 11 a.m. EDT the official tally ran 10,844 in favor of settlement and 7,635 against.

The count included big union locals in Montreal and Toronto, both of which voted yes by a narrow margin, said Jack Colville, national secretary of the Letter Carriers' Union of Canada.

Returns from Western Canada still were scattered. There were no results from Vancouver, and Mr. Colville said the decision of militant West Coast members could be all-important.

About two-thirds of the local across Canada had reported by 9 a.m. EDT.

"I hope we have them all by this afternoon," Mr. Colville said.

There were indications that the total votes cast would fall considerably short of 24,000, the approximate number of letter carriers and inside workers eligible to cast ballots. A simple majority will decide the issue.

There is a strong probability that Parliament will be summoned into special session to deal with the strike, now in its 22nd day, if the unions reject the agreement reached by government and union negotiators Tuesday.

The government's latest offer was hammered out Tuesday in a marathon bargaining session which ended just before Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau was to have met his cabinet for discussions on possible parliamentary action to end the strike.

As mail continues to pile up in postal storage points across Canada, the alternatives are either a quick resumption of contract negotiations or the recalling of Parliament to

Key Terms of Accord

OTTAWA (CP)—Following are key terms in the proposed agreement reached by government and union negotiators in the national postal dispute:

—Contract covering two periods, 14 months starting Aug. 1, 1967, and 12 months starting Oct. 1, 1968.

—Wage increase for the 14-month period of 21 cents an hour.

—Additional increase for the 12-month period of 18 cents an hour.

—All hours worked above 40 a week to be paid at time-and-a-half.

—New employees to reach maximum levels in their classifications after three years, instead of up to seven.

—Immediate upward adjustment for some employees still below classification maximum, worth at least six cents an hour.

—Compulsory, checkoff of union dues for all employees, union members or not.

—Guarantee of five eight-hour days a week for clerks, ending half-day work.

—Judge Rene Lippe, mediator in the dispute, to arbitrate new clothing and boot allowances.

—Acceptance of agreement to cost government about $37,000,000 over the 36-month period.

Seamen Marooned Off Staten Island

NEW YORK (AP) — It might have been easier for the 27 South Korean seamen if they had been marooned on a lonely isle. Then they could have foraged for food and water.

But for six months they have been marooned within sight of the skyline of the richest island in the world—Manhattan—and they almost starved before anyone discovered were there.

The sailors still sat idle today aboard their anchored freighter, the Indonesian Star, playing checkers and worrying as they have done since February about what is happening to their families in South Korea while their ship remains marooned on a shoal of debt.

But they are no longer hungry, frightened and lonely. Staten Island has taken them to her ample bosom and small boats bring food, fresh water, medical supplies and amusements for the wayfarers.

When they arrived in New York last February, with an 800-ton cargo of mahogany and rubber destined for Galveston, the ship was detained by creditors.

They were discovered recently by a Seaman's Church Institute official, Peter Van Wygerden. Food was nearly gone, and the sailors had no soap and little water.

An attorney, Kenneth Nam, has brought court action seeking to get the sailors their back wages and passage home. The court ordered the sale to pay off the company's debts.

But Nam said the ship can't be sold until the cargo is removed.

London Abortion Capital

LONDON (CP) — Britain's decision to legalize abortions has earned London the title of the abortion capital of the world, says the mass-circulation Daily Mirror.

Both The Mirror and The Daily Telegraph, surveying conditions since the new act went into effect three months ago, report that the number of operations to halt pregnancies has increased rapidly.

In the April-June period the number of abortions performed in national health hospitals rose from a quarterly average of 800 to 2,348.

The Mirror says it still is difficult to get an abortion under the national health plan but for the rich "it's as easy to buy an abortion as a baby's crib."

The act allows pregnancies to be terminated where the "mental health" of the mother is involved. The Mirror reports many doctors are interpreting this to apply to any woman who asks for a termination.

One reason given for the legalization was that it would end back-street kitchen-table operations. But The Mirror says that for many women terminations are still being found in the back streets. The reason is a lack of wealth combined with the slow rate of free abortions under national health.

MANIWAKI, Que. (CP)—The bodies of two young persons missing for eight days were recovered Wednesday from Lake Baskatong, 100 miles north of Ottawa. Three others are missing and feared drowned.

MONTREAL (CP)—Officials of Air Canada and the Canadian Air Line Pilots' Association are to hold further contract talks today following rejection by both parties of a conciliation board report. The report recommended a 14.5-per-cent wage increase spread over 36 months for the pilots, who now earn up to $28,000.

Republicans Pick Nixon, First Ballot

MIAMI BEACH (CP) — Former vice-president Richard Nixon capped a remarkable political comeback early today by winning the Republican party's presidential nomination on the first ballot—as expected.

He immediately pledged a campaign for the Nov. 5 election "in a way to unite the nation."

"The problems at home and abroad are simply too big for politics as usual or for partisanship as usual," the 55-year-old lawyer said.

His long-predicted triumph as the favorite of the party's hierarchy and professional rank-and-file came in a marathon nomination session lasting nearly nine hours.

Nixon won 692 of the 1,333 official delegate votes—or 25 more than he needed—in a one-sided race with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, a non-winner in the last three Republican contests, and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, the former cowboy movie star who captured the hearts of the Republican right wing.

The Democratic party meeting in Chicago later this month will name Nixon's opponent. Vice-president Hubert Humphrey is the favorite over Senator Eugene McCarthy.

Former Alabama governor George Wallace, a segregationist, is a strong third-party candidate this year as well.

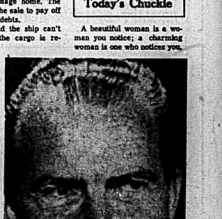
The final result, close to most pre-convention forecasts, showed Rockefeller with 277 votes and Reagan with 182.

A clutch of "favorite son" candidates—state leaders competing to exercise maximum influence on party policy or for goodwill gestures by regional supporters—accounted for the rest.

They also accounted for a long, boring night of speeches and demonstrations. It was 5 p.m. EDT and finally ended near 2 a.m. today although the final state-by-state roll call for a presidential nominee took little more than a half-hour.

After Nixon's election, most delegations moved to make the choice unanimous, a formality.

Nixon will deliver his acceptance speech tonight.



For Nixon, it was a sweet triumph.

After eight years as former president Eisenhower's vice-president, he had barely lost the 1960 election to the late John F. Kennedy and then the California governorship to Democrat Pat Brown in 1962.

At that point, he announced his intention to retire from politics and began a New York law practice.

But he campaigned for Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in 1964.

After that disastrous defeat for the Republicans, Nixon became the party workhorse and helped fashion a considerable recovery in the 1966 congressional elections.

Richard Nixon

Maryland's Governor Spiro Agnew Nixon's Choice As Running Mate

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)— been consulted.

Richard M. Nixon, winner of the Republican presidential nomination, today picked Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland his vice-presidential running mate.

Nixon made the announcement in a brief news conference at 12:40 p.m. EDT. He said some 100 party leaders had

The selection of Agnew, a one-time supporter of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, was a major surprise. The Maryland governor delivered the nominating speech for Nixon Wednesday night.

Nixon opened his news conference saying the deliberations "have been very thorough on what we think is a tremendously important decision."

He said he wanted a man qualified to be president, who could campaign effectively and who would be able to assume new responsibilities dealing especially with the problems of the nation's cities.

He said this "just ain't so." Union mathematicians had "forgotten to calculate" the fact that the 21-cent wage boost would apply through the last year of the proposed contract as well as the first 14 months. The other 18 cents would go on top of the 21 cents.

This was "a curious thing" when union members were dependent on their leaders to give them the facts of the agreement.

The government gave a total cost for the wage package of about $33,000,000. It said this was made up of $22,400,000 to cover the 21-cent boost over 14 months, $8,200,000 for the extra 18 cents over the last year and $2,400,000 to cover the conversion to new job classifications set out in the agreement.

Splitting up $33,000,000 among the 24,000 workers would give each one a net gain of about $1,375, the government spokesman said.

Mr. Houle and Mr. Decarie, who signed the telegram, were in Montreal for a meeting of postal workers and could not be reached immediately for comment on the government claim.

Government Says Union Leaders Understated Offer's Value

OTTAWA (CP) — With the final decision on the postal strike in the hands of the workers, the government entered a claim Wednesday night that union leaders understated the wage value of the proposed settlement.

A government spokesman in Ottawa took issue with a union statement to membership that the wage package would mean a total of $811 extra for each worker. He said the benefit would be about $1,375.

The government-union agreement covers two periods: 14 months dating from Aug. 1, 1967, and 12 months starting Oct. 1, 1968. The proposed contract calls for an hourly pay increase of 21 cents for the 14-month period and an additional 18 cents for the final 12 months.

The total increase works out to 15.1 per cent over the 26 months from the present average hourly wage for postal workers of $2.57. The union demand was for 75 cents or 29 per cent over 14 months.

William Houle and Roger Decarie, co-chairmen of the Council of Postal Unions which bargained with the government, sent a telegram to all postal locals outlining the gist of the agreement and recommending the workers approve it.

The telegram said the agreement would bring a worker $426.81 for the 14-month period and an extra $374.40 for the last 12 months, for a total gain of $811.21.

The government spokesman said this "just ain't so." Union mathematicians had "forgotten to calculate" the fact that the 21-cent wage boost would apply through the last year of the proposed contract as well as the first 14 months. The other 18 cents would go on top of the 21 cents.

This was "a curious thing" when union members were dependent on their leaders to give them the facts of the agreement.

The government gave a total cost for the wage package of about $33,000,000. It said this was made up of $22,400,000 to cover the 21-cent boost over 14 months, $8,200,000 for the extra 18 cents over the last year and $2,400,000 to cover the conversion to new job classifications set out in the agreement.

Stop Logs Placed in Riverside Park Seasonal Dam

More than 160 Douglas Fir stoplogs went into place at the new Riverside Park seasonal dam on the Moira River today. The 250-pound stoplogs will be removed each fall and replaced in the spring. The seasonal dam will raise the river level by about six feet and back the water up about one quarter mile to the north end of the Cannifton Road Riverside Park.

McFarland Low Bidder on Bridge Street

The H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton is the low bidder for the Bridge Street West, reconstruction job with asphalt paving. The tender price was $99,-431.

On the tender call for concrete pavement, Caten Construction of Willowdale was the low bidder at $112,774.

Tenders for the Bridge Street reconstruction job were opened at city hall yesterday. Two prices for asphalt paving and three for concrete were received.

Caten Construction bid only on the concrete paving, while McFarland and Lightfoot Construction of Belleville submitted bids on both asphalt and concrete paving.

City council at a special meeting called for Monday, will decide whether concrete or asphalt will be used for the Bridge Street paving job. However, the Ontario highways department will pay subsidy only on the amount of the lowest tender.

Yesterday also saw opening of tenders for the construction of gravel roads on Tracey Street (west from North Front Street) and for the Harder Drive extension into Sidney township at the western city limits.

Four bids for the two jobs were received with John Leavitt of Bloomfield submitting the lowest tender at $51,961.50. Other bids were from McFarland Construction, McInroy and Maines and Lightfoot Construction.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said the tender call for the Bridge Street reconstruction called for completion within 90 working days from the start of construction.

The starting date will be dependent upon contract award by city council and department of highways approval.

The engineer expects that with good weather the paving will be far enough along to allow it to be used during the winter months.

Postmen Favoring Returning to Work

draft emergency legislation which might end the walkout.

Although Wednesday's ratification vote by about 700 union locals was to have been secret with the final results announced in Ottawa by officials of the Council of Postal Unions after tabulation, many locals indicated how they voted.

Smaller Ontario centres led the revolt against the government offer and by early today it was clear that the big Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa locals were bitterly divided over the terms.

In Montreal, 5,000 postal workers jeered and heckled their national leaders when the terms were announced at a meeting.

The union leaders refused to disclose the results of the vote and said the ballot boxes would be sent to national headquarters in Ottawa today for tabulation.

In Toronto 4,400 striking postal workers met to vote on the proposed settlement, but results were not announced by union leaders who had recommended acceptance.

Elsewhere in Ontario workers at Hamilton, Sault Ste. Marie, Guelph, North Bay, Welland, Port Colborne, Grimsby, St. Catharines, Thorold, Preston, Waterloo, Windsor, Sarnia and Sudbury rejected the offer.

Ontario centres where the settlement was accepted included Oakville, Branford, Orillia and Kapuskasing where the vote was about 70 per cent in favor.

There was strong evidence of hostility to the national executives of the meeting of Ottawa strikers. All executive members had been invited to the rally, but only two came.

"They're scared," said one striker. "The committee has no backbone."

It was clear at the meeting that the 400 Ottawa workers were sharply divided on the settlement question.

Fern Lachance, militant Ottawa president of the postal clerks, said the settlement package stinks, but for the sake of holding the union together he recommended acceptance.

In British Columbia, 1,600 postal workers in the greater Vancouver area voted 14-per-cent against the settlement.

Before the vote, the men cheered as union spokesman Jim McCall said the six-man union steering committee was "unanimously" against the offer on grounds it is inadequate.

However, Victoria's 300 postal workers voted to accept the settlement as recommended by union officials.

Eight other smaller B.C. union locals also voted in favor.

Workers in Edmonton were reported by strike leaders to be satisfied with both pay and non-pay features of the contract.

P. J. Kelly, branch president of the Letter Carriers' union, told the 800 workers to accept the contract since they will be negotiating again in one year in any case.

In Winnipeg, more than 1,000 workers voted heavily in favor of the settlement. Marsh Hendrick, union leader, did not disclose the vote figure but said it was "overwhelmingly" in favor of settlement.

In the Maritimes, Moncton, N.B., workers voted 96 per cent in favor of the settlement while unofficial reports indicated that postal workers throughout Nova Scotia voted overwhelmingly in favor of ending the strike.

Local

A closed meeting was held yesterday afternoon by members of local 91 and voting took place.

Absolutely nothing was said, or even hinted, as to the result of the balloting.

"I'm sorry," explained Gerald Jackman, local president, "but no information can be given."

One different development in Trenton is that the workers are "not very pleased" about Jim Reid, the postman who worked, gaining benefits from the strike.

It had been earlier stated that the striking workers did not think it fair for Reid to work and get paid while others went without to achieve their demands.

How Reid will be treated by the workers when the strike is over remains to be seen.

President of the Picton local, J. A. Hedges, also refused to give any indication of the results of the Picton vote.

Instead the results have been sent by telegram to Ottawa union headquarters.

Late reports today indicated that the settlement offer was winning approval by a margin of five to four.

If a reversal becomes evident, parliament would most likely be called.

In Belleville, Judge J. C. Anderson feels that the matter would work itself out within a few days if that was the case.

"Perhaps all of the workers would not get back to work at the same time," he said, "but I'm sure it would work out."

Ski Boat Towing Son Hurts Dad

A 46-year-old man suffered head injuries last night when struck by a boat towing his son on a ski flip around Peet's Point south of Belleville last night.

Arthur Jerome, of Dundas, Ont., was swimming in the Bay of Quinte off the Massassaga Road cottage of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jerome.

The boat was towing his 19-year-old son, Arthur Jr., in the vicinity when it apparently plowed into him.

He was transferred to hospital at Kingston after emergency treatment at Belleville General Hospital.

Firehall Levelled

This is what used to be Trenton's old fire hall. Now all that remains is the foundation on which it stood. Soon this will be covered by cars as the area is turned into a parking addition.

The memory of those happy days,

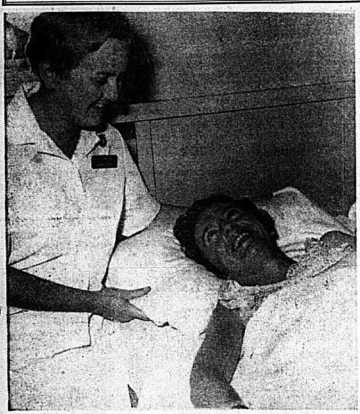
Boats Dash for Shore, Youngsters Squeal as Rains Came

Heat and humidity fraying the Quinte tempo of living has eased — washed out by a rain squall.

The late afternoon storm yesterday pelted the Belleville area with a third of an inch of rain in less than 10 minutes.



But the brief boil-up brought cloudy skies in its wake, reducing the discomfort level of living throughout the Quinte region.

The weather office reported today the humidity rating was 10 degrees lower than the same time Wednesday.

Forecasts call for cloudy periods today with the chance of a shower later this evening. High today was predicted at 78, lowering to 65 tonight.

The fierce rainstorm flooded street corners throughout the city, but otherwise apparently passed without incident.

Small craft on the Bay of Quinte beat hastily into port as ominous black clouds warned of the approaching squall.

Susan Smiles ... With Nurse Carol Jones

Injured in Belleville

Unity, Integration Flies Girl Home

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Susan Barsby is a girl with a big smile — and last night she was merry as ever.

She's flying home to England Monday — ending her first visit to Canada.

The homeward flight isn't exactly as she'd planned it when Susan first booked her return fare for a three-week Canadian holiday.

But it's a happy enough ending in a series of episodes that hadn't lighten what might have been a bitter ordeal. Susan — smiling — views the whole thing as an experience with Canadians that few other tourists can share.

The 24-year-old typist with British Railways arrived in Toronto July 9 all set to see the Canadian scene.

After a stay with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Swales, she headed east — for Montreal.

Enroute, she and the Swales made a Belleville stopover with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Clinkard.

The next day — July 17 — Mrs. Clinkard took the party on a brief sightsee of the Belleville area.

Leaving the Black Diamond Cheese plant, the Clinkard car collided with a truck on Highway 37.

Nine people went to hospital with various injuries.

Susan was among the more seriously hurt. Doctors discovered she had suffered a fractured pelvis and back injuries.

When her vacation period ended July 29, she was still lying flat on her back on the third floor of Belleville General Hospital.

She is still lying prone—and can only be moved by stretcher.

However, as she slowly recovered, a personal problem was posed: Susan was on her way to recovery: how now to get her home to England?

Surgeon Dr. H. A. Mustard is the man she credits with solving the dilemma.

(Dr. Mustard mentioned the situation to medical colleague Dr. R. T. Potter, of Quinte. Dr. Potter in turn brought the problem to the notice of Lee Grills, MP Hastings who set Ottawa wheels turning on the transport problem).

With Canada's air transport command headquarters only miles away at Canadian Forces Base Trenton, the doctor contacted air force authorities.

Not only that, she says, but they agreed to briefly divert an aircraft from its regular flight route to Lahr, West Germany, and land it at Gatwick air terminal in Scotland.

The airforce added one more personal touch.

The gesture, she feels, is typical of the concern shown her since her accident.

Hospital authorities arranged trans-Atlantic phone contact with her family in Derby to keep everyone in touch with events.

"All the arrangements have been made," she notes. "The only thing we have had to do is for my family to arrange about a doctor and a hospital in England."

She has some regrets — not being able to see Niagara Falls and Montreal's Man and His World exhibition.

But they're still in her future.

Susan says she's definitely giving a Canadian holiday another opportunity to pan out — perhaps in two years.

Anyway, everyone at the hospital is insisting she do so.

"It would be unthinkable if I didn't come back — and say thanks to everybody," she smiles.

Disease Hits Picton Trees

PICTON — Few communities are as tree-conscious as this town.

The fall of each leaf is watched with careful concern; the thought of cutting down an entire tree strikes the citizenry with horror.

At a town council meeting this week Reeve B. C. Hepburn said $5,000 had been spent on tree removal already this year.

Disaster has struck! Maple and birch trees here are being attacked. Leaves are shriveling and falling.

Phil Dodds, district director of the Ontario Horticultural Society, said a type of insect has been identifed as the birch aggressor and that the disease seems to be fatal.

Mr. Dodds said the trees could be protected by a coat of paint on the trunks.

Marples are another matter. The leaves turn yellow and they too fall to the ground. No one seems to be sure what the problem is, but Mr. Dodds suggests that it could merely be the long, hot dry spells.

Cedar trees in the countryside are experiencing a rash of cedar mites. These trees must be sprayed constantly to ward off the insects.

The town is also experiencing the continental blight of Dutch Elm disease.

Thurlow Building Official Joins Belleville Staff

Alex Beaudrie, building inspector with the township of Thurlow for the past five years, has been appointed assistant building inspector for the city of Belleville with duties to commence on Sept. 3.

Mr. Beaudrie received the appointment over a list of 31 applicants for the position. The appointment was approved by city manager J. C. Reynolds.

In addition to his duties as building inspector with Thurlow, Mr. Beaudrie has also been acting as plumbing inspector, licence issuer, and welfare administrator. However, with township welfare administration now taken over by the county, Thurlow council is reported to be considering reducing the township building inspector job to a part time role.

Inventor's Role

The role of the inventor is an important one. Often working independently of government agencies, people who are creative in the technical or mechanical sense can be of great assistance to society at large.

There is just a chance for example that a solution to the water pollution problem may be around the corner — as a result of the work of a Cornwall, Ontario, inventor.

Provincial authorities are reported interested in a device inventor Henry Lalonde has perfected for combating oil slick. Skimming the water, the equipment gulps up oil-slicked water, separates the two and flushes back pure water. It can be used either attached to the bow of a ship or kept as standard anti-pollution equipment at a lake or river.

That Mr. Lalonde may have an invention of real significance and long-term benefit to mankind is apparent in the fact that it has been tested and endorsed by many scientists including British researchers who tried it out on coastal waters blackened by the tanker Torry Canyon. This week the inventor will be in Toronto to discuss the device with provincial authorities.

As a result of these talks the prospect of a clean Bay of Quinte and the purification of lakes and waterways throughout Ontario and farther afield could be a little closer, to the benefit of all. Just imagine — beaches free of the offshore filth that has been keeping swimmers away.

Indians Need Library

Bill of Rights or not, this country need not try to hold a candle to other lands where discrimination is concerned.

Minority groups in Canada do experience discrimination, and none more so than the country's original citizens — the Indians. The latest example of this comes from Manitoba where the villagers of McGregor are reported to have banded together to prevent the purchase of a home by an Indian.

The Indian has a tough time in the white man's world. Life on the reserve offers little for his betterment, while the alien world of the European presents other, equally formidable, obstacles.

Indifference there is without a doubt, as Susan Usher, a 20-year-old public school teacher from Moosonee on James Bay has discovered. In Toronto on a summer course, Miss Usher has been knocking on business men's doors hoping to raise $8,000 for a new library for the Indian children she teaches. She has not had much luck, for the people she calls on, she says, have secretaries "who won't let me get a chance to speak to them."

The teacher had planned the library as a centennial project but the school board never received the donations expected. It has taken the community two years to raise $2,000 from bingo, teas and turkey shoots.

Quite apart from the community's own admirable effort to raise funds, as well as the private subscriptions, however small, surely the provincial government has a responsibility here. Instead of Miss Usher tramping the streets and knocking on big city doors, her board should apply for a provincial government grant. If Queen's Park should turn down a legitimate request like this then it cannot claim to have the interests of the Indian children of Moosonee, or anywhere else for that matter, at heart.

The Fates

Strange are the ways of fate. Of 95 persons on board an Italian jet that crashed into a hillside near Milan on Friday more than 80 survived. The crash which occurred in thick fog and rain during the landing approach was reported to be relatively gentle. The aircraft did not break up although flames enveloped the fuselage. Incredibly, all 10 members of the crew, the pilot included, survived. So did a university of Illinois professor, his wife and their two-year-old daughter. However, a dozen or so passengers lost their lives, reminding us also that while fate can be kind, for some it is otherwise, and that in the ultimate this life is but a transient thing for mortal man.

Speed Track

As holiday weekends go traffic this past weekend seemed remarkably light on Highway 401, but light or heavy the highway is still a speed track. Speeds of 80 m.p.h. and even higher are not uncommon. And there is no lack of evidence of bad driving — tailgating, switching lanes and all the other sins of the driver's book. If police supervision is strict it could be even more vigilant within the bounds of available manpower. Ontario drivers frequently need to be saved from themselves. Given such vigilance, there should be fewer accidents.

New Democrats May Upstage PCs in Opposition

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Biggest problem facing Robert Stanfield and his 71 Conservatives in the new parliament will be to look and sound like an Opposition.

A credible official Opposition. Their gravest danger is that they could be altogether too reasoning-going to make sensible lengths — in co-operating with the Trudeau Government.

And if they are, their greatest threat will be David Lewis and his 20 New Democrats.

Few in the NDP — at least among their veterans — are all that reasonable.

By current Conservative standards of reason and responsibility, there are those among the New Democrats who can be wildly disruptive and blindly uncooperative.

And together, with little effort, they could take the Opposition parliamentary play away from the unresisting Conservatives.

Opposition Leader Stanfield keeps saying, over and over again, that the Conservatives will support the Government in passing "good" legislation, and withhold support of the "bad."

At no time does he speak forcefully of "fighting," or even as much as "opposing" the Government.

He backs into the process of opposition with the negative "withholding" rather than giving it head-first with the positive action of "attacking."

It shapes up as something suspiciously too gentle.

Far too gentle a method this for coping with "Potent Pierre" an entirely new and powerful breed of Prime Minister, so authoritarian as to have frightened his Cabinet out of thinking aloud, and who knows, perhaps even of thinking at all.

Imagine what Trudeau the Tyrannical, the Terror of the Cabinet, could do to "Responsible Robert."

In a speech made only a few weeks ago, Stanfield sounded as if he was very well aware of the dangers ahead.

"It is natural," he said, "that the expansion in the short business of Government would tend to encourage the view among Cabinet Ministers and senior civil servants that Parliament is something of a nuisance. See it, instead of being the centre of the system, as a troublesome interference and seek to circumvent its powers."

The men most likely to flank Stanfield on the Opposition front bench are the men most like him, the "reasonable," the "responsible" men.

You hear such names as New Brunswick's Gordon Fairweather, Prince Edward Island's David MacDonald, Nova Scotia's Patrick Nowlan, Ontario's Gordon Aiken, Alberta's Gerald Baldwin.

And Stanfield remains surrounded by the "Montmorency thinkers," the political pipe-dreamers who sold him what former Tory leader Diefenbaker calls "that monstrosity" of the "Dene Nations policy" which lost them the election.

The mad-hatters of Montmorency — and there are some of them among the Conservative MPs — were so far out in their political unthinking as to invite and welcome New Democrats and even a few Communists to that famous Dene "think in."

Stanfield is long on the "reasonable men," but critically short of the kind who is not reasonable enough to believe that an official Opposition, in opposing a Government, should come in fighting, kicking and screaming and generally raising Commons cain.

Missing, among the election casualties, are such men of political war as Winnipeg's Gordon Churchill, a bitter critic on defence matters; Ontario's George Chatterton, a punishing expert on housing; Oshawa's Mike Starr, a damaging specialist on labor; Saskatchewan's Alvin Hamilton, a destructive in-fighter on agriculture, wheat sales, northern development, and a gushing well of a man with idea.

Those of the old guard who remain — the slugging, slaying activists, the hard - bitten corps of kickers and scratchers — must feel right out of tune in the new Opposition harmony of reasonable togetherness.

They must feel left out of things. Sort of on the outside looking in at the party of the "responsibles" closing around Stanfield.

But it will be these men, especially such as Cape Breton's Bob Muir and Dennie Macintin; Alberta's Eldon Woolliams and Jack Horner, the "Diefenbaker Cowboys"; and perhaps more quietly but just as combatively, New Brunswick's Tom Bell, Ontario's Waldo Monteith and George Hees, who have the best chance of making the cooperative Conservatives into a credible Opposition.

If, that is, Stanfield turns them loose. He does not, and by default, the NDP could be the real Opposition.

A timepiece museum in Wuppertal, Germany, has added another rarity to its antique collection — a 200-year-old hand mirror clock. A masterpiece of baroque goldsmith work, it is shown here by a young Chinese visitor to the museum. The model was ordered from London by Chinese diplomats in 1750 and became a part of former Empress Tsu Hsi's collection. The empress had more than 300 clocks. A Belgian diplomat on assignment in Peking recently received the timepiece as a gift from Chinese communist leader Mao Tse-tung. The Belgian in turn presented it to the museum in Wuppertal.

Jobs Scarce for Students

Halifax Chronicle-Herald:

Unless his department acts with speed and effectiveness, few unemployed students are likely to profit this summer from the promise of Manpower and Immigration Minister Allan J. MacEachen that steps will be taken to intensify its summer employment program. However, the situation may be considerably improved next year if the government moves now to help create students in vacation time jobs.

Meanwhile, the student population is increasing and may be expected to do so with a concurrent growing demand for the chance to earn its way.

Perhaps the time has come when thought should be given by the universities to the possibility of offering three full semesters rather than two during a year. The limitations of existing summer school programs do not qualify them as semesters.

NATO Must Remain Strong

Toronto Telegram: Various political leaders, among them T. C. Tommy Douglas, Real Caouette and Dalton Camp, believe the time has come for Canada to withdraw from NATO and channel the savings into other fields.

In the light of this, it's heartening to hear Defence Minister Leo Cadieux that Canada has every intention of living up to its NATO obligations.

Now is not the time to pull out of the North Atlantic Alliance.

The tensions in Europe over Czechoslovakia, the rise of neo-Nazism in West Germany, and the military withdrawal of France from NATO, are adequate reasons why the alliance should be kept strong.

An Over-Used Expression

Vancouver Province:

Among overused expressions these days is "the Establishment." Among some it is accompanied by overtones of scorn and suspicion. Such critics imply "the Establishment" is invariably composed of reactionaries-repressive leaders completely insulated against new ideas. . . . Every group has its "establishment," an influential group. The hippies have one. So do university faculties. So do students, stamp collectors, musicians and so on. . . .

"Establishments" are seldom popular. But they are necessary. And they must produce results. Those who attack them should be asked to show their credentials. They should explain what they are for, not what they are against. What kind of "establishment" would they set up?

Cut in Civil Service

Vancouver Sun: Congress of the United States is a witness for the cool recording of abated government. The Parliament of Canada might usefully study the U.S. evidence and possibly follow the U.S. example. Canada's federal government took great credit to itself last March for impoling a staff freeze as an economy measure. The Congress of the richest country in the world has now made Ottawa look positively extravagant. As from the first of this month, U.S. departments and agencies are under orders to fill only 75 per cent of their regular job vacancies until the employment level of June, 1968, is reached. This is calculated to sweet the payroll by 250,000 jobs.

Communist Paradox

Unruly Satellites Twist Russian Lion's Tale

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has been learning the lesson that a super-power is often powerless.

All the military and economic might of a great power cannot guarantee that its influence can be exerted beyond its own borders. Subsidizing a country does not necessarily buy its co-operation as the United States has learned.

The Soviet Union is having these facts of international political life brought home even though it has never been stronger in both industrial and military terms.

Using the Red Army, the Soviet secret police and Moscow-trained local Communists, Stalin absolutely and completely controlled East Europe.

But Tito's Yugoslavia broke free and when Stalin snapped his fingers nothing happened. Years later Albania trailed off after Communist China.

Then went Rumania, which in the last four years has carved out an aggressive position of independence right on the Soviet borders. The Kremlin was increased but impotent to control Rumanian economic and foreign policy.

Now there is Czechoslovakia.

Farther afield, problems continue for the Soviet Union.

Cuba is subsidized by some $400,000,000 a year but this Soviet money does not buy influence. Worse, it is paid to an openly defiant regime that is too hot a potato to hold but too hot to drop.

While Fidel Castro is trying to foster revolution in Latin America, the Soviet Union argues that the area is not ripe for revolution and prefers peaceful trade relations with anti-Communist governments.

More expensive is North Vietnam and the Vietnamese war, which costs the Soviet Union $1,000,000,000 or more dollars a year in aid and handicaps Soviet domestic economic development.

The Soviets apparently are unable to translate their part in the Communist war effort into influence. Hanoi takes the aid but pursues its own policy.

Military and economic aid is not influence in Syria, either. Since last year's Arab-Israeli war, Syria has refused to follow the Soviet line that a political rather than military solution is needed for the Middle East.

The Kremlin is in the awkward position of supplying Syria with the weapons which it fears might be used in another unwanted Middle East conflagration.

One of the biggest Soviet aid programs, $2,100,000,000 in economic help for India, now has been caught up in the explosive anger of a neighborhood feud.

The Soviet Union recently gave in to years of Pakistani urgings to provide heavy weapons for Pakistan. India thinks Pakistan wants arms only to threaten it.

Caught in the middle of this feud, just the way the United States has been in previous years, the Soviet Union is being roundly castigated in India.

Speed Check

As holiday weekends go traffic this past weekend seemed remarkably light on Highway 401, but light or heavy the highway is still a speed track. Speeds of 80 m.p.h. and even higher are not uncommon. And there is no lack of evidence of bad driving — tailgating, switching lanes and all the other sins of the driver's book. If police supervision is strict it could be even more vigilant within the bounds of available manpower. Ontario drivers frequently need to be saved from themselves. Given such vigilance, there should be fewer accidents.

A Bounty for Bernice

Hands Joined at Luncheon

Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott, Hastings MPP Clarke Rollins, Hastings MP Lee Grills and Hastings county warden Calvin White find mutual accord—the cheese table — at yesterday's luncheon at Camp Lavallee.

A Pretty Task

Mrs. Clarke Rollins has a rock pendant placed around her neck by Bancroft mineralist Harold Petch. The pendant was presented by Burke's of Bancroft which mounts the stones.

Gemboree Sparkles in Opening Day at Bancroft

BANCROFT (Staff) — Bancroft's fifth annual Gemboree opened yesterday on an optimistic note as the largest crowd ever to view the exhibits on opening day was on hand.

Spurred by a 30-car cavalcade of City of Belleville aldermen and Hastings county council members, Gemboree organizers gleefully looked forward to one of the best "rockbound" shows ever staged in Ontario.

"This has always been one of the biggest events of its kind in Ontario," said Harley Leach of Kingston, president of the Central Canada Federation of Mineral Societies. "This year it looks as if it will take top place as the best of its kind."

Harold E. Petch, past president of the Bancroft Mineral Society and one of the founding members of the Gemboree said: "Like last year we have increased our exhibits to the point where we had to provide additional tent space to look after everybody."

Mr. Petch supported his claim that opening day was far and away better attended than any of the previous four openings by saying the Carlcliff Women's Institute ran through its four-day supply of food at its booth in one day. One soft drink concession used up a two-day supply in the first three hours.

This year the Gemboree has boosted its appeal by expanding its attendant attractions. Gemboree promoters are looking for big crowds on Friday and Saturday when the Cross-Country Jamboree — a country music program — will stage grandstand shows at the Gemboree site.

Although the organizers have programmed such events as the country music show, corn roasts, a midway and lucky draws they have not forgotten the main purpose of the show.

One of the popular parts of the program is the field trips which are scheduled for nine o'clock every morning. The trips are free and are guided by members of the Bancroft Mineral Society who are completely familiar with rock formations in the area. Both novices and experts are invited to take part with transportation provided to points as far distant as 45 miles from the Gemboree scene. Once at the sites, the field trips generally involve a walk of a mile or two in searching out the rocks and gems in the area.

Wednesday's opening was given a boost by members of Belleville's city council and Hastings county council. All were guests of Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott at his Camp Lavalee campsite and trailer park earlier in the day for a luncheon.

Mayor Scott, who said his avowed goal is "to bring the city of Belleville and the rest of the county into closer contact," told visitors "our future is bound together, especially with regional government just around the corner and we must work together."

The mayor said the opening of the Gemboree proved as ideal opportunity to get the elected officials together and at the same time provide a boost for the Gemboree . . . "one of the best tourist attractions in the northern part of the county."

Pat Nixon: Unflinching Campaigner

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Richard M. Nixon once confided to an audience about his wife, Pat:

"I think she is quite a gal. Not only because she is the mother of a couple of nice kids, but because she has been with me and stood with me through thick and thin all the time that I have been in politics, and part of it has been rough."

Now Pat Nixon—trim, tawny-haired, and 55—is amid the rough life again, a fellow campaigner alongside her husband, part of the political team of Dick and Pat, veterans of 22 years on the campaign trail.

Mrs. Nixon has said she doesn't care for the "tinsel of politics," and she is happiest working behind the scenes of volunteer headquarters. But she knows the role of a candidate's wife, particularly a presidential candidate's wife, perhaps more thoroughly than any woman in the public eye today.

When she campaigns she brings all her formidable energy and endurance into play. She smiles constantly, listens raptly as her husband makes speeches she's heard many times, reaches out for hands in reception lines and keeps a poised, unwilted look from morning to night.

She still won't make speeches.

"I have never spoken on issues," she says. "I do talk to people and get their opinion. I am eyes and ears for Dick. He's the speechmaker of the family, and we've always considered him so."

Desperate Need for Medical Aid—Not Bombs

MONTREAL (CP) — For a Canadian hospital administrator in Vietnam the guilt feeling at seeing napalm-scorched bodies overwhelmed any humanitarian reasons for being in the country.

Claire Culhane, 49-year-old Montreal grandmother who was an administrator in Quang Ngai province, says napalm has been re "improved" that a Vietnamese seared by the liquid fire often hasn't enough undamaged skin left to repair burns.

"It's more adhesive so you can't remove it when it burns the skin. Before it just burned; now it's much more effective."

Mrs. Culhane said in an interview that the first words she learned in Vietnamese were: "I am a Canadian, not an American."

But the words sometimes sounded a bit hollow—to the Vietnamese who think all white people are Americans, and finally to herself.

"You can't be as dependent on the Americans as we were for transportation and supplies and not feel you are responsible for the killing."

Mrs. Culhane says Canada is supplying the United States with polystyrene used in making napalm and helicopters for bombing raids. Land in Saskatchewan is being leased to the United States as a training ground for Vietnam-bound bomber pilots.

Americans think Canada might as well join the war, she says.

Mrs. Culhane went to Vietnam last October on salary from the Canadian external aid department as part of a team to work in an 80-bed tuberculosis hospital.

When she arrived the hospital was not completed and until it opened in December the seven Canadians headed by Dr. Alje Vennema of Burlington, Ont., helped out at the nearby provincial hospital.

There, close to 750 patients were crammed into 400 beds, supplies of hot water and electricity were unreliable, makeshift sanitation limited the garden into a cesspool and flies were everywhere.

Almost 80 per cent of the patients were women and children injured in the crossfire when they refused to desert the ancestors buried at their villages.

Their burns were wrapped with vaseline-soaked bandages. There was no time or room for the months of skin grafts and restorative surgery necessary for recovery.

The TB hospital where Mrs. Culhane was administrator served 150 to 200 out-patients a day as well as 80 bed patients. One in seven of the Vietnamese population has TB, she says. The general infant mortality rate is 50 per cent.

The Canadians and the Quakers were the only groups in Quang Ngai who refused to have guns in their homes. They lived unharmed.

Two months after its opening the hospital was taken over by the South Vietnamese army, which shelled the jungle from equipment set up on the hillsides, generally aiming at no'thing.

Appeals to the provincial chief to have the soldiers withdrawn were unsuccessful and in March the Canadians decided to close the hospital.

Two or three of the 32 Vietnamese personnel remained to wan the clinic but the bedpatients were sent home and the Canadians returned to Saigon, where the ministry of health said their help was not needed elsewhere.

Mrs. Culhane returned to Canada in April, soon followed by the rest of the team.

She declined to leave as an "agonising" one.

She had seen, heard and smelled the hospitals of a country where there are only 140 Vietnamese doctors for 15,000,000 people, where the government supplies but 30 piastres (30 cents) a day for a patient's food and where the entire public health program is allocated only two per cent of the national budget.

"Medical aid is desperately needed in Vietnam—but now that's not enough. We need an end to the bombing."

Mrs. Culhane, who is separated from her husband, is working for peace through the Voice of Women. When that goal is reached she'll leave her job as a medical records librarian and go back to Vietnam.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS H. BIRD

Bird — White

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, was the setting of the wedding when Rev. Hobbs united in marriage Brenda Joanna White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. White, of R.R. Appropriate wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Grace Brown; and the soloist for the ceremony was Mrs. Judy Earles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length pure silk organza over nylon taffeta gown in empire-style with an A-line skirt and bell shaped sleeves. The waistline was accented with venise lace, and a full length train extending from the waist was also trimmed in venise lace. The floral headdress was caught to a shoulder length veil; and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Carol Hagins wore a turquoise empire-line gown with a flowing back and accented by a wide band of venise lace. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Joyce Reid and Mrs. Cheryl Vandervoort were dressed identical to the maid of honor. They all carried crescents of white and blue tinted 'mums. Flower girl was Miss Angela Bird. Eating Makes Life Difficult for Mother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is a mother to do when her husband teaches the children crazy eating habits? I know what made Alphonse nutty — his mother. She stood over the stove 10 hours a day cooking separate meals for every cracked member of the family.

His sister was a vegetarian and his two brothers wouldn't touch fresh fruits or vegetables or fish or chicken. An unmarried aunt who made her home with them lived on carrot juice, wheat germ, yogurt and hard-boiled eggs. His father wasn't crazy, just sick but he had to eat special foods because of ulcers and diabetes.

Ann Landers

When I married Alphonse I knew he would not eat or drink anything white — potatoes, milk, rice, white bread, cottage cheese, whipped cream. The list is a long one. Now our oldest son (age 8) tells me he won't eat anything Daddy won't eat. Our youngest son is only three but he is already pushing away certain foods.

If you have any suggestions please pass them on. I am — COOK FOR A KOOK.

DEAR COOK: You can't change Alphonse's eating habits at this late date but you can refuse to knuckle under the kids and I hope you do, for their sake, as well as yours.

Make it clear that they will eat what is set before them and there will be no substitutes. If they push things away, say nothing. Remove the food from the table without comment. If they are hungry in an hour, tell them, "Sorry, mealtime is over." After a while they will eat what is served and everyone will be happier.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married 17 years. He is a lovely man and our marriage is an extremely good one. The tragedy of our lives is that we were never blessed with children. I went to specialists in three cities and was told by all it was extremely unlikely that I would ever have a family.

I am writing to ask what to do about my husband's widowed sister. Emily comes to our home every Sunday for dinner and never leaves without making some cruel remark about our not having a family. (She never says anything in my husband's presence.) Yesterday Emily looked around at our newly furnished sun porch and sighed, "A home is not a home without children. What a pity you failed George." She quickly added, "I know it's not your fault, dear, but it's a pity nevertheless."

This morning I received in the mail an article from a cheap magazine which said, "A man cannot truly love a woman until she bears his child." There was no evidence of who sent the article but I know very well it was Emily. Incidentally, she was married 25 years and had five children. Her husband drank himself to death and three of her children do not speak to her or to each other.

Shall I continue to burn slightly or should I say something to George? — VA OF VA.

DEAR VA: The next time your sister-in-law makes one of her darling remarks ask her to please repeat it in George's presence because you think perhaps he might wish to comment. If she is reluctant, keep insisting she does. If George is the good man you say he is, he'll give his sister a reply that will button her lip for all time.

Reading Handicaps Can and Must Be Eliminated

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Perhaps the following paragraphs will inspire a mother or teacher who is working with a reading-handicapped child, as this one was:

"In teaching our son how he began school, seven years ago, I used cards showing the letters. The lessons were after school.

"When we found something that had a special meaning for him and used this to identify the letter, it helped him. For instance, P for pup. His pet puppy meant a great deal to him. Or we would use a toy he especially liked; also foods he might be fond of, such as B for banana, which was easier for him to remember than B. for boy.

"For letters which proved most difficult to recall we would cut out colorful pictures representing the toy, pet or food. We always kept the object the same for any given letter." . . . Perceptual Post, Canadian Association for Children with Learning Disabilities

Dear Post Editor: Thank you. Many parents and teachers need ideas like these. (Pause.) Cents for further help, write for list of publications to the above association, at 88 Eglinton Avenue East, Toronto 12, Canada)

Dear Doris: My daughter, 19, is going with a fellow who has been in jail three times for speeding, drunken driving, going through a red light. I talked to his mother and she said she hopes her other son never gives her trouble like this boy has.

Please tell me if I am wrong for not wanting to let Bab go out with him. She uses our family car to pick him up. He has reformed in his drinking since she has been going out with him. — Worried Mother

Dear Worried: Your girl is heading for heartbreak. Any mother worth two hoots would object to such a boy friend.

It may be noble for her to try to reform him, but she is far too young to take on the major rehabilitation job he needs. You can't forbid it; but you don't have to let the family car be party to the association.

* * *

Confidential to Rejected Mom: Was it overprotection in those early years that made your girl swing over so desperately to obeying a boy friend? For some reason she seems to be banging her wings against the bars of an imaginary cage.

How she has described you to these would-be parents-in-law I can only imagine, but rushing headlong into marriage at 16 is going from the frying pan into the fire. There is a law about parental consent being required (until 18 or 21, depending on the province), which should give you a little time to re-open communications.

Be ready to admit to her that you aren't perfect.

Every day Doris hears from readers who report success after taking her advice on a human dilemma. Let her help you with yours.

Woman Treats Whales

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Roberta Hartman is a veterinarian for killer whales, treating mammals at the Vancouver public aquarium. She tended Skana, a 15½-foot-long killer whale. "They jerk when they are injected the same as we do," she said, "but once they are out of the water they are quite docile."

EVER SEE A CHICKEN GET BAGGED?

We do it every day at Schneiders. We take the plumpest, tastiest chickens available. We clean them, cook them, and spice them. Then we bag 'em for your freezer. All you do is heat for thirty minutes and you've got a barbecue-style chicken so tasty you'll wonder why you ever bothered with the old way. If you didn't try one today, buy one tomorrow. No one should miss a treat like this two days in a row.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Increase Flavor and Reduce Cost

By MARY MOORE

Only three months ago I made Chili Con Carne for my Sunday School pupils and gave you the recipe. It called for two pounds dried kidney beans and three pounds ground chuck beef.

Now I have made Chili Con Carne to serve 12 but with a difference. I reduced the cost without hurting the flavor.

An unexpected phone call from my son-in-law's niece came from Burnaby asking if she could call on them in Esquimalt. Of course they were delighted and Marianne remembered that Teri liked Chili Con Carne. So we made a batch that served 12 generously and you can do it too without overspending when welcome guests arrive.

CHILI CON CARNE FOR SUMMER VISITORS (serves 12)

one pound dried red kidney beans
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons margarine
1 large chopped onion
1 (or 2) cups chopped celery including some tops
2 pounds ground chuck beef
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon crushed chillies

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Gourmet Lamb Curry (see Wed.); Condiments: Chutney, Unsweetened Coconut, Chopped Bananas in Lemon Juice; Lettuce, Spinach and Cauliflower Salad with French Dressing; Blueberry Roll; Coffee.

SUNDAY

Jellied Consomme; Baked Ham with Apricot Glaze; Eggplant Creole; Corn on the Cob; Lattice Gooseberry Pie; Tea.

(or 1 tablespoon—or more — chili powder)
one 28-oz. can tomatoes
2 teaspoons sugar

Rinse the beans in a large sieve under running cold water. Soak them in a large saucepan overnight in a cool place in water to cover them by at least three inches over the top. In morning cook them in the soaking liquid until tender but not broken. Add more water if necessary. In a very large saucepan melt the margarine and add the onion, celery and ground beef and saute until vegetables are limp and meat is all broken up and gray. Add beans including liquid in which they were cooked, and all remaining ingredients and cook covered for one hour. If mixture is too sloppy simmer uncovered a little longer to evaporate excess liquid.

We served ours with a wonderful shredded new cabbage salad and sliced rye bread.

P.E. AND BELLEVILLE LADIES CLUB

In place of its usual monthly meeting the Prince-Edward-Belleville Ladies Club met at the Recreation centre on July 30 and went by bus to Maple Inn, Bloomfield, where the 33 members enjoyed a lovely dinner.

After driving to Wellington, they visited the museum there. All the members found several articles on display which were both interesting and educational. On the return trip home, a visit was made at the home of Mrs. Ardella Trumpour of Hillier, a member of the Club. Mrs. A. Trumpour had just celebrated her 80th birthday, and all her family was present to take part in the celebration.

The return home was by way of Carrying Place and Trenton, reaching Belleville in the early evening.

Medical Research Council Shift Causes Worry

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet decision to shift the Medical Research Council into the federal health department from a virtually autonomous position as an agent of Parliament is causing serious worry in the scientific community.

Negotiations still are going on about the position the council will occupy under the new setup but informants said Wednesday it appears that some council powers will be limited.

Health Minister Munro, questioned about the matter, said talks are going to clear up objections to the change but the final pattern has not been set.

"These objections are being taken seriously into account and, where practical, they will be met," he said.

He declined comment on three specific points raised in several quarters among scientific groups involved in the council's $27,400,000-a-year program to finance medical research projects.

The three major areas of concern among the scientists appear to be:

—Will future heads of the council continue to report directly to a cabinet minister or become subordinate to the deputy health minister?

—Will the council and its advisory panels continue to be the sole authority over award of money granted by Parliament for medical research?

—Will the composition of the council and its assessment committees continue to be predominantly drawn from senior men in university and scientific institutions?

Informants say that the first question appears to have been settled. The council will report directly to the health minister.

Informants said the scientists appeared happy about this assurance.

However, the scientists were not enthusiastic about the initially-proposed arrangements for council control over research funds.

At present, Parliament votes funds to the National Research Council, earmarking a specific amount for the Medical Research Council.

In practice, after determining the merit of an application for research funds and the reasonableness of the amount, the medical council makes an award of the grant and names the recipient. The minutes of the medical council's meetings are attached to those of the NRC and the federal treasury officers make grant payments on the basis of the medical body's decision.

In transferring the medical council to the health department, it was proposed that the council's awards be made as recommendations to the health minister, thus giving the minister the final say over the awards program.

While it is described as "unimaginable" that a minister would reject a council recommendation, the scientists argued that the proposed arrangements would violate the "essential" principle of a scientist's peers being the only ones equipped to make a final decision on the merit of a project.

On the third major area of worry—the predominance of university and research scientists on the council and its assessment panels—the government is seeking also to reassure the scientists.

One senior government man said he cannot see how this aspect will change in any way when the medical council begins to function under the health minister.

The scientists, say, however, that the wording of the July 22 cabinet order designates the "department of national health and welfare" and not its minister as the agency to control and supervise the council.

They apparently feared this might result in administrators rather than scientists being appointed to the council and its assessment panels, with a consequent watering down of the "peer judgment" principle.

Hepatitis Brings Yorkville Cleanup

TORONTO (CP)—A general cleanup of the Yorkville hippie district was ordered Wednesday as fear, that a hepatitis outbreak in the area might mushroom continued.

Controller Margaret Campbell, Toronto's acting mayor, ordered the cleanup following reports of more cases of the liver disease in Yorkville, bringing the total to about 120—40 confirmed and 80 suspected.

Mrs. Campbell said the streets department began cleaning up garbage early Wednesday, the property department began cleaning out weeds and housing standards inspectors moved in.

Women's College Hospital agreed with city and provincial officials to foot the $3,000 bill for the 1,000 teens to be completed this week.

Carrier Responsible for Waterfront Pilferage

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Superior Court, in a precedent-setting decision, has ruled that the carrier is responsible for lost goods in cases of waterfront pilferage.

Judgment in the case, the first of a lengthy backlog of waterfront pilferage cases before the court, was handed down by Mr. Justice Arthur L. Smith in his last ruling before retiring from the bench.

The case arose from the pilferage of $4,500 worth of ski boots from a Montreal warehouse shed in October of 1963.

The consignee, Simpson's Montreal Ltd. department store, sued the shipping agent, Canadian Overseas Shipping; the carrier, Fjell-Orange Lines; and the stevedores, Brown and Ryan.

Mr. Justice Smith ruled in his judgment Monday that the carrier is the ultimate employer of both agent and stevedores, and thus is responsible for their actions.

The carrier had argued that its responsibility ended when the goods were beyond ship's tackle, as stated in the bill of lading.

Mr. Justice Smith awarded Simpson's Montreal Ltd., $4,500 damages against Fjell-Orange Lines, and dismissed claims against the agent and the stevedoring firm.

Heart Patient to Visit 'Man and World'

MONTREAL (CP) — Gaetan Paris, Canada's second heart transplant patient, will visit the site of Man and His World Sunday afternoon.

The 49-year-old electrical designer from suburban Laval who received the heart of Yvon Bastien, a 23-year-old accident victim 41 days ago, will spend 90 minutes touring the site, weather permitting.

Mr. Paris, accompanied by his wife Claire and other members of his family, will tour the islands in an air conditioned limousine. He will also ride the minirail, and stop briefly at Place des Nations, an amphitheatre on the site.

His presence will be marked with the showing of a film dealing with his operation and he will meet with reporters.

No one will be required to wear surgical masks.

Security arrangements similar to those accorded heads of state during Expo 67 have been instituted.

The visit was arranged after officials from the exhibition site consulted with Dr. Pierre Grondin who performed the operation at the Montreal Heart Institute.

Playground Activities

On July 26 Stanley Parkette held a pet show. Dianne Killough won the grand prize for her puppy "Missy" Dale Jones and his sister Karen won second prize for their three little kittens. Nancy Fields took first prize in the stuffed animal division, with Steve Clarey and Bev Hunter as second and third.

On Monday our park visited The Black Diamond Cheese Factory.

The park went to Zwick's Island for a picnic on Wednesday, July 31. There we held relays and games with Bayview school. Stanley Parkette came out on top in the overall score after wheelbarrow races, sack races, a balloon breaking contest, a scavenger hunt and a peanut scramble.

Down 2-1

There's No Click In Joyce Combination

If there was any silver lining in yesterday afternoon's rain clouds, it had blown over by the time the Belleville Joyces met Kingston Lakeview Centennials for their third EOBA playoff game.

The local seniors absorbed their second home defeat of the best-of-seven set, as Kingston's 3-1 win gave them a 2-1 edge in the series.

Last night's setback was a frustrating experience for the bustling locals.

They had gone into the rain-threatened contest cautious, but eager to avenge Sunday's loss before their biggest home crowd of the season.

So eager, in fact, that they were out on the soggy infield more than an hour before game-time raking and shoveling over muddy blemishes left by the afternoon's cloudburst. They didn't want the game postponed. As third baseman "Moe" Hunter had predicted, the Joyces intended to "pull out all the stops."

And on paper, it looks like the Joyces couldn't have done much more than they did to beat the visitors.

They mustered an eight-hit attack, with no less than seven team members collecting safeties.

BUT Kingston pitcher Keith Weese didn't allow the Realtors more than a single bit in any one inning.

In the field, the Joyces committed three errors, while Kingston bobbled five times on defence.

BUT the Centennial miscues resulted in a lone Joyce tally while Belleville errors figured in the scoring of three Kingston runs.

And in the pitching department, who could fault Joyce rookie Joe Hastings for his 10-hit chore, walking only a pair of Kingston batters, while striking out eight?

BUT both those walks came in a shaky start, and combined with a pair of hits started Kingston off on the right track with a 2-0 first-frame lead.

It was the type of game where the proverbial "good hop" in several instances would have given the game a different complexion.

Take the fourth inning, for example, when the Joyces — trailing 3-1 — had runners Pat Asselstine at third and John McKibbon on first, with only one out.

A missed bunt attempt by batter Craig Rump, a quick throw by the Kingston catcher, and Asselstine was picked off bait, unable to get back to third in time on the slippery infield surface. End of threat.

Or how about the sixth Belleville time at bat.

With none out, and runners on first and third, pitcher Keith Weese neared a sharp liner labelled single by Asselstine, and flipped the ball over to first to double up Larry Mavety.

A few instances like those made it easy for the Realtors to strand 10 base-runners.

Typical of last night's team performance was Gary Goyer's third-inning plate appearance. The slugging shortstop blasted Weese's first pitch over the Kingston centrefielder's head for what appeared to everyone to be a 360-foot home-run gem.

But one of the game's three umpires ruled the ball had not cleared the boundary fence, but instead bounced five feet over it from the soggy turf for a ground-rule double.

Like the Joyce night, Goyer's blow was a home run effort, but it just didn't show up that way on the scoreboard.

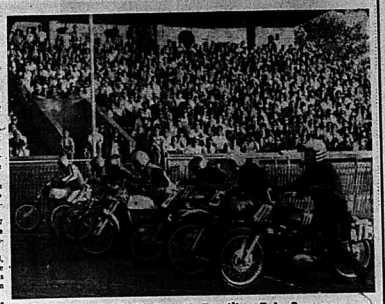
Cycles, Sulkies Set for Fair

As Cyclists Ready for Duel...

For those motorcycle-racing fans who were disappointed at the Muscular Dystrophy Benefit races here July 1st when Yvon Duhamel didn't meet Dave Sehl because of equipment trouble, there's a new opportunity coming.

On Friday, Aug. 16, Duhamel and Sehl will return to Belleville for the eighth annual Ontario ½-Mile Dirt Track Championships to put a roar into Belleville Fair activities.



National Champion Duhamel has lost prestige this year, as Sehl, of Waterdown, Ont. defeated him on two ½-mile dirt track ovals when he had trouble with his cycles.

So the heat is on at the Fair's Ontario Championships and Duhamel has promised his equipment will be in top shape to meet Sehl's persistent bid to unseat him as Canada's top cyclist.

With the bikes running the Fairground's ½-mile in 27 seconds, and more than 30 entrants, dirt-track fans can be assured of plenty of break-neck competition, with the Duhamel - Sehl duel as an added bonus.

Among the experts entered already are Duhamel, Sehl, and Don McHugh of Brampton. The races will also feature the Yamaha factory road race team: Jim Sehl, (Dave's brother) in the senior class and another brother, Doug, in Junior class competition.

Entry forms for local racers are available from the Piston Pushers Motorcycle Club, Foxboro. Entry deadline is August 8.

Dirt-Track Racing Is Familiar Fair Scene

Hopes for "Frosty" Saturday

...Things Are Bustling Around Fairground Stalls

What this world needs is more optimism, and if it's the race track you're visiting, Larry Zebedee's your man.

Larry is putting in long afternoons these days, preparing his stable's entry for the popular Black Diamond Stake Race to be held Saturday, Aug. 17 as the finale of the Belleville Fair.

You see, June Lyn Frost — the current pride of the Zebedee stalls — has never run a race before.

And to keep the record straight, Larry will tell you his four-year-old mare has been training with pacing hobbles for only four weeks now.

It somehow doesn't seem to represent the essence of race-track logic — making your horse's racing debut in the fanfare of the most keenly-contested event of the local harness calendar, let alone coincident with the flurry of Fair week.

But there's method in Mr. Zebedee's apparent training program lunacy.

Watching the husky driver-trainer putting June Frost through her paces at a Wednesday afternoon workout, a Fairgrounds circuit frequenter made it all seem so logical.

"It's just like a runner preparing himself for a race, you know," the trackside spectator observed. "You like to be able to work your horse up to a peak of performance — not try to get too much speed too soon. If you do that, your horse could just be a fast-breaker, and lose steam soon after a start.

Well, Fair officials say at least 20 other Quinte Area trotter and pacer owners have the same thing in mind for the evening of Aug. 17.

This year's field for the mammoth Black Diamond Cheese Trophy is up over other years, with 23 owners having paid their $40 in nomination payments for the Stake as of yesterday.

And being a novice at the racing game is no drawback in this particular race. As a matter of fact, it's almost a requirement for entry.

The only restriction on Black Diamond Stake horses is that they must not have won more than $200 in purse money on the trotting circuit in their lifetime, as of March 15.

One More Swing, and...

One more connecting swing of the bat would have given Belleville Joyce Realtor Manager Gary Goyer the Eastern Ontario Baseball Association's senior batting title.

Final league statistics found Goyer hitting at a .429 clip, with 30 hits in 70 trips to the plate. Another hit for the Joyce shortstop, or one less by the top slicker—Kingston's Ron Earl—would have switched their positions in the hitting race.

It was sweet revenge for Earl, who found himself one hit behind Goyer five years ago in the race for Lakeshore Baseball League hitting honors.

Goyer has his consolations, however: his 30-hit and 25-run totals were the best in the EOBA circuit, as were his three triples.

Joyce catcher Larry Mavety, who led the loop hitter earlier in the schedule, and who paced the locals at the plate much of the season, wound up fifth in the final figures, his 29-for-73 season food for a .397 average. The hefty backstop's three homers were tops in the league, and he drove in the most runs, 24.

The Belleville lineup also included the loop's seventh and 10th best hitters, with Joyce third-sacker Murray "Moe" Hunter and first baseman John McKibbon compiling .354 and .312 averages, respectively.

Oakland Rookie Homers in Debut...

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Keough's Debut Campbell obviously haven't been around long enough to adjust to 1968's Great Hit Famine.

Keough of Oakland Athletics and Campbell of Detroit Tigers had a load of six major league at bats between them before Wednesday—all of them belonging to the Ineligibles.

Today they both have their home runs and Keough also has a small spot in baseball's record book.

Keough, called up from the minor leagues earlier this week, became the 37th player to hit a homer in his first big league at bat—the 10th one to do it as a pinch hitter—and helped Oakland defeat New York Yankees 4-3 in the second game of a Wednesday doubleheader. New York took the opener 3-0.

Campbell, playing in his sixth game and first as a starter, for the Tigers tagged his first major league hit—a homer naturally—as Detroit defeated Cleveland Indians 6-1.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Boston Red Sox clipped Chicago White Sox 3-2, California Angels dropped Washington Senators 4-2 and Baltimore Orioles swept a doubleheader from Minnesota Twins 3-0 and 9-6. Detroit also completed a 5-2 victory over Cleveland in a game suspended earlier eight innings Tuesday night.

Keough got his first major league swing in the eighth inning of the second game with Oakland trailing 3-2 and tagged a Lindy McDaniel pitch into Yankee Stadium's right field seats. That tied the score and two innings later, Reggie Jackson singled Oakland's winning run home.

In the rain-delayed opener, Mel Stottlemyre won his 15th on a six-hitter with Joe Pepitone's two-run homer providing all the offence he needed.

Campbell's first homer was somewhat less dramatic than Keough's. It came in the eighth inning with the Tigers already enjoying a 4-1 edge.

Detroit packed three runs in the first inning—two of them on Bill Freehan's double. Earl Wilson, with his-batting help from Daryl Patterson, won his 10th and Willie Horton clubbed his 27th home run.

Young George Stone, two days away from his 22nd birthday, just may have nailed down a permanent job at Atlanta.

"He looked real good to me," Atlanta manager Luman Harris said after the rookie lefty pitched and batted the Braves to a 10-2 victory over Chicago Wednesday night.

"We've got to give him another look or two before deciding on whether to protect him in the draft or not."

Stone, making only his second start of the season, came in three runs, limited Chicago to six hits, struck out five and walked only one.

The league-leading St. Louis Cardinals whipped Cincinnati 3-1, Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 6-2 in a late night game, San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 4-3 in a 10-inning game and Houston fought off the New York Mets 4-3 in a game marred by a brawl.

Stone had trouble only with Jim Hickman and Ernie Banks, who hit solo home runs for the Cubs.

And it was his single up the middle with the bases loaded that drove in two runs and broke Ken Holtzman's scoreless inning string at 38. He also singled in a run in the Braves' clinching, five-run seventh inning.

The Cardinals, delayed in starting one hour and 20 minutes by rain, consumed only 1:56 in whipping Cincinnati. It put them 14 games ahead of the pack and dropped Cincy from second to fourth.

KEENE, N.H. (AP)—Elmer Hohl of Wellesley, Ont., staged a series of record-shattering performances to dominate the world horseshoe-pitching championships which wound up Wednesday. HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP)—Sherman Plunkett lost a bout with the scales and lost his job Wednesday with New York Jets of the American Football League. The 6-foot-3, 300-pound offensive tackle, co-captain of the team last year, was placed on waivers by the Jets. He had been instructed to get down to 300 pounds by the time he reported for training camp here. He checked in at 337 and lost only seven pounds.

Ontario Grabs Team Honors

EDMONTON (CP) — A late surge by Gary Cowan of Kitchener Wednesday overcame an Alberta lead and gave Ontario the Willingdon Cup interprovincial golf team championship by three strokes.

Three over par after nine holes, and with his team trailing Alberta by two strokes, Cowan poured it on in a charging finish marred only by a one-over-par five on the last hole.

Before he got there though, he had rolled in birdie putts on 14, 16 and 17, and missed a three-footer for the birdie on 15.

On the 17th, he drove into the trees where his ball rattled off several tree trunks and bounded back into the fairway. He placed his second eight feet from the pin and rolled in the birdie putt.

Ontario's final total was 574, Alberta's was 577. The other teams in order were British Columbia 589, Manitoba 600, Quebec 604, Saskatchewan 607, Nova Scotia 624, New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island 626, and Newfoundland 653.

British Columbia had been the defending champion.

The win was the first for Ontario since 1962 and the 17th since the cup was placed for competition in 1927.

It could be the start of a long reign; Cowan, at 28, is the oldest member of the team.

John Ellison of Toronto was the low man for Ontario, with 70-70-140. Stu Hamilton of Brampton had 72-72—144, Cowan had 73-71—144 and Ben Kern of Cookville had 72-74—146.

"If there was a key to our win, it wasn't my 'charge'," Cowan said afterwards. "It was Ellison's performance."

"It's something for a young man to come on the team for the first time and shoot a pair of 70s."

Another young man making his first Willingdon appearance didn't fare as well. Norm Gray of Calgary finished with a 73 for a 152 total.

Keith Alexander of Calgary was low man for Alberta with 69-71—140. Doug Silverberg of Calgary had 71-71—142 and Bob Wylie of Calgary had 76-73—143.

Alexander's round was a masterpiece: He strayed over par only once, and carded 17 pars.

Bert Tlechurst of Vancouver recovered from a disastrous opening 77 to card a 72 Wednesday. But Art Donaldson of Vancouver, who had an opening 69 and 70, 78, and Jack Silloso of Vancouver, who opened with 73, skied to 77 on a course that wasn't as tough Wednesday as it had been Tuesday.

Threat On Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — There won't be any revolt of tournament pros against the current Professional Golfers Association, not this year at least.

"There will be no boycott," said Sam Gates, who represents the touring pros. "We are going to play straight through."

Gates, a New York lawyer, made his statement Wednesday night in Akron, Ohio, after a closed meeting with more than 100 golfers in Akron to compete in the American Golf Classic.

Before the meeting Gardner Dickinson, chairman of the Team Players Tournament Committee, had termed the situation "grave." The players reportedly seeking the right to run the $5,620,000 tour without interference from the PGA.

"We want to resolve this thing within the framework of the PGA constitution," Gates said. He plans to meet in New York sometime today with Bill Rogers, the PGA counsel. No time was set, however, and the meeting may be put off for a day or two.

The latest threat of a break between the touring pros and the PGA developed Tuesday after an 11-hour meeting between player representatives and the PGA Tournament Committee.

Long Live Superstitions!

Every Conceivable Gimmick Used to Foil Sport Taboos

Superstition is on the wane among present-day athletes, according to some observers, probably because so many of the youngsters coming up have been recruited from colleges and schools. Many, especially baseball players however, exposed to the influences of older men soon acquire some of the cabalistic beliefs that have been part and parcel of the game so long.

For instance, no one especially the broadcast section of the news media, is supposed to mention that a certain player is approaching some sort of an achievement such as a no-hitter. Red Barber is the only one we know who violated the taboo. And it worked.

There were many strange superstitions held by various athletes. Stan Musial used to break a slump by reversing his breakfast eating the eggs first then the spread. Bobo Newsom always had another player tie his spikes laces. Al Simmons would take a pre-game shower with his hat on.

Louis Becquilli, a southern pitcher, once saw a batter don a pair of women's silk panties. Said they made him hit. The pitcher tried it, won 17 games and was sent to the majors.

Paul Lehner of the Cardinals developed a Sunday jinx. He could not hit because he thought Sunday was a bad-luck day. His manger told him of certain "Sunday pills" harmless things made of flour and water and sugar. He took them secretly, hit a grand slammer and was never bothered with "Never on Sunday" afterward.

Clark Griffith while pitching for Chicago had the feeling that horrible luck would come his way if he pitched a shut-out. When he appeared headed for the blank, he'd beg his team-mates to ease up and let the opposition score a run.

Lefty O'Doul's glove was the key to his hitting ability. At the conclusion of each inning he'd take it off and toss it to the ground with a whirling motion. If, when it landed, the thumb pointed to right field, he always got a bit the next time at bat.

Once Hank Greenberg and Al Lopez opened a hitting spree they'd continue to eat the same food consumed on the opening day of the streak. Unhappily Lopez ate kippered herring and eggs for 17 consecutive days during a hectic batting rally.

It was an amazed clergyman who was walking with the famous Christy Matheweon when the hurler suddenly exploded "Quick, spit in your hat". Obeying, the clergyman did such and the hurler hurriedly explained that a cross-eyed woman was approaching.

Babe Ruth never failed to kick second base on his way from right field. Ducky Medwick of the Cardinals always booted third base when he trotted in from the outfield.

Former Red Sox manager Bill Corrigan selected Pullman car numbers as batting averages. His luck didn't hold. His Bosox landed in the cellar three seasons in a row.

Most actors will faint if a hat is thrown on a bed, or if anyone whistles in the dressing room. Max Schmelling astributed his loss to Jack Sharkey when a friend tossed his fedora on a dressing room cot before the fight.

I don't know whether golfers change but years ago Seattle hard luck omens on links were robins on the course markers, throwing sand from a tee box, entering a tee from behind and walking on the same side with the caddie.

Ace auto racer, Peter de Paolo once lost his favorite shoes and promptly started to lose races. He advertised a reward of $5,000 for the boots. They were returned — and he promptly zoomed off to another winning streak.

A former football player being banqueted in his home town, upset a vast cleanup, and being superstitious, stood up and tossed a pinch of the stuff over a shoulder. Unfortunately the "pinch," struck a passing waiter in the eye, and the hero was showered with a treyful of soup.

Deacon's Collar Fits

In continuing action in the Belleville Minor Baseball League, Deacon Bros. and Cablevue posted wins over Reids and the Lions Club, respectively, in the Tykes and Golden Mile downed Watkins Texaco in the Tadpole circuit.

In the Deacon Bros. 14-6 win over Reids, B. Whalen and R. Loveless did the mound honors for the winners, allowing six runs on 11 hits, one walk while striking out 16.

The loss went to P. Hall, R. Brown and C. O'Hara who combined to allow 14 runs on seven hits and 11 walks. They struck out 13.

C. Masterson led the Deacon hitters with two singles, B. Whalen had a triple, and A. Rutherford had a double.

Reid's hitters included McClelland with three singles, R. Brown with a double and two singles, T. Hickey with a double and a single, and T. Boretski with two singles. C. O'Hara had a double.

Cablevue downed the Lions Club 30-6 behind pitchers D. Matthews and B. O'Sullivan who allowed the six on five walks and four hits while striking out eight.

G. Pearson and P. Weeks pitched the loss, allowing 20 runs on 28 hits and six walks while striking out eight.

Cablevue hitters were G. Male with three triples and a double, M. Groh with a triple and two singles, R. Graham with a triple and a double, J. Tomaso with a double and two singles, B. Sturgess with a double and three singles, B. O'Sullivan with a double and four singles. M. Tomaso with a double and two singles, and D. Matthews and B. Bennett with two singles.

Lions Club hittgrs included B. Coughlin and G. Pearson with doubles and B. Crockett with a single. Pearson also hit a single.

In the Golden Mile win over Watkins 8-5, G. MacInnes went the distance for the win while Doug Byrd went the full seven for the loss.

MacInnes allowed five runs on four hits and six walks. He struck out 15, Byrd allowed eight runs on six hits and eight walks while striking out 15.

MacInnes took a hand in winning his own game from the plate as well as from the mound. The pitcher broke the rules about pitchers' hitting and collected a triple and a single. G. Tobin had a double, S. Carr had a single, as did B. Buntun and J. Kinnear.

B. Gow, K. Kingsman, G. Elliott and P. Burke hit singles for Watkins.

Adroit Nixon Overcomes Bad Luck, Bad Temper and Bad Image

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (CP) — Richard Milhous Nixon has made one of the great comebacks in American political history by winning the Republican party's nomination for the presidential election Nov. 5.

It is also testimony to the fact that Nixon always has been a statute as any contemporary politician around—and more adroit than most.

Bad luck, bad temper and a bad image on television all helped to tarnish a promising career and in 1962 consigned him to the political discard bin.

Nixon was commonly accepted as a loser after being narrowly defeated for the presidency by John F. Kennedy in 1960 and then for the California governorship by Pat Brown in 1962, when Nixon, in a final angry blast at the press corps, said he was through with politics.

His return has been a classic of well-played cards, hard loyal work for the party and better luck.

This year, he is taking a lot more experience into the fray with the Democratic party nominee to be chosen later this month in Chicago.

This time it is the Democrats —not the Republicans—who have to defend an eight-year reign, one packed with some of the gravest issues the country has ever faced.

While many felt that the young and confident John Kennedy cleaned up on Nixon in the first leadership television debates, it would be a much more even contest today.

Richard Nixon's chief obstacle in this second bid for the presidency may come, in fact, from a third party, segregationist George Wallace's independent party which has aroused strong Southern support, likely to hurt Republicans.

Hard work and staunch loyalty put Nixon, a successful private lawyer the last few years, over the top here. He worked for Senator Barry Goldwater in 1964 when many others in the Republican party, including Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, found Goldwater's right-wing radicalism too strong to stomach.

It was Nixon who served as the party unifier in the shock following the Republican debacle when Goldwater lost by a landslide to Lyndon Johnson, and it was Nixon who contributed substantially to the recovery of 1966 when gains were made in Congress, effectively ending the liberal coalition of Republicans and Democrats.

Nixon was born in Yorba Linda, Calif., in a working-class family to a mother whose Quaker beliefs influenced his upbringing.

He worked his way through Whittier College, a small Quaker school in California, then was graduated in law from Duke University in 1937. He served during the Second World War as a naval officer in the Pacific, having married a miner's daughter, Thelma (Pat) Ryan in 1940.

Fresh out of uniform in 1946, aged 33, he won a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives and then entered the Senate in 1950.

That was a campaign, conducted after the Korean War broke out, that helped stamp Nixon among U.S. liberal circles as a Red-baiting, ruthless competitor. He defeated Helen Gahagan Douglas, onetime actress and a liberal Democrat in a no-holds-barred campaign.

He had come to national attention in 1948-49 in developing evidence in the renowned Alger Hiss case in which the onetime senior state department official eventually was convicted of perjury.

It was ruled that Hiss lied under oath to the House Un-American activities committee about connections with Soviet agents.

In 1952, by acclamation, Nixon was chosen as Dwight D. Eisenhower's vice-presidential running mate. At 39, he was the youngest ever to hold the candidacy.

He served for eight years, travelling to 55 nations as the Eisenhower emissary, facing mobs in Peru and Venezuela on a 1958 tour and confronting former Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev in a celebrated kitchen debate in Moscow in 1959 while on a 10-day tour of Poland and the Soviet Union.

Nixon lost to Kennedy in 1960 in the closest contest in 76 years —only 118,574 votes behind. He actually carried 26 states to 22 for Kennedy but lost some key big ones.

When he was defeated for the California governorship in 1962, he called it "my last campaign for public office." He moved to New York and a lucrative law practice but kept his hand in world travel.

He estimated he also had travelled more than 200,000 miles in the U.S. for the party since the 1964 defeat, starting out as a promoter of unity within the splintered party. By last Feb. 1 he was ready to announce another bid for the party leadership.

Aside from the solid cache of party loyalties he had built up around the country, Nixon benefited from faltering opposition.

Michigan Gov. George Romney launched his campaign last year but faltered on explaining his stand on issues including Vietnam, which he viewed more critically than Nixon.

Romney dropped out in March, convinced he had no chance.

Gov. Rockefeller of New York had promoted Romney from the start, still sore from the bitter right-wing lashasting he had taken in 1964 but Rockefeller hung fire after Romney withdrew and made his decision to try again himself only three months and an estimated $5-000,000 ago.

From the start, Rockefeller had banked on evidence he was more popular among voting Americans than Nixon, a view supported by numerous opinion polls. Since the Republican party lags well behind the Democrats in registered supporters —only 27 per cent of such citizens—it was an important plus on the Rockefeller side.

But Rockefeller was unable to prove to the convention delegates that he had a better chance of winning next November than Nixon does.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Sometimes heart rending situations are encountered in which innocent victims suffer and little can be done. The following incident illustrates one such tragic situation.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I moved into a new house and nothing was right even from the beginning. The basement flooded, the front steps sank, the walks cracked and even the paint started to peel off the outside walls.

I complained to the builder, the realtor, the building inspector — everybody in sight — but nobody would listen. Finally, in desperation, I notified the mortgage bank.

They sent an attentive young man to look at the property. He made careful note of all the defects and agreed that I had "been taken." I thought that, surely, now help was on the way.

What was on the way was a registered letter from the bank notifying me that unless I immediately corrected all the defects they would proceed to foreclose under the wastage clause of my mortgage. It'll cost me over $4,000 and I don't have a penny left. Can they do this to me? — Mr. C.

ANSWER: Although the public may not be aware, almost every mortgage contains a wastage clause. In it the borrower guarantees to properly maintain or correct any deficiencies in the property. If this clause is violated then the lender can demand payment of the mortgage in full. If this is not forthcoming, then foreclosure can be instituted.

As a general rule, few lenders use this remedy. In most cases the home owner is not bothered as long as his mortgage payments are current. However, I have known cases where lenders have used the wastage clause to rid themselves of a property that was being abused or one poorly constructed.

In this case, although the property owner appears to be an innocent victim of defective workmanship and material, the lender as a third party is not responsible for the faults of the builder. From experience, I would say the lender can demand the owner correct the defects mentioned even though it is not his fault. His recourse, then, would be against the builder but this may not prevent him from losing his property, or even worse losing the house and being faced with a deficiency claim by the bank. I have known these cases to happen. To compound the tragedy a claim against the builder often has no meaning because of lack of financial responsibility.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I retired three months ago. At that time I had to sell my company stock which I had accumulated during 28 years of work. I received $72,000 — and that is a lot of money for a former farm boy.

Now I have to invest it. A colleague who retired several months before me put his money in first and second mortgages. He is getting a very high return. I'm tempted — shall I follow suit? — Mr. H.

ANSWER: I would not recommend that anyone invest their retirement funds in mortgages. There are problems of choosing the right property, the second is risk, and the third is servicing. An individual in retirement is not equipped to cope with these problems.

How do I know? I've received hundreds of letters from retirees who have done just that and they are either asking for advice on how to disengage from their investments or tell me of their troubles.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I have followed your column closely for years. One thing I have learned is selling your house and letting the new buyer assume the mortgage can lead to an awful lot of trouble. Therefore, when I sold I made sure the buyer got his own mortgage.

Now, I am buying. I can take over an existing 5 per cent mortgage from the owner. Will I be inviting trouble? — Mr. A. F.

ANSWER: The shoe is now on the other foot — and a 5 per cent mortgage at this time can be most comfortable. If the buyer signs nothing, and just agrees to make the mortgage payments, then his exposure is minimal. However, very often, the owner's attorney will insist that the buyer sign assignment papers. If this be the case, I recommend you do nothing unless you know what you are signing — and in no case until an attorney looks the papers over and gives you a complete explanation.

• • •

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

TRUDY

Mike Starr Is Looking for Job

OSHAWA (CP) — A former alderman, mayor, member of Parliament, labor minister and contender for the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party should have enough credentials to find a job.

But Michael Starr, whose experience has included all those posts during the last 24 years, has had no offers.

The 57-year-old former cabinet minister lost by 15 votes to Dave Broadbent of the New Democratic Party in the June 25 federal election.

"I've had no job offers of any kind and I don't know what I'll be doing," Mr. Starr told Earl McRae, Toronto Star reporter, in an interview at his cottage near here.

"I'm anxious to get back to work, but there is nothing. There is just nothing. So I'm just taking it easy for awhile."

Mr. Starr said his Parliamentary pension is $3,600.02 a year but when asked if he had much in the bank he replied: "That's my business."

Alex Chestowsky a close friend of Mr. Starr and chairman of the 5,000-member Ukrainian-Canadian Committee in Oshawa, said he talked to Mr. Starr two weeks ago.

"He wasn't certain then what he would do. He did say he didn't intend to run again in politics."

"I imagine any company, mine included, would offer him a job at a comparable wage."

Vic Donald, secretary of the 1,900-member Conservative association, said many persons are concerned over Mr. Starr's future, "but there is nothing the association as a whole can do."

Born in Copper Cliff, Ont., of Ukrainian parents, Mike Starr left school in Oshawa at the age of 15 to help support a family of nine children.

He started out in politics in 1937 when he ran for alderman and lost. After another unsuccessful attempt in 1939 he won the post in 1944 and went on to gain the mayor's chair in 1949. He was elected mayor four times, twice by acclamation.

In 1953 he ran unsuccessfully for a seat in the Ontario legislature but a year later defeated a nephew of Mackenzie King in a federal by-election in Ontario riding.

He was re-elected to the House of Commons in the general elections of 1953, 1957, 1958, 1962, 1963 and 1965. He was appointed labor minister in John Diefenbaker's cabinet in 1957.

Last September he suffered his first defeat in almost 20 years when he got only 34 votes on the second ballot in his bid for the Conservative party leadership.

Now, after the voters of his own riding rejected him, Michael Starr says:

"I'm just waiting for something I like to come along."

Trudeau Has Steady Work

OTTAWA (CP) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau signed the book with a flourish and remarked:

"That's good for four years. Probably five."

The prime minister took the oath of office as a member of Parliament and signed the book of attestation in the office of Commons Clerk Alistair Fraser.

Mr. Trudeau took the oath, pledging allegiance to the Queen, in French.

The prime minister arrived for the brief ceremony wearing a fawn-colored lightweight suit, white shirt with the collar open and a crimson ascot tie.

It took only a couple of minutes for Mr. Trudeau to repeat the oath and sign the book, on a new page.

Quake Hits Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—This city's volatile baseball situation was rocked late Wednesday night by the news that a third backer—Robert Irsay of Chicago—has pulled out.

The air-conditioning executive follows Montrealers J. Louis Levesque, president of Blue Bonnets Raceway and March Bougie, head of a funeral parlor enterprise, both of whom pulled out earlier.

And a meeting was set for 5 p.m. tonight of city officials including Gerry Snyder, vice-chairman of Montreal's executive committee, and sponsors to find solutions to various problems of the proposed team.

The Gazette said this in an interview with Charles Bronfman, president of the House of Seagram and another backer, it was told that Mr. Irsay severed his financial connection with the Montreal National League baseball franchise in a telegram to Mr. Bronfman.

Bronfman told that newspaper he got Irsay's telegram before a four-hour meeting Wednesday in Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau's office attended by Warren Giles, president of baseball's National League, city officials and two Canadian sponsors of the Montreal franchise.

Contents of the telegram, said Bronfman, were kept secret from all but those who attended the meeting.

He divulged the telegram's content only after being told of comments Irsay is said to have made in Chicago Wednesday to Chicago newspapers and radio stations.

Irsay is reported to have said Giles called him from Montreal at about noon EDT Wednesday and asked him to take over the franchise.

Irsay also is said to have told interviewers that Bronfman and the other Canadian sponsors were pulling out.

The other sponsors are Lorne Webster, whose family has newspaper interests; trucking executive Sidney Maislin and construction executive John Newman.

Paced by Partington

Lacrosse Locals Win

Al Partington, sparkplug of the Belleville entry in the Quinte Lacrosse League all year, proved himself the back bone of the team again Wednesday night as he collected six of ten goals and two assists in the locals' 10-9 win over Campbellford.

The top Belleville stickman collected four of his six goals unassisted. In the other two, he was given aid by Brian Way, on one and Mike Albert and Don Steer on the other.

Other scores for Belleville came from Bill Blakely assisted by Ron Guay, Mike Lemaire assisted by Partington, Steve Castleman unassisted, and Lemaire again assisted by Partington.

The Campbellford counterpart of the Belleville star was wearing the same number — 11. Dave Laqcombe collected three of the visitors nine goals and assisted on two more.

Laqcombe got his six on goals by Jim Kerr and Bud Bannon.

Other Campbellford goals were by Rick Whitfield assisted by Dave Giles, John McKelvie assisted by Dave Ness, Kerr assisted by Bud Bannon, Laqcombe assisted by Ness, Laqcombe assisted by Rick Christie, Laqcombe unassisted and Bannon unassisted.

The Belleville team collected seven penalties to nine for Campbellford.

Gripes to Be Aired At Umps' Meeting

Okay fans and players — here's your chance.

The Belleville and District Umpires Association is meeting Sunday, Aug. 11, at 8 p.m. in Club Canara to get ready for local league playoffs.

"We're going to set up the playoffs, review the rules, and just get ready in general," said association president Shud Ethier.

But the fans and players can get in theirs too.

"We invite all the team representatives and those who think they have a gripe against us to attend this meeting. It's a good time to air your complaints or just old - fashioned gripes," Ethier said.

Poor fellows — they can't even get away from heckling at their club.

Intell Drops Turbos

The Intelligencer Department Softball League crew backed up their first - place league standing Wednesday night with a 7-3 win over the CNR Turbos in a rescheduled game.

The Intell took the win behind pitchers Rod Bennett and John Edwards. Bennett allowed the Turbos three runs on five hits and two Intell errors while Edwards, taking over in the sixth, allowed no runs on no hits while striking out one to finish the game.

Bennett struck out four and walked two in the win. He also completely made up for the Turbos' three runs with a third - inning homer which drove in three runs for the winners.

Ken Genereaux and Parry Soule pitched for the Turbos. They allowed seven runs on nine hits while striking out two and walking 13.

The Intell hitters were Bennett with his homer, Edwards with a triple and two doubles, Steve Ling with two singles, and Al Lee, Randy Johnstone and Bill Cooney with singles.

The Turbos were paced by Parry Soule with two singles, Bell, Nancarrow and Lynch also had singles.

City Hotel Moves Into 4th Place Tie

Point Anne centrefielder Jim Horwood's decision to make the play at second instead of home in Wednesday night's Point Anne - City Hotel Commercial Softball League game cost Point Anne the contest.

"Pug" Keller of City Hotel scored on the play to give the Hotelmen their 4-3 win over the Cementmen.

The win puts City Hotel back into a tie with Black Diamond at 24 points for fourth place in the league. The loss leaves Point Anne at 18 points in fifth place. With three games left in the regular season for all Commercial League teams, the best the Cementmen can do now is tie with either Black Diamond or City for fourth place if either of those teams drop their three remaining games.

Jim Nickles did the pitching for City Hotel, holding them scoreless on five hits and no City errors. He struck out three and walked two.

Jamie Hunter, Point Anne's pitcher, allowed one run on three hits and one Point Anne error. He struck out one and walked one.

Line-Scores:

City Hotel 100 000 0—1 3 0
Pt. Anne 000 000 0—0 5 1

8-0 Rout

Junior Kickers Win

The Belleville Juniors topped the Trenton Travellers 8-0 Wednesday night at Zwicky's Island.

"The field was slippery and Trenton was short two team members," said Joe Lozon, Belleville captain, "but we still worked for all those goals. And Les Lomas had to play well to keep it a shutout," he added, referring to the locals' goalkeeper.

The first half of the game saw Belleville score two goals to the goal mouth duck Long staff collected the first of his two for the game and Iannuzzi scored the first of his four.

The Belleville kickers made it a rout in the second half with goals coming from Manuel Mandes, Tony Gonsalves, Longstaff, and Iannuzzi's three.

Kingston Presents Strong Brief To Gain Taxes on Exempt Land

KINGSTON (CP) — This city, with no room to grow and its taxable property being eaten up by tax-exempt institutions, is losing a battle for economic stability, a select committee of the Ontario legislature was told Wednesday.

"The province is forcing this city, University to expand, thus forcing 16,000 municipal taxpayers to bear a burden they should not be unable to bear," said Mayor Robert Fray as he presented a brief to the committee studying recommendations for reform of the provincial taxation system.

The Kingston brief made these recommendations:

—Eliminate exemptions from municipal taxes now granted to universities, hospitals and other institutions;

—Pay full provincial grants for the share of realty and business taxes on hospitals that can be charged to the hospital insurance plan, and consider grants to help meet the remainder of local hospital costs;

—Payment of grants in lieu of taxes to municipalities with more than 20 per cent tax-exempt university property should begin immediately, with grants to be paid to other municipalities on a sliding scale until all are covered;

—The province should assume at least 80 per cent of approved costs of education instead of the 60 per cent recommended by the Smith committee on taxation, whose report forms the basis of the study by the legislature committee;

—Retain the exemption from taxation for places of worship. The city's position was supported by a brief from Prof. Stewart Fyfe of the Institute for Local Governmets, Queen's University.

Prof. Fyfe, who is the commissioner appointed to conduct a local government review in Kingston, said the present exemptions granted to universities and other institutions cause inequities that are growing bothersome and form a "hidden and uneven" subsidy from municipal taxpayers.

He recommended:

—Removal of tax exemptions from all kinds of property;

—Payment of grants in lieu of taxes on all provincial property on the same basis as payments made by the federal government;

—Payment of grants for municipal taxes charged against universities, hospitals and comparable institutions;

—Municipalities owning property or sharing ownership of universities, hospitals and realty should pay local taxes;

—Federal tax exemptions given certain properties erode the tax base, increase the share of local taxes and insures borne by the remaining properties and create inequities.

Profits from universities and hospitals are spread over a wide area of the province but municipal costs fall on the local municipality.

Kingston is the first city presented a brief to the committee to have appointed a tax study committee of its own.

Taxes take 52.05 per cent of its property exempted from taxes.

Assessment on Queen's University property is $15,223,345 and on the Ontario Hospital about $4,000,000.

Since 1958 the university has bought or leased properties within the city, many of them tax-producing lands, and removed them from the assessment rolls.

Denison Earnings Up On Investment, Uranium

TORONTO (CP) — Denison Mines Ltd. has consolidated net profit of $6,141,000 or $1.37 a share for the six months ended June 30 compared with $4,010,000 or 90 cents a share in the similar period last year.

The company said Wednesday the figures reflect a substantial increase in revenue from investments as well as higher uranium earnings.

Denison received $6,670,000 from operations in the first half compared with $4,390,000 in the similar 1967 period, the report showed. Revenue from investments and other companies was $3,098,000 compared with a loss of $505,000 last year.

Another $8,603,000 was received in advances against delivery of concentrates.

The company said recoveries in its deliveries to the Canadian government uranium stockpile, the result of contracts signed with West Germany and Japan, will start this year and should result in higher concentrate sales.

It said it is exploring for uranium in several Ontario areas, in Nova Scotia and has staked "large tracts" for exploration in Quebec and the northwest Territories and Manitoba.

The association of Jean Bodon of Paris with the company was ended, directors said. Mr. Bodon is former European representative of Denison and was company director until early this year.

Directors said Mr. Bodson has repaid money owed or guaranteed by him to a Denison subsidiary. Included is the annual report at $5,364,000—and that Denison has made a payment to Mr. Bodson of $250,000 more than this.

Denison also said it has filed suit in the U.S. against Michigan Chemical Corp., claiming $2,400,000 damages for the latter's refusal to honor a contract for delivery of yttrium oxide.

Stroke Victim Is Often Despondent

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

It is hardly astonishing that the victim of a stroke becomes depressed or despondent. Such formerly simple matters as walking, combing his hair, buttoning his clothes, picking up the telephone receiver are barely impossible or difficult. He feels helpless and sometimes useless, and wonders how he ever wrong he may be in this feeling.

In the past, too often the patient was not only allowed but encouraged to go to bed and become a permanent invalid. In fairly recent years, the importance of keeping the patient active, within the limits of his capability, has become increasingly appreciated.

Indeed, rehabilitation institutes start their programs for patients with strokes by skilled psychological conditioning—convincing the patients that they can improve if they will try in the right way.

In this regard, the family must do its share, too. If it wakes a stroke victim a long time to perform some simple act, the family must let him do it. It is no kindness to do for the patient what he can, with effort, accomplish. It may be quicker for the spouse to do the various chores of daily living, but it doesn't do the patient any good.

Let the patient struggle to turn the pages of a magazine or the knob of the door, to feed himself, to comb his hair.

Encouragement him to try; do not underestimate the value to him of trying.

The same general principle applies to any type of activity. If speech is affected, as is sometimes is, take the time to listen while the patient struggles through the process of learning to talk again. The final result may still be imperfect, but improvement will come from painstaking effort. Special speech therapy helps in this regard.

And most especially do not jump to the cruel supposition that the patient's ability to think, listen, and feel has been lost just because he has difficulty in speaking or even comes out with the wrong word (or a word of opposite meaning) when he tries to express himself.

A stroke patient, unless those around him understand these facts, can become pitifully lonely. And the loneliness can make him give up trying to improve.

This and the preceding two columns, are, of course, only a sketchy outline of how to help a stroke patient.

The important point I want to convey is that a good deal can be done for such patients and by them. If there is a rehabilitation institute in your city or a hospital in your vicinity which has a department doing rehabilitation or physical therapy work, by all means make contact with it."

Because so much attention is given after a stroke, the better, but I have seen remarkable results in some cases of patients who had been considered totally bedridden for many months, and then at last learned that they could do things for themselves.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband sometimes grinds his teeth in his sleep. Is there physically which makes him do this? — Mrs. M.

Possibly, although it is perhaps more likely that worries or other emotional tensions are at work. Some chronic irritant could be a physical cause. Or some combination may make him restless and lead to the tooth-grinding.

Note to Mrs. D. D.: Muscular relaxation of the genital area following childbirth is not particularly unusual. If it creates a marital problem, plastic surgery can correct it.

Dr. Molner welcomes a ll reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Missouri Rocket Firm Faces Charges of Taking Kickbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Missouri firm that received a $13,900,000 contract for rocket launchers only two weeks ago was charged Wednesday with creating phantom suppliers and receiving kickbacks on previous contracts of more than $47,000,000.

The indictment charges that more than $4,000,000 was funnelled to Swiss banks by the defendants "well knowing that their interest in accounts in Swiss banks could and would be disguised and concealed" by co-conspirators.

A U.S. Navy information officer said the indictments will have no effect on the contract awarded by the Naval Air Systems Command on July 23 to Techfab division of Alsco Inc. of St. Louis.

Chromcraft Corp., which merged with Alsco in 1966, was named a defendant along with the successor firm. Individuals named as defendants were Andrew L. Stone, principal stockholder, chief executive officer and a director of Chromcraft; Francis N. Rosenbaum, the firm's counsel in Washington and a director; Evelyn R. Stone; and Robert B. Bregman, executive secretary to Price, owner of Bregman Electronics Inc., of New York City.

Bragging Reveals Ideals

Thoughts at Large:

The chief difference between a true writer and a propagandist is that the propagandist writes to persuade others, while the true author writes to make the truth more clear to himself — clarity comes first, and only then communication.

A smoker without cigarettes is less frustrated than a smoker with cigarettes and no matches; the closer the goal, the more vexing the distance — and so it is, also, with social goals, that the closer we are to realizing them, the angrier we get at the little gap.

The people who approve such devices as wiretapping by police and security agencies would do well to heed the admonition of Benjamin Franklin that "Those who would give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."

Anthology of Diefenbakerisms Ready

REGINA (CP) — A collection of pronouncements by former Progressive Conservative leader John Diefenbaker has gone on sale here in a paperback called Quotations from Chairman Diefenbaker. The book's preface urges people to "study the chairman's writings, follow his teachings and act according to his instructions."

The scarlet cover of the small-sized, 160-page volume bears a cameo photograph of the former prime minister scowling and frocked in a jacket, styled after the type made popular by Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China. The prefatory exhortation is a quote from Lin Piao, deputy premier of China.

Curtis Publishing Co. of Canada has distributed to 8,000 outlets across Canada 20,000 copies of the book, which was researched and produced by Anthony Bond, a writer, and Brian Shaw, a literary agent, both of Toronto. It was published in mid-July by Greywood Publishing Limited of Winnipeg and sells for $1 a copy.

Greywood publisher Richard Bonnycastle said in an interview that the book's producers studied Hansard, newspaper stories, speeches and magazine interviews. "There are some damn interesting quotes in it," said Mr. Bonnycastle. "Some of them were taken out of context and perhaps they weren't fair but, on the whole, it really makes him look pretty good.

"We've sent him a dozen copies."

The book has entries from 1960 to February, 1968, under such chapter headings as Methods of thinking and methods of work; Serving the people; U.S. aggressors and all their running dogs; Dare to struggle and dare to win; The lackey organs of liberalism are paper tigers; All erroneous ideas, all ghosts and monsters must be subject to criticism; and Self-reliance and arduous struggle.

A French-language publishing house in Montreal published shortly before the June 25 federal election a 176-page, red-covered book in similar vein called Quotations of Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

Most of the Diefenbaker quotations are simply straightforward declarations, and all bear footnotes giving the date, place and form of publication, whether in a speech to the House of Commons, a broadcast, or an interview with a magazine or newspaper.

Here is a random sampling of the quotes:

—"When I am aroused you know it. There'll be no smile if I am annoyed."

—"The road of the Liberal government leads to the extinction of parliamentary government in Canada."

—"Everyone is against me but the people."

—"I have these views and you've got to go back to see where they were formed. They are not always the right views perhaps, but they were formed in the pioneer tradition."

—"Catch the vision. Catch the vision of the kind of Canada this can be. We ask you not to follow the path of defeatism and fear, not the concept of igloo to igloo. I've seen this vision; I've seen this picture of Canada."

—"You press people only know about 10 per cent of the real John Diefenbaker."

'Death Hotel' Set Up in Abandoned Mausoleum

PORT DOVER, Ont. (CP) — Shelter until the harvest starts is a yearly problem for itinerant tobacco pickers in southwestern Ontario.

One group of 125 solved the problem this year by setting up "Death Hotel" in an abandoned cemetery mausoleum here, complete with tiers of stone coffin compartments to serve as bunk beds.

The last of the group left the crumbling tomb Wednesday. Most had found jobs and local police passed the word it was time for the rest-fewer than 10-to start looking for work.

The lawnspeople of Delhi set up a tent camp from public welfare funds in 1964-65-66 to provide food and shelter for transients.

But it was discontinued after 100 jobless transients marched into Delhi in 1966 to loot a supermarket in protest against "miserable conditions" in the camp. They were turned aside by a reading of the Riot Act.

Belleville Planning Head Quits, Hits Self-Interest Groups

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Claiming that local municipal councils had allowed themselves to be swayed by "self-interest" groups into holding up action on proper planning, Belleville's planning director last night submitted his resignation to the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board.

F. J. Beavis will remain at city hall until Sept. 15, following which he will take up the position of planning director in the city of Brantford.

Mr. Beavis' resignation came as a definite shock to planning board members who last night were called to a special meeting by Chairman George Bussey to hear the news.

Citing reasons for his resignation, the planning director said that despite earlier hopes, his efforts to bring proper planning to the city had proved abortive and he felt there was little likelihood of achieving personal satisfaction in his position at Belleville.

Mr. Beavis said that five years ago when he came to Belleville, he believed that local authorities were desirous of planning for the area. He had believed that council and the planning board would not allow themselves to be caught unprepared for the changes which were to come.

However, within the past year and especially in recent months he had come to realize that his hopes were unfounded.

Councils (Belleville, Sidney and Thurlow) he said, had shown a tendency to allow themselves to be swayed by self-interest groups.

Planning Board Chairman George Bussey said as far as the board was concerned there was no criticism of Mr. Beavis.

"We haven't always agreed, but certainly Mr. Beavis has contributed much to the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board," he said

Board members, he said, felt that within the municipal set-up faster progress should have been made in planning.

Councils of the three municipalities would have to take the responsibility, he said.

Board member Zdenek Kvarda said that Belleville was losing one of the best, if not the best, planners in the country.

He felt there was a great lack of understanding by councils of the function of planning boards.

In advertising for a new planner, Mr. Kvarda said the board would have to convince applicants that Belleville was a progressive city, which the record failed to show.

Alderman K. A. Orr, city council representative on the planning board, admitted he was "surprised and stunned" with Mr. Beavis' resignation.

"On occasion we have differed in opinion, but there was no animosity and I respect Mr. Beavis as a planner," he said.

Thurlow reeve Horace Casey admitted that on occasion advice given by Mr. Beavis to his township had been ignored and this was echoed by another township member Ralph Plumpton.

However, he said, councils proceed slowly and advance step by step.

Postal Strike's End Makes Everyone Glad

Mountain, Flood Await Postmen

OTTAWA (CP) — Postal workers, a new contract under their belts, started coping today with a mountain and a flood.

Vote counting here Thursday showed a majority of the country's 24,000 postal workers in favor of an agreement to settle the 22-day national strike.

Overnight shift workers were on the job early today sorting out some 15,000,000 pieces of mail that have piled up since the strike started July 18.

That's the mountain.

The flood is expected to roll in within the next few days as citizens and businesses, dependent on telephones, telegrams and other communications for three weeks, turn back to the mails.

Postal workers have some spectoning to go with their

Drivers Plan Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Resumption of normal mail service after the one-week postal strike struck a new obstacle today when mail truck drivers employed by a government contract holder voted overwhelmingly to go on strike in support of back-pay demands.

Rod Service employs 350 men to drive mail trucks in the Montreal area.

Bills, Bills

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bills, bills and more bills were among the first pieces of mail sorted by Toronto postal workers who returned to their jobs Thursday night after the majority of 24,000 striking postal workers voted to end the three-week-old countrywide strike.

Thousands of Bell Canada telephone bills on handcarts were wheeled into the main sorting building as the 10 p.m. EDT bell sounded summoning the first night shift to work.

"Bell Telephone gets sorted first because they got their bills here first," a floor supervisor said.

Mailmen Happy Squeeze Over

By DON MacKENZIE
(Staff Reporter)

The postal strike is over and most people are breathing a sigh of relief.

Almost all of the postal workers in Belleville, Trenton and Picton are glad to be back on the job.

"Your can't live on nothing, can you," said one of them this morning.

It was not only the small business man who suffered during the strike — it hurt the postal workers too.

Others were forced to go to finance companies or borrow from the credit union.

Said John Boban, a clerk — "We all knew the strike was coming and most of the men prepared themselves to it."

But there were those whose gearing was not quite high enough.

President of the local union, Les Wynne, said that the district Labor Council had been a big help to the men.

"And the credit union and finance companies have been the first night shift to work.

"Bell Telephone gets sorted first because they got their bills here first," a floor supervisor said.

Mr. Wynne said that the district Labor Council had been a big help to the men.

"And the credit union and finance companies have been very understanding," he said.

"Still, they have to be paid back."

Men who took jobs during the strike donated part of their pay to the strike fund to help the others.

However, any financial problems the strikers have encountered should be taken care of by the strike settlement.

As long as a man is a full-time worker he will receive over $400 in retroactive pay.

Letters, parcels, bills, invoices , you name it and it's going through the post office now that the strike is over.

Although the local post office was not weighed down with mail this morning, officials didn't think it would be too long before the paper started to roll in.

Not all businesses allowed their mail to be stockpiled but the few that did are really going to crowd the post office.

The Intelligencer has over 20,000 pieces of mail to go out, quite a few parcels from Deacon Bros. Ltd. were at the post office this morning and the public utilities office expects to have mail going out in the near future.

In Trenton assistant postmaster D. Dishart said the office was pretty well caught up with the work, except for a backlog of newspapers."

As in Belleville, he went on to say that no mail will be coming in until this afternoon.

"If there is any tie-up in our operation, it will come Saturday," he finished.

Bell Telephone will be providing a pile of work to the post office but almost all of it will be bills being mailed in Montreal.

"It should not affect the Belleville office too much," said a company spokesman this morning.

When things will get back to normal is a question unanswered but one prominent businessman in the city said he felt it would be at least three months before everybody caught up.

Three Negroes Die in Miami As Police Battle Snipers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Gunfire killed three persons before the Florida National Guard restored order early today in Miami's two largest Negro districts where police were the targets of rioters' bullets, bricks and bottles.

Police said nine Negroes and one white person suffered gunshot wounds.

After a curfew was imposed at 6 p.m. on Miami's Liberty City, where the outburst started Wednesday, rampaging bands moved into the central Negro district.

Some 125 Negroes were arrested, mostly on curfew regulations, before Liberty City returned to some measure of calm. Reuters news agency placed the number of arrests at close to 200 and said some 20 persons were hurt.

Reuters reporter David Beeder said the violence was the aftermath of an incident Wednesday in which white reporters were ejected from a Negro voter registration rally. This grew into a massive protest against police presence in the ghetto and the inability of Negroes to obtain good jobs and homes.

Two of the three fatally wounded Negroes were cut down in an exchange of gunfire at a Liberty City apartment house. Police said one of the dead men was a sniper and the other a passerby caught in the line of fire.

The third was shot off a rooftop in the central Negro district. Police said two others were wounded in that skirmish after an officer was grazed by a bullet fired from the building roof.

Youthful bands roamed the central district, smashing store and car windows. As dawn approached, police reported the disturbance was reduced to small groups of Negro teen-agers heaving rocks and bottles at the few cars going into the trouble areas.

The looting and shooting began Wednesday after a meeting called by Negro leaders to protest what they termed "Florida's lily-white" delegation to the Republican national convention under way on nearby Miami Beach.

Although police and city officials declared an "all quiet" early Thursday after several hours of sporadic gunfire, burning and looting, tensions remained high and trouble started again in Liberty City in the afternoon when snipers began shooting at police cruisers.

The National Guard was summoned and troops began sweeps through the trouble areas. Residents were told to clear the streets or face immediate arrest.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A disturbance now forming over western Canada and the United States will likely travel into the Great Lakes area, bringing more scattered thunderstorm activity tonight and Saturday in southern Ontario and showers or thundershowers in northern Ontario.

Safety Questioned

Building May Not Be Available for Fair

Absence of a safety inspection okay from the city's consulting engineer for the new $100,000 exhibition recreation building at the fairgrounds, may result in that building not being available for Belleville Fair next week.

This was the bombshell received last night by Belleville Fair directors when they were told that the new building might be unsafe.

The matter of the building's use for next week's fair was still up in the air today, although the Maurice H. Rollins Construction Company and design engineers from Wilson Concrete were holding a late morning meeting to see if remedial measures could be worked out.

But one thing is certain, the building will not be used if it is unsafe.

This was the assurance shortly before noon from Mayor Dr. R. J. Scott, following a meeting attended by city officials, members of the city parks board and fair board officials.

"The building will be used only if it is safe," said Mayor Scott.

The possibility of the concrete roof structure of the fairgrounds building not being safe was raised by J. H. A. Lassing, Trenton professional engineer, retained by the city to act as inspector for the project.

Mr. Lassing questioned the soundness of the roof supporting structure and said in a report to the parks board that he would withhold the safety certificate until the problem was remedied.

Mr. Lassing is now on holidays in Western Ontario and was not available for comment today.

Proctor-Silex Strikers Claim Police Roughed Pickets

By DAVID LEES
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Police and strikers clashed yesterday as picketers at the Proctor-Silex plant here resolved to tighten up their line.

The incident arose when an unidentified truck driver called police to free him from the plant.

George LeBlanc, president of local 585 of the IUE, secured the man of recklessly driving through the picket line nearly harming several strikers.

The truck was trapped on the way out and the occupant was told to summon the police if expected to get through the line.

"Police, when they arrived, roughly shoved us around to clear the path," said Mr. LeBlanc.

Mr. LeBlanc complained that too many persons have been using the road freely. He pointed a finger at Harvey McFarland accusing the mayor of using the road "so he can say he passed through the picket line."

"People are laughing at us so we're going to toughen up the line."

Strikers are running low on funds . . . the IUE strike fund here was not begun until last January. The six months of donations did not accumulate enough funds to hold out any length of time.

The strike is now in its 24th day.

Workers have been getting some money from the IUE. $10 per week for single workers and women, $12.50 for married workers and $15 for married workers with wives who do not work.

An appeal will go out next Thursday to the Ontario Federation of Labor for financial assistance. Strikers are not eligible for OFL assistance until in their fourth week.

The federation will appeal to locals throughout the province for donations on behalf of the strikers.

In the meantime appeals will be launched at plant gates in the area for direct assistance.

IUE representatives will ask for donations at plants in Napanee, Kingston and Belleville.

River 'Lake' Created

There is a new man-made "lake" on the lower Moira today just within the city limits.

It stretches for close to a quarter of a mile upstream from the new seasonal dam opposite Riverside Park on Cannifton Road, and is certain to fill a big recreational need in the city.

Members of the Moira River Authority water advisory committee and other authority members were on hand yesterday afternoon as Revoy Construction workers dropped in the last stoplogs and saw the water slowly rise behind them to form the small upstream "lake".

"It's the best thing that has happened on the Moira River in years," commented one city official.

Included among the authority executive members watching the stop logs go in were chairman, Gerald Irvine, Graham Bell, water advisory committee chairman and Belleville's two representatives, Mayor Dr. J. R. Scott and Alderman Robin Jeffrey.

The new man made "lake" has a maximum depth of about seven feet at the west bank spillway.

On the east bank of the dam at the former Orr house property the river bottom has been smoothed to form a small bathing area.

But the new Moira River "lake" will be a "summer only" body of water. This fall after the recreation season is over the stoplogs and their supporting structure will be removed to eliminate any possible flood hazard next spring.

Then when the spring freshet is over the dam will be put back in to again form the lake.

First Swim

Revoy Construction workman enjoys swim in new man - made "lake" while installing stoplogs in seasonal dam erected opposite Riverside Park. Dam will provide water recreation for park area.

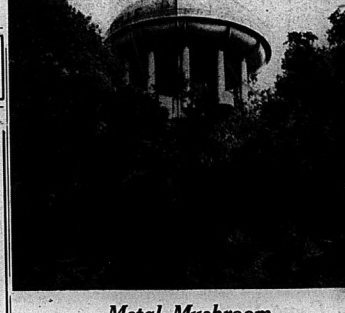
Electricians To Vote On Contract

KINGSTON — Striking electricians will vote this weekend on new proposals to end a six - week walkout.



The new agreement was reached early today in the latest round of negotiations between union and Kingston Builders' Exchange officials.

The strike spread to the Quinte area from Kingston, hindering progress on at least two major construction projects — Loyalist College and the Belleville General Hospital extension.

A Chimp Hello

Mrs. Hilda Jones, owner of Trenton's new pet salon, gets a morning hug from George. The chimp is one of the many attractions for animal lovers.

Pet Salon in Trenton

Chimps Welcome Visitors

TRENTON — Pets in Trenton have gone high class lately as they now have their own salon where they can have their coats clipped and styled to the heights of canine perfection.

It was five weeks ago that a pet salon began operation in Trenton. The owner of the establishment, Mrs. Hilda Jones, describes business as "booming."

"People come from all over with their pets," beamed Mrs. Jones.

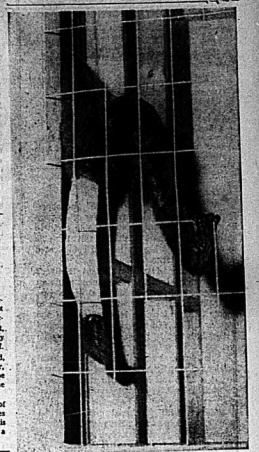
The shop sells pet supplies of all kinds and much of the stock is sold out before new orders can be placed. But the unique part of the operation is in the grooming of pets.

"We have a full stream of clients who bring their dogs in to be trimmed," explained Mrs. Jones.

Although Mrs. Jones mentioned that the "bread and butter" of the operation is in clipping and trimming, she noted that the sale of a variety of pets makes up an important part of the business.

A new section for salt water fish is under way along with its ever expanding supply of exotic birds. Mrs. Jones hopes an ocelot will take up residence in the business.

There are also two chimpanzees, Samantha and George, both of whom are a big attraction with the kids.



And this a part of the business that brings Mrs. Jones the most enjoyment.

"It is fun to see the children enjoying themselves with the animals so we are always trying to bring in more animals for the kids.

"A lot of kids come in here and ask if they can work for nothing just so they can be near the animals", smiled Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Jones, who has been in the business all of her life, says there is still some work to be done in the interior of the building. This was summed up as a more "African look."

So for Trenton's four footed inhabitants there is no such thing as a dog's life - at least not as long as this shop is in business.

Battle Veteran

Samantha rests in cage at Trenton's new pet salon. The chimp has a cast on as a result of a broken arm inflicted by George, the other chimp in the shop.

Potter Turns Over Samples To Pollution Control Centre

Dr. R. T. Potter again has called on the provincial government to take a tougher stand on industrial pollution of Ontario's waterways.

The Quinte MPP brought samples of water taken from the Trent River to Queen's Park yesterday.

He said he would send the water, dirty brown in color and containing solids, to the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

The samples were taken from the Trent near the riverside plant of Domtar Newsprint after Dr. Potter took OWRC officials on a survey of Bay of Quinte pollution last week.

"We can't wait another couple of years for this to be cleaned up," said the MPP. "We've used kid gloves for too long. It's time to get tough."

During the survey, OWRC vice-chairman John Root and Trenton town councillors watched a piped discharging dirty brown effluent into the Trent from near the Domtar plant.

However, yesterday, Dr. Potter emphasized he was not singling out the Trenton operation

"I'm not going after Domtar in particular," he said. "I'm going after any industry that pollutes."

Mr. Root said yesterday that he didn't believe what he saw at Domtar was "a normal discharge."

"I don't know what it was, but I take a pretty dim view of what I saw."

At Trenton, a Domtar official said the company's industrial waste discharges were well within the legal minimum limits set by the OWRC.

Assistant manager A. J. McIntyre said Domtar had spent a great deal of money reducing the pollution and, in fact, had gone further than any other paper mill he knew of.

The problem wasn't cured, he acknowledged. However, the discharge is below the present standard set by the OWRC.

D. P. Caipice, director of the OWRC industrial wastes division, said the problem "is not completely solved, it is a pollution problem."

Fire Destroys House, Store

The building, a restaurant, grocery store and service station, also served as the living quarters for Roger Dussault, his wife and two daughters. Mr. Dussault took over the building this July 5.

The fire broke out at approximately 4:30 p.m. while the family was outside. Firemen from both the Deseronto and Napanee fire departments battled the blaze until midnight, but only the gas pumps and a small service building were saved.

A spokesma for the fire department stated that the fire may have started in a fuse box since the house immediately burst into flames, sending a pall of black smoke over the town. A woman living a mile east of the fire reported that the smoke filled her house.

Damage was estimated at $35,000. Insurance is expected to cover about half the cost.

The house was one of those hurriedly erected during the First World War at Camp Rathbun near Deseronto. It was later moved to its present site.

The exterior of the building was stucco, supplemented with insulation including such materials as tar paper and straw. A spokesman said this made the task of saving the structure a near impossibility.

The firemen were also hampered by poor water pressure, and had to haul tanks of water from the Bay to continue their battle against the blaze.

During the fire traffic was rerouted around the area in fear the gas pumps might explode.

ment, reached by negotiating teams Tuesday.

The average hourly wage before the strike was $2.57. The Council of Postal Unions, bargaining for the workers, started negotiations with a demand for an increase of 75 cents an hour over 14 months.

A string of changes in job classifications and other working conditions also was included in the agreement.

Reports from the 700 union locals tabulated here showed that 12,173 workers voted to accept the settlement, 8,163 voted for rejection and there were 154 spoiled ballots.

This meant more than 3,000 potential votes were not registered, either because workers missed voting or because results had not yet come in from some small centres.

William House, co-chairman of the council who announced the results of the national balloting, said there were "no significant holdouts" among the membership and all workers were expected to obey the back-to-work calls the union sent out Thursday evening.

Union officials declined to release any breakdown of the vote, saying that this might stir up dissension among locals.

But many local union officials had released their vote results anyway.

These showed that Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia were the areas where the bulk of the "no" votes turned up, the same provinces where postal workers walked out in 1965. Most went back then after about six days but Montreal union men stayed out for 17 days.

In Vancouver this time, 74 per cent of the workers rejected the agreement. There was a solid turndown in many Ontario cities. Montreal workers rejected it by the slim margin of 1,437 votes to 1,426.

To keep the workers from being swamped, the post office announced Thursday night that embargoes it placed on mail when the strike was called will be lifted in stages.

Starting at 12:01 a.m. local times, post offices were authorized to accept only first-class letters, daily newspapers and parcels for mailing. Second- and third-class matter would be accepted only after service was closer to normal levels.

The department said the public could help in the early stages by bringing mail directly to post offices instead of putting it in street boxes. It was expected to make a public appeal to business and individuals to space out their initial mailings.

After announcing the vote result Thursday, union officials admitted they may have made some tactical errors in the strike.

Tiny Talent Time!

Only the performers were small. The talent was in abundance as youngsters from Belleville playgrounds crowded Parkdale community centre for their own version of the amateur hour. There were sparkling successes — like 12-year-old karate exhibitionist Robbie Scully (top). Then, there were performers foiled by their equipment — like the egg that wouldn't spin for magician David Switzer and assistant Bobby Little.

Supersonic Age

With the era of the "jumbo" and supersonic jet passenger aircraft not far off Ottawa has been moving with commendable speed to ensure that airport facilities will be able to cope with the big planes and complicated new traffic patterns.

Transport Minister Paul Hellyer's announcement that the government plans an entirely new airport for Montreal and a vast expansion of existing facilities at Toronto to handle increased traffic is a measure of the urgency with which this task must be tackled if Canada is to take its place in the supersonic age.

The fact that several prospective general locations have been considered for a new airport at Montreal is bound to cause a flurry of anticipation among landowners. Final selection however will be made only after consultation with provincial and municipal officials. According to Mr. Hellyer, the existing International airport at Dorval will also be retained.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note that an international panel on supersonic transport operations has been established. This should ensure that all countries involved will take similar steps to modernize airport facilities.

Chairman of the new body is W. H. Scott of Australia. At a news conference in Montreal the other day he spoke of the anticipated problems of supersonic flight — among them radiation. He said that with planes cruising at heights of about 50,000 feet on-board radiation devices may be necessary. Airliners likely would have to fly at lower altitudes while travelling through hazardous areas.

The world is shrinking fast. Travelling time in the supersonic age will be reduced considerably. Airliners will carry many times their existing complements. Thus, traffic handling, particularly in the vicinity of airports, will present problems which will take time to iron out. Still, the prospects are exciting. The world soon will enter a revolutionary new age of travel.

Trading Stamps

Where the provincial government feared to tread Bay of Canada's largest chain groceries has decided to stop issuing trading stamps on August 31.

Trading stamps, it will be recalled, came in for strong criticism from price-conscious housewives a few years ago. They cited the stamps as one reason for high food costs. The government talked of banning them but nothing came of it.

The stamps, it seems, were too ingrained in the public mind. But now things have changed. A questionnaire sent out by the firm brought more than 65,000 replies. The shoppers voted eight to one against stamps.

The company's president is quoted as saying: "I think that despite all the talk about consumerism, we have not listened to what the public had to say. I think today you will find that people are more price-conscious than they have been since the advent of the depression."

That stamps have not had the drawing power they once enjoyed is evident from this further comment of the official: "An increase of between 20 and 25 per cent in turnover due to stamps used to be the case. This is not the case today, and stamp costs must reflect themselves in selling prices. There is no use kidding ourselves."

In place of the stamps the firm plans to cut prices on many of its items. But the question is, will this policy be continued? U.S. surveys have indicated a similar trend toward lower prices once the stamps were dispensed with, only to creep back to the level they were before.

Describing stamps as an important promotional aid, an official of the Canadian Association of Stamp Companies put it this way: "It is not possible in today's marketplace to substantially reduce promotional expenditures. They are just diverted from one type of promotion to another."

Healthy Outlet

It is good to see some at least of the younger people making the most of the long summer vacation in healthy open-air activity. The Bay of Quinte Yacht Club's junior sailing program is a case in point. Indeed the demand is greater than the facilities available. At the moment there are only five boats and 35 kids. It is a stimulating time for the small fry as well as their two youthful instructors. It is the kind of program the city needs more of, in all spheres of recreational activity, and many instances the facilities are available, but young people do not take advantage of them.

Gold and Dollar Reserves Rise

Britain's Economic Fortunes Take Turn for the Better

By JOHN LEBLANC

LONDON (CP)—A little discreet sleight-of-hand is allowed for in government foreign-exchange statistics, so they don't always mean quite what they seem to say.

Accordingly, the news Friday that British gold and dollar reserves rose by £31,000,000 ($86,000,000) in July doesn't necessarily mean that Britons can throw their hats in the air and promptly let their tightened belts out a notch.

However, taken in conjunction with other factors, it does seem to indicate that there has been a modest upturn in the outlook for economically-beleaguered Britain and that somewhere down the road Harold Wilson's plumbline turning into better times may be looming up.

That's still a long way off, though. What's immediately visible is that the Labor government's usual July crisis won't be starting the late months of the year with the staggers.

Two factors gave the devalued pound some momentum during July. One was a $1,000,000,000 backing negotiated with central bankers at Basle, and another was the beginning of improvement—or slowdown in deterioration—of British export trade figures.

In another week the British board of trade will be releasing the country's July international trade figures, and most experts believe they will be good—at least, relatively good.

June's trade deficit was £50,000,000, which was an improvement over the £96,000,000 of the previous month.

Despite stern anti-import measures taken in the March budget of Roy Jenkins, chancellor of the exchequer, the July figures are still expected to show a substantial imbalance of imports over exchange-earning exports.

But London financial men will be quite happy if this can be held to about £30,000,000, just to show that things continue on the mend.

They are not, in fact, entirely happy with the gold-dollar reserve figures made public Friday; they were looking for something a little higher. However, the figures were hauled down by loan-service repayments, and in any case it's quite probable the government is holding some up its sleeve.

The treasury's problem was to make sure the publicised figure was high enough to foster confidence in the pound, while not so high as to start overseas creditors asking for their money back or people at home thinking they can relax.

At all events, there has been a noticeable lift in Labor government morale in the last few weeks as the economic foot-dragging eases. Some forecasters are already beginning to talk of the electorate getting in the right frame of mind towards Labor for a general election by October, 1970, about a half-year before Prime Minister Wilson's mandate runs out.

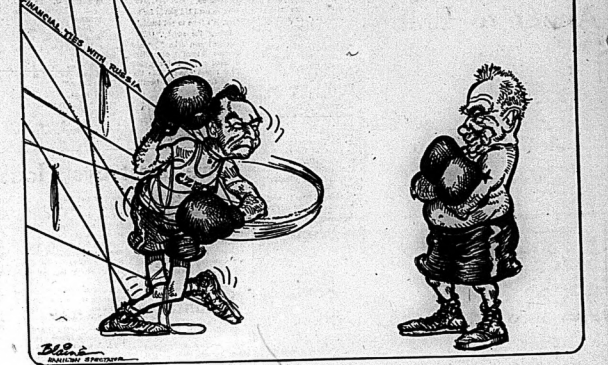
Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Aug. 9, 1968 . . .

The Ashburton-Webster Treaty was signed at Washington to settle outstanding differences between Canada and the United States 126 years ago today—in 1842. The treaty, negotiated by Lord Ashburton and Daniel Webster, settled boundary disputes between the two countries.

1943—United States cruisers Quincy, Vincennes and Astoria were sunk off the Solomon Islands killing 918.



1942—Rioting in India was increased by the arrest of Mohandas Ghandi, Pandit Nehru, and other leaders.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—rapid progress was made by the Franco-British armies in the battle of Amiens, with French troops capturing Pierrepont and advancing to Arvillers, south of the Somme River; Canadian, Australian and French forces took Maharicourt.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—British and American troops raced to the northeast tip of Sicily, into Messina; British forces captured Acireale and San Maria di Licodia near Mount Etna; RCAF and RAF bombers struck at Rhineland industrial cities of Mannheim and Ludwigshafen; Allied bombers struck at enemy bases throughout the southwest Pacific front, hitting Japanese strongholds of Vita, Salamua, Balenko and Kahili bains; Russian armies closed their encircling grip on Kharkov and advanced on Bryansk, capturing the railway station at Shakhovo, 22 miles west of Orel.

Priorities Needed

Montreal Star: Gang up or not, the provincial premiers are coming to the end of their patience. So, it is fair to say, are the country's taxpayers. Apart from the natural growth of the economy which last year was adding to write home about, the pool of public monies, from which both federal and provincial authorities can draw, is stretched dangerously. Yet the valid needs of our society, just or otherwise, are rising steadily. Something has to give. We must have priorities, not only within each level of government but also between governments.

Inactive Monopoly

Toronto Globe and Mail: The post office department has asked the department of justice for an opinion on the legality of strike-breaking private mail services. It wants to know whether the Canadian postmen who have taken to the streets around the country are violating Ungemeinteserpeareal's law-given monopoly to carry letters. People whose letters are not being carried by anybody would be grateful if the department of justice could also find time to consider whether a monopoly is not forfeited when it becomes inactive.

Medicare Under Further Review

Ottawa Journal: Nine of the 10 provinces want a conference with Ottawa in amending the federal Medicare program. They should have it, not perhaps a conference called for that purpose alone, but adequate opportunity to state their ideas.

The Ontario government claims that this province can provide a similar service for $14.76 a family a month under the Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan compared with $20 under Medicare.

However, when Munro, now a federal minister, estimated earlier this year that the total costs of Medicare in Ontario would be less than that of OMSIP. This is the type of uncertainty which should be ended. Taxpayers are entitled to know precisely what services and expenses are involved in these arguments.

* * *

Vancouver Sun: The provincial premiers demonstrated in their meeting at Waskesiu a welcome flexibility in demanding a new federal-provincial meeting to renegotiate the whole medical insurance plan . . .

Taxes, no doubt, are going to rise in the near future, no matter what is done. It is a question how much. Ottawa can raise more money by its medicare levy, the provinces by putting more on liquor and other things. But there is no pie in the sky, either for the taxpayer or the tax-gatherer.

Unless all governments agree to co-operate on setting up priorities in spending, the financial mess will get worse.

Nothing New

The Couchiching Conference

Montreal Star

They didn't break much rock at the Couchiching conference Sunday when they opened their discussion on Canadian-American policies. Perhaps there isn't much rock to break. We are, perhaps, in the grip of inevitable circumstances about which nothing can be done. It's high time we got that "fresh look" at our foreign policy which Prime Minister Trudeau has promised us.

Our parliaments and governments may not know how apathetic the public has got about what we have now: the routine statements, the worn, old platitudes and the annual expenditure of a billion and a half dollars on the maintenance and re-equipment of token forces in NORAD and NATO which have a possible symbolic value but hardly nothing more. What we are doing now is to give marginal assistance to a great power which possesses a huge amount of nuclear weapons. We add our tiny quota of deterrent force to an ally which obviously does not need it. Use of our real estate is, to be sure, a convenience to that ally, but he could get along without it comfortably enough.

Homespun!

Manitoba Community Blocks Sale of Home To Indian Purchaser

Ottawa Journal

In the village of MacGregor, Manitoba, last week community action was taken to block the sale of one home to an Indian. The townspeople say their position was not determined by the fact that the prospective tenants were Indians but by their conviction that the newcomers would not maintain approved household standards.

Whatever the rationale, the townspeople's action was discriminatory. Indians have not always enjoyed the white community's esteem and every observer knows that it is the drift and half truths. For too long, many Indians were content to accept government dole rather than help themselves.

But the Indians and government policy are changing. The Indian population has increased from 136,000 in 1949 to 220,000 in 1968. Over 50 per cent of all Indian pupils are in schools operated under provincial jurisdiction against 29 per cent in 1957. There are 240 Indian students taking post — secondary school education and this number will rise sharply when the present high-school generation graduates.

This means more and more Indians will be moving into urban communities. If they meet with hostility and discrimination in housing, having gone half way to meet the white man's culture, they will be understandably bitter.

Ghettos don't work, as the American experience has shown. In a land which calls itself a cultural mosaic there should be room for the first Canadians among their white neighbors.

Australian Immigration

Ottawa Journal

Australia has encountered a curious immigration pattern. In the first 10 months of the 1967-68 fiscal year 111,879 immigrants arrived, but another 20,139 immigrants returned to their home lands.

Immigration applications were up more than 50 per cent in the first part of 1968 and many of the applications were from persons who had emigrated to Australia and then returned to homelands.

Canadian immigration officials say they encounter the same problem — immigrants who return home only to find the "old country" isn't as wonderful as they had thought it was. Since Canada has to call control, there are no figures on the disenchanted.

Both Canada and Australia will re-admit immigrants who want to give the new country a second chance, providing the immigrant left for a valid reason in the first place.

The two countries have assisted passage plans to help prospective citizens. Canada offers loans of up to $1,500, repayable in two years with six per cent interest annually. Between 1961 and 1965 Canada granted 37,867 loans covering 61,277 individuals. Total immigration in that period was about 300,000.

Richard Nixon Chose Running Mate Who Would Hurt Him Least

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Why did Richard Nixon choose the relatively obscure governor of a small state as his vice-presidential candidate?

The answer is that he didn't necessarily choose the man he thought could help him the most when he chose Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland. He chose the man he hoped would hurt him the least in his divided party.

"No one could say anything bad about him," was how a key participant in the meetings that led to Agnew's selection put it. From this source and others The Associated Press has pieced together the outlines, at least, of the making of a vice-presidential candidate.

It began even before Nixon's first-ballot victory early hours.

About 20 minutes earlier Nixon met with his closest staff advisers in his penthouse apartment on the beach to start discussing a running mate. The meeting went on with an ever-changing cast for nearly 12 hours, with only an hour out for sleep by Nixon.

When Nixon finally emerged to say Agnew was his choice a shock wave travelled through the crammed hotels, joining especially the followers of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who immediately charged Nixon with trying to appease his southern supporters.

The charge was denied by Nixon aides, but there was no denying the satisfaction that Agnew's selection brought to most southerners.

The South got a candidate it can accept," said South Carolina Senator Strom Thurmond, one of Nixon's most influential supporters, "while the big cities did not get who they said they had to have."

He was referring to Mayor John Lindsay of New York, Senator Charles Percy of Illinois and Senator Mark Hatfield of Oregon, the favorites of the big-city Republicans.

The basis of the charge of appeasement was Nixon's promise to southern delegates before the convention balloting that he would pick a vice-president acceptable to all parts of the country.

Nixon made the overture to the southern delegates when it began to appear that California's Gov. Ronald Reagan was picking up support in the South in his bid for the presidential nomination. The South stayed with Nixon and gave him more than 300 of the 667 convention votes he needed.

Nixon aides and Thurmond insisted the southerners did not exercise any veto over prospective candidates, but there was some plain talk to a Florida caucus by the state's chairman, Bill Murfin, who took part in the discussions.

He told his delegation that southern spokesmen quickly vetoed Hatfield and told Nixon that Lindsay and Percy could not be named "without considerable objection by me, Strom Thurmond and others."

Murfin said that when the discussions ended the only men apparently acceptable to all participants were Agnew, Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts and Representative George Bush of Texas.

The liberals among Nixon's constituents also made their weight felt, according to participants. Here is one's account: "Reagan was ruled out because of his age and Lindsay was nixed by the conservatives. Senator John Tower (of Texas) had qualifications but some felt that his selection would mean that Nixon had embraced the right wing of the party."

In all, about 20 names were brought into the discussions, but there was never a formal list.

Just when Agnew's name popped up and who suggested it is not clear, but here is one version:

Agnew's name was first mentioned by "Nixon leadership people." There was little reaction and the discussion proceeded to other possible candidates. But at each lull in the talks, usually after four or five persons had been discussed, someone on the Nixon staff would ask, "Well, how about Spiro?"

When this had happened several times some of those present began to get the idea that Nixon wanted Agnew.

Nixon's Forecast

Dark Night About to End

MIAMI BEACH (CP) — Presidential candidate Richard Nixon, in a rousing, sometimes-emotional finale to the Republican national convention Thursday night, predicted that "the long dark night for America is about to end."

He forecast victory over the Democratic administration in the Nov. 5 general election in a televised speech promising a new order in U.S. policy at home and abroad.

The former vice-president's surprise choice as running mate, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, survived a minor convention revolt by easily winning a forced contest with Michigan Gov. George Romney. The vote was 1,128 to 778.

But that showdown, caused by some delegate sentiment that a better-known and more liberal figure should have been chosen, left the party in solid array compared with the divisions four years ago when Barry Goldwater's right-wing organization won control.

Beaming, Nixon faced a long convention welcome, his acceptance speech asked the cheering delegates to "win this one for Ike"—former president Dwight Eisenhower, seriously ill in Washington with his sixth heart attack.

Then he sketched the aims of a Republican government—more liberal internally—but strong on fiscal restraint and restoring order to the American domestic scene.

The "voice of the great forgotten majority, black and white," he said, knows that the U.S. "will not be a good place for any of us to live in unless it is a good place for all of us to live in."

America is in trouble at home and abroad because "her leaders have failed."

"We are worse off in every area of the world than when President Eisenhower left office (in 1960). We need a complete house-cleaning of those responsible."

The Vietnam war holds top foreign-policy priority and "we all here hope for an honest end."

But if the Paris peace negotiations have led nowhere by the U.S. election and the Republicans win, he said, new actions will be taken. He didn't say them out on grounds he would say nothing in the forthcoming campaign to bandicap the search for peace at Paris.

Never has U.S. power—economic, military or diplomatic—been used so ineffectively, he said.

He will seek "to bring an honorable end to the war" and produce polices preventing new Vietnams by involving more free-world nations in global defence needs.

As for Communist leaders, he said: "After an era of confrontation, the time has come for an era of negotiation."

He also emphasized a new look in his foreign-policy attitudes by including China with the Soviet Union in a pledge to build out the hand of friendship to the peoples of those Communist countries.

Building's Safety Being Questioned

The roof structure of the new fairgrounds building and its supporting pylons were designed by R. Marsden, Wilson Concrete engineer.

The heavy concrete roof slabs nearly 100 feet in length are supported on vertical concrete pylons built into the side walls.

Mr. Lassing claims that alternate slabs have insufficient bearing on the supporting columns, with most of the load being taken on the concrete block walls.

Two possible solutions to bring the roof structure up to the required safety standard have been suggested — one by Mr. Lassing and the other by Building Construction.

If the Rollins suggestion is approved, the work could still be done in time to allow the building to be used during the fair.

The Rollins suggestion is to install vertical steel beams under the ends of alternate roof slabs.

Fair officials today were dumbfounded at the sudden turn of events which possibly could mean the new building would not be usable during the fair.

"We had sold every bit of space in the new building, much of it to out of town exhibitors," said fair president Cameron Bunett.

He said if the building could not be used exhibitors would be notified.

However, if remedial measures could be taken, exhibitors would be given extra time to place their exhibits.

The city parks board learned only yesterday that a safety certificate would not be given by Mr. Lassing.

The matter was discussed at a board meeting last night and fair officials were immediately informed.

Loss of Mining Grants Calamitous Says Shannon

PETERBOROUGH — Abolition of special government grants to mining communities could have serious effect on local municipal finances, Marmora reeve William Shannon warned here yesterday.

Reeve Shannon told the legislature's select committee on provincial taxation mining municipalities were deeply concerned by any suggestion the grants be abolished.

The reeve, whose village is a community for the U.S.-owned Marmoraton Mining Company, quoted extensively from a letter he earlier sent Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough, on the issue.

Marmora receives $18,000 in mining grants — almost 10 per cent of its total budget, Reeve Shannon noted.

"The grants have become important to the financial structure of our village — and even the most remote possibility of their loss is of deep concern Marmore-Lake township $1.6; to us," he said.

Any abolition of the grant would mean a 12-mill increase to maintain present commitments.

The former Hastings County warden also estimated the effects caused by loss of the grants on other local communities.

Mill increases would be:

Bancroft, 5.1; Dungannon township 2.5; Madoc village 4.9; Faraday township 32.8.

MacDonald suffered cracked ribs and severe head and face cuts and remains in Belleville General Hospital with Ronald Brown, 18, who sustained head cuts and a dislocated shoulder.

A third man, Bernard Whalen, 20, was treated for head and face cuts and later released by hospital authorities.

The injured men were members of the Point Anne Cementmen and were returning from a game at the Alemite ground in Belleville, say police.

Burnside Opposes Tax Change

PETERBOROUGH — Hastings county government spokesmen yesterday opposed any changes in business tax structures across Ontario.

Madoc reeve Tom Burnside heading a county council delegation to the legislature's select committee on taxation, warned that changes in current tax systems could hurt the small businessman.

He based his remarks on a proposal by Smith committee on taxation that all business tax be a blanket 50 per cent of business assessment.

Business taxes in Ontario municipalities are now staggered with various rates applying to different commercial operations.

Retailers, professional men and industries pay contrasting business taxes.

"Any change in this system would be detrimental," said Reeve Burnside, "to the small retail merchant in particular.

"It seems to me that an unfair situation would develop if the Smith proposals were accepted)." he warned.

Pay for the Woman of the House—Why Not?

EDMONTON (CP) — If a woman's place is in the home, she should be paid for the work she does there.

That's the point Jane Menzies tries, to make in briefs to governments and reports for women's organizations.

The mother of three, full-time housewife and active crusading economist, says present tax and property laws discriminate against a woman whose marriage breaks up.

"A married woman is protected," she says. "But a deserted woman with small children is economically one of the most vulnerable members of society."

Mrs. Menzies, who lives in Winnipeg, was interviewed in Edmonton.

"Mothers are the only unpaid group in an economy that measures security in terms of money," she said. "And because they're unpaid, they're unrecognized in our taxation laws."

She heads diverse committees—homemaking and day care for the Winnipeg Family Bureau, women's status for the Canadian Federation of University Women and economics for the National Council of Women and its Manitoba branch. She said all the work adds up to the same goal.

"It's just a matter of getting the word spread. There is not enough basic research about the way the society is changing and the place of women in it.

"We exclude the dependency of a wife, who's an economic asset, with that of a child, who's an economic cost. We consider a wife in a home a cost to her husband because he has to buy her food and clothing. Actually, if he had to go into the labor market for the services she performs in housekeeping and child care, he'd pay a high rate."

Mrs. Menzies says the present economic system works fine "if you're a happy conventional family," but deserted mothers found themselves expected either to remain on welfare or to support their children by their efforts, without even a tax deduction for child care expenses.

A woman could work most of her life keeping a home and find herself without security or pension if her husband left her when she was too old to get a job.

"We must recognize that a man and wife contribute equally to the marriage relationship and that everything saved and invested belongs equally to both partners," she says.

Tax law changes could be the starting point to bring women into the money economy, Mrs. Menzies says. For raising children, they could be credited with a tax indemnity to offset the tax levied on any income earned outside the home.

Such an indemnity would in effect lower the taxes of a salaried mother. For women not working outside their homes, it could be put towards a pension fund.

With a master of arts degree in economics from the University of Saskatchewan, Mrs. Menzies worked for the National Research Council before her marriage. Now her research is done in a file-filled office set up at home.

She does only volunteer work because of present laws and because she needs to be at home to care for Rebecca, 9, David, 7, and Liana, 3.

"Training is right at the root of many of the economic problems of the family and household," she said. "The tax laws haven't changed but the role of women has."

Campbell – Boyarchuk

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS CAMPBELL

St. Francis of Assisi Church in Frankford was the scene of the August 3rd ceremony when Sandra Dorine Boyarchuk, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Boyarchuk of Frankford, exchanged wedding vows with Douglas Barry Grief Campbell, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell of Belleville. Rev. James F. McGarvey officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The traditional wedding music was rendered by organist Miss Mary Cranston, of Batawa, and the soloist was Neil Roote of Frankford.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length sleeveless gown of imported crystal satin, made in Italy and finished in England. The gown featured a scoop neckline and empire waistline, both edged with guipure lace leaves; and also an A-line skirt. Over the dress was a coat of imported venise lace, falling into a chapel train also edged with guipure lace leaves, and featuring long lily point sleeves and a satin bow at the back. The shoulder length four - tier silk illusion veil was attached to a crown circlet of crystal and pearl drops; her bouquet was a cascade of red roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Susan Gauld, and bridesmaids, Misses Heather Murray and Linda Fobert, wore identical floor length sleeveless gowns of turquoise blue peau de soie, featuring scoop neckline and empire waistlines with a-line style skirts. Headpieces were of the tiered bow effect of matching material, and they carried crescent-shaped bouquets of white and blue tinted 'mums. Flower girl, little Miss Karen Allen, wore a full length a-line gown of white peau de soie with a lace yoke and sleeves and a blue bow matching that of the bridesmaids. She carried a miniature basket of blue-tinted 'mums.

The bridegroom was attended by David Storey of Belleville, while the ushers were John Boyarchuk of Waterloo, brother of the bride, and Larry Caddick of Belleville, brother-in-law of the groom. The ring-bearer, Johnny Styles, carried the two rings on a white satin cushion.

The reception was held at the Canadian Legion Hall in Frankford, where the guests were received by the mother of the bride, who wore a two-piece ensemble of eggshell Irish brocade. The ensemble featured bracelet length sleeves and mandarin collar trimmed with topaz in keeping with matching accessories, and a jade green turban hat. Her corsage was of white orchids. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom was attired in an aqua blue peau de soie ensemble overlaid with heavy French lace, with white accessories, and a contrasting corsage of pale yellow carnations. A wedding dance followed the reception, according to the Ukrainian custom.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride selected a teal blue dress of crimplene terylene with graded oblique design, which had a wide border of white imported lace. Her accessories were white, complemented by a corsage of white sweetheart roses.

Braaksma – Whaites

MR. AND MRS. JOHN P. BRAAKSMA

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was the scene for the recent exchange of marriage vows between Joanne Whaites, daughter of Mrs. Charles Whaites and the late Mr. Charles Whaites, and John P. Braaksma, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Braaksma, St. Davids. Rev. A. L. Sutherland officiated. Mr. C. Fell of Waterloo was guest organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, William Morris, of Galt. She wore a floor-length gown of white organza over taffeta. The skirt was A-line in design and the bodice and elbow-length sleeves were of French lace with scalloped edges. The train of the same material as the dress was edged with double-edged lace. Her headdress was a cluster of roses and green leaves and was caught to a three - tier illusion buffant veil with scalloped edges. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Sherril Mitchell of Brockville was the matron-of-honor. Miss Tina Braaksma and Miss Betty Braaksma, sisters of the bridegroom were bridesmaids. They were attired identically in floor-length gowns of mauve Swiss crepe in A-line style with scooped neckline and elbow - length sleeves. Each carried an arm bouquet of multi-colored gladioli. The headdresses were big bows of mauve Swiss crepe.

William Hogzan, St. Catharines, was the bridegroom's attendant. Ralph Thompson, Brantford, and William Grimson, Belleville, were the ushers.

During the reception at Club Dunes, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a pastel green sheath with matching three-quarter length lace coat and white accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink Sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a two piece yellow linen suit with white accessories and corsage of white carnations tipped with yellow.

For the wedding trip to The Netherlands, the bride wore a two-piece ensemble in green linen with matching print blouse and beige accessories. Her corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses enhanced the outfit.

On return the couple will reside at 18 Esson St., Apt. 202, Kitchener, Ontario.

Brunette – Miller

MR. AND MRS. BRUCE E. BRUNETTE

St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill Anglican Church, Belleville, was the setting for a lovely midsummer wedding on Saturday, August 3, 1963, when Nancy Jane, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton William Miller was united in marriage to Mr. Bruce Edward Brunette, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilfred Brunette, Ottawa. The Rev. J. Arnold Dunlop officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church organist, Mrs. H. VanOchten, accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Rogers Riedel, in two appropriate selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length couturier design gown of white French radzimir satin with empire waistline, round neckline with rolled collar and bracelet length sleeves with rolled cuffs. The cathedral train fell from the shoulders in soft folds. Her fingertip veil of imported French lace was held in place by pearl pins. She carried a modified cascade bouquet of white feather fan; enriched with white orchids and sprays of azalea pink stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Aubrey Harris, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Mlle Renee Maltais, Chicoutimi, Quebec, Mrs. Jo Morris, Frankford, and Miss Anne Livock, Fayetteville, North Carolina, were dressed alike in floor length sleeveless gowns of white Yum Yum chiffon over white acred faille, with round necklines and rolled collars. The empire waistline was accented by a sash of petal pink velvet forming a bow in the back. They wore picture hats of white Swiss straw with bands of petal pink velvet ribbon, long white gloves and carried bouquets of pinktone cluster carnations and heather fern.

The flower girls, Misses Gwendolyn and Susan Johnston of Morrisburg, wore floor length gowns of white Yum Yum chiffon over white acred faille, with empire waistline was caught with a sash and bow of petal pink satin. They wore matching braided coronets and carried petite gold baskets of white and pink poms.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Malcolm Brunette, Ottawa, and the ushers were Messrs. Brian Barr and David Armstrong, Ottawa, and Aubrey Harris, Cobourg.

The reception was held in the church hall where the guests were received by the bride's mother wearing a couturier design tunic dress of blushing rose Swiss cotton, a white Venetian lace hat with matching accessories, and a white orchid and baby's breath corsage. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a two piece ensemble of azure blue floral corded silk, a navy blue tonhair hat with matching accessories, and an orchid and baby's breath corsage. Mr. Howard Elford, Port Credit, uncle of the bride was master of ceremonies.

For the wedding trip to the East Coast, the bride chose a sleeveless couturier dress of streaked silk bopsacking with matching jacket and headpiece, avocado green crocodile shoes and purse, and a corsage of white orchids.

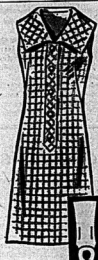
Picnics Never Had It So Good

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I hope I can make myself clear about these small squares we were served at a reception. They had a meringue topping with some coconut in it. That is how I understood was a layer of apricot jam. Under that was a yummy mixture containing some raisins. If you have a recipe similar to this would you please print it? I would be thankful. Also thanks for your wonderful recipes over the years. — Kay M.



ANSWER: I did not have exactly what you described so I made some from scratch and took them to a picnic. The empty pan I brought home testifies to their popularity.

Successful Living

Happy Family Combines Discipline and Fun

DORIS CLARK indeed gn

Dear Doris: My sister is raising her children alone. She tells me she has to tell them every morning to hurry and dress, many times. Same thing about going to bed. Or anything else.

Don't you think when kids don't obey any better than that, they should get a good sound strapping on their behind?

They are all an unhappy lot just because they take so long to listen when their mother talks. I've told them I just detest going there to look after them. — Fed Up.

Dear Fed Up: What happened away back — an unhappy, unsettled home with two mismated parents? I'm guessing that was the start of their getting out of hand.

DORIS CLARK

Continual nagging gives everybody a headache; and strapping means just that, much more unkindliness. Naturally your sister will sometimes get cross and lose her temper, but I wonder if they ever have any fun together?

I'd suggest she warn them that she will call them once and no more. If they are late for school they take the consequences. When they do manage well she praises; and they have a treat together. Rewards are still better than punishment.

* * *

Dear Doris: Our bridal shower is for a girl who is moving to Scotland, so we're having a money shower.

We would appreciate any suggestion you have. — Maid of Honor

Dear Maid: Each guest contributes a certain amount, and this is collected ahead of time. Take it to the bank and turn it into pounds sterling. Put the bank notes in a gift box; wrap decoratively complete with ribbons and bows.

Make a ceremony of the presentation, using a reading from the page I am sending you of Readings Suitable for a Shower. I like the one entitled, "How Did She Do It?" If you have a composer in the crowd, add another. Or let each guest make up her own good-wishes rhyme and read it aloud.

Pass the evening with fun and games or in making up a Bride's Book.

* * *

Dear Doris: I don't drink or smoke. When my husband has a couple of fellows in for a drink I'm busy elsewhere, but sooner or later I'm afraid they will bring their wives and drink until early morning. What do I do?

I don't believe in total abstinence but when the sole purpose of the evening is drinking I don't approve and when the party gets rough I'm the only one sober enough to know it.

I want to be a charming, casual hostess who can handle any situation tactfully. — First Real Home

Dear First: Who doesn't? And there are ways.

The real charmer has fruit juice and soft drinks well in evidence; offers either "with or without"; makes no comment; never presses a second drink on anyone who declines.

Other wives will help you keep things in hand. Will be glad to sit in for bridge, euchre charades, when good conversation threatens to deteriorate into alcoholic basing.

Anonymous letters are bad manners and may be ignored. When writing in, give Doris's your right name and address. It will be kept confidential.

Ann Landers

Daughter's Suspicions May Be Unfounded

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter you printed from "Sadder But Wiser" compelled me to write this letter. She was the mousy little housewife who felt guilty about having an affair.

I'm a high school student who knows of a similar affair — my mother's. Mom always decides to see a very late movie "alone" when Dad is out of town. Once I asked how the movie was and she got so rattled I felt sorry for her. Recently I came home unexpectedly. (I had planned to spend the night at a girl friend's house and changed my mind.) I heard the back door slam as I came in and I smelled pipe tobacco all over the place.

ANN LANDERS

This afternoon I needed 50c and Mom wasn't home. I looked in Mom's coat pocket for change. To my horror I discovered a key for a local hotel.

Do I owe it to my dad to tell him? If I don't tell and they get a divorce I will always feel as though I could have helped save their marriage if I had spoken out. — J. K. L.

DEAR J. K. L.: Don't say a word. To anyone. While you may believe the evidence is conclusive, you could be wrong. And if you are wrong you would be responsible for stirring up a hideous mess.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are an average family. By "average" I mean my husband and I are at the mercy of three lazy, uncooperative, smart-mouth kids.

Our daughters (ages 13 and 15) keep us broke. The boy, aged 11, keeps us exhausted. My husband and I don't want to break their spirit or spoil their fun by being too demanding. I'm afraid, however, that we have been too lenient and now we can't get our kids to do anything that vaguely resembles work — either in or out of school.

Last week the kids suggested a "family jury," with each member of the family having one vote. Of course my husband and I always lose because the kids vote as a bloc. Can you help us to teach these kids to be responsible citizens? — OUTVOTED

DEAR OUT: The majority rule is excellent for government, but it doesn't work well in mental institutions, prisons or families with two or more children.

Adolescents not only need discipline but they want it. When children call the signals and run the family they get the impression their parents are imbeciles. Kids who do as they please are not happy — they are confused. The best way to keep your children's feet on the ground is to put some responsibility on their shoulders.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister Mazie and her husband have had dinner at our house every Friday for the last six years. This means they have enjoyed 312 free meals over here.

They have been to their home for dinner three times. (Once was when my brother-in-law's boss gave him a turkey for Christmas. Another time, my brother-in-law shot a duck. It was too gamy to eat. And once we had a Chinese dinner which they paid us to pick up on the way over.)

Last week an out-of-town aunt was having a serious operation and I offered to take care of her children. Mazie didn't invite my husband over for a single meal. This burned me up. I told my husband I'm through feeding them every Friday. He says Mazie will be mad because they have grown to expect it. How do I unwind a six-year-habit? — THE CHUMP.

DEAR CHUMP: Find something else to do a few Fridays in a row and announce it well in advance. When you do invite Mazie tell her, "It's your turn next time," and put your dinners on an alternating basis.

'Drop Out of School to Get Cured' Advice to Slow Learners

TORONTO (CP) — A 23-year-old high school graduate who was repeatedly urged by teachers and school administrators to drop out of school as soon as possible says children with learning disabilities should be taken out of the regular school system until they are "cured."

"Old habits get rooted," he told an audience of 400 Thursday during a panel discussion at the conference of the Canadian Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

"It's no good to stay in the system and fight struggle along," he said.

Steve (not his real name) had an eyesight problem which made the figure 100 look like 10 and slowed his reading. His teachers thought he was emotionally disturbed and said him he was "drop-out material".

It was not until Steve attended an educational clinic at the age of 20 that he discovered one of his eyes moved 90 per cent faster than the other.

Steve now has completed Grade 12. Recent tests show he has an above-average educational potential, and he is planning to continue studies this fall.

Marlene, 20, also on the panel, was not as lucky as Steve, who managed to stay in school through Grade 10.

Marlene has an auditory problem that makes it hard for her to understand directions unless they are repeated very slowly. No one ever tried to understand her problem and she was not sent to vocational school after failing Grade 7 three times.

After three years the vocational school—where she learned very little about reading and writing—Marlene moved to Orillia and tried to enrol in a regular Grade 8 class.

"They told me I was too old for Grade 8," she said. "The principal said there was nothing for me."

Unable to attend school, Marlene spent three years as a sales clerk in her father's store.

Then she found help.

She now is learning bookkeeping and typing at an adult retraining centre. The instructor knows she is not "stupid" as her teachers insist for years, and repeats everything slowly. Marlene hopes eventually to become a teaching assistant. "So I can help others like me."

Bobbie and Wilkinson With Sword Rout Ten Water-gun Bandits

LONDON (CP) — Maj. John Wilkinson-Latham, a retired Royal Artillery officer and a director of that sword firm, was running an eye over some cold steel in his two some Mayfair antique shop Thursday when a woman came in with news that gunmen were at work next door.

Police constable Peter Butcher, a friend of the major, was handling an 1854 cavalry cutlass, of the vintage used in the charge of the Light Brigade.

The two headed on the run for travel agents Thomas Cook and Son, where 10 minutes earlier a holdup. The constable had the carbine. The major was barebacked.

On the way through the door, Butcher recollected that British policemen don't carry guns and handed the antique over to Maj. Wilkinson-Latham.

As it was pieced together later, 10 holdup men had entered Cooks in the guise of customers. Some produced shotguns, others pickaxe handles, and some had water pistols and squirt bottles loaded with ammonia.

Shots smashed screens on the agency counter. Some of the gang leaped over the counter, knocking aside grilles and spraying ammonia around.

As the major and constable went in with the Crimean War armament, the bandits were heading for a back door.

"I had the gun ready for use as a club," the major related, "probably a better weapon than it was originally.

"They loosed off about four shots in our direction, but they all were high, just aimed at keeping everybody's head down.

"My two sons had grabbed a couple of cavalry swords. Wilkinson, of course—and headed around the back way. But they got away in a van."

The loot was about £4,000 ($14,400).

"After that," said the 67-year-old major, "we went out and had a drink."

Doctors Order Further Tests of LBJ's Stomach Trouble

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Doctors have ordered further medical tests for President Johnson to assess the extent of a chronic intestinal disorder.

Johnson himself disclosed his ailment Thursday following a second series of examinations at Brooke Army Medical Centre in San Antonio. He said he will return to Brooke next week for more tests.

His condition, known as diverticulosis, is marked by the presence of pouches on the inner lining of the large intestine. A bland diet often is prescribed for the victim and, in some cases, surgery.

Press secretary George Christian was asked if next week's tests would be to determine whether Johnson needs surgery.

He said he wouldn't want to speculate on that and, emphasizing that only an incomplete examination had been conducted to date, said Johnson's personal physician, Vice-Admiral George Burkley, had not indicated to him whether a thought surgery would be required.

The president, in response to a question, said he felt "excellent." And Burkley described Johnson's general physical condition as "well within the normal limits."

The same was said for Mrs. Johnson, who spent 3½ days at Brooke undergoing a checkup. Her husband had commuted by helicopter between Brooke and their hill country ranch, 65 miles west of Austin. He was examined Tuesday and Thursday.

Although diverticulosis can be extremely painful, Burkley said, it is commonplace among Americans over 50. Johnson will be 60 Aug. 27.

Burkley said annual physical examinations, starting in 1960, revealed the presence of the pouches, formally known as diverticula.

"This had never been disclosed in the past, however, and there was no explanation for the decision to reveal it at this time.

Criminals Using Wiretap Devices

TORONTO (CP) — Police Chief James Mackey said Thursday Toronto criminals are using wiretapping and electronic spy devices. He suggested that police should be allowed to use such equipment to put them on an equal footing with criminals who profit from its use.

Housebreakers have tapped telephones of some wealthy Toronto residents to find out when they would be away from home, he said in an interview.

A stockbroker, he continued, found a small radio transmitter hidden in his office which broadcast every word spoken in the office to another room in the same building.

Chief Mackey said police could not charge those who used the transmitter because present law does not make such action a criminal offence.

However, police seized the equipment and could justify the seizure on grounds it was found illegally and its owners were not likely to claim it.

He said it is important that police get wiretapping legislation, "but it is also important that it doesn't tie our hands."

Inuvik Is Spared By Forest Fire

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP) — This community of 2,500 persons was reported out of immediate danger early today after a forest fire burning on a one-mile front passed within a half mile of the town centre.

All available men and equipment were sent to the scene when the fire was reported shortly after noon to be approaching out of the Arctic barrens toward the Mackenzie River delta town 1,200 miles north of Edmonton.

More men and equipment were being moved in overnight from Aklavik, a predominantly-native settlement 40 miles west.

An RCMP spokesman said the fire was burning through scrub timber, mostly pine stunted by short Arctic growing season.

The fire approached from the southeast, bypassed the town in a quarter-circle arc to the north, and missed, a co-operative housing development by about 300 yards.

Winds ranging from eight to 25 miles an hour accompanied the blaze, aggravated by self-produced winds. The community is comprised entirely of frame homes.

No injuries were reported and cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Wading Pool Closed Owing to Hepatitis

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A children's wading pool at a city playground was closed Thursday for at least two weeks because of an outbreak of infectious hepatitis in the area.

Dr. D. A. Hutchison, London's medical officer of health, said he asked the recreation department to drain the wading pool as a precautionary measure. No other playground activities are affected.

Ontario Borrows In Europe

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario concluded its first European loan today and Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton said he saw "no reason" why it should not be the first of a series.

After signing papers for the borrowing of 150,000,000 German marks—equivalent to about $40,000,000 — Mr. MacNaughton said the government had obtained the five-year loan at a "very favorable rate."

The notes, being sold by Deutsche Bank of Frankfurt, West Germany, bear interest at 8¼ per cent and are going at par instead of the 99.5 per cent solicitated when the loan was negotiated.

Ontario government officials declined to estimate how much money will be saved by resorting to the European market but a $75,000,000 Ontario Hydro bond issue recently placed on the U.S. market sold at only 99.5 despite a 7¼-per-cent interest rate, for an effective rate to investors of 7.16 per cent.

'Dr. Zhivago' Loses at Bridge To Canadians

TORONTO (CP)— A team of Canadian bridge players Thursday beat an international team led by Omar Sharif, star of the film Dr. Zhivago.

After 24 hands, the Canadian team led Mr. Sharif's Bridge Circus—which includes world and Olympiad champion Giorgio Belladonna of Italy—by five international match points to three.

This represents a spread of two victory points over the four matches to be played.

The Canadian team was made up of four international bridge players from Toronto —Bruce Gowdy, P.E. Sheely Sheardown, Bruce Elliot and Sammy Kehela.

Millionaire Is Convicted In Stock Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Multimillionaire Louis E. Wolfson was convicted Thursday on federal charges growing out of a stock deal. Three associates also were found guilty.

The 55-year-old financier currently is applying a federal sentence of one year and a $100,000 fine in another stock case. The current conviction makes him liable to up to 14 additional years in prison and a $35,000 fine.

Wolfson, son of an immigrant junk dealer, made his first million by the age of 30 and his personal fortune has been estimated up to $100,000,000.

An outgrowth of a stock deal involving Merritt-Chapman and Scott, a construction firm, that led to Wolfson's current conviction on charges of perjury and obstructing justice.

Convicted with him were Ukhin B. Gerbert, of Jacksonville, Fla., a Merritt-Chapman director; Marshall G. Staub of New York, president of the company, and Joseph Konow, whose Boston investing firm was acquired in 1962 by Merritt-Chapman.

Students Plan to Strike

TORONTO (CP) — The University of Toronto student council president has prepared a plan that will have students steeling themselves in the first term this September for a strike in January.

In a 29-page document, Steven Langdon has outlined a campaign to prepare students for a mid-year attempt at gaining more power for the student body.

Quebec Pollution Laws Are Called Inadequate

STANSTEAD, Que. (CP) — Quebec's existing water pollution legislation is totally inadequate to meet the growing pollution problem, a provincial government official said Thursday.

Michel Slivitsky, director-general of the water resources branch of the department of natural resources, attacked present laws as outmoded and incapable of curing mammoth pollution difficulties in the province.

"The basis of our legislation is not at all on the level of our century," he said. "Most of it is at least 30 or 40 years old."

Mr. Slivitsky's comments came during a panel discussion at the final session of a two-day pollution conference sponsored by the McGill University Geography Summer School.

He blamed the general public for failing to realize that water is a natural resource and said the existing fragmentation of responsibility for pollution control hampers effective action.

"We have a number of government agencies interested in preserving water, and each one of them has some responsibility in one field or another which prevents others from doing their jobs properly."

Mr. Slivitsky said some progress is being made in unassailing jurisdictional disputes. Soon announcement could be expected within the next six months from the natural resources department, which was meeting with municipalities and other cabinet agencies in an effort to do something about the problem.

Blake and Provost Finish Penalty - killing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former coach Hector (Toe) Blake and player Claude Provost of the National Hockey League champion Montreal Canadiens were acquitted Thursday of a charge they assaulted a fan last Nov. 19.

Superior Court Judge Joseph A. Sprankle Jr. made the ruling. He cited conflicting testimony as to who was the aggressor in the fight during which Bernie Weisman, 36, was injured.

Witnesses testified Weisman had been heckling Blake during a game in the Los Angeles Sports Arena between the Canadiens and Los Angeles Kings.

Blake, 54, and Provost, 34, were on trial before a jury of four women and eight men on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon-hockey sticks.

Judge Sprankle told the jury: "As I review the case, it is clear to me that the conflict is so great that even in the rare case of judgment of conviction, I would have to set it aside because it wouldn't stand on appeal."

Weisman, of Northridge, Calif., and Margaret Ottens of Granada Hills filed a $655,000 damage suit against Blake and Provost, the Canadiens, the company which owns the team and the National Hockey League.

Commenting on the criminal action, Judge Sprankle said:

"I view of the numerous witnesses on behalf of the defence to indicate Mr. Weisman was the aggressor, leaning into the players box and taking pokes at the coach, that the action could very well be interpreted as defensive for the coach."

Blake, who retired as coach after last season, commented: "I feel very relieved."

Prosecution witnesses contended Blake started the fight and one said he saw the coach hit Weisman on the head with a hockey stick. Defence witnesses claimed Weisman started the fight.

Sports Editor

The proverbial flip side of the "soccer-neurotisms" syndrome, has been played for us by Peter Cowtis, manager of the city's popular Pacemo bicycle club.

Long associated with the sport, Peter is quick to point out that the clutch-published soccer delusions involving fans, players, and officials are often not matched in media space by the corresponding disciplinary measures.

A Kingston player has just been banned "from all aspects of soccer for life." Peter informs us, as a result of his conduct in a match played July 28.

The player, who had previously been the recipient of a three-year suspension by the district soccer group, reportedly attacked a referee AFTER the game, pounding and kicking him.

For pushing the referee earlier in the same game, a team-mate was awarded a three-game suspension and $25 fine, and placed on probation for one year.

And a player of the opposing team another Kingside entry — was fined $5 for arguing with the referee, and subsequently being ejected.

We might provide Peter with a little extra ammunition for his well-founded comment on the potential severity of soccer discipline: those two Windsor elevens that became involved in a recent Sunday afternoon fan-player fracas have each been fined $1,000 by the Essex-Kent Soccer League's disciplinary committee.

We're less impressed with some of Peter's reasoning as to why soccer temper flare-ups can be so troublesome. Among the contributing factors he lists "the strain of emotional pressure," "20-90-degree game temperatures," easy accessibility of playing fields to spectators, body contact between players, and the fact there are "always fanatics around."

We suggest soccer players are no more susceptible — for any of these reasons — to outbursts of misconduct than participants in many other sports.

But there is reason to concur with Mr. Cowtis's notion that soccer's most vulnerable asset — its international popularity — could, at the same time, be largely responsible for its liabilities.

It shouldn't surprise one to read that the "Italia" and "Yestools" teams of Windsor hosted a disorderly, knockout home soccer-ball pride could add fuel to the already fierce flames of competition. Just be grateful he wasn't a West Ryth — "Sons of Allah" encounter.

If anyone's come up with some sort of solution to the dilemma, it's Mr. Cowtis's own Pacemo club.

At present the club's roster includes players of English, Scottish, Italian, German, Hungarian, Greek, Portuguese, Dutch, and "Canadian" descent.

They get by with a manager where some folks need a secretary-general!

Kelleher Back

A Joyce Vocal for Kingston

The Cricket Field at Kingston will resound to the familiar cry of "That's the way to go, Ole' Timer!" on Sunday when the Joyces meet Kingston in the fourth game of their senior EOBA playdown series.

Yes, you guessed it. Al Kelleher is coming back. The big, craggy, colorful "retired" coach of the Joyces has decided he has too much time on his hands these days . . . and besides, the team needs him, so he'll take up his familiar position on the third-base line and in the dugout for the remainder of the season.

The Joyces need a win Sunday to square the best of seven set. In the opening game last Saturday at Kingston, the Joyces took their only win, 8-5, over the Centennials. In two games here, the Centennials bounced back with a 6-4 win Sunday, then made it two straight with a 5-1 win Wednesday.

"We've really needed Al back," said player-coach Gary Goyer. "We need a 'holler' guy out there on the sidelines. I'm playing a new position this year, shortstop, and that's enough, let alone trying to coach the team. I can't be everywhere and watch everything going on without my position suffering.

"We need someone on the baselines, Patty Assenline, the other playing coach, and myself have been working on Al ever since he left and now that he has more time, why . . . he just can't keep away from the diamond."

Another challenge to the Centennials' 2-1 lead in the playdowns will be Bill Latchford, "Latch", who didn't expect to see his teammates until after the first round against Kingston, will probably be coming down from his summer teachers' course in Ottawa to face the Kingston nine Sunday.

"He's got transportation," Goyer said, "and we need him for this one. With both Al and 'Latch' back, there should be some big changes in the results of this game as compared to our last two."

Al Kelleher — at 6-0 the winningest EOBA pitcher — should be a big boost for the Joyces Sunday, Goyer said. "But Al will make a big difference too.

"We've been beating ourselves with foolish mistakes," the shortstop explained. "Little things — mental mistakes — that you really can't see. But Al will make the differences there. We're really back in the ball game now," he laughter, "and Kingston will be the first to notice the difference!"

Commercial Play

Cheesemen Jam 2nd As Schedule Nears End

Black Diamond moved into a three-way tie in the Commercial Softball league's second spot last night with a 9-1 victory over Brants while rain ended the 4-3 Belvedere-Stinsons game that could have broken the tie.

With Stinsons, Black Diamond and City Hotel all sitting at 20 points behind Belvedere's 22, Stinsons could have taken sole possession of second place with a win. But the rain made it just speculation until the game is rescheduled.

Benny Holoway pitched for Black Diamond and collected the win by allowing only one run on six hits and two walks while striking out 10.

Both Brants and Black Diamond bobbled the ball twice. Mark Sheridan toed the slab for Brants. He struck out five, walked four, and allowed three runs on six hits.

Brants left eight men on while the winners' stranded seven base-runners.

Black Diamond won three of their five games against last-place Brants this season.

Brian Smith scored the first run for the winners in the second as he singled, then moved to third on passed ball and came in when second baseman Gary Genereaux teamed up with Jim Parks to put Jack Gilbey out at first.

The winners added two runs in the third on a series of four hits and two Brant errors.

Top hitter for Black Diamond was outfielder Rick Steward with two singles. Gene Francis, Dwight Rathwell, Wayne McTaggart and Brian Smith contributed safeties.

Brant hitters were Jim Parks with a single and a triple, Al Colden with a double, and Wayne Bunnett, John Smith, and Hill Cannons with singles.

Line score:

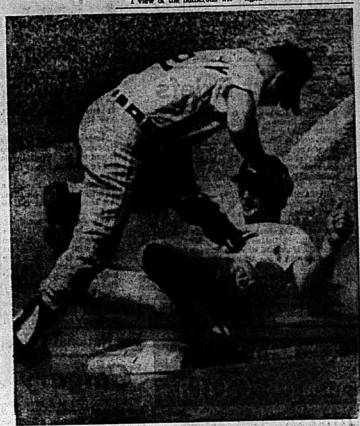
Brants	001 000 0 - 1 6 2
Blk. Diam.	013 000 x - 9 8 2

In the three-inning contest with Belvedere, Stinsons tried to break the three-way tie for second place behind pitcher Scotty Reid, but only succeeded in collecting three runs in the first and second innings to the league leaders' four in the first.

Doug Ellis did the pitching for Belvedere, allowing three runs on three hits and two Belvedere errors. He walked two and struck out three before the rains came.

Reid allowed four runs on three hits and one Stinson error. He walked one and struck out three.

Among the hits washed out were Don Smith's homer for Belvedere and singles by Hotaling, Doug Ellis and Gary Gow.



Ken Genereaux led Stinsons with a double while Lyle Thompson and Jim Sopha had singles that floated away with the rains.

Line score:

Belvedere	400 - 4 3 2
Stinsons	210 - 3 2 1

Pacers to Clash

Consecon: A 2-Horse Town

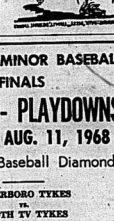
Variety continues to keep pace with spectator interest at the weekly fairgrounds harness-racing sessions, with this Saturday night's novelty being a match race between a pair of Consecon pacers.

Following the sixth heat on the nine-race card, harness racing will get to see a two-way duel between two sons of Yankee chief — Cam. Wanbansheen R. Yankee Wann and Redg. Bolly's J. J. Wann.

The Consecon owner-drivers will trade sulkies in the match race, designed to test their mettle after a 30-day layoff from racing on the big-time circuits.

R. Yankee Wann — a five-year-old — paced a 2:02.2 mile at St. Catherines' Garden City Raceway, and eight-year-old "J. J." has a 2:08.4 to his credit, but neither is expected to match those performances tomorrow night at Fairgrounds after a month's layoff from the circuit.

The owners, who hope to qualify their horses for Toronto and Batavia cards, expect Saturday's match heat to be run around the 2:08 mark, a full two seconds under the best heat turned in by either horse in the barnyards.



Other attractions on tomorrow's 60-horse card include: an appearance by Josta Tom last weekend's winner of the Hiram Walker Stake in Kingston with a 2:10 heat; first Canadian start by Blaze Haven, owned by Kingston's Jack Morehouse, after qualifying in Vernon Downs south of the border; and first Belleville appearances for at least seven other pacers.

Mayor's Assist

Drapeau Clears Some Franchise Fog

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal got encouraging news on baseball situation here Thursday night when it was announced the city has reached an agreement on the site of a temporary stadium with sponsors of the proposed National League team.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau emerged from a four-hour meeting with sponsors, city officials and a high-ranking baseball representative and issued a brief one-minute statement to waiting reporters.

"After many hours of meetings I am pleased to inform everyone that we have succeeded in reaching a formula of agreement feasible to both parties," the mayor said.

He said the agreement "includes the use of Jarry Park stadium," a huge city-owned and operated park.

"The city will bring the stadium up to National League standards," Mayor Drapeau said in his hand-written statement.

He closed his brief statement by saying that further information will be made public "during the coming week."

Before making his speech, the mayor insisted that neither he nor anyone connected with Thursday night's meeting be asked any questions following his statement.

Sitting in on Thursday's meeting along with the mayor were Georges Mantha, director of Montreal's parks and playgrounds; Charles Bronfman, Sidney Maislin and Lorne Webster, sponsors of the proposed club; Gerry Snyder, vice-chairman of the city's executive committee; and John McHale, administrator in baseball commissioner William D. Eckert's office.

Warren Giles, president of the National League who attended all-day meetings at city hall Wednesday, visited Jarry Park Wednesday night with McHale and Mayor Drapeau and returned to New York early Thursday morning.

Dozen Chances

McLain Aims for 30, Keeps Tigers Up Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Many great pitchers have tried to climb toward the coveted 30-victory season in the last 34 years and all have stumbled. Now along comes Denny McLain.

The 24-year-old Detroit Tigers righthander took the 22rd step toward the top Thursday night and he shows no sign of faltering.

McLain breezed through a six-hitter behind a 15-hit attack that buried Cleveland 13-1 for his fifth straight victory.

With 50 games remaining, McLain has about 12 more starts to take those last seven steps, since the Tigers are counting on to help them wrap up the American League pennant. No. 23 retained Detroit's 6½-game lead over Baltimore.

The Orioles kept pace by belting four home runs that ruined Minnesota 10-3 for challenging Baltimore's ninth victory in 11 games games.

In other games, Ray Culp and Boston flipped Chicago White Sox 1-0, Washington slugged California 7-4 and Oakland bounced New York Yankees 6-4.

The last pitcher in the league to win 30 games was Dizzy Dean in 1934. Dean added 28 in 1935 and since then many have come close.

Hal Newhouser won 29 one season, Robin Roberts won 28, Bucky Walters, Rudy York and Don Newcombe, Dizzy Trout and Bob Feller each won 27 and Carl Hubbell had 26.

McLain, who has lost only three times, seems to have a good chance to succeed where they failed. Along with a heavy-hitting club behind him, he has been almost unbeatable on the mound.

Bill Freehan supplied most of the punch, belting out a three-run homer in a six-run third inning and a two-run single in the ninth, and adding a solo blast, his 16th, in the eighth as Detroit swept the four-game set.

Allen Hits 23rd

Phillies Put Dodgers Down on One Hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strategically speaking, it wasn't the best of nights for manager Harry Walker and Dave Bristol. But there was no strategy in the world Walt Alston could use against Rick Wise and Rich Allen.

Wise pitched a brilliant one-hitter and Allen's 23rd homer gave Philadelphia a 1-0 victory over Los Angeles Thursday night. There was little Dodger Manager Alston could do about it.

But a bit of Walker's management maneuvering backfired as Pittsburgh beat Houston 4-3, and St. Louis shaded Cincinnati 1-0, collecting as many hits in one inning off Bristol's relief pitcher as they had in nine starter innings.

In the only other National League game Thursday, Chicago's Bill Hands shut out Atlanta 4-0.

Wise squared his record at 8-8, allowing only a bad-hop single by Bart Shirley in the third inning. The young right-hander struck out five.

Bill Singer matched aces with Wise until the ninth when Allen opened with his 23rd homer, a long shot that landed in the centre field pavilion at Dodger Stadium.

Unlike Alston, Walker had a fighting chance against the Pirates. Houston and Pittsburgh were tied at 3-3 in the ninth when Matty Alou walked with one out. After Fred Patek, who had homered earlier, struck out, Alou raced to second on a wild pitch.

Now Walker decided to walk Roberto Clemente, who has batted in 36 runs this season, and pitched instead to Donn Clendenon, who had 55 RBI.

Clendenon responded with a run-scoring single, breaking the tie and giving reliever Ron Kline his ninth victory in 10 decisions.

Ray Washburn of St. Louis and Tony Cloninger of Cincinnati locked up in a brilliant pitching duel, matching two-hit shutouts over the first nine innings.

The Reds rallied in the 10th with Johnny Bench and Tony Perez striking consecutive one-out singles. After Tommy Helms popped up, Washburn got Mack Jones on a fly ball, ending the threat.

Bristol, figuring Cloninger had gone far enough, brought on Clay Carroll. The Cards went down in the 10th but won it in the next inning when Bobby Tolan singled with one out and raced all the way home on Roger Maris' double.

Joe Hoerner, who took over for Washburn after the tough 10th, got credit for the victory and Carroll took the loss.

Bill Williams drove in two of Chicago's runs and Hands raced his 13th game with a three-hitter over the Braves.

KNUDSON'S WORLD of GOLF

AKRON, Ohio — Last week I talked about picking winners at tournaments and how the fellow coming off the pace on the final day has the best chance.

But if you're trying to pick a holeout in the American Golf Classic American Golf Classic here this week, don't bet Al Geiberger.

Look at his record on this Firestone course. He won it the last two years and last year he teamed up with Dave Stockton on the same course to win the CBS match championship.

Why does Geiberger play so well at Firestone? Well, this kid's the longest, most demanding course in North America. Assess his talents: He stands six feet, two inches, has very sound mechanics, good stance, good grip, good balance, and most of all, rhythm.

Al hits every club in his bag with ease. When he's hitting a two-iron, it's as if he were hitting a nine-iron. He's gracefully fluid—and it hasn't a thing to do with the fact that he's one of my colleagues on the Spalding Advisory Staff and uses their equipment.

If you've got the winners, pick a golfer whose game suits the particular course: Jack Nicklaus at the Masters, Arnold Palmer—the best in the business at hitting long, high drives—on a U.S. Open course, Geiberger here.

My course? Well, I would like to think that Fort Worth's Colonial is the course best suited to my game.

That's where I get my kicks and enjoy playing most. I don't think Nicklaus would win here—too long to be as straight as the course demands.

Al doesn't have the desire of a Palmer or the strength of a Nicklaus, but when it comes to hitting a ball, he rates very, very high.

For National Title

Calgary Amateur Leads Field

EDMONTON (CP) — A late drive fell short Thursday giving Calgary's Keith Alexander a 2-up decision over defending champion Stuart Jones of Hastings, N.Z., in a first-round match in the Canadian amateur golf championships.

Down three with five holes to go, Jones started his charge on 14 with a birdie putt of 15 feet to narrow the margin. He ran in another birdie on 17 and stood on the 18th tee trailing by one.

But both were on the green and three feet from the pin in three, and a half was no good to Jones. And he failed in that when he pulled his little putt.

The match was the highlight of the first round of match play at the tournament because both players are veterans of international competition.

Jones, six-time New Zealand amateur champion, has played on 13 international teams for his country. Alexander, who won the amateur in 1960, has played for Canada 11 times.

Afterwards, both players discussed tournament pressure.

"It comes fast in match play," said Alexander, "because one thing can get a player fired up more than in medal play."

"When Sid rolled in that putt on 14 I could see that it picked him up by the bootstraps."

"What does Alexander do when the pressure is on?

"I take a leaf from Jack Nicklaus and try to turn the pressure in my favor. One way to do that is to tell myself that I'm good enough to handle it. If I weren't good enough, didn't have the shots, I wouldn't be here.

"Also, I'm here because I enjoy it. It's a game and pressure is part of it and I like it. It's part of being a competitor."

Alexander felt he was steering some of his irons and hit "three really bad long irons today."

So he went out to the practice fairway after leaving the course.

"There. That's what I've got to do on the course. Release it like that."

Alexander started slowly this season, and just now is reaching the form he usually displays.

"I've hitting lots of good shots, but I'm also hitting too many bad ones. But I feel as though I'm on the edge. When I get there, I'll be able to say to hell with the rest of you guys."

Jones attributed his loss to lack of competition before coming to Canada. He hadn't played in a tournament since May.

In other key first round matches, Jim Doyle, the medalist from Winnipeg, trimmed Duncan Stockwell of Edmonton 7 and 6; Doug Silverberg of Calgary easily disposed of James Smith of Clarence, N.Y., 6 and 5; Laurie Scott of Edmonton shaded John Ellison of Toronto 2 up; Bob Wylie of Calgary bounced Joey Buchan of Edmonton 6 and 4; Rick Wooley of Calgary upset former champion John Johnston of Vancouver 1 up, and Gary Cowan of Kitchener defeated James Metcalfe of Edmonton 5 and 4.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is getting married soon, and we are trying to plan the wedding reception. The bride's parents are divorced, and they both want to give the reception in their homes. Neither one will consider giving the reception in a hall. Can you help us?

DEAR PERPLEXED: Yes. Tell them that you've changed your mind and you're giving the reception in a hall.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-year-old girl who has been going steady with a boy for a year. He's a year older than I am. He's a nice boy, but he's not very popular with the girls. I'm very popular with the boys, and I have to fight them off. I'm not bragging, I'm just telling you the facts.

My problem is, I'm afraid my boyfriend will get jealous and break up with me. I don't want to lose him, but I don't want to stop having fun with the other boys, either. What should I do?

DEAR GIRL: Stop having fun with the other boys.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-year-old girl who has been going steady with a boy for a year. He's a year older than I am. He's a nice boy, but he's not very popular with the girls. I'm very popular with the boys, and I have to fight them off. I'm not bragging, I'm just telling you the facts.

My problem is, I'm afraid my boyfriend will get jealous and break up with me. I don't want to lose him, but I don't want to stop having fun with the other boys, either. What should I do?

DEAR GIRL: Stop having fun with the other boys.

Trudeau Attends Festival

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau, wearing a polka dot and crimson ascot, drew a standing ovation when he arrived at the Festival Theatre Thursday night to see a production of Romeo and Juliet.

He arrived here Thursday for a weekend visit which was to include a formal reception and viewing of three plays before leaving for Ottawa sun day.

About 2,000 persons, a near-sellout audience, applauded Mr. Trudeau as he arrived for the performance, delayed about 18 minutes because of the prime minister's late schedule. Outside the theatre, about 1,000 others greeted him when he arrived at the theatre.

Michel Vennat, executive assistant to Mr. Trudeau, said the prime minister had planned the visit for several weeks but declined it until the national postal strike ended. Final arrangements were made hastily Thursday.

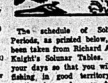
Revolt Still Brewing



NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for the Professional Golfers Association and the disgruntled touring professionals went into a huddle again Thursday in an effort to resolve differences that might avert a complete breakaway of the top players.

An immediate settlement was not in sight.

One of the possible outcomes is an independent operation of the $5,000,000 tour by the players.

The tournament pros have suggested that amendments be made to the constitution which would permit the players to organize as a separate section of the PGA, running their own tournament affairs with no veto power hanging over their heads from the PGA.

If there is a break, it probably would take place at the beginning of next year. Most of the top names in the game could be expected to join any breakaway, but there is some question about what steps the sponsors, who put the money, might take.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from Richard Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Remember days as that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface types. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Eastern Daylight Saving time. Dates: Aug. 10 - 18.

Sterilization Is Often Regretted

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 23, have one daughter, and am expecting another child in six weeks.

My husband and I don't want any more children. I've asked my obstetrician to sterilize me and he refused. The Planned Parenthood Association said they don't do sterilizing.

Everybody is hollering about the population explosion, but when a married woman who has two children wants to be sterilized it is as difficult as getting to the moon. — Mrs. W. D.

If you'd seen as many letters as I have, starting out, "I had my tubes tied several years ago, but now I am married again and we so much want another baby," you'd know why doctors don't regard sterilization as lightly as you do.

So talk to your obstetrician, or to Planned Parenthood about some other form of contraception.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you discuss fistulas? A friend thinks she has one but is hesitant about seeking medical assistance. — M. L.

I assume you mean a rectal or anal fistula—an extra and abnormal opening. These can be a nuisance, painful, and, in worst of all, subject to infection which of course can be dangerous.

I'd suggest getting for your friend a copy of my booklet, The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids, which also has a section on fistulas and anal infection. For a copy, send 40 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Is psoriasis contagious? How does it start in the first place? Is there any cure or treatment for it? — M. A. G.

It is not contagious, but no one knows what causes it. And to cover what causes it. And that is why it has been impossible to find a cure.

I do not mean that it is never cured. (And sometimes it goes away spontaneously, and again we don't know why.) Sometimes one treatment works and another won't.

Sometimes no treatment succeeds.

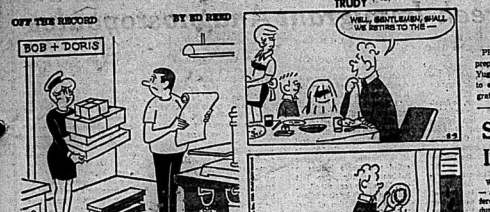
My advice to most people with psoriasis, unless the case is extremely annoying or painful, is to live with it and not worry with the expense of trying different treatments is to help your doctor prescribe an ointment that will soften the skin and prevent itching and scaling, and then be satisfied with comfort instead of cure. After all, except for the itch and the appearance, psoriasis isn't a dangerous disease.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I am one of those persons who can't take Aspirin as we have been taking a quinine preparation. Now I notice that it has a new formula containing salicylamide and have hesitated about taking it.

Where can I obtain an identification to wear to the effect that I cannot take Aspirin? — Mrs. M. S.

Salicylamide is not the same as aspirin (acetylsalicylic acid) and usually can be tolerated when aspirin cannot. It is present in many pain pills and is worth trying.



You can obtain a warning bracelet of some type or another from most jewelry counters and some drug stores. You can also obtain such symbols through Medic-Alert.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Can plastic surgery correct the "pouch face" condition caused by excessive use of cortisone? — W. B.

Plastic surgery won't help, but now that you are off cortisone the puffiness should subside eventually.

OFF THE RECORD — BY ED REED

Prague Ready to Welcome Tito

PRAGUE (AP) — Prague prepared a warm welcome for Yugoslav President Tito today to express Czechoslovakia's gratitude for his support against the Russians, Poles and East Germans.

Thousands of citizens were expected to set aside their usual weekend plans to cheer the 76-year-old apostle of independent communism who stuck by Czechoslovakia like-minded leaders during their recent showdown with the orthodox Communist regimes in Moscow, Warsaw and East Berlin.

Czech leaders were supported by Tito, the Rumanian Communist leaders who rebelled against Moscow's domination months ago, and the leaders of the French and Italian Communist parties.

This support and the fact that the Czech people were solidly behind their new leaders are believed to have been the decisive factors which produced the "live and let live" agreement at the Bratislava conference last weekend.

Prague newspapers prominently featured the recent declaration by Tito that he was ready to go "any time of the day or night and to any place" to support the Czechoslovak Communist party's new chief, Alexander Dubcek.

His statement came at the height of tension between Czechoslovakia and its "northern tier" allies in the Warsaw pact, when it appeared that the Soviets might use their troops to reverse Dubcek's program on liberal reforms and reinstate the ousted Stalinist president and party leader, Antonin Novotny.

Tito's trip to Prague had been scheduled three times during the last month but was postponed each time because of negotiations between the Czechoslovak leaders and the Moscow group. The idea was to leave the Russians some room to manoeuvre so that they could save as much face as possible.

The program for Tito's three-day visit has not been announced, but factories and institutions were vying with invitations for him to visit them, and numerous organizations asked him to receive delegations to present gifts or to express gratitude.

Striker Injured

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (CP) — A 19-year-old girl striker suffered minor head cuts Thursday during a stone-throwing fracas between union and non-union workers outside the strikebound North American Plastics Ltd. plant.

The girl, not identified, was struck by a piece of pipe.

Several cars were damaged and bus windows smashed before down and provincial police restored order.

Workers at the plant, members of Local 111, United Auto Workers, are demanding a closed shop, union security and a system of grievance procedures acceptable to the union. About 160 workers went on strike May 17.

Talents of Defeated Lost

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When Wendell Willkie lost the 1940 U.S. Presidential election to Franklin Roosevelt, a great many Americans (myself included) felt it was a pity for the obvious public talents of this man to go to waste. A dozen years later, the same was true of Adlai Stevenson, when he lost to Eisenhower.

Partisan politics aside, most reasonable citizens would agree that both these men were intelligent and high-principled figures with a real contribution to make toward clarifying the grave issues in the world. Yet both Willkie and Stevenson — among others — found themselves without a public platform when the elections were over.

This seems a short - sighted and shameful squandering of human resources. More than 20 years ago, I recommended that the Senate of the United States be expanded to include defeated presidential candidates as senators - at - large, who would represent not their states, but their parties, and the interests of the country as a whole.

These defeated candidates (as is done in many other nations) could then take their rightful places as the recognized leaders of their party, with a national voice and power to communicate with their previous positions as presidential nominees.

Over the years, I have talked with both Republicans and Democratic friends, who are more conversant with politics than I am, about this proposal. To all of them, it seems simple, sensible and fair — but legislative inertia is so great that it would take a generation or more before the system could or would accommodate this change.

This plan, however, would fill two needs that are lacking at present. The first is for an adequate sounding board for men like Willkie and Stevenson, who should not be dependent upon the regular party organization; and the second is for a group of senators who are not forced to respond to the sectional needs of their states, but can introduce and support legislation without regard for their special interests at home.

(An excellent recent example of this need, by the way, is the gun-control legislation which now has made election until the shocking assassination of Senator Kennedy, because many senators were politically responsive to their constituents, even though they personally felt that a gun-control bill should be passed. Senators at large would have no such conflicts between personal feelings and political expediency.)

The U.S. desperately needs more first - rate men in public office, and in public service. It simply cannot afford to retire a good man to private life because he is defeated in a presidential contest. If the Republicans or Democrats think a man is good enough to nominate for President, he ought to be good enough to deserve a seat, and a voice, in the Congress.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For August 10

Your birthday today: This year ahead is complex. The challenge is to exert leadership while holding on to material resources. Romance is not the main channel of personal expression this year. Today's natives tend to work better with a double role in their professions and make a good job of organizing new programs.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Private arrangements may off handsomely today. Seek to expand your opportunity for spiritual experience. Outings are favored. Come home early.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Your community comes alive if you are just aware of it. Gather old friends, share the little pleasures you enjoy.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Go bargain-hunting today. This is a good time to settle long-existing differences within the family or community.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Distant shores beckon. Begin a journey today for maximum results. The temptation is to encumber yourself with too much equipment.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Money seems easier to come by and even more easy to get rid of. Try to let some settle in your savings today. Find out if someone is giving a party to-night; if not, invite others in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Today can be happy if you let things unwind at their normal pace. Co-operate with those around you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 23): Today is the day to make better friends of important people. Find some graceful way of calling attention to what concerns you. Compare notes with old friends to-night, preferably at a musical event.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): If you are involved in a charity, now is the time to organize. Social activity will be lively. People you have not seen in a long while may pop in.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Politics and sociability tend to blend today. The temptation is to mistake one for the other. Present your views with dignity, but speak out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 20): Smooth talk and intrigue abound today. Enjoy the social opportunity, but be wary of people who have all the answers. Let your intuitions sort out the truth.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): A spending spree is about to burst on you; so get busy with your Budget. Accept social invitations this evening, but quit early.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Do something about finding a fresh and appealing side of yourself. New clothing might do it or a new hair-styling. Tonight enjoy diversion on the lively side.

Nixon's Spiro Agnew Son of Greek Immigrant Anagnostopoulos

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (CP) — Maryland Gov. Spiro Agnew, son of a Greek immigrant who changed his surname from Anagnostopoulos, capped a spectacular political career Thursday when he was named by Richard M. Nixon as his choice for vice-presidential running mate at the Nov. 5 U.S. presidential election.

A Democrat-turned-Republican, Agnew is 49, one of the youngest governors his state has ever had.

Born the son of a Greek restaurateur in Baltimore, Agnew reached adolescence during the depression years and frequently helped his family supplement its modest income with odd jobs after school.

He watched helplessly as his father's restaurant business failed and the elder Agnew was forced to eke out a living by hawking vegetables.

Graduating from a Baltimore public high school in 1941, he entered Johns Hopkins University as a chemistry major, but after three years decided that test tubes were just not his calling.

He transferred to the University of Baltimore night law school, taking a job with Maryland Casualty, an insurance company, to support himself.

It was while there that he met a secretary named Elinore Isabel (Judy) Judefind. Four months later they were engaged.

Their marriage was delayed, however, by the Second World War, and it was not until he graduated from officers candidate school at Fort Knox, Ky., in 1942 that the two were married.

Two years later, he was shipped overseas and saw action in France and Germany, including the Battle of the Bulge. He won four battle stars, the Bronze Star and the Combat Infantry Badge.

It was when he returned home in 1946 that he switched his registration from Democrat to Republican. But his father clung to the Democratic party until the younger Agnew was elected executive of populous Baltimore county on the Republican ticket in 1962.

Discharged from service in 1946, Agnew returned to law school and earned his degree a year later.

As his practice grew, he developed more links in civic activities. His first move into politics came as president of Loch Raven Community Council, a suburban improvement association. He moved up the municipal political ladder and in 1962 was elected to Baltimore County executive.

His stand there in favor of open housing—with no racial or ethnic restrictions on occupancy —helped him to victory over George P. Mahoney in a campaign for governor of Maryland in 1966.

Civil disturbances during the last two years have altered Agnew's stance on civil rights, although the governor insists that it is not he who has changed.

"I haven't changed," he told reporters recently. "I'm standing still, it's just that others are moving more to the left."

Although the tone changed gradually, it crystallized clearly at a meeting the governor called with Negro leaders in Baltimore shortly after that city, like others across the U.S., had been rocked by riots following the assassination of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

He charged that they did not speak out against what he called Negro racists because they were afraid.

"You were intimidated by veiled threats; you were strung by committees that you were Mr. Charlie's boy, by epithets like "Uncle Tom," he said.

Just a week ago, at his last press conference before he left for Miami, the governor said flatly that police officers should not hesitate to shoot looters who failed to heed commands to halt.

"If the general public gets used to the idea that as long as you can out-leg a police officer you can get away scot-free, the whole system of law and order will break down," he said.

Another leading backer of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination, Agnew privately was more than a little miffed when Rockefeller stated flatly in March that he would not accept the presidential nomination of his party.

And although the governor insisted until his public announcement for Nixon Monday that he still had not made up his mind, it was known privately that Nixon had suggested to him that he deliver the keynoting speech when the former vice-president dined with Agnew and state party leaders during Nixon's recent visit to Maryland three weeks ago.

Not So Kind as Simple Rape

'Non-status Women' Fair Game for Normal Men

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. . . . (CP) — "Non-status women," white or Indian, are considered fair game for normal, respectable men, the royal commission on the status of women was told today.

In a brief presented at the commission's one-day hearings in Yellowknife, Mrs. Agathe Isabelle Stonton-Smith said men learned unconsciously to differentiate between women on what is the status permits them to be abused and those whose social level does not.

Miss Assheton-Smith's brief was a plea for study of "rela, lively normal men, not deviates, destroying relatively n o r m a l women." It described two "case histories" of Indian women.

"I don't know exactly what happened to Esther at the . . . ," Miss Assheton-Smith said; "I am sure it involved sex, and quite sure it was not in the simple rape, and quite sure they were kept mercifully drunk most of the time. Whatever it was, it destroyed them."

She said one woman, "perhaps 30," is still living in a small town and hangs around hotel lobbies "often with her arm around four beer mugs." The woman was often in jail for a week or a month at a time.

"I asked some people who know her family what happened to her. Co. in Canada contributes but a nominal sum to the succession duty collections in Ontario."

He said the average dollar of Ontario wealth "meets succession duties" only once in every 270 years, proof that large accretions—or built-up industries —escape death taxes.

He said implementation of the Smith recommendations would "put larger foreign-owned accretions in a privileged position, to the determent of our own resources."

The select committee studying recommendations of the Miss Assheton-Smith said she stopped to pick up the other woman on a gravel road in northern Alberta on a bitter February day. The area was "boom country," full of oil crews and geophysical crews; the woman was poorly dressed, partly drunk and "like a woman in a state of shock."

She had said, "I should tell the police what those men did to me," but then said, "no, it does not matter."

The brief said such incidents cannot be explained away by blaming men. Boys were taught to distinguish between women eligible to become their wives and those not so eligible.

Another brief asked that a domestic service industry be encouraged by providing unemployment insurance and pension plans for household workers and by granting tax exemptions for all wages paid to them.

Alison McAteer, vice-president of the Yellowknife YWCA, said in an individual brief that despite an untilled demand for domestic assistants people were unwilling to enter the field because it lacks the prestige, minimum wage and fringe benefits of other jobs.

Mrs. McAteer's brief proposed special training courses for household personnel, classification and grading of their skills and commercial employment bureaus like those that supply part-time office workers.

The brief said a domestic service industry would benefit especially the young native girls in the north who lack experience to cope with the demands of secretarial or commercial jobs.

"With training in methods of operating a household and with d o m e s t i c service established as an industry, they would be much more free to pursue trained personnel . . . with dignity, without exploitation and without the danger of becoming social problems . . . in an atmosphere for which they are not suited," it said.

Another brief, presented by the Yellowknife chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, called for changes in laws affecting estate taxes and subsistence for deserted wives.

The businesswomen's fraternity also strongly recommended that household help be tax deductible as a business expense for income tax purposes.

The brief said the question of working wives "is purely a personal matter and should be left up to the needs and abilities of the individual."

The association said tax incentives would bring families to make permanent homes in the north and would help relieve high costs of housing, food and merchandise caused by high transportation costs.

Texts of the briefs were released at Ottawa.

Sunday School Lesson

Restored Foundations

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

On June 8, 1967, Jordanian resistance collapsed and Israeli troops captured the Jordanian half of the city of Jerusalem. Rabbi Schlomo Goren, dressed in an army Chaplain's uniform, stood in the Mandelbaum gate and blew the shofar, or ram's horn, to signify that Jews were now free to pass over into the captured part of the city. For the first time in 19 years, Jews were free to go to the ancient wailing wall, believed to have been a part of the temple destroyed by the Romans in 70 AD, and pray. The devout put on their prayer shawls as young and old went to the ancient wall to pray. Tears of joy rained down their cheeks, especially those of the older men, as they wept and thanked God for the victory and the restored privilege of worshipping at this sacred spot.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 11: "Exiles Return Home," Ezra. 1: 2; 3.

The deep emotion of those who wept and prayed together in those historic moments recalls a similar experience of bereavement and emotion centuries earlier at the same site. Granted permission by Cyrus, the king of Persia, to return to their homeland, many exiled Jews made the long trek back to Jerusalem. There on the site of the temple destroyed by the Chaldean army, an altar was erected and old sacrifices were offered. Later, the foundation for a new temple was laid. As the people gathered to dedicate the new foundation, those who remembered the glories of Solomon's temple wept unashamedly at the prospect of a new temple to be built on Mt. Zion. (Ezra 3:12)

Cyrus, the Persian, just has to be one of the most magnanimous monarchs in ancient times. One of his first acts after conquering the Chaldeans, who a generation earlier had conquered Judah, was to permit the Jewish exiles to return to their homeland so they could rebuild their temple in Jerusalem. He even returned to them all the precious gold and silver vessels that had been stolen from the temple by Nebuchadnezzar's army. (Ezra 1:1)

The reaction of those who heard they were free to return to their homeland would be hard to imagine. Only the young ones who had been born in exile, it was a glorious adventure. But to the old who had gone through the bitter ordeal of defeat and forced exile, it was a time of mixed emotions. As they carried the precious vessels back toward Jerusalem, they saw in their minds' eye a new temple standing where they had gone in their youth to worship.

Three things were restored to those who returned to Jerusalem. First, the vessels stolen from the temple were restored to their possession. The ancient historian says, "These were the stolen vessels restored to the Jews (Ezra 1:11) These vessels had held water for washing. They had held the blood of sacrifices. In many ways, they were reminders of the faith of Israel. Once again they were visible symbols of the hope that lay in the hearts of the Jewish people.

Every great faith or movement has its symbols. There have been those in our day who would desecrate the flag. Others by their actions would desecrate the wedding ring. The time has come to restore the flag as a cherished position in the hearts of all. The time has come when a new emphasis needs to be laid on the importance of the marriage vows. Flags and wedding rings are only visible reminders, but they as well as all other symbols, remind people of the importance of the values for which they stand.

The second thing restored was an altar on the site of the ancient temple. There Joshua and his fellow priests offered sacrifice on behalf of the people. (Ezra 3:2) For millions of people, the importance of worship needs to be restored in our time. Perhaps there would be less crime in the streets if there were more restored family altars in homes where children need to be taught the basic truths of God.

Finally, the foundations of the temple were restored. (Ezra 3:10-13) Before the temple could be built, a foundation had to be laid strong enough to hold the superstructure when it was built.

Each person will have his own list of the foundations that need to be restored in our day. Surely there is need for a restored recognition of the truth of the ten commandments. Respect for law and order needs to be restored. Respect for the individual, regardless of his race needs to be restored. Only as the foundations are right can a superstructure of peace and good-will be built.

Peterborough Economist Calls For Progressive Estates Tax

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Economist Wallace Beaton of Peterborough called Thursday for a progressive succession tax to ensure that all the wealth existing in Ontario is taxed.

"As more and more Ontario industry becomes foreign-owned, succession duties now imposed on a smaller proportion of our corporate wealth," he told the legislature's select committee studying provincial taxation.

"As a simple example, the great wealth of the Ford Motor Co. in Canada contributes but a nominal sum to the succession duty collections in Ontario."

He said the average dollar of Ontario wealth "meets succession duties" only once in every 270 years, proof that large accretions—or built-up industries —escape death taxes.

He said implementation of the Smith recommendations would "put larger foreign-owned accretions in a privileged position, to the determent of our own resources."

The select committee studying recommendations of the Smith committee on Ontario taxation, commissioned by the province and headed by Toronto accountant Lancelot Smith, spent five hours questioning persons presenting half a dozen briefs in Peterborough.

The committee, completing a week-long tour through eastern Ontario, is due to report to the government Sept. 17. It will spend next week in western Ontario.

Briefs were submitted Thursday by the city of Oshawa, Hastings and Victoria counties, the village of Marmora and by professional engineer A. K. Ip of Peterborough.

Glen Hodgson, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Victoria-Haliburton, proposed a capital gains tax on land sales, administered by the province, with a municipality getting back a portion of the money it spent on facilities that raised the value of the land in the first place.

Mr. Hodgson said the value of cottage and farm lands have increased due largely to municipal spending on roads and other services.

Mr. Ip told the committee that homeowners should be able to lend their basic shelter exemption grant back to the province without paying income tax on the resulting interest.

Mariposa Festival Opens Tonight

TORONTO (CP) — When Joni Mitchell sings of peace in the year of the eighth annual Mariposa Folk Festival, it will be a landmark for her and Tom Bishop, the festival's president.

The slim, 25-year-old singer from Fort MacLeod, Alta., is having her biggest year as a writing and recording artist. And she began it all at the Mariposa four years ago.

She has returned every year since, she says, "because I like the festival and the good crowds."

Charges Filed

BLENHEIM, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Labor Department Thursday filed charges against W. G. Thomson Ltd., grain handlers, in connection with the May 27 deaths of two company workers.

The workers, both 18, suffocated in eight feet of loose corn.

The firm is charged with permitting the youths to enter a silo unaccompanied by a person who could render assistance if with failure, according to provide safety equipment.

Blenheim is about 18 miles southeast of Chatham.

For Tom Bishop, the three-day Mariposa has come a long way from the uncertain days following the 1963 debacle at Orillia. At that time motorcyclists caused such a disturbance that the festival was forced to seek a new home. This is its first year on Centre Island in Toronto's harbor.

City council's decision to grant use of the popular island came as a surprise, Bishop said in an interview.

"We simply made the request. They approved it. There were practically no problems."

More than 110 performers have been lined up for the three-day affair ending Sunday.

Among those performing along with Joni Mitchell in the three evening concerts will be The Young Tradition from England, the Howling Wolf Blues Band and guitarist Mike Seeger from the United States. Among the Canadians are The Travellers, Jim McHarg's Metro Stompers, Oscar Brand, Murray McLauglin, Bonnie Dobson and Ohio-born guitarist David Rea, now living in Toronto.

Dief Likes Dick Nixon

OTTAWA (CP) — John Diefenbaker believes Canada-U.S. relations would improve if Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon wins the U.S. presidential election Nov. 5.

The former Conservative prime minister, whose term of office overlapped Mr. Nixon's vice-presidency by two years, said Thursday the Republican candidate is "a capable administrator with great experience in government and in international events."

President's Message
A Great Event

Many of us remember our first visit to Belleville Fair as children when the major attraction was the excitement of the midway rides and the once-a-year taste of cotton candy or old fashioned taffy. The years have come and gone, many changes have taken place, but still it seems that 'going to the fair' brings back that original thrill.

However, Belleville Fair has much more to offer than a midway. The Fair has changed, too. It's bigger than ever before. It offers the citizens of this community more in every way. It is at the same time entertaining, exciting and educational.

For the first time in many years, Belleville Fair is able to offer exhibitors and the public new facilities. During the year past, two of the oldest buildings on the grounds were demolished having served their purpose for over three generations. In their place has risen a handsome new building that will now provide modern, fully serviced display space as well as permanent offices for the fair itself.

This is only one of the additions to the 1968 show. Other buildings have been completely renovated and dressed up to make being an exhibitor or a visitor a pleasant experience in every way.

Your board of directors was much concerned during the recent mail strike that entries of exhibits might be curtailed because exhibitors would not be able to make official applications. We are happy to say that our worries were unfounded. In fact, a good number of exhibitors drove hundreds of miles to pick up prize lists and to be certain that their entries could be received. We are all happy that major exhibitors throughout Ontario consider Belleville Fair a 'must' on their exhibition circuit.

Arranging this annual event is not an easy task. Many people give many hours of their time during the year and ask nothing in return. Their reward comes from seeing residents of the area pour through the gates when opening day arrives.

I am personally proud to have been chosen president of the Belleville Fair Board for 1968. The entire board is certain that this year's presentation is the finest we have ever had. We hope you will come and see for yourself.

Things Have Changed But Not Fair Prices

Inflation hasn't hit everything. A Belleville Fair ticket of 1879 owned by Ray Post of Stirling, recalls the "Good Old Days."

Before the turn of the century when the price of a picture show was 5 cents, the admission to the Belleville Fair was 75 cents . . . for adults.

When the Belleville Fair opens on Tuesday the admission for adults will be $1, a small increase by comparison in three score years and 10 of continuous annual operation.

Ontario Dirt Track Title At Stake at Fair Aug. 16

The eighth annual Ontario championship dirt track race held in conjunction with the Belleville Fair is very important to two of Canada's outstanding motorbike riders.

For national champion Yvon Duhamel of Montreal looking hard for laurels and prize money it's more of a chance to retain prestige. He won the national championship here last year.

However, while Duhamel is still the Ontario champion for the half mile dash on two occasions this year Dave Sehl of Waterdown, Ont., has won races when the Montrealer had trouble with his machine.

The other day Duhamel sent word his racing equipment will be in perfect order for the main events here on Friday, August 16 which should make for one of the greatest duels between these two daredevil speedsters anytime anywhere.

One thing certain for those who thrill at watching dirt track competition the Duhamel-Sehl exhibitions always satisfay the customers. Their appearance this year under the circumstances described should provide double the value for the price of admission to the grandstand.

On the same card there are some 50 more junior, senior and expert riders to supply high strung action like the followers of the sport call for.

Fall Fairs

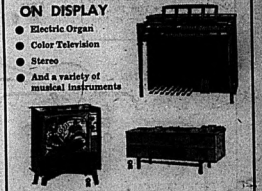
held at Niagara-on-the-Lake in 1792.

But even these dates do not reveal the origin of fairs. Their origin goes far back into the mists of antiquity. Dating from biblical times, they have been the focal point in the development of commerce in each civilization.



Prince Albert, the consort of the late Queen Victoria, promoted the first world's fair in Albert Hall, London, more than 100 years ago. Since that time world fairs have stimulated progress all over the world, the latest being Expo.

Thrill Show Is Always Top Attraction

Canada's top thrill attraction The Trans Canada Hell Drivers will be appearing at the Belleville Fair Thursday night, August 15th.

The thrill packed performance will include such classic high speed manoeuvres as the death defying divebomber crash and the spectacular ramp to ramp leaps of both an automobile and a motorcycle.

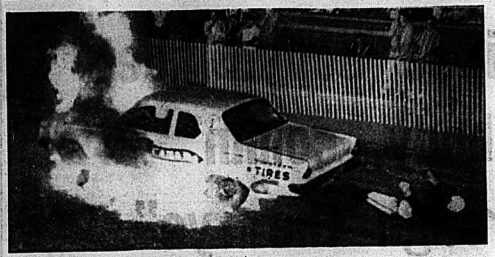
The highlight of the show is the aerial leap of an automobile — 70 feet through space.

The Trans Canada Hell Drivers also feature the aerial leap from ramp to ramp on a Motorcycle. This is executed by Walt Williams who is the holder of the 1965 world record of 51 feet.

The real eye popper of the show is the now famous hi-ski. Bill Williams, who has mastered this feat, is known throughout the thrill show world for his ability to take an automobile up on two wheels and hold it in position.

Bill also provides the comic relief for the star studded show. The clown routines throughout the performance are produced by Williams as Happy the Clown.

These are only a few of the thrill packed events that are presented in the performance of the Trans Canada Hell Drivers.



Roger Lucier of Montreal, specializes in crash events and is featured in the thrilling leap of an old automobile into the top of a second parked car.

This stunt is called the divebomber crash. Many of his escapes from the spectacular wrecks appear miraculous.

Ray Smith, one of the top announcers in Canada, is one of the most important men to the fans.

His rapid fire delivery and extensive knowledge of stunt driving manoeuvres keeps the audience abreast of the fast moving program.

Hot Pants at 70 MPH

This member of the Trans-Canada Helldrivers didn't fool around. He was dragged through a wall of flames while going upwards of 70 mph . . . one of the main attractions of the hell-drivers performance.

Dressy Parade

This parade participant from last year's fair went all out in authentic Indian costume. This years' parade is going to be even larger.

Fair Parade This Year Has Gained in Color

Longer, and noisier, the procession has been arranged to include the chief of the Mohawks and his council dressed in full ceremonial costume.

Parade marshal Art Corfield has set the time for the first entries to move off at 6:45 p.m.

Forming up of the various groups and individuals taking part is under the supervision of Angus Duffy.

The greatest number of western horses gathered together downtown at one time will lead the parade. The riders will be costumed in impressive regalia appropriate for the occasion.

Directing the procession as it winds through the business section enroute to the finale at the grandstand will be the parade marshal, mounted on the prize winning palomino Aces Golden Champion belonging to him.

Also riding in the parade in open cars will be the mayors of Belleville and Trenton, the fair board president Cameron Burnshi and Mrs. Bunnett, and other dignitaries from the city and the agricultural society.

Three bands, two from Trenton and one from Belleville, will provide the music along the route.

The route follows along from the No. 2 firehall on West Moira St., down Front St., to Bridge St., across the lower bridge and then to the fairgrounds to enter at the Bridge St. gate.

An added conveyance in the parade this year is a double-decker bus owned by Black Diamond Cheese. It is serving a twofold purpose as a distinctive means of transportation for former fair board presidents and their wives . . . joining in the procession as a group for the first time.

Old But Running

A real oldtime automobile goes putting along the street in the parade opening the Belleville Fair last year. There will be antique cars making the scene again this year.

Rows of Horses

Contestants in the Western games line up with their horses at last year's Belleville fair. Games included such tests of riding skill as the barrel race, pole bending and flag race.

Trophies Worthy Awards

Few trophies of such size and grandeur can be found in competition for two distinctly different classes of horsemanship excepting at the Belleville Fair.

The Bishop Seeds trophy, tall and elaborate, would arouse the envy of the owners of trained horses anywhere. It is the first prize for the best performance in the Gymkhana games for the championship of Eastern Ontario — a headliner of the exciting Western Day program on Wednesday.

The Black Diamond trophy, equally as extravagant in beauty and stature, stimulates the imagination of harness racers vieing for stake honors and reward on the last day of the Fair.

Archery Champ At Fair

Canada's Olympic hope in women's archery competition believes those who help themselves will be helped by others.

The Dominion titleholder needed no convincing when the Belleville Archery Club of which she is a member decided to feature her "know how" and excellence in shooting at the Belleville Fair for the full five days of the exhibition.

The club's undertaking is a fund raising project. The money collected is going to help finance Carol's proposed trip with the Canadian team vying for the Seattle Ambassador's Cup against the top US squad Labor Day weekend.

The club has acquired a 30's 15' space in the Fair Board's exhibition hall at the Curling Club for the purpose.

The club has invited the public to participate. Two targets will be used for a contest that costs 50c a shot. "We're not going to make it too difficult" said one of the sponsors who explained a bull's eye entitles a contestant to a ticket on a prize.

At the site of the demonstrations Carol and her husband Floyd along with other members of the Belleville club will appear from noon until late each night. They will give continuous demonstrations and supervise the contest entrants.

Club members in addition will dispense literature about archery, point out safety factors to be observed while answering questions relating to the various trophies and equipment being shown by the club.

Steer Show Aug. 13

The Hastings and Prince Edward Beef Improvement Association, in co-operation with the Fair Board is getting ready for another event.

This year, 45 steers are entered in the Quinte Steer Show and Sale which will be Tuesday Aug. 13 at 9 a.m.

This is looked at in the light of a practical demonstration in the feeding of steers.

The animals entered in the show and sale were chosen before April 15 of this year. The owners then put them on a 100 day feeding period starting May 1. The basic objective is to exhibit the best weight gain and finish in the prescribed feeding time.

Although junior exhibitors (ages 12 to 20) may show in an open weight class. Senior exhibitors have to enter their animals in weight classes of 900 pounds and under; and over 900 pounds.

Perhaps the most interesting part of this fair event is the fact that all animals must be sold immediately following the show and judging.

Weighing in takes place at 9 a.m. on the opening day of the fair, the show follows and the auction sale of the animals will be held at 11:30 a.m. in the cattle show ring.

NEW SPACE MYSTERY

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A Princeton University astrophysicist offered an explanation for the recently discovered radio signals from space. Dr. Jeremiah Ostriker said the signals may be high-energy disturbances coming from rapidly rotating dwarf stars and that the radio signals emitted from the disturbance could pulsate with the star's rotation.

Tuesday Children's Day

Tuesday is Children's Day at the Fair.

On Children's Day there are at least a dozen attractions reduced to 10 cents for the youngsters.

It's a great day for small fry. And the big brother, big sister, and the old folks do pretty well too.

For those who are still young at heart, "thrill rides" include the highest of all rides, the twisting, twirling Tilt-A-Whirl, the speedy Moon Rocket, the ever-popular Ferris Wheel, and the heart-palpitating Rolloplane.

The spinning, dipping Octopus cars, the Fly-yourself sensation, the Fly-A-Plane, and the eerie Ghost House will give out with plenty of action for most thrill seekers.

The Rolloplane and the new rides have all of the crazy mixed - up experiences in one.

And of course, let the Merry-go-round never be forgotten, whether you're eight or 80! With its powerful music, flashing lights and mirrors, and dashing mounts, every Fair must have one!

Belleville Swings On Saturday Night

Teenagers wherever you are — keep Saturday night Aug. 17 open.

What a party the Belleville Fair Board is giving for city and area swingers at the coliseum building at the fairgrounds.

The affair is shaping up as one of the liveliest, most stupendous teenage Saturday night get togethers on record, under the supervision of the energetic, responsible management of the YMCA's youth group known as the "Opus Teens."

The sounds (music) for making the coolest "Cats" unloosen and maybe unravel depending on the length of continuous participation is being supplied by two local groups with proven talents — the Sands of Time and the Apple Corps.

The master of ceremonies for the big show is popular Jim Wright of CJBQ.

The head of the Opus Teens committee making all the arrangements for the presentation is local youth Dale Soble.

Hog Show Prime Event

The 1968 Belleville Fair is one of three fairs in Ontario again selected by the Ontario Hog Producers' Association to conduct a special barrow hog show.

This special class, sponsored by the association, differs from other hog classes in that the animals must be sold for slaughter after judging is completed — and final prize monies are not determined until the dressed carcasses have been judged.

This stipulation plus the fact that the show is limited to exhibitors between the ages of ten and 20 years of age is intended to serve a two-fold purpose.

Through the barrow class, the association hopes to encourage more young farmers in the production of quality swine.

Entries are made in three divisions: lightweight division consisting of live hogs weighing 195 pounds or less; medium division, 196-204 pounds; and heavyweights, over 204 pounds.

When the hogs have been judged, the champion or reserve champion in each division is sold to the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board. It is then slaughtered, and the carcass once again judged to determine the grand champion carcass, the reserve grand, and other winners. Special awards are given in these divisions to the exhibitors.

4-H Clubs Integral Part of Fair

One of the important features of Belleville fair and other agricultural societies, is the 4-H Agriculture and homemaking clubs.

Across Ontario, last year, there were close to 22,000 individual rural young people participating in the 4H Club program conducted by the extension branch of the Ontario department of agriculture and food.

Belleville fair has an interesting junior program and at the fair visitors can see the farmers and homemakers of the future, better trained for their task, competing in various ways.

Bishop Seeds Trophy

The Bishop Seeds trophy, symbolic of the Eastern Ontario Gymkhana Games championship, needs two good men — Fair president Cameron Bunnett and parade marshal Art Corfield — to move it.

Fair Reached Pinnacle With Grade A Status

The Belleville Fair reached the pinnacle of accomplishment two years ago with accredited Class A status.

The reward was forthcoming after the directors of the Belleville Agricultural Society over the years continued to meet rigid high standards.

The Belleville Fair with a history dating back to 1821 has been recognized for some time as one of the finest agricultural exhibitions in Ontario.

In 70 years few things in the world have escaped change.

In most cases the tendency has been to increase costs.

On the other hand the management of the Belleville Fair was able to improve the quality of exhibits and attractions while the price of admission was maintained year after year in the best interest of the fair attending public.

Prizes Galore

Agricultural Exhibitors Stand to Win $35,000

There's prizes galore for exhibitors and patrons.

And each of the five days the Belleville Fair is in progress the names of new winners are announced.

The biggest bundle of cash prizes is available to agricultural exhibitors. The total given away to prize winning exhibitors is in excess of $35,000.

The next largest sum of prize money goes to the winner of the local harness racing classic — the Black Diamond stake race. The amount growing in size with each new presentation is expected to reach $2,500 by the time the starting gun sounds Saturday evening, Aug. 17.

This year something new has been added . . . as far as prizes for the public are concerned.

For instance everyone participating in the big Fair parade will have a chance to win one of the several lucky draw prizes provided by a local manufacturer.

In addition the Fair Board offers a challenge to amateur photographers . . . due to the generosity of Rolaf's Ltd.

A $50 prize (see details elsewhere) will be awarded the camera buffs producing the best color shots of scenes at the fairgrounds during the five-day exhibition.

Besides all of the foregoing opportunities, there is CJBQ's silver dollar give-away going on throughout the five days. And for those who bet the trotters, pari-mutuel privileges as usual will be afforded them for the Saturday night harness heats and the stake race.

Free grandstand admission the final Saturday night is another way the Fair Board says "thank you" to its loyal supporters.

Refrigeration Added

Cooking Displays Get Boost

When your Great Aunt Minnie took first prize for her angel cake at fairs gone by, her culinary masterpiece could only look its best for about the first day. . after that, the heat and open air did their work.

Things will be different for kitchen specialists in 1968. For the first time in its history, Belleville Fair will be showing domestic science and cooking entries under refrigerated display.

Mrs. Cameron Bunnett, president of the women's section of the Belleville Fair feels this is a big step forward for this section of the show. "In the past" said Mrs. Bunnett, "many potential exhibitors were unwilling to enter exhibits because they were afraid that the hot and humid days of August would keep their entries from showing to their best advantage.

"In fact some of our exhibitors with perishable items were almost forced to remove them after the first day or two. Now, with our refrigerated area, we will be able to keep domestic science exhibits right through the five days".

Now the directors are thinking about mounting a campaign to have some type of air-conditioning installed in the Horticulture building. They feel this would not only add to the comfort of fair-goers, but would do much to enhance the appearance of flower and vegetable displays as well.

"After all" said one of them, "the idea of bringing exhibits to the fair is to be able to show your finest produce at its very best. An air-conditioned building for the perishable goods would go a long way in accomplishing that aim".

The women are not planning a special daily program this year but rather are concentrating on expanding the exhibit areas and introducing a number of new displays. Included will be a special section of Indian handicraft. They are hoping to arrange a number of demonstrations such as leathercraft and pottery-making.

Sheep Shearing

Getting ready for the show takes quite a bit of primping, even for a sheep. Agricultural contests are only one of the many attractions at the annual Belleville fair.

PROBLEMS? Ev Gowsell has solved them all at one time or another as secretary-manager of the Belleville Fair Board.

Waterson 450 Rally At Fair

The Waterson '450', the annual sports car rally beginning in Belleville, will be run this year on Aug. 16 and 17.

Being 450 miles long, the rally will begin at the fairgrounds at 9:00 p.m. on the 16th — drivers should pull back into Belleville Saturday around noon.

It is not a car breaker event but a test of driving skill concerning time checks and routes.

Controls along the 450 mile route will check the cars as they go by and assign each car a sticker which has to be placed in the proper location on his route map.

Then upon finishing the course the car that went through all controls at the closest times according to the ones set by mileage and speed limits will be the winner.

Awards will be made to the first five cars and each car will get a dash plaque.

First place in the touring event will bring a $50 cash award as well as the Waterson '450' perpetual trophy and individual trophies for each crew member.

Each of the other four places all carry cash prizes as well as trophies.

Cars entering the rally all have to pass a safety inspection and be equipped with safety equipment.

Fall Fairs Have Long Tradition

When the Belleville Fair opens its gates to the public it is carrying on a tradition which started in Canada in 1763 — when one was held at Windsor, Nova Scotia.

It will also be carrying on the tradition started when the first fair in Upper Canada was

Major Event

Dairy Show Aided By New Facilities

The Quinte district is famous for its dairy products, particularly cheese, and it would be strange indeed if this area of agriculture were not represented at Belleville Fair. Well, don't worry, it is.

The dairy show this year promises to see one of its biggest entries ever; and in case you're wondering what can be included under the heading of "Dairy", the prize list calls for cheese and butter.

But, the dairy show has a purpose greater than providing exhibitors with an opportunity to win prize money. This show is jointly sponsored by the Belleville Agricultural Society and the Ontario department of agriculture and food as a commercial feature. The main purposes are to improve quality and production as well as to create greater interest in the important products of this area.

Up until a few years ago, it was difficult to include a dairy show as part of the fair's function. Because of conditions that existed then, the entries could not be kept under refrigeration and since both products deteriorate quickly when exposed to heat, fair directors of that time did not feature dairy items.

However, things have changed and now, cheese, butter, eggs and honey are all shown in special refrigerated areas. In fact, a new cooling plant and display space was installed for this year's fair. This is one of the highlight exhibits at Belleville Fair and serves to promote the Quinte district's great contribution to specialty foods.

Another speciality of this year's dairy show is the fact that a lovely dairy princess will be on hand throughout the week to greet visitors and explains the exhibits.

CENTENNIAL SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

...IS THE KEY TO YOUR CHILD'S FUTURE!

JOIN THE MANY WISE PARENTS WHO ARE PROVIDING FOR THEIR CHILDREN'S HIGHER EDUCATION UNDER THIS PLAN . . .

Centennial Scholarship is a government chartered, non-profit Foundation, offering a unique savings plan designed to provide the necessary funds for your child's post-high school education. We emphasize that it is not an insurance plan or a mutual funds plan, but a plan whereby parents deposit as little as $6.00 per month in the case of children under one year, and slightly more for older children, in their own personal guaranteed savings account where the money is under their control and can be withdrawn at any time.

This savings account will provide the funds for your child's first year at university or technical school, and through the Centennial Scholarship Foundation plan, the Foundation would make available cash scholarships for the second, third and fourth years. At present these scholarship grants, as nearly as can be calculated, should amount to approximately $5,000 to $6,000.

Two Highway 62 Mishaps Kill Three

Watts Guns Bark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A series of heavy gun battles between police and Negroes swept the riot-scarred Watts district Sunday night and early today, leaving three dead and 35 wounded or injured on the anniversary of the 1965 riot.

The three dead were listed as Negroes.

The disturbance appeared to be quieting early today.

Three policemen were wounded, none seriously, and more than 40 other persons were injured, at least 17 from gunshots, police said.

The violence began as rock and bottle throwing, then developed quickly into shooting and arson. It eventually covered 20 blocks of the 98-per-cent Negro area.

Police Chief Tom Reddin said the disturbance began when two officers, directing traffic at the Watts Summer Festival, were fired upon. Reddin said the officers did not fire back, but called for reinforcements.

About 60 officers arrived and returned the gunfire when shot at, the chief said.

Lieut. George Morrison called the disturbance "a planned attack" but Reddin told reporters: "I don't believe it was organized. When the opportunity arose, some youngsters apparently figured they could get their guns and got a few shots in."

One of the officers who moved in after the first shooting, Sgt. David McGill, said: "We saw a lot of people being hit. They shot into their own crowd."

The police department called a tactical alert shortly after midnight Sunday night, placing 2,000 officers on duty throughout the city. Police cordoned off several blocks centring on Will Rogers Park, just down the street from the area blackened by the 1965 rioting that destroyed $40,000,000 worth of property.

Firemen dodged sniper fire as they fought blazes they said were deliberately set in two stores and a home.

Reddin said the police substation was fired on, but wouldn't say to what extent.

The summer festival ended Sunday with a parade in which the widows of two murdered Negro leaders, Malcolm X and Medger Evers, were grand marshals.

Brothers Die As Car Rolls

By HARRY MULHALL
(Staff Reporter)

MADOC — The northern reaches of Highway 62 claimed three lives in automobile accidents during the weekend.

Instantly killed Saturday night when their car rolled over near Gilmour, 25 miles north of here, were Elvin Roy Robbins, 34, of Richmond Hill, and his brother Mervin Walter Robbins, 41, of London, Ont.

The brothers were heading toward their hometown, Bancroft, apparently for the weekend, when the mishap occurred.

Cause of the accident was not known, but provincial police here say the driver presumably Elvin Robbins — lost control and the car rolled at least twice, throwing both men onto the roadway.

The same night, Vincent Paul Marquard, 22, of Cumbermere, was killed in a two-car collision six miles south of Barry's Bay.

William Schweig, 21, a passenger in the Marquard car, was admitted to intensive care at Ottawa Civic Hospital.

Two occupants of the other automobile, Archie Sauve, 27 an Mrs. Loretta Beaudry, 53, both of Scarborough, were taken to Scarborough General Hospital.

Postal Truck Upset

MONTREAL (CP) — Violence erupted outside Montreal's main post office today when the first of half a dozen emergency mail trucks leaving the post office was attacked and overturned by striking Rod Service drivers.

The truck driver and his helper fled to safety in the post office uninjured.

Police moved in in force and drove the 30 or 35 strikers into side streets before other emergency trucks, hired this morning by the government from other companies, began moving out of the post office with police motorcycle escorts.

The trucks carried large Government of Canada signs in English and French on their sides.

Shortly after the first truck was overturned Postmaster General Eric Kierans arrived on the scene to take personal control of the attempt to get the mails moving again in Montreal.

About 400 drivers employed by Rod Services, which moves mail within the Montreal area on government contract, have been on strike since Friday demanding payment of three weeks' wages lost during the postal workers' strike.

Efforts by Mr. Kierans during the weekend failed to settle the dispute between Rod Services and its employees and the post-master-general announced Sunday night the firm's contract with the government has been suspended.

He said other companies would be brought in and other drivers hired to get the mails going again as quickly as possible.

New Fair Building Gets OK

By ROY PEACOCK
(Staff Reporter)

It looks as though the new $100,000 recreational-exhibition building at the Belleville Fairgrounds will be in use for this week's Belleville Fair after all.

Today, Maurice H. Rollins of Rollins Construction, said that following adjustments carried out over the weekend, his firm had received a verbal safety okay for the building from an independent firm of consulting engineers.

At noon today Mr. Rollins said the written report was expected early this afternoon from the consulting engineers Tooten, Sims and Ubicki Associates, with offices in Cobourg.

Million-dollar U. S. Offer For Blarney Stone Refused

CORKE, Ireland (AP) — The Blarney Stone is staying in Ireland.

A bold million-dollar American bid for the stone, which traditionally bestows the gift of eloquence on those who kiss it, has been turned down.

The very thought of the treasure leaving Ireland was enough to make any Irishman see red — or green.

Penelope Hillyard, the Irish woman who owns the legendary limestone imbedded beneath the battlements of Blarney Castle, said Saturday the offer came from an American chain-store millionaire.

To keep the Balmey Stone in Ireland, Mrs. Hillyard disclosed, her late uncle, Sir George Colthurst, specified in his will that the rock must never be sold.

Sir George owned Blarney Castle, lock, stock and rock, and he appointed the minister of justice as trustee to insure that the stone remain an heirloom of the nation when he died in 1951.

Mrs. Hillyard refused to give the name of the millionaire who wanted to buy the stone. But she said her uncle rejected another offer years ago of $2,100,000 just to lend it for a public display in California.

East Germany's Leader Pays Visit to Czechs

KARLOVY VARY (CP) — Walter Ulbricht, hard-line East German Communist leader, and other high officials of his regime arrived in this West Bohemian spa today for talks with Czechoslovak's reformists on political and economic relations.

Ulbricht was greeted on his arrival by Czechoslovak party chief Alexander Dubcek, the man he tried to get the Kremlin to unseat and whose liberal reforms he has opposed so vigorously.

Ulbricht is expected to try and solicit further guarantees from Prague leaders against any encroachment of West German influence here.

Under strong pressure, Czech party leaders now are expected to slow down whatever ideas they had of developing economic and diplomatic ties with the West German republic.

Ulbricht is known to be deeply concerned over Czechoslovakia's attitude to the Warsaw pact and co-operation with the Soviet Army and Soviet security apparatus in halting Western infiltration, particularly from West Germany.

But as the East German leader drove from the airport today he must have seen tourist buses bringing more visitors from West Germany into this spa town, a favorite meeting place for citizens from West and East Germany.

Nixon Ticket Is 'Racist' Claims Jackie Robinson

His turnabout highlights the expressed unhappiness of some Negro Republicans with the Republican ticket in the Nov. 5 presidential election.

Robinson, 49, who broke the color line in major league baseball, said Sunday that Nixon heads a ticket that is "racist in nature" and that the former vice-president "has prostituted himself and sold himself out to the bigots in the South."

The former Brooklyn Dodgers great declared:

"I intend . . . to support the Democratic nominee, and pray to God that every black man and every minority in this country does the same thing.

"I'm a black man first, and American second and then I will support a political party—third."

Dissatisfaction with his own party was expressed by one Negro delegate to the Republican convention in Miami Beach, Fla., who commented at a private meeting: "The black voter is generally disenchanted with the Republican party for so long that, in order for the Republicans to recapture any significant numbers of blacks, they will have to offer far more than they have to date."

Negro Republican resentment against the Republican ticket sometimes centred about the selection of Maryland Gov. Spiro Agnew as Nixon's running mate.

William Walker, an alternate delegate from Cleveland, said of Agnew: "The thing that disturbs me is how his selection was brought about. This was done by Nixon selling out to South Carolina Senator Strom Thurmond."

Wendell Freeland, an alternate from Pittsburgh, termed the choice of Agnew "a horrible mistake."

But other Negroes expressed support.

Chester Gillespie, delegate from Ohio, has urged Negroes to stay within the Republican party "and fight for what is right." He said "it is stupid for all Negroes to be Democrats."

Alvin Dyson, an alternate from Richmond, Va., said: "We can live with the ticket and work with it."

Democratic Party 'An Empty Shell'

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — Senator Eugene McCarthy, bidding for support from California's 174 delegates to the Democratic Party's presidential nomination convention, said here Sunday the party is "an empty shell." It was, he said, "without power or vitality or function, and must be revitalized."

Georgia's Maddox Covets Nomination by Democrats

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia a Democratic who supported Barry Goldwater in 1964, says he may make the Democratic party race for president a four-way affair by running himself.

He said he wants to show Americans the party "offers more than liberals and socialists."

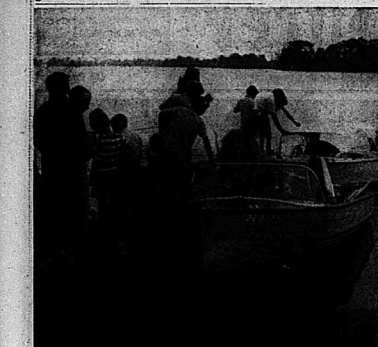
Before his election as governor in January, 1967, Maddox, 52, became known as the Atlanta restaurant owner who closed rather than comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act to serve Negroes.

He was shown in photographs brandishing a pistol at would-be Negro customers and handing out axe handles to whites.

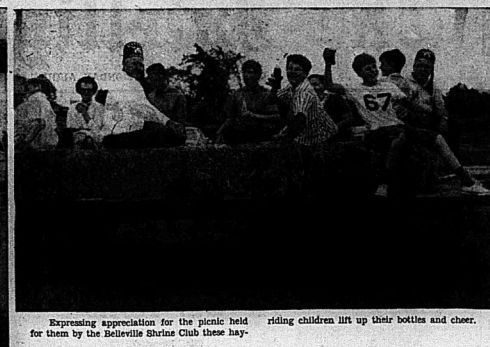
The governor will head Georgia's 42-vote delegation to the Democratic convention.

The Democratic nomination in Chicago in two weeks will require 1,312 votes and Humphrey was asked Sunday if his estimate of delegate strength means he thinks he has the first-ballot nomination sewed up.

"Let me tell you I feel rather relaxed," he replied, "I feel good. I think we ought to be looking forward to November."



Maddox, who previously has expressed admiration for third party candidate George C. Wallace, branded all three declared Democratic candidates "liberals and socialists."



He said his candidacy would offer the party its only conservative contender.

Maddox said in Atlanta he may decide as late as Aug. 26, the day the Democratic convention opens, whether to run. He said his chances would be "mighty slim" but he added he wasn't expected to win the Georgia governorship either.

Senator George S. McGovern, the newest declared Democratic contender, said a certain "disquietude" he detects among delegates gives him "at least a fighting chance" to beat Humphrey and Senator Eugene McCarthy.

But an Associated Press survey after McGovern entered the race Saturday showed he drew immediate support from only two delegations, both from Nebraska. The South Dakota senator already has his state's 26 delegate votes.

Shriners Are Hosts

Yongsters Enjoy Picnic

Boarding the Boats

Shriners did the driving — children did the riding at the Shrine Club picnic held on Saturday. Cool weather didn't cool off the great time that everybody had.

Clouds and cool weather didn't stop a happy band of children from having a great time at the Shrine Club Picnic on Saturday.

Around 40 disabled youngsters from Belleville, Bloomfield, Wellington and Picton crowded the premises at Shriner George Mueller's cottage on Roblin Lake and the fun began.

Pony rides, boat rides and swings kept the children busy until two wagons loaded with hay pulled up to take them on a trip around the lake.

"It's been an annual event now for seven years," said Mr. Mueller who helped organize the picnic along with Stu Hibbard and Shrine president William Stewart.

Last year was the first year that the picnic was not held but it is right on schedule again.

Also, a cheque for $1,152 was presented by Mr. Mueller to president Stewart. The money was the proceeds from the peewee hockey tournament held this spring and will be used to help the crippled children.

And after the hay ride the real fun began . . . eating.

Everything from ice cream to hamburgs, hotdogs, chicken and candy was served and somehow it seemed to make the day a little warmer.

So did the happy smiles on the children's faces when it was finally time to go home.

IN MEMORIAM

FINDLAY — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Boyd Findlay who passed away August 12, 1965.

God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts he lies still.

And all that was unkind,
Through our memories and tears,
We shall see him in mind.

Just a few more years.
Sadly missed by his wife Marion and sons and daughters.

We keep you in our memories.

Electricians Accept Offer

Striking members of local 115 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers voted yesterday to ratify the new contract offered by members of Kingston Builders' Exchange.

Garry Cole, Kingston, business manager of local 115, said 161 members voted in favor of accepting the contract and 10 were against it.

The strike began seven weeks ago, when electricians refused the contract offered by Kingston Builders' Exchange. It spread to the Quinte district, slowing construction on Loyalist College and the new wing of Belleville General Hospital.

The new hourly rate for journeymen electricians is $4.31, an increase of 50 cents over the former rate of $3.81.

In addition employers will make a health and welfare contribution of 20 cents per man per hour.

On Jan. 1, 1969, the rates will climb to $4.57 an hour, plus the 20 cent health and welfare contribution.

Also on Jan. 1, employers will pay an increase of one per cent vacation pay.

Electricians were on the job today at Loyalist College and the hospital construction site.

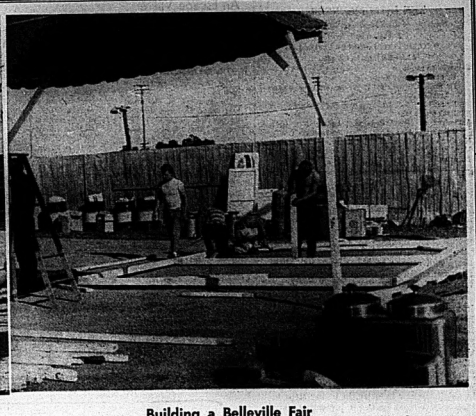
Tennis Club Gets Aid From City



Despite a lack of funds on the part of the club organization, this year's tennis instructional program of the Quinte Tennis Club will not be allowed to lapse.

The city parks and recreation committee last week voted an amount of $600 to keep the club's instructional program going until the city officially takes over the club's assets.

Earlier this year the city moved to take over the club's property in East Belleville, but details of the take over have been delayed and in the meantime the club ran out of money to continue its instructional program for tennis.

Ready to Fly

Building a Belleville Fair

Day Before Fair Opens Is Always Hectic One for Organizers

From one end of the fairgrounds to the other, people are busy.

It's the day before the fair opens that's the most active, at least for those who are running the show.

Workmen from the Conklin Bros. Show Ltd., who arrived over the weekend are unloading the trucks and putting up the thrill rides and midway attractions.

And many private organizations are also busy. The Ontario Provincial Police moved their safety trailer onto the grounds this morning and are getting things ready.

Industrial exhibits and displays from area stores and companies are being set up inside the buildings this morning in anticipation of the swarms of people who will be walking through the gates tomorrow.

And the city of Belleville is also getting in on the action.

Sidney St. has been blocked off to permit free passage from the east side of the grounds to the west and public utilities workmen have been on the fairgrounds for the past two days installing wiring in the buildings.

"I guess there are about five or six men up there making sure everyone has power and is satisfied," said E. L. Burnham, utilities manager.

New transformers have also been installed at the grounds, said Mr. Burnham, to service the new connections.

Bell Telephone also has a trucks scattered around the grounds connecting temporary phones for the fair.

The midway is completely ready and quite a few of the rides have also been erected.

One workman or the Conklin Bros. shows said it didn't look as if there would be any work left to do come tonight.

"We're a little ahead of schedule," he finished, "all we need is people."

Area Fully Represented

Loyalist Completes Board With Appointment of Six Governors

A labor official, a county sheriff and a weekly newspaper publisher are among new governors who will administer Loyalist College.

The appointees form the college's first fully autonomous administration following separation of Loyalist and Peterborough's Sir Sandford Fleming community college.

With the six administrative newcomers, Loyalist now will operate under its own 12-man board of governors.

Five of the new members represent the four county areas served by Loyalist—Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Northumberland counties.

They are Sheriff H. J. Colliver, of Picton; W. C. Down, R.R. 1 Hilton; Donald E. Hodgins, Tweed businessman; R. A. Loader, R.R. 3 Belleville, union official and Napanee newspaper publisher J. Earl Morrison.

The sixth appointee, W. J. Wilkinson, a chartered accountant, is the new town of Trenton representative. He replaces D. R. Fraser who resigned as governor to become administrative assistant to the college president.

These are the administrative credentials of the new county representatives.

H. J. Colliver (Prince Edward County) — holds the combined offices of sheriff, local Supreme Court registrar, surrogate registrar and has served on the Prince Edward district high school board for 12 years. He also has been a director of the Urban and Rural Trustees Association.

W. C. Down (Northumberland) — Is East Northumberland high school board chairman and 1968 president of the Urban and Rural Trustee's Association and former president of Ontario Junior Farmers. He is a rural land appraiser for the department of food and agriculture.

Donld Hodgins (Tweed area) — A 1964 Carleton arts graduate is president of Tweed Feed Mill Ltd., and active in the Eastern Ontario Feed Dealers' Association.

J. Earl Morrison (Lennox and Addington) — Has been publisher and editor for the past 15 years of the weekly Napanee Beaver. He is a member of the Ontario and Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association.

R. A. Loader — represents regional labor on the board. A silversmith with Treston's Benedict-Proctor Mfg., he is international representative of the International Jewellery Workers and president of the union Local 44 — bargaining agent for. four Belleville-Trenton manufacturing units.

Six former members of the joint-campus board of governors continue in office, bringing the new board to full strength.

They are: Judge J. C. Anderson and Mrs. G. S. Wonnacott (Belleville); Gerald Cunningham, Ameliasburgh reeve; John Donelon, Napanee; Rev. H. J. Maloney, Bancroft parish priest and Frank Rabel, Frankford.

Peterborough—Trenton Canoe Race Begins Sept. 1

TRENTON — According to Jack Wilson, Secretary-Manager of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, the second annual canoe race from Peterborough to Trenton will be "better than last year."

The two day event will begin with the departure of canoes on Sept. 1 from Serpent Mound in Peterborough and the finishers will arrive at Centennial park in Trenton the next day.

The 64-mile race will see two types of contestants; Class A which are the serious contenders and Class B which are the fun seekers.

And the winners will end up with more than an empty canoe. O'Keefe Breweries are donating $500 to be divided among the first four finishers in the A class.

Trophies will be given to the first four finishers in Class B.

During the race the canoe will carry two people who will sign in their times at various designated spots.

But it won't be all work.

Sunday evening in Campbellford will see a corn and wiener roast while the main ceremonies will take place at the finish in Centennial Park.

Mr. Wilson said a meeting will be held sometime next week with the service clubs of Trenton to arrange the closing festivities.

If you are thinking of entering the fee is only $10 for the class A competition and $5 if you're just out for the fun of it.

New Fair

general contractor for the fairgrounds building.

In the meantime Belleville Fair officials are going ahead with marking out floor space for setting up booths in the building.

The question whether the new building would see use for this week's Belleville Fair arose late last week when it was learned that a safety inspection certificate would not be issued by the city's consulting engineer, J. H. A. Lassing of Treston, as on-the-job inspector.

Mr. Lassing questioned the roof supporting structure and warned he would withhold the safety certificate until the problem was remedied.

Over the week-end Rollins Construction workmen toiled around the clock installing additional roof supporting columns at the north and south interior walls of the structure.

The new supporting columns are a combination of W-shaped concrete blocks filled with poured concrete and tied into the walls.

Late last week Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott said as far as he was concerned the building would not be opened until a safety certificate for the structure was received and the building was officially accepted by the city.

Today Mayor Scott said that Rollins Construction had received a verbal okay and he was waiting for the consulting engineer's written report which must be approved and signed by the city engineer.

Parks Board Recommends Riverside Park Acquisition

City parks board members have recommended that city council purchase another of the "missing link" properties needed for the complete development of the Camilfton Road Riverside Park.

At a board meeting last week, members recommended that council purchase the Belch property for the sum of $5,000.

The property is now available for purchase, but the parks board has no money for the expenditure in this year's budget.

Also at last week's meeting board members expressed concern about the potential hazard in the Riverside Park area due to the heavy traffic along Cannifton Road.

Many children use the Riverside Park area and last month one child narrowly missed being struck by a vehicle while leaving the park.

It was recommended that the city council traffic committee look into the problem with the view of possibly erecting signs or installing pedestrian walks.

Mr. Beavis Resigns

When a city official resigns charging that local municipal councils have allowed themselves to be swayed by "self-interest" groups into holding up action on proper planning, and when a number of planning board and council members appear to be in agreement with him, the city inevitably must take a critical look at itself.

Belleville planning director P. J. Beavis has resigned saying that despite earlier hopes, his efforts to bring proper planning to the city had proved abortive. Mr. Beavis has been here five years and consequently has had plenty of time to form a mature judgment of the situation here. This is no hasty decision and his resignation is all the more unfortunate when the city has been showing some progress in obtaining new industry, in taking steps to ease traffic congestion and in presenting plans for downtown renewal.

That differences of opinion should have occurred is only to be expected. However, when they multiply to the point that the planning director feels he is no longer able to function satisfactorily or gain approval for his counsel, he has no option but to stand down.

The loss of a man of Mr. Beavis' calibre is unfortunate. Although he will be remaining at city hall until September 13, before going to Brantford in a similar capacity, there will be an inevitable loss of continuity on the planning scene here. There will be a hiatus while a new man comes to the job and further delays in implementing plans.

Planning Board chairman George Bussey has commented on the situation. He said as far as the board was concerned, there was no criticism of Mr. Beavis. "We haven't always agreed, but certainly Mr. Beavis has contributed much to the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board."

Board members, he said, felt that within the municipal set-up faster progress should have been made in planning. Councils of the three municipalities (Belleville, Sidney and Thurlow), he added, would have to take the responsibility.

Thurlow reeve Horace Casey admitted that on occasion advice given by Mr. Beavis to his township had been ignored.

Municipal representatives should take these words to heart. Others voiced similar opinions. Planning is vital nowadays and if the city is going to employ professional people in this capacity then they are entitled to the backing of local representatives.

Nigerian Tragedy

The situation in Nigeria appears to be so chaotic that relief supplies for the people starving there and in secessionist Biafra are unlikely to be distributed in time to effect any appreciable improvement.

According to CBC news correspondent John Drewery who flew to Lagos aboard a supply aircraft, food and medicine are being stockpiled pending the outcome of peace talks at Addis Ababa. The talks, however, have reached an impasse with the departure from Addis Ababa of Lt. Col. Odumagwu Ojukwu, the Biafran head of state and leader of his country's negotiating team.

Getting any relief supplies into the country thus far has been fraught with difficulties. Both Nigeria and Biafra raised barriers to attempts by other countries to send in food and medicine. Now that both governments have sanctioned supplies, an attempt should be made to distribute them Some 6,000 people are said to be dying every day from malnutrition.

Now that peace talks have broken down, the continuation of the year-old civil war can only lead to further deterioration of conditions there. In a country that once was one of the most stable and prosperous of the new African nations it is sad to witness such a disaster. Economic and social breakdown is deplorable enough, but the real tragedy is the helplessness of the civilian population — particularly in Biafra — who are dying by the thousands.

The Grippe

Summer flu — that brief but devastating version of the grippe — is doing the rounds. It can begin innocently enough — nothing more perhaps than a slight feeling of uneasiness in the stomach. Then you feel chilly and hot and feverish by turn. Finally the whole thing gets out of hand and you retire to bed and stay there until the sickness and discomfort subsides. Unpleasant as it is however, a bout of flu does help to make one appreciate good health.

An Escape Valve

Obscenity... Identity and the Lost Age of Individualism

BOB HUNTER
In The Vancouver Sun

The Obscenity Revolution is upon us.

The swearers of the world have united. See them storming through the rubble of Oxford Concise. They have armed themselves with movie cameras and overrun the bastions of filmdom. Even Hollywood, that Bastille of the Double Standard, has fallen.

There is scarcely a publishing house left that has not been captured. What writer has not joined the Obscenity Revolutionists? What playwright? What raconteur?

Even the young suburban housewife swears. Out of the mouths of 12-year-olds pours a torrent of revolutionary obscenity.

The Obscenity Revolution, you must understand, is inseparable from the Drug Revolution, the Sexual Revolution, the Green Revolution, Black Power, Red Power, the New Morality, the New Left, student revolt, progressive schools and dropping out.

Like all these other things, it is a symptom of our times. Moreover, the web of four-letter words is strung like a series of lynch-pins connecting almost all aspects of current social upheaval. Obscenity is the dialect of rebellion against the Technological Revolution, which is the root cause of all the turmoil.

Obscenity has always been with us. It is an organic part of any culture, no matter how primitive or repressed. It is the language of anti-value, the counter-code to whatever orthodoxy prevails.

In this respect, obscenity has often flitted into the finest traditions of the English-speaking world. God old Anglo-Saxon defiance of authority. Expressions of stubborn personal independence.

There has also always been a need for obscenity — to deny failure, to smash ideals, release tensions, escape repressions, to express emotions beyond the range of formal language.

But now, under the bulldozing impact of mass technological society, a new element has been added.

The New Obscenity is used to assert one's humanness.

Not that the words have changed. They are still the same hard-packed, plosive, monosyllables. They are even used in the same way — spat out, barked, delivered like a karate chop, or dropped with a splash into otherwise sluggish swamp of syntax.

For the most part they are still used for the same dreary old reasons of habit, laziness or ignorance of better words.

But more and more they are being employed in the context of a rapidly-changing society, one that grows daily more dehumanized, systemized, computerized, antiseptic, plastic and rubberized.

The more manipulative and the less assurance we have that we are truly men and women, not highly complex chemical machines that can be programmed like docile computers.

If this sounds far-fetched, consider how little assurance we have in most of our jobs, in our dealings with big government, corporations, unions, and even in the manner of our education, that we are — after all — individuals.

We are identified by numbers, dealt with en masse. Yet individuality is the crux of humaneness. Without it our egos start to fall apart.

One writer has described ours as the age in which mass society will succeed in producing a species of men so much alike that they will become interchangeable.

According to another writer, the age of individualism is merely a stage of transition between two types of social organization. Having left tradition-bound society behind, we are being driven now — after a brief interlude of frantic individualism — into an era of technologic control. An age of mass men.

The "identity crisis" is recognized now as becoming the modern psychological equivalent of the common cold.

Psychiatrists report that youth, reared on a diet of massmerything, is particularly vulnerable. The future, therefore, is vulnerable.

Manhood and womanhood are built on little tests and big ones. Brick by brick, one builds out of one's experiences an awareness of self which we call identity.

In a society where everyone is subjected to the same stimuli, the opportunities to engage in these highly personal struggles to attain selfhood are amputated. The hard edges of individual differences begin to blur.

Psychologically, we begin to look alike: the same hangups and fears, the same desires for the same products, the same concepts of what is pleasing and what is repulsive, the same stereotypes in our heads.

Here is where the Obscenity Revolution begins. There is one obvious and essential difference that remains between us and the automaton — obscenity. A robot has no sex. A statistic cannot love or hate. A computer doesn't know how to swear. All obscenity relates to acts that are intensely human.

Obscenity may survive, in the long run, to be one of the last things standing between us and the ant colonies of the future.

Ship Spoils The View in Cornwall

Cornwall Standard - Freeholder

Cornwall's Water street is in bad enough condition what with sewer work, repaving, dust, etc. without having the thoroughfare's appearance marred further by a rusting, ungainly looking steamship that has been tied along the canal for several weeks.

The steamer, the Bayview, under Brockville registry, came here evidently for a repair job at Cornwall drydock. However, it has remained stationary along the canal and is an eyesore to that part of the city.

There have been reports that the Bayview, a small canal-sized freighter, is mixed in litigation. It is said its owner went bankrupt and the ship's first mortgage is held by the Bank of Canada.

Student Protesters Get Short Shrift in The Emerald Isle

Cincinnati Enquirer

One of our readers was in Ireland the other day and was struck to learn that even the Emerald Isle hasn't escaped the fury of the student protesters.

But Irish academicians, it seems are less inclined than some of their American counterparts to knuckle under.

An editorial in the Irish Independent in Dublin declared that "it is time some straight and strong words were addressed to a minority group of students in Trinity college."

"The cry of 'police brutality'," the Irish Independent said, "will not wash here. Slogans against police forces in other countries when used here do not ring true. And the minority group of irresponsibles in Trinity college better get to know quickly that their nonsense, their threats to the good men of Ireland will not be tolerated by the Irish people. In every way their obnoxious behaviour is rightly resented by the Irish people, especially by those the Irish people have to put their hands in their pockets to pay for the education of those students."

The editorial concludes: "We do not wish to waste more space on these irresponsibles. They have been warned that the people of Dublin, or Ireland, will not tolerate their antics."

When an Irishman draws a line, who is going to cross it?

More Than 100 Rookies

Veteran Members in Minority in New Parliament

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — When the 28th Parliament assembles this fall for its first session, a lot of members are going to need directions to reach the House of Commons chamber.

Not since the Conservative landslide win of 1958 has the Commons had so many rookies in its ranks—103 of them elected for the first time in the June 25 vote.

In addition, only 61 of the 263 MPs have parliamentary experience dating prior to the 1962 election. The 264th seat has been vacant since the death of Colin Cameron, the NDP veteran.

The trend to comparatively new blood is strongest among the governing Liberals. Only 14 of their 155 MPs were members of the House prior to 1962. The June election produced 69 newcomers for the Liberal caucus.

There are 19 rookies among the 72 Conservatives; nine among the 21 NDP members and six among 14 Creditistes.

The cabinet is a good reflection of the Commons makeup with 22 of the 29 ministers elected for the first time in this decade.

In 1962 the Liberals acquired 29 new members, nine of whom now are ministers. The 1963 rookie crop was 17, six of them now graduated to ministerial ranks. There are four ministers from the 26-member "class of 1965" and three who were elected only in June. The 32rd is Defence Production Minister Jamieson who came to Ottawa after a 1966 byelection in Newfoundland.

The elections of 1957 and 1958 produced large crops of newcomers — mostly Conservatives —but their survival rate proved to be low.

Of the 77 elected for the first time in 1957, only 20 remain. There were 104 newcomers the following year and only 15 of these still hold office.

There are only eight MPs able to claim experience dating from the 1940s.

Heading the veterans are John Diefenbaker and Solicitor-General George McIlraith who were first elected in 1940 and have been successful in every election since.

The former Conservative prime minister, who will be 73 Sept. 18, has said he won't run again. Mr. McIlraith, 60, hasn't committed himself.

Next in line are two veterans of the 1945 election—Conservative Douglas Harkness from Calgary and Liberal J. T. Richard of Ottawa.

The three 1949 winners still around are Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, Public Works Minister Arthur Laing and J. Angus MacLean, the Conservative finance critic. Prince Edward Island

Opposition Leader Real Caouette was elected first in a 1946 byelection, lost in 1949 and finally made it back in 1962.

Kierans Orders New Drivers Hired to Move Montreal's Mail

MONTREAL (CP) — An official at the city's main post office says attempts may be made today to hire men to replace striking employees of Rod Service Ltd.

Rod's contract to handle mail by truck in the Montreal area was suspended by Postmaster-General Kierans Sunday.

No mail was delivered or picked up at the main depot this morning except by a few trucks from private companies who were picking up their own mail.

When overnight workers came off their jobs this morning they said they had almost nothing to do all night and passed the time playing cards or reading newspapers.

Mr. Kierans announced Sunday the government mail delivery contract with Rod Service had been suspended. He ordered postal officials in Montreal to restore service in the city as fully as possibly today.

The postmaster-general also ordered that the service be handled by other trucks and drivers.

Rod Service drivers went on strike Friday demanding back wages for the 22-day period of the postal strike during which they were laid off by the trucking company.

Besides disrupting local mail, the drivers' strike held up most overseas mail entering and leaving Canada. About 70 per cent of Canada's overseas mail is handled in Montreal.

The postmaster-general said the drivers had been offered two options—a cash settlement of a week's pay to all permanent drivers or arbitration under a provision in their contract.

He said he had no choice but to provide an alternate service when the drivers rejected the monetary offer and would not submit the dispute to arbitration.

The contract calls for the firm to pick up mail at letter boxes, carry it between post offices and transport it to rail or air depots.

Mr. Kierans said the strike is illegal because the workers did not exercise all the options available to them before walking off the job.

The drivers, members of a union affiliated with the Confederation of National Trade Unions, have said that Rod Service effectively had been off when the postal workers' strike began July 18. Their union says this is a violation of their collective labor agreement.

The company says it cannot afford to pay the workers because it has not received any money from the government since July 18.

The company also says payment to employees under a strike situation is not provided for in the collective agreement.

The drivers have placed pickets at pickup and delivery locations in the city preventing mail movement by post office trucks or by trucks belonging to other government contractors.

Man and Son, 14, Adrift Two Days on Lake Erie

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — For two days Thomas H. Brown, 40, of Keswick, Ont., and his 14-year-old son, James, drifted in a 14-foot boat on Lake Erie trying in vain to signal passing ships.

They finally were rescued Saturday by a freighter owned by United States Steel Corp. and brought here.

Brown said they began drifting Thursday when their aluminum boat ran out of gas about 20 miles off Point Pelee in Ontario.

"I fashioned a home-made sail and made a flare with the small amount of gas that we had in a portable stove," Brown said. "The first night adrift we spotted at least seven ships but somehow they missed us."

Brown said one ship came so close he had to paddle out of the way or his small boat would have been rammed.

The freighter spotted Brown's flare early Saturday about 13 miles north of Fairport, Ohio.

Brown said they still had a small supply of food when they were taken aboard the freighter with their boat and both were rescued in good condition.

Brown said Sunday he and his son will continue a tour of the Great Lakes, heading for Buffalo, N.Y., and home.

Two Cling To Raft 69 Days

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters) — Two exhausted Chinese fishermen were plucked Sunday from a tiny raft to which they clung for 69 days after their trawler was destroyed by fire.

Seven others aboard the raft—made of 44-gallon drums, glass fishing buoys and bamboo cruelly lashed together—died as it drifted the 800 miles across the Pacific.

The two survivors were rescued off San Cristobal in the Solomon Islands by the inter-island freighter Vuku. They were reported in "fair condition."

Priests and Laymen Seize Cathedral To Protest Spending on Pope's Visit

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — About 200 young Roman Catholic priests and laymen, following an elaborate plan, seized Santiago's cathedral Sunday to protest what they called their church's alliance with the rich and its wasteful spending on the Pope's forthcoming visit to South America.

The protest blocked cathedral priests and regular communicants from attending Sunday masses at the huge, 100-year-old cathedral. The occupiers held their own afternoon mass and participated in folk singing led by two Communist entertainers.

No attempt was made to arrest the demonstrators. Police did not try to enter the cathedral while it was being held. But hecklers jeered at the protesters as they departed from the cathedral amid minor scuffling and fist fights broke out.

"Too much money will be spent on needless ceremony," one protester said, referring to the Eucharistic Congress later this month at Medellin, Colombia. Pope Paul is to visit the congress.

"We're not against the Pope or his visit," said Rev. Andres Opazo, one of eight priests in laymen's clothes who joined monks and youths in holding the cathedral for 14 hours. "We are against the way the visit is being planned."

He said the plans exemplified church neglect of the needs of the poor.

The seizure was carried out with military precision from plans laid weeks ago.

Saturday afternoon, the group planted 20 advance agents in the church. They hid in confessionals and amidst the ornate statuary. Before dawn Sunday the agents opened a single front door and the rest of the protesters slipped in.

Each had a task. One was in charge of silencing the cathedral's great bell. Another passed out walkie-talkies by which leaders communicated with a central command post. Others stood watch on cathedral towers.

A detail of young girls prepared credentials for the only persons allowed in the cathedral —reporters who reported the seizure to a shocked city.

Poison Kills Five In Florida Boat

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — An "unfathomable" poison killed five men in the hold of a fishing boat Sunday as the crew prepared to unload its cargo of fish.

"We don't even know if it was gas or liquid," County Investigator James Loeffler said of the poison which struck down the five men in less than two minutes.

Loeffler said the first man to be stricken had just turned on what they call "wash water or stink water" to begin unloading the fish-laden hull of the 125-foot boat.

"He collapsed and fell into the hold," Loeffler said. "A second man went down after him and just reached the body when he, too, keeled over.

"The third man started down and was still on the ladder when this stuff got to him and he fell the rest of the way," the investigator said.

"The other two men never left the dock," he said. "They just looked into the hold and collapsed through the hatch.

"All of this transpired in less than two minutes."

He said a sixth man also tumbled into the hatch after peering into the hold, but was rescued by the ship's one-armed cook, Clyde Parrish, and bystander Roy McNelly.

The boat, the Novelty, had returned from its seining trip in the Gulf of Mexico the night before.

Toronto Man, 26, Fiddling Champion

SHELBURNE, Ont. (CP) — Graham Townsend, 26-year-old Toronto night club entertainer, Saturday night became Canada's old-time fiddling champion for the second time.

Townsend won over 84 other finalists in the 18th open championships, held anually in this village 32 miles southwest of Barrie. About 9,000 persons watched the contests which began Friday night.

Townsend, open champion in 1963, placed ahead of three-time winner Johny Mooring, 41, of Springhill, N.S., who was favored to win this year after defending champion Ed Gyrudi of Toronto decided not to enter.

Mooring placed second and Wilfred Gills, 43, of Ottawa and Antigonish, N.S., was third.

Double fiddler was 19-year-old Ellen Ruth Walker of Hamilton who was judged Miss Fiddle Queen of 1968 and who also won the women's playing division. Second in the women's division was last year's winner, Elenor Reed of Guelph.

The novelty division was won by steelworkers Carson Hammond, 47, of Dunville, Ont., and Carsen Cupp, 33, of Welland.

Nanaimo PCs Are Angling For Roblin, Hamilton, Fulton

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province says three prominent Conservatives defeated in the June 25 federal election—Duff Roblin, Alvin Hamilton and Davie Fulton—are being considered as possible candidates for an upcoming byelection in Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands.

The morning newspaper says all three "are being wooed to run" and attributes the statement to "a highly-placed source in the British Columbia Tory party."

Mr. Roblin, former Manitoba premier, was beaten in Winnipeg South Centre. Mr. Hamilton, former Conservative agriculture minister, lost to a New Democrat in Regina East and Mr. Fulton was defeated by a Liberal in Kamloops-Cariboo.

The vacancy in the Vancouver Island riding was created last month by the death of NDP MP Colin Cameron. A date has not yet been set for the byelection.

John Norton, president of the Nanaimo Progressive Conservative Association, said Sunday night he discussed possible candidates with Opposition Leader Stanfield here Monday, but he declined to give details.

But David Sinclair, Tory provincial vice-president, said that "any of the leading lights of the party defeated June 25 could be considered" for the Conservative nomination.

Another defeated national figure mentioned as a possible candidate is NDP Leader T. C. Douglas, who lost in Burnaby-Seymour to Liberal Ray Perrault.

Three Tugs Are Fined For Fishing Off U. S.

PORT DOVER, Ont. (CP) — Three Port Dover tugs trolling for smelt in Lake Erie were seized briefly by the United States Coast Guard Sunday and their captains fined $100 each for fishing in Pennsylvania waters.

Two of the tugs were owned by the Henry H. Misner Ltd., of the Robbie C, captained by Rick Misner, and the H. H. Misner, captained by George Misner—and the third vessel was the James B, owned by Bert Matthews of Port Dover, an independent fisherman bringing his catch into the Misner docks.

Norm Ely, Pennsylvania fish warden, said the tugs were fishing inside the five-mile Pennsylvania limit. He said they were spotted from the air by a plane.

The coast guard ordered the tugs into the Erie coast guard station. They were held for several hours.

Mr. Ely said there have been numerous complaints of poaching on the lake and indicated the state would begin cracking down on the practice.

James Henry Misner, secretary-treasurer of the Port Dover fishing firm, blamed the incident on a strain in recent relations between fisheries authorities in Ontario and those in the U.S. states bordering Lake Erie. Port Dover boats have been fishing in Pennsylvania waters for years without being bothered.

Eight Are Killed In Tanker Blast

GILA, Sicily (AP) — The death toll from an explosion aboard an Italian oil tanker rose to eight Sunday. Seven persons, including the wife of the ship's engineer, were seriously injured. The ship's captain was among the dead.

The 1,597-ton tanker Ugo Fiorelli was rocked by a thunderous blast Saturday night five miles from this port in southern Sicily.

The crew was washing the tanks when the explosion occurred.

ESTIPONA — ROCHA

St. Michael the Archangel Church, Belleville, was the scene of the recent wedding when Rev. Father Carty united in marriage Maria Lisa Lim Rocha, daughter of Mrs. Concepion Rocha, of Guhat, Sarsagan, in the Philippines, and the late Mr. R. D. Rocha, to Domingo Rubillo Estipona, son of Mrs. Matilde Estipona, also of the Philippines, and the late Mr. Vicente Estipona.

Miss Dorothy Grant rendered the traditional wedding music, and the soloist was Miss Avelina Garcia.

The bride was given in marriage by Ralph Jeffs of Stirling since her immediate family is in the Philippines. She wore a gown featuring an empire waistline, nylon chiffon overlaid, and white chantilly lace lined with bridal satin. Tiny white pearls and beads intricately followed the floral design of the lace, which extended all over the gown. Her headpiece was of satin roses and pearl butterfly sleeves. Her matching headpiece was of tulle and roses. She carried a round bouquet of yellow and white shasta daisies. Bridesmaids, Misses Rose Pasilabban and Fe Penaflar, were aqua marine gowns with belle sleeves and white lace applique on the skirt and sleeves. Matching headpieces of roses and tulle completed the ensembles. Both carried the same bouquets as the maid of honor.

Attending the bridegroom was Francisco Villagor; and the ushers were Roberto Santos and Guillermo Pagulayan.

The reception was held at the Sun Valley Motor Inn. Since parents of neither the bride or the groom could be present, the following are the names of the principal sponsors: Mrs. Mary MacDonald and Mr. Francisco Talana, who both acted as witnesses. Secondary sponsors were Miss E. Acdol; Mr. Atilano S. Matito; Miss A. Asunion; Mr. Alfredo B. Villanor; Miss Flora Abucia and S. B. Ortilla.

MACMULLEN — MANTHORPE

Rev. C. Gazley officiated at the wedding ceremony in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Belleville recently, when Rose Marie Manthorpe, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Manthorpe of Belleville became the bride of David MacMullen, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ormel B. MacMullen, also of Belleville.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Sister Mary Avila who accompanied the soloist Mrs. Marie Reid.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length bridal gown of crystal peau de soie fashioned in princess style and highlighted with a chapel-length train of Belgian lace with scalloped edges extending down the full-length of the gown from the shoulders and sweeping out at the hemline. The bodice featured long lily-point sleeves of matching lace, and a wedding ring neckline adorned with seed pearls. Her scalloped four-tier shoulder-length veil of French silk illusion fell from a cluster of lace petals edged with seed pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of gardenias and pink and white rosebuds.

The maid of honor, Miss Lynda Manthorpe, sister of the bride, was dressed in a delph blue gown of taffeta with chiffon panels flowing from the shoulders. The bridesmaid Miss Susan MacMullen, sister of the bridegroom was identically attired but in a shell pink shade. Both wore floral headdresses of white shasta daisies and pink rosebuds and each carried a colonial bouquet of white shasta daisies.

Attending the bridegroom was Michael Manthorpe, brother of the bride, while the ushers were John MacMullen, brother of the bridegroom and Donald Canton.

Following the nuptial Mass a reception was held in St. Joseph's hall where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a soft pink crepe dress with matching lace coat, pink and white accessories and a corsage of pink and white rosebuds. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a beige brocade sheath dress with a floral chiffon coat, beige accessories and a corsage of bronze feathered mums.

Upon their return the couple will reside in Belleville.

DELONG — FITZGERALD

Wright, officiated at the August 3 wedding at Christ Church when he united in marriage Patricia Mary Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Daley Fitzgerald, of Belleville to John Milton DeLong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald DeLong, also of Belleville. Traditional wedding music was rendered by organist John Wilbers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an empire-style floor length gown of sheer dotted Swiss over taffeta and sheer dotted Swiss puffed sleeves caught at three - quarter length by a tight cuff to the wrist with a floral patterned applique of Belgian lace blossoms extending down the front centre to the floor. The detachable floor length train of sheer dotted Swiss fell from the empire waist. The shoulder length veil of imported French tulle was four tiered; and the headpiece consisted of a cluster of crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Suzanne Jones and maid of honor, Miss Sandra Fitzgerald, twin sisters of the bride both wore floor length empire floor length gowns of dotted Swiss over taffeta featuring little girl puffed sleeves. Lace frills accented the empire waist with velvet pink bows as headpieces.

Bridesmaids, Mary Agnes Fitzgerald and Catherine Fitzgerald (Junior bridesmaid), sisters of the bride, were attired identical to the matron and maid of honor in yellow gowns and yellow velvet headpieces. All carried nosegays of pink and white 'mums.

The reception was held at Club Canara, where the mother of the bride received the guests in a short-sleeved fitted dress of tangerine chiffon over taffeta, complemented by a matching tangerine hat and chocolate brown accessories. Her corsage was of pale green gardenias and stephanotis. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom wore a blue crepe dress with a lace jacket with three-quarter length sleeves and a complementing corsage of white gardenias and stephanotis.

For the wedding trip to Cape Cod, the bride chose a powder blue crepe sleeveless dress with ruffle extending around the neck to the waist. Her ensemble was completed by a corsage of red roses. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Belleville.

Ann Landers

'Bad Nerves' Often Just A Good Crutch

DEAR ANN LANDERS — "Picked On Teen" needs more advice than you gave her. Perhaps I can succeed where you failed. I had a mother like hers and she nearly wrecked my life. I'd like to tell the girls what a kindly clergyman told me.

DEAR PICKED ON — No one can give anybody a nervous breakdown. If a person has a nervous breakdown it is because he or she cannot stand the strain and stress of life.

My mother always used her nerves as a club to keep everyone in-line. If she didn't get her way she would yell at my father, "You're going to give me a nervous breakdown." It always worked. When I got older she used the same technique on me. I was so afraid I'd be responsible for sending my mother to a mental institution that I obeyed her every command and broke my neck to satisfy her slightest whim.

When I was 25 I began to date a medical student. He was the kindest and most intelligent man I had ever known. We fell deeply in love. Mother hated him because he was short and his family was poor and undistinguished. When I told her we were going to be married she said, "If you marry that runt I'll have a nervous breakdown." I became so confused and unsure of myself and I developed terrible headaches and couldn't go to work.

My doctor urged me to talk to my clergyman. My clergyman advised me to tell my mother that if my marriage was going to cause her to have a nervous breakdown I was sorry but I was going ahead with the marriage.

That was 18 years ago. Mother has been surprisingly easy to live with since I called her bluff. She now enjoys her four grandchildren and has never mentioned a nervous breakdown since. — RUG PULLED.

DEAR RUG — Thanks for your fine letter. You certainly gave "Picked On Teen" more help than I did, and I thank you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I confess I used to read your column for kicks but now I am hooked by your good advice. You let me down badly the other day when you gave a flip reply to the woman who wanted to know if she should spend $100 on a suit to bury her uncle in. The woman said he was an atheist and she was afraid she'd get a lot of criticism from her religious relatives. You replied, "Don't spend $100 on a burial suit for an atheist. He'd be all dressed up with no place to go."

How do you know where he is going? Have you ever known anyone who came back with a report? Some very outstanding people in this world are atheists or agnostics, but my opinion you owe them all an apology. — VALLEJOREADER

DEAR READER — I'm sorry if you thought I was flip, but humor can be a useful device and I sometimes use it when I feel it would be pointless to engage in serious debate.

You are right when you say many distinguished individuals are nonbelievers. While I respect their right to hold an opinion different than mine, I also feel sorry that they may one day be deprived of the strength and the enormous emotional support that belongs to those who have faith in God.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HIM AND ME — Tell your friend that all kinds of people read this colmn for all kinds of reasons. It is strange that he describes your interest as "the morbid curiosity of an eavesdropper or a window-peeper" while he claims his interest is that of a sociologist" who wishes to explore behaviour problems of the masses. Tell him applesauce.

Successful Living

Characteristics in a Mate: Keep An Open Mind

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Please suggest what a girl should be like for a mate with these characteristics: strong self - confidence; likes to do different things for entertainment; versatile, in that he is active in a crowd at one time and can sit, for example, in the woods alone or with a girl at another moment; kind and attentive to others, making them feel special; is easy to talk to; and is down to earth.

I think a girl should decide the type of mate she wants and then ask herself what type of mate she should be towards him. — Design for Living.

Dear Design: Since you are dreaming him up, let's see what is indicated on your part:

1. Sufficient maturity to give unstinting admiration; sufficient femininity to respond to his attentions with something of the clinging-vine approach.

2. Receptiveness to any new ideas.

3. A warm understanding for the times when he, the confident male, needs to retreat and confide his concerns.

But "the best laid plans" may not come off. When you do fall in love, your flesh-and-blood hero may turn out to be shy, taciturn, impractical and yet thoroughly adorable as far as you are concerned.

Keep an open mind or he may just slip by like a ship that passes in the night.

* * *

Dear Doris: I am engaged to marry a widower, and we each have two children. My fiance's older boy is being married soon. I have not met him. I am not invited to the wedding and feel very left out.

He does not want to meet me and his mother brought him up with the idea that second marriages were wrong. I am a family of five children and we have always been very close. I would like a family relationship between us.

Should I send a wedding gift to him? Should I invite him to our wedding? — Ignored

Dear Ignored: It seems one narrow minded female made life extra difficult for her surviving mate!

Send no gift. The son might think you were currying favor. Do invite him to your nuptials, as this is your chance to be gracious. If he ignores or refuses, he insults —, not you — but himself.

Confidential to "A Real Pat-sy": You aren't the first to find "harsh treatment at the hands of a merciless business tycoon". Your resource for help is the person who hired you, or the personnel manager, or an appeal board — whatever applies.

Better weigh in balance what you have gained in breadth of viewpoint from the work, and what you endure through it. If you must, seek another job.

Another long, dramatic letter to me would only serve to let you blow off a little more steam. A personal counsellor session would be preferable.

Good and Delicious Cookout Fare

By MARY MOORE

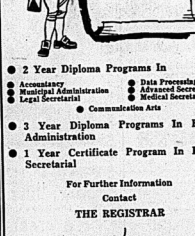
Determination plus diplomacy can be a virtue. I summoned both at 4:00 p. m. on Saturday to request the meat manager to trim and bone two blade roasts, then put them through his cleaned meat grinder four times, so fine it resembled scraped beef. I wanted lean, inexpensive meat for my Canadianized version of Steak Tartar and for a hamburg cookout.

Furthermore, I needed round slices of bread six inches in diameter. I could drop the diplomacy, but kept the determination, for I had to make the bread to fit my plan. (See bread and rolls tomorrow.)

STEAK TARTAR EMEM
(Serves 6)

2 pounds 4-times ground perfectly lean beef (blade shin, round, etc.)
4 tsps. Worcestshire sauce
1 tsp. salt
1 onion Oxo cube
¼ cup boiling water
6 fresh eggs
Six 6" round thin slices bread
4 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. finely chopped chives

Thoroughly dissolve onion Oxo cube in boiling water. Cool. In large bowl combine finely ground lean beef, Worcestershire sauce, salt and Oxo liquid until well mixed.



Toast bread slices under broiler on one side. Butter untoasted sides. Cover untoasted sides with all of the meat mixture — making a wide deep depression in meat at centre to hold egg. Do not add egg but place all prepared slices on broiler pan under preheated broiler and broil until they begin to turn pale gold. Remove from broiler, drop fresh egg in centre. Have ready, bubbling hot, the melted butter containing chives. Immediately spoon over top of eggs. Return to hot broiler and broil until eggs are barely set — takes about 2 min. so watch it. Place on centre of preheated dinner plates and serve at once. If desired you may pass caviar as the Europeans do, or horseradish cream.

NOTE: Obviously you realize that this meat mixture may be shaped into meat cakes and broiled without toast or eggs. Or barbecued outside, as we did with my surplus meat mixture, for I had double the quantity given above.

"Big-Time" Pacers Delight Local Crowd

(STAFF) — Scots Class lives in Amelisburg township under another name. At least, Reg Bailey, driver of four, the Cam Wannamaker's, stable at Consecon, has reason to think so. Six years ago Mr. Wannamaker made his trainer and driver a present of a yearling named "J. J. Wann that after five years of racing has earned $75,000 in purse money. The gelding has covered a mile in 2.04 4-5 at Garden City Raceway. His half brother, R. Yankee Wann, owned by Cam Wannamaker, has earned $55,000 and in 13 starts this year has picked up $13,000.

These pacers staged a match race for the race patrons at the Fairgrounds Saturday night and put on a speedy show. The owners changed horses and when they were sent away, Cam Wannamaker took J. J. Wann to the top and stayed there until the horse rounded the bottom turn the second time round when Baily set R. Yankee Wann down and simply coasted home in the fine time of 2.06

Keeter Blog, G; Lalibuh, $13.10, Time — 2.12 3/5. Winner: Ball, R. Also started — Lady Bird, $12.20; Peter Rock, A. Cassidy, $6.20. Also started — Spell Pick, Mcknight Misty, Miss Lee Chief, Miss Happy Hal. Time — 2.18 2-5.

3-5 — a record mile for the track this season.

The horses went to the half in 1:04, and flew the second half in 1:02 3/5.

There were 900 patrons present on the chilly night but they threw their money into the mutuels as if it had gone out of style, wagering $18,576. The largest bet of the night was paid by Al Vance

She was half of a $123 double with Millie Zombelle wiscing the second half of the double. One better had four double tickets.

Two horses, Grand Joe, S. Hunt, $4.00, $2.80. Double Bell, L. Kellett, $2.80. Also started — Candy B. Creed, Classic Wann, Presto Gratiat, Mighty Lass C. Time — 2.18.

Planes Takes SHBL Series With Four Wins in Five

Although an article was in error in reporting that Planes of Canniffon had taken the Planes-Latta best of seven by winning three of four, it was actually more early than wrong.

The Canniffon nine made the report just a few days early Saturday when they downed Latta 6 to take the series with four wins in five games.

Planes' pitcher Bob Chappell led his team to victory with a five-inning performance in which he allowed the Latta hitters three hits while walking five and striking out two. Garnet Adams relieved in the sixth and finished the game by striking out three, walking one, and allowing only one hit.

Bob Smith pitched the first three innings and the last five, being given a recess in the fourth while Doug Geen took over.

Smith struck out eight, walked four, and allowed nine hits. Geen struck out one and walked three.

Planes hitters were Bob Liffman with three singles and Eric Emerson and Bob Moon with two safeties. John Tweedy and Ron Urch had one single each.

Murray Whitmore had a double for Latta and Terry Casselman, Damon Richardson, and Bob Smith had singles.

In the other SHBL playoff series, Reed edged Shannon Hills 6-5 to tie it up at three wins each.

Negroes and Women Get Break As Stars in New TV Series

TV Column

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Network television's new season may go down in the books as a time when two minority groups — television minorities anyway — receive some unusual if overdue attention.

Negroes will star, co-star and be featured cast members in at least one-quarter of next season's shows, not even counting the 13 variety programs and all the movie reruns. Most dramatic series are going to episodes built around Negro guest stars, whether the programs are westerns or situation comedies.

Less publicized but certainly new is the emergence of women as stars in a medium which over the years has used girls primarily to brighten up the screens, add mild love interest to stale plots and provide an excuse for publicity pictures of a type believed to be favored by magazine and newspaper picture editors.

In the forthcoming season, two women will have their own variety hours—Carol Burnett and Phyllis Diller, both funny but neither the femme fatale type.

Doris Day and Diahann Carroll will be starring in new situation comedies. Both will be playing widows with children. Lucille Ball will also be around as usual, this time frankly over 26 because her own two teen-agers, Lucie and Desi Arnaz, will co-star as her kids.

Over the seasons, older women—that means anything over 25 in TV land—have been demonstrating their staying power while the pretty young things have been as dispensable as facial tissues.

There are assorted reasons for television's continuing girl problem. One theory is that the audience likes an adventurous heroes to be fancy free, so the women can dream and the men can identify. Besides a steady girlfriend is a nuisance in stories where the emphasis is on action.

Women, an important even dominating part of the television audience, are more likely to resent gorgeous young things but feel comfortable and unthreatened by comediennes or motherly types.

Local Minors in and Out

Midgets Out of Playoffs, Bantams in at One-All

The Belleville EOBA Midgets and Bantams made one and lost one this weekend in two best of three playdowns this weekend.

The Midgets dropped the series by losing two straight to the Oshawa Legion nine, 9-3 and 8-2.

The Bantams fared better, splitting the first two games with a 7-3 loss and an 11-6 win with Peterborough. The third and deciding game of that contest will be played on Aug. 17, Saturday, in Peterborough.

The Midgets took their first of the two straight losses Friday night as they defaulted the game after two of the locals were ejected in the seventh.

Joyces Facing End of Road With Kingston in Driver's Seat

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

KINGSTON — The Belleville Joyces beat Kingston Centennials three games straight at one stage during their breeze to this summer's Eastern Ontario senior baseball pennant. But now, the Realtors find themselves faced with the same task to keep from being ousted for the year by the defending provincial champions.

The Centennials put the Joyces' backs to the wall here yesterday with a 5-3 verdict to give them a 3-1 stranglehold in their best-of-seven EOBA playoff set.

McIlroy's final tally came to 14 whiffs, while the hard-throwing southpaw walked six batters. His mound performance, together with a four-alarm offensive display by his mates in the seventh, gave the Joyces cause for concern about their immediate — let alone long-term — playoff plans.

Trailing 3-1, the Centennials concocted a three - run outburst in the seventh to ruin what had been a fine two-hit effort by Joyce moundsman Rodger Hunter.

Three walks by Hunter (one of them intentional), a double by leading Kingston hitter Ron Earl, and Clyde Harris' single brought the Centennials back to a 3-2 even keel.

With runners on first and third, one out, and instructions from coach Al Kelleher to "go for the double play," the Joyces got their opportunity to get out of the inning when Goodridge bounced a ground ball toward short.

Goyer flipped to Asselstine to force Harris at second, but the relay to first missed Goodridge by a step while Earl crossed the plate with the fourth Kingston run.

Hunter, who gave up but seven Centennial hits, issued eight walks, while striking out seven. He was relieved in the eighth by Joe Hastings after a leadoff single by Kingston's Ed-wyn Watts. Hastings gave up the last Centennial run on two singles.

As in Wednesday's 5-1 Belleville defeat at the hands of Centennial "righlie" Keith Weese, the Joyces could manage no more than one hit in any inning. Goyer's hard line-out to right field in the fifth frame was actually the only time a Belleville batter put good wood on one of McIlroy's deliveries.

Ralph Plane, on with a first-inning walk, stole second and scampered home to open the scoring when Kingston catcher Wayne Carey heaved the ball over the second-sacker's head.

Belleville led 1-0 without getting a hit.

Then in the fifth, Larry Soule led off with a walk, was bunted to second by Rodger Hunter, and came into third on Plane's shallow single to left. Again, Carey was the goat for Kingston, as his bad toss back to the mound got through the infield, and permitted Soule to score the second run for the Realtors.

The third Joyce display of capitalizing came in the sixth. Pat Asselstine took a free pass from McIlroy, stole second, and advanced to third on a passed ball by Carey, his third error of the game.

Asselstine tallied the third Belleville run as right-fielder Doug Dafoe came through with a clutch two-out single.

The Joyces has become an exercise in frustration for the Joyces. They have lost both home games to date, each before crowds far in excess of the poor turnouts that plagued the EOBA leaders throughout the regular schedule.

Belleville defeated the Limestone City crew in six of seven meetings before the playoff series began, but now find themselves a long way from elimination to the same club.
